Our former neighbor and now a prominent west coast numismatist, Ed. M. Lee of Glendale, California, has donated a beautiful leather bound copy of "Financial California." We can also tell you the names of five or six A. N. A. members who will be sending for this work—and none of them lives in California, either—but they've been asking for more on this subject. By Leroy Armstrong and J. O. Denny, "Financial California" is a "review of the beginnings and progress of banking in the state." It was published in 1916, but will prove of interest to all collectors of California items, and particularly to those of you who are interested in the pioneer gold of that state. There are excellent chapters on the sub-treasury at San Francisco; the national bank system; and "Reminiscences." The book contains many fine illustrations of bank-notes, banks and street scenes, as well as portraits. All will enjoy the reference to California's refusal of greenbacks and her adherence to gold, and the sections devoted to early banking. The Library number of this work is A-69.

We also obtained a copy of "Decorations, Medals and Ribbons Now Designated for Naval Personnel." It is reprinted from a naval bulletin, but with additions. In ordering, ask for N-52.

Editor Saxton reviewed "Brookgreen Gardens" in the May issue; its Library number is P-26.

We now have the priced catalogues of the Henry L. Jewett sale of June 21-23, 1909, and the Stickney sale of 1907—or rather, we hope to have them priced by the time you ask for them. It's quite a job to price a catalogue, in case you never tried it under war time working conditions, even with plenty of help.

The other day we received an order from Chicago just four hours after it was mailed—and the book was delivered there next day. We can't promise that service to members up in Maine or out in Washington and Oregon, but we do fill book orders the same day they are received in nine cases out of ten. We'll be happy to provide that vacation reading for you.

A LETTER FROM DAVID M. BULLOWA

The many friends of David M. Bullowa of New York will be interested in the following letter written to President Ferguson from French North Africa, where he is serving with the American armed forces.

Thanks ever so much for your recent letters. I enjoyed all the news contained therein, and was delighted to get some bits of numismatic news. The latter, as you can imagine, is rather difficult to secure here. Have managed to get some of the new coins of the Petain government: the 1 franc pieces in aluminum, and am now on the trail of the 50 centimes. I suppose that there are also 2-franc pieces, but I haven't seen them yet.

Lately, I saw a bit of German propaganda of numismatic interest: They have made photostatic reproductions of the obverse of the Bank of England One Pound Note, of the latest type, and left the reverse blank, except for the following inscription in Arabic (which I was able to secure in translation; as yet I have not been able to secure a specimen):

"TO THE EGYPTIAN PEOPLE: This is a photostatic copy of an English pound note of the value of 100 piastres in peace time; now that England is at war it only has the value of half a piastre. In peacetime Englishmen could get on demand a pound's worth of gold, but now England has printed 100 of these notes to every pound of gold that she has, hence it is worthless. If you hold any of these notes, therefore, destroy them. The English have caused you all of this suffering. God is on our side. Every gun, aeroplane, tank or other implement of war that England makes is one more spoke in their wheel of doom, because their equipment is bad; they deserted you and your country. All they think of is glorifying themselves. Support our men and we will support you."

This type of note, from the information that I secured, was distributed in the Middle East. Why they should pick upon Bank of England notes is rather strange, in view of the fact that the English notes are not widely used outside of England. Egypt, as well as other British possessions and colonies, or spheres of influence, all have their independent currency systems, insofar as the paper printing is concerned.

Was glad to hear how much John's stamp collection is increasing.

With kindest regards to all,

Very sincerely,

DAVE.

LOOKING BACKWARD

THROUGH THE EARLY FILES OF THE NUMISMATIST

This month—

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A small auction of U. S. silver coins held in June, 1893, is reported. There is no comfort in the following prices—unless to a collector who secured his early pieces long ago. Dollars: 1795, good, $2; 1796, good, $1.95; 1797, ex. good (a fine distinction), $2.75; 1798, good, $1.80; 1799, fine, $1.80; 1800, fine, $1.80; 1802 over 1, fine, $2.15.

The editor offers seven sets of Volume I of THE NUMISMATIST (1888) for 25 cents each; nine of Vol. II for the same price, and eleven sets of Vol. III at 75 cents per set—all post free! Truly, a buyers' market, fifty years ago!

Hiram E. Deats (A. N. A. No. 15) was reported as accepted as a Life Member of the American Numismatic and (then) Archaeological Society. By the way, in a recent letter from Mr. Deats he claims to be the oldest living member of the A. N. S.

On the 13th of June, at the Philadelphia Mint, at exactly one o'clock p. m., the first Columbian quarter dollar was struck—the eventual total being 40,000.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Many miscellaneous items of interest appear, but we note only the following: a criticism from the Director of the Mint in connection with the then newly coined silver peso for the Philippines, to the effect that the value reads "One Peso," an awkward combination of English and Spanish, being on a par with an American piece if its denomination were stated as "Un Dollar." The value should, of course, have been given as Un Peso, but under the wording of the Act the Director had no latitude in the matter, and was compelled to follow the orders of Congress.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

In the March, 1913, number of Art and Progress, published at Washington, D. C., appeared an article by Adeline Adams, entitled "The Art of the Medalist." It was a welcome bit of enterprise for Editor Edgar H. Adams to secure permission to reprint this (with illustrations) in the July NUMISMATIST. The author has written of the place the medal commands in art—and, we might add, it definitely has a place in numismatics—with fine discrimination, and in a style that is calculated to arouse the interest of the casual reader. Medallie art has received scant attention in this country from the great body of collectors: in number, the group is considerable; but in proportion to the whole, lamentably small. Following the line of least resistance often has its penalties, and the penalty here for the neglect of this important branch of numismatics is that of missing much of beauty and interest.

More articles dealing with this subject in its many phases are needed, for in the past only brief mention has usually been made of certain medals as they have appeared—a glimpse, so to speak, when a study was indicated instead. Too little is known, specifically, of the artists and their creations. Perhaps we shall be able later occasionally to present some material which will encourage further investigation on the part of those who as yet have not realized the superb artistry of the finest of our modern pieces.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

H. D. Allen, in his series, "The Paper Money of the Confederate States," reaches the high point of the entire story in this instalment, for he produces rare photographs, documents and other evidence that seem fully to support his contention that the portrait on the $100 Confederate note of December 2, 1862, is not that of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, as had been so long accepted, but of Lucy Holcombe Pickens, wife of the Governor of South Carolina, F. W. Pickens. The extensive research made by the author in accumulating this evidence reveals the true type of historian, and apart from any interest one may or may not have in Confederate bills, it is a pleasure to follow him in his thorough development of the case at hand. There is nothing superficial in his methods.

"After We Lick the Mad Dog of Europe" is the headline in one of the advertisements of this issue. Civilization has found that an armistice is not lasting victory. The United Nations have three mad dogs instead of one on their hands at present, and may we all have hard sense enough this time to finish a job that will stay finished.

A NOTABLE GOVERNMENT EXHIBIT

Reported by RAYMOND MOULTON, Secretary Omaha Coin Club

In conjunction with the United States Secret Service program of "Crime Prevention Through Education," and a recently inaugurated campaign "Know Your Endorser" on Government checks, the First National Bank and Orchard & Wilhelm arranged to bring to Omaha the "Silent Saboteur Exhibit." Police Commissioner Richard Jepsen was interviewed over radio station KOIL on the opening night, May 24, making a number of interesting comments.

Mayor Dan Butler formally opened the exhibit and expressed his view that the Secret Service display was especially valuable to Omaha because counterfeiting is ordinarily regarded as a strictly metropolitan crime, when the fact is, that one of the largest and most interesting counterfeiting cases in recent years centered around a small Iowa town.

The exhibit is to be shown only in a few large cities in the United States. Actual printing of War Stamps takes place several times daily. Other items of interest include counterfeit coins and dies captured in Perry, Iowa, in 1938; a pocket size counterfeiting plant for $10 bills; genuine Government exhibition dies of the same type actually used for printing currency; boards containing all denominations of bills now issued, including a $100,000 note, and many specimens of Axis invasion money. The Glenn L. Martin Co., and Omaha industries and N. Y. A. contributed interesting items of war material including many different varieties of shells, bombs, flares and tools.

Total attendance was reported as approximately 35,000.

SOMETHING NEW IN GOLD

The following excerpt from a news item in a recent issue of The Mexico City Post will be of interest to collectors generally, regardless of their individual preferences. The idea is certainly startling both in novelty and simplicity. Through the courtesy of the Watkins Coin Company of El Paso we are able to illustrate the 50-peso value.

Banks throughout Mexico, but particularly here, are doing a land office business in the sale to the public, the upper and upper middle classes, of the Mexican gold coin that has been classified by the government as merchandise since this Republic abandoned the yellow metal monetary standard in 1931.

This business has progressively increased since the Bank of Mexico last April 15 declared: "Everybody can make their savings in gold and thereby conserve values for the future when there are articles that they can buy." Mexican gold coin is currently being sold at the rate of 4.27 pesos silver per gold peso. So busy are the banks in selling this money that tellers sometimes take as long as 15 minutes to count wads of silver bank notes that are passed in for this buying. Transactions of as high as 25,000 pesos, silver, in this purchasing are common. The aspect of many buyers is surprising; they don't look as if they had a penny to their names, yet they hand over great wads of bank notes to get the coveted gold pieces.

The 50-peso gold piece is most in demand. It is the highest denomination of Mexican yellow money and is most conveniently handled.

The Bank of Mexico is gratified at this revival in gold coin buying as it withdraws from circulation large amounts of bank notes and tends to strengthen the monetary situation. All this business is in currency. Mexican gold bank notes have not been in use since the silver standard was adopted.

It is said in banking circles here that the sector of the public that has begun to hoard silver one-peso pieces, the national monetary unit, now that bank notes of that denomination have been restored to circulation, will find itself much mistaken as there will be bad economic effects from the hoarding of this silver. But on the other hand, banking circles see gold coin hoarding as a benefit to the monetary situation.

There is no indication at present that Mexico will resume the gold money standard.

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

AKRON COIN CLUB—The regular meeting May 17th, was called to order by President Howard Certain, with eighteen members and twelve visitors in attendance.

Mr. Paul J. Blank of Canal Fulton, Ohio, gave a very interesting talk on Fractional Currency, and Mr. J. Stanley Shondel of Clinton, Ohio, displayed and talked on the U. S. Quarter. Mr. S. J. Kabealo of Columbus gave us some interesting sidelights on coins.

Notwithstanding war conditions the Akron Coin Club is growing in membership and the attendance is excellent.

—M. B. Fenton, Secretary.

ATLANTA COIN CLUB—The regular monthly meeting of the Club was held Wednesday, June 2, in the Henry Grady Hotel, President Todd presiding. There were 15 members and two visitors present.

Capt. Baugh of the U. S. Marines, one of our visitors, gave a most thrilling account of his experience in collecting coins in the different countries that he had visited, especially U. S. half dollars in China.

The Club agreed to try Mr. Worthington's suggestion concerning our future auctions. The Auction Committee will try to secure coins wanted by any member, and accept coins from any member who wants to sell, and have an impromptu auction of a few lots at each meeting.

Mr. George Walton gave the club 26 different Confederate bills to be framed and donated to the Carnegie Library as a part of the Library's permanent display. He suggested that other members add to this.

The rest of the meeting was devoted to the showing of lucite slides of rare coins. As each was shown, a different member pointed out and described in detail the interesting features, and also gave some historical data concerning each.

—Frank G. O'Rear, Secretary.

BOSTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at Hotel Avery, Boston, Monday Evening, May 24, with 14 members and four guests present.

Mr. Schumacher made his final report to the Society on his efforts during National Coin Week.

MR. SCHUMACHER'S REPORT

In the window of the Boston Federal Savings Bank, 33 Congress Street, were placed two exhibits of U. S. genuine and counterfeit paper and metal money. This was arranged by the Secret Service of the Treasury Department.

Arranged in two large display cabinets in the banking rooms of the Boston Five Cent Savings Bank, School Street, was exhibited for the first time to the public a collection of military medals, both U. S. and Foreign, from the Armory Museum of the First Corps of Cadets and First Motor Corps, through the co-operation of Captain David Hansen and Lieut. Heyliger de Windt.

Special emphasis was given the paper money and commemorative half dollars exhibits in the main office of First National Bank, Milk Street.

The Park Square Building branch of the Suffolk Savings Bank showed a window display of coins, the property of the Manager.

The Worthy Coin Shop at 23 Cornhill displayed coin week numismatic material.

The largest exhibit was placed in a window of Gilchrist Department Store, Washington and Winter Streets. A diversified group of framed and loose collections lent by Mr. Frank Katen, Malcolm Chell-Frost, Jesse Klein, Henry Schuhmacher, O. B. Vikre, Edgar Welti and the Worthy Coin Corp., all of whom have our sincere thanks for their co-operation. A special word of thanks is hereby given to Malcolm Chell-Frost for pinch-hitting for yours truly in assisting Gilchrist's display director in setting up the exhibit. A framed picture of the Gilchrist exhibit is to be presented in appreciation to Malcolm for his services, which also included handling the bulk of material to and from Gilchrist's Store and Malcolm's office. The Secret Service warned me not to photograph U. S. money; this accounts for the absence of additional exhibit pictures.

—Henry Schuhmacher,

Chairman of National Coin week Committee.

The President then brought up the matter of our next meeting, after the summer months vacation, saying that under the circumstances that exist at the present time, he would not set a definite date at this time, but during the summer with the help of Mr. Hanley would find some suitable place and that the members would be notified in due season.

As there was no further business to come before the meeting, it was voted to adjourn and devote the remainder of the evening to remarks by Mr. Lionel McCormick-Goodhart, of Washington, D. C. Mr. McCormick-Goodhart's remarks were along the lines of a subject on which he is considered as authority, the Admiral Vernon Medals. His talk was very interesting and a cross section of his collection which he exhibited was very entertaining. At the close of his remarks, Mr. McCormick-Goodhart was given a vote of thanks.

—Ernest R. Shackford, Secretary.

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 120th regular meeting was held on June 2 at 174 Montague St., President Max M. Schwartz presiding. Seventeen members and two guests were present. The topics were: United States Coins dated 1795, coins with portraits of two or more persons, numismatic items of Hayes and Tilden, and new acquisitions. Mr. William Fox Steinberg read a paper on the "Wagnerian Scent." Nominations were made for officers in the A. N. A. for the coming year. The following exhibits were made:

Mr. Furman: Several 4th century Roman silver coins.

Mr. Heft: African Occupation notes for $1, $5, and $10.

Mr. Hegarty: Presidential mint medals of the first 10 presidents.

Mr. Knoth: Six early crowns of Saxony.

Mr. Kortjohn: Cents of Ceylon dated 1942, thick and thin; English token of 1897 with portraits of Victoria, Edward VII, George V and Edward VIII. Half thaler of Tyrol dated 1484.

Mr. Maley: U. S. half cents of 1831 and 1834 (altered), Indian and Lincoln cents on thin planchets, Jersey half cent 1877, Hibernia half cent 1823.

Mr. Mayer: Early postal orders issued in Elmira and Brooklyn, N. Y. British International postal orders of 1873, 1874 and others.

Mr. Schwartz: Nineteen political tokens of Hayes-Wheeler and Tilden-Hendricks.

Mr. Sghia: Half cents of 1795, with and without pole. Cent, half-dime, half-dollar and two types of dollar of 1795.

Mr. Steinberg: Various Service and Good Conduct ribbons of World War II.

—Lewis M. Reagan, Secretary.

BUFFALO NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The special meeting called to welcome Mr. J. Douglas Ferguson on his visit to the Buffalo Numismatic Association was held at the Hotel Statler on June 7, 1943.

Eighteen members and friends had dinner with President Ferguson, and it is noteworthy of mention that we were also honored by having two Past Presidents of the A. N. A. with us: Mr. Geo. Bauer of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr. T. James Clarke of Jamestown, N. Y.

Following the dinner, the meeting was held in Parlor A with 29 members and visitors present. Paul Williams, acting as chairman, welcomed all present, and called on Mr. Clarke, Mr. Bauer, and past President of the B. N. A., Ed. A. Gilroy, for brief remarks.

In introducing President Ferguson, Mr. Williams paid tribute to the fine work done by him in making our Numismatic Association truly an American one.

Speaking to the club members, President Ferguson told of the activities carried on by the Association during the past year. He also explained to those assembled the Association's attitude towards the annual convention. Due to restricted travel, and pressure of work on the members, it is hoped that the convention will be small. Mr. Ferguson then spoke of the future and told us of some of the things he hoped might be accomplished for the betterment of the Association, following the present struggle.

The chairman then called on Mr. Bauer and Mr. Foster of Rochester, N. Y. to show their Kodachrome slides of coins. These consisted of early Roman and Greek coins, early issues of England's coinage and a representative showing of United States coins. The slides were enthusiastically viewed by those present, and a most cordial 'thank you' was extended to Mr. Bauer and Mr. Foster.

The evening was then devoted to ex-aming the exhibits which were many and of unusual quality.

The meeting was perfectly arranged by the committee in charge, and to Pres. Ferguson may we say 'THANK YOU' for honoring Buffalo by your visit and making the evening of June 7 one that will be long remembered by the members of the Buffalo Numismatic Association.

—Howard J. Brossman,
Acting Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—Twenty-five members and guests attended the 183rd meeting, held at the Hayward Hotel on the evening of June 1. Discussion in reference to club auctions finally resulted in the adoption of a motion to have the auctions take place before instead of after the regular meeting, in order to accommodate those who are obliged to leave early. The auctions will also be limited as to the number of lots offered for sale. A committee was also appointed to arrange for club displays and exhibits.

It had been announced that the Quintuplets would make a personal appearance under the names of Todd, Hawley, Bennett, Koepfel and Rosenkranz, but due to illness and other valid reasons, only Mr. Bennett and Dr. Rosenkranz were able to address the club. Mr. Bennett narrated some interest facts in reference to the currency issued to finance the Civil War, and stated that the conditions existing in 1862 were similar to those of the present day. Lincoln, it seems, was under the erroneous impression that Mr. Spinner, whose distinctive signature appears on these notes, had personally signed them all. He also mentioned the fact that our armies circulated counterfeit Confederate notes in the South for the purpose of disturbing the Confederate monetary system. In an interesting talk Dr. Rosenkranz quoted appropriate passages from the Bible and stressed the fact that the collecting of medals and other works of art gives one an opportunity of adding to the happiness of his fellow beings, and is a cure for the vanity mentioned in the Book of Ecclesiastes. His exhibit consisted of fifteen beautiful medals in bronze, silver and gold, depicting various subjects.

—Earle K. Stanton, Secretary.

CANTON (OHIO) COIN CLUB—A special meeting of the Club was held Sunday, May 23, at the Hotel Belden in honor of Dr. H. L. Dell, charter member and one of the four founders of the Club. Dr. Dell, now residing in Dayton, Ohio, made the trip to Canton especially for the meeting, and stated that he was gratified by the Club's enthusiasm.

The membership contributed some of the finest displays in many meetings, the outstanding one being V. L. Stover's fine collection of United States types, including every type except three. Notable were his gold coins—from dollar to double eagle—and his rare patterns.

Terry Brown had on display his large cent collection, including a 1793, a set of small cents and many halves.

Mr. Smith exhibited his collection of small cents and a card of minor U. S. coin types.

Mr. Brown showed his collection of crowns of the world, U. S. silver dollars, and a beautiful type set of U. S. gold.

Mr. Bolus displayed 32 different Hard Times and Merchants tokens.

The regular meeting of the Club—the ninety-fourth—was held Monday, June 7, at the Belden Hotel, President Warren Smith presiding. Seven members and four guests heard Mr. A. E. Hershey of Barberton, Ohio, and a member of the Akron Coin Club, discuss his excellent display, which included sets of U. S. coins from large cents to gold types. Mr. Hershey drew a laugh when he observed that our pockets should all be lined with gold and silver in view of the government's recent statement that many tons of those metals were and are annually worn off the coin of the realm while reposing in the nation's collective pockets.

Club member displays were as follows:

Mr. Bruce: Set of large cents, four Mexican silver pesos, and two pattern U. S. cents.

Mr. Duryee: Four types of the 1839 large cents.

Mr. Smith: Set of large cents.

The meeting was adjourned for an auction of 67 lots.

—C. T. Bolus, Secretary.

CHICAGO COIN CLUB—The 299th regular monthly meeting of the Club was held on June 2nd at the La Salle Hotel. Sixty members and four visitors were in attendance, President Pennington presiding. A fifty-five lot auction preceded the meeting.

Mr. Ripstra spoke of a proposed three day A. N. A. Business Convention and suggested that it be held in Chicago September 11, 12, and 13th and that the Chicago Coin Club hold a meeting and exhibit on one of the nights. Unanimous approval of this was given, and Mr. Ripstra was appointed by President Pennington to make all arrangements.

Mr. Clarke moved that the Chair appoint a committee to present their selection of candidates for the various A. N. A. offices in the forthcoming election. President Pennington appointed Messrs. Jackson, McBrien, and Klein, who submitted the following names: for President, V. Leon Belt; for First Vice President, Martin F. Kortjohn; for Second Vice President, George Todd; for Treasurer, George Blake; for General Secretary, M. Vernon Sheldon; for Librarian, Ted R. Hammer; and for the Board of Governors, Messrs. J. Douglas Ferguson, J. Henri Ripstra, Thomas Melish, Dr. Judd and Jesse Taylor. Unanimously adopted.

Mr. Ripstra spoke of the enjoyable time he had at the Waterloo Convention, and regretted that only a few Chicago members were there.

Through the generosity of a member, nine members and guests were awarded four gold dollars, two complete 1942 proof sets and three Canadian "Black Out" nickels as attendance prizes. Dr. Reich then presented the exhibits:

Mr. Beckman: A Brazilian exhibit consisting of 15 countermarked Spanish pesos with crown and 960 reis, all different dates and three distinct varieties. One 960 reis piece with George 3rd of England countermarked portrait on obverse. Two 960 reis pieces with different sized countermarks of Ceara Province. Two "J" 600 reis pieces with crude Portuguese coat of arms countermarked, two varieties. Seven different value silver pieces with crown and G. P. countermark for the Azores Islands.

Mr. Lamb: Proof dollar, half dollar, quarter, half dime, three cent piece of 1856 in silver, proof half cent, large cent, flying eagle also of 1856, and a proof Columbian quarter dollar.

Mr. Keefer: Eight Columbian Exposition medals, including a very large one issued by C. F. Dunham in 1892 as a druggist's store card.

Mr. Lind: A set of Commemorative half dollars and an Isabella quarter, an admission ticket for Chicago Day and other souvenirs.

Mr. Jonas: Columbus medal in bronze by Zearing, bust on obverse with ship on reverse. Columbus medal in aluminum with bust on obverse and miniature of admission ticket on reverse, and a Columbian Exposition 1893 rolled on five cents silver piece of Canada.

Mr. Powells: A collection of ten Ceylon coins in uncirculated condition, representing the various Rulers from Queen Victoria to date, including a two Stenir of 1815.

Mr. Rayson: Coins of Charles 1st of England; shillings of Aberswyth, Tower and Edinburgh mints, a crown of Exeter mint and a Memorial medal of Charles 1st, by Roetiers.

Mr. McBrien: A certificate of charter with crisp dollar in token payment for charter of yacht Gerry-mac 11 to U. S. Navy for Abbott-Hall Navy League Yachting Program for help in training U. S. Naval Reserve midshipmen.

—Clifford Lindall, Secretary.

CINCINNATI NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The regular monthly meeting was held June 8th at the Netherland Plaza Hotel at 8:30, with Vice President Johnson in the chair.

A copy of the hand lettered tribute to the late Charles H. Thul which Mr. Melish had prepared and framed was displayed before being presented to Mrs. Thul.

The speaker of the evening was J. F. Carabin, who read a paper on large cents. To supplement the paper, Mr. Carabin displayed his collection of Colonials, which preceeded the regular coinage, a type set of minor coins, and a collection of large cents in extremely fine condition, including the rare ones. After the talk and display, a general discussion was held on the subject.

—G. D. Parvin, Secretary.

DETROIT COIN CLUB—The 442nd meeting of the Club was held Thursday evening, May 20, in the Birch Room of the Detroit-Leland Hotel, with 18 members present.

The motion made at the April meeting by R. Stehfest and supported by J. Curto to amend Article Two, Section One of the By-laws carried. This now reads as follows: "The dues of this association shall be $2.00 per year payable to the Secretary in advance of January 1st of each year. Members admitted during the first six months of the year shall pay the full amount of the yearly dues. Members admitted during the last six months of the year shall pay only $1.00. Any member residing outside of Oakland, Macomb, or Wayne Counties shall pay, if he so elects, a $1.00 per year associate membership." This motion become retroactive to January 1, 1943. It is understood associate members are non-voting members.

An auction sale of 24 lots was conducted by K. Fulton.

Exhibits: C. Temple: 99 Civil War Cards, representing every Detroit, Michigan, firm issuing them.

R. Stehfest: Bronze Lincoln plaque.

Z. Dworkowski: Thirteen different dies of Sigismund III of Poland; Six Grosse pieces of 1596 by Marienburg Mint.

—J. F. McNamara, Secretary.

JERSEY CITY COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the Club was held on May 27 at Hotel Plaza in Jersey City. The meeting was called to order by Acting President Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Hughes gave an interesting talk on the die varieties and overdates of the large cents of 1805, 1806 and 1807.

Exhibits were:

Mr. Hughes: 1805, 1806 and 1807 large cents.

Mr. Carpenter: 5 Franc French Note of Africa.

Mr. Mathews: Minor proof sets 1888-1908.

Mr. Pukall: Large cents 1805, 1806 and 1807.

Mr. Arthur: 1857 Flying Eagle cent, Unc.

Our Secretary, Mr. Mathews, was called into the Armed Forces. A vote of thanks and appreciation, proposed by Mr. Carpenter, was extended to Mr. Mathews for his faithful services as Secretary of the Club.

Topics for the next meeting are as follows: Large cents, 1808 to 1814; U. S. Colonial coins of New Jersey; coins of countries which begin with the letters K and L; and coins of Carthage and Caesar.

—William H. Arthur, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its 104th meeting at the Plankinton House, Milwaukee, on May 28, with an attendance of 29 members. President Culver presided.

After disposing of various business matters, ways and means were discussed of making our meetings more educational. A short talk on numismatics, more displays, and especially descriptions and explanations of the displays were proposed. New members were also encouraged to bring display material, even if it consisted of only one piece. It was also proposed that each member bring for display such material as he acquired during the month. Several members promised to bring display material to the next meeting. (Congratulations:—Ed.).

Displays:

Mr. Schilz: 1940 Montana Token, size of a small gold dollar, Ex. F. 1940 Golden Gate Silver medal, size of a small gold dollar, uncirculated and very rare.

Mr. McDermott: The extremely rare 1876-CC Twenty Cent piece in brilliant uncirculated condition.

Mr. Hoffman: A card of 18 Civil War Store cards, with Washington portrait, nearly all in brass, and all uncirculated. A set of 8 Washington medals, in tin, proof, commemorating the battles of 1776.

A lively auction of about 40 lots followed adjournment.

—N. J. Hoffman, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The 117th meeting of the Society was held at the Newark Athletic Club, Newark, N. J., on June 10. Nine members were present, President Brookes presiding.

Mr. Wade read press items of numismatic interest.

Mr. Douglas, for the Topic Committee, suggested the July topics be: "Ancient Greek Coins of Islands," "Medals of the American Flag," "U. S. Silver Dollars," "Paper Money of New Jersey," and "Coins of Countries beginning with G."

Mr. George H. Blake read an informative and interesting paper on "U. S. Paper Money" which was greatly enjoyed by the members and which was illustrated by pertinent exhibits.

The topics for the meeting were: "U. S. Half Cents," "Coins of Countries beginning with F," "Coins of Islands," and "Political Tokens of McClellan."

The exhibits follow:

Mr. Blaisdell: Collection of uncir. half cents, 1800-1857.

Mrs. Brookes: Denmark: Christian IX, 10 Kroner, 1900.

Mr. Brookes: 21 Ceylon Coffee Pickers' chits; 5 Cullion Leper Colony coins; Formosa dollar; Proof Cayenne sou; 48 coins of various islands.

Mrs. Douglas: Medals of George B. McClellan.

Mr. Douglas: 75 Civil War cards of New Jersey concerns.

Mr. Wade: One-Halfpenny of the Isle of Man, 1798.

—Emily Larson Brookes, Secretary.

NEW YORK NUMISMATIC CLUB

—The 414th regular meeting of the Club was held on Friday evening, June 11, 1943, Mr. Thomas F. Morris, President, presiding, with 19 members and three guests present.

The topics for the evening: Coins of Vespasian and Titus—Coins of Syracuse—United States Dimes—Paper Money of Brazil—4 Coins in your Collection of any Country of which not over two are known.

Exhibits were made by the following: Mr. W. H. Arthur: Washington Liberty and Security penny, brass proof—unique. A 1927-S half dollar with the letters HALF in an embossed striking over the date on the coin.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd: Pan-Pacific half dollar struck in copper. A pattern of the Philadelphia Mint. 1866 brilliant proof half dollar, without the motto. 1866 brilliant proof quarter dollar, without the motto.

The Executive Committee suggested as topics for the July meeting: United States 20c and 25c Pieces; Roman Coins of Domitian; Encased Postage Stamps; Coins and Medals of Christopher Columbus. Adopted.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd, speaking for the Medallist Art Committee, advised the Club that he had made an arrangement with Mr. Karl H. Gruppe to make an obverse die with the likeness of our past President Mr. Otto T. Sghia, and had also arranged with the Medallist Art Company to make the die and to strike the medals in silver. These are to cost the members $5.00 each on subscription. It was regularly moved, seconded and carried that the Treasurer be authorized to expend $300, the cost of the die and the sculpture work.

It was proposed by Mr. W. R. Carpenter and seconded by Mr. W. H. Arthur, that the Club send in the following nominations for officers for the A. N. A. for the coming year:

For President: V. L. Belt; For First Vice President: M. F. Kortjohn; For Second Vice-President: L. B. Gettys; For Secretary: M. Vernon Sheldon; For Treasurer: George H. Blake; for Librarian: Ted R. Hammer. Board of Governors: W. H. Dillistin; V. B. Chambers; Damon G. Douglas; J. H. Ripstra; N. T. Thorson.

—F. C. C. Boyd, Secretary.

NUMISMATIC AND ANTIQUARIAN SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA

—The postponed meeting of the Society was held by invitation of Mr. Longstreth on the above date at his residence in Haverford. At the request of the President, Mr. Lawrence Morris presided at the business meeting.

Mr. Norris reported for the Committee on Numismatics. He presented an exhibit of silver dollars and of the Society's publications which were found very interesting and which were examined after the meeting by individual members.

Dr. Bye, Chairman of the Committee on Antiquities, reported on his experiences on the restoration of portraits at the Union League. He has recently been seeking additional examples of the portraits painted by William Carl Browne.

Mr. Castor reported progress with plans for publishing papers recently presented to the Society. He stated that further funds are needed and explained plans for illustrations.

President Longstreth reported for the Program Committee, stating that the next meeting will be held Wednesday June 9th at 5:30 P. M. at the residence of Mr. Hoffman.

Dr. McFarland moved that the Committee on Antiquities be instructed to determine the various properties of the Society, and at an early meeting report upon their nature, extent and location. This matter was referred to Mr. Garrison, who is Curator of Antiquities, and to the Committee on Antiquities to which the President added the name of Mr. Mendenhall.

The meeting then adjourned to listen to a most interesting paper by our host in regard to the history of his home "The Grange." The paper will appear in full in the proposed publication of the Society. Mr. Hoffman has done an enormous amount of research work in studying the history of the place back into the 17th century.

The Society extended a vote of thanks to our host, not only for his scholarly paper but also for the splendid dinner which the members enjoyed before returning to their homes. Twenty-three members and four guests were present.

M. Wistar Wood, Secretary.

A meeting of the Society was held on June 9th at the residence of Mr. Benjamin Hoffman in West Overbrook. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Garrison who had been asked by our President to conduct the meeting.

Mr. Norris, Assistant Curator of Numismatics, showed a book connected with the sale of the coin collection belonging to Mr. George Earle. The sale was finally consummated for something over $50,000. Mr. Norris also showed a Ten Dollar bill with gold seal issued by the United States Treasurer for use in North Africa. He also exhibited the American Legion School Award Medal in bronze, which he expected shortly to present to a student at the Episcopal Academy. The larger medal was designed by R. Taite McKenzie, and the smaller replica is also presented to the student who earns the award. Mr. Norton stated that a medal of similar design is in the collection of the Society. Over 125,000 of these medals have been presented by the American Legion to outstanding school boys throughout the country. Mr. Norris also presented zinc cents from the San Francisco and Denver Mints; very few of these have come into circulation.

The Librarian, Mr. Clifford Lewis, 3rd, made a brief verbal report stating that we have about 600 books now kept on good metal shelving in the Historical Society building at 13th and Locust Streets. The building is now being completely fireproofed to protect its contents.

The Historiographer Mr. Reilly reported the death of Mr. Edward Robins, who had been a member of the Society for 18 years. At one time he presented an interesting paper on "Recollections of the Stage." At Mr. Robins' funeral the Society was represented by our President and several other members.

Mr. Castor reported progress in connection with our publications. An enormous amount of work must be done in preparing the book. It is hoped that by fall most of the material will be in hand. Funds are still needed for this project.

The meeting then took a recess to hear Mr. Haslam's introduction of Mr. Rosenwald. The speaker exhibited some extremely rare old prints from his splendid collection and talked in a very interesting manner in regard to his hobby, and the many aspects of print collecting. At the conclusion of his address a motion was unanimously carried extending to him a hearty thanks of the Society. At the conclusion of the programme our host entertained the Society at a splendid dinner. Twenty-nine members and six guests were present.

W. Wistar Wood, Secretary.

OMAHA COIN CLUB—Our 99th regular meeting was held at the Hotel Wellington, Thursday evening June 3rd. Meeting called to order by President Blaufuss with twelve members present.

Mr. Thorson, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, recommended that due to the unusual and unsettled times the present officers be reelected for the duration or until relieved by regular election on an anniversary date. Adopted.

Dr. Judd suggested that our President appoint a committee for the purpose of making arrangements for a program at each meeting. President Blaufuss asked Dr. Maurer to serve as Chairman and Mr. Thorson and Dr. Judd to serve on this committee for the coming year.

The committee which was appointed to work out plans for the striking of medal to commemorate our 100th meeting, had the following to report: Details are proceeding satisfactorily and in all probability the medals will be ready for sale and distribution early this fall. An elaborate and valuable display of numismatic medals were exhibited by Mr. Thorson. From this display the members decided the size and kind of metal we should use.

Dr. Judd told us of a new 50 peso size gold piece which is now being minted in Mexico. This piece is struck for sale to the Mexican people in order that they may lay away something of material value. The amount of money in circulation in Mexico is above normal because of the increased trade with the United States, which has been brought about by the war.

A complete set, framed, of four Bank of Florence notes in uncirculated condition was donated by Mr. J. A. Danielson of Minneapolis, one of our Charter members.

—Raymond Moulton, Secretary.

PACIFIC COAST NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—229th meeting, held at the Hotel Whitcomb, May 26th, with 26 members and seven guests present. President M. M. Morris, Jr., presiding.

The Secretary reported that Mr. B. Morgenthau has presented the Society with a one year subscription of the "Numismatic Review" to be issued by Stacks. Also a donation of 30 volumes bound in leather "Treasury Annual Report of the Director of the Mint," and one volume of the history of the Philadelphia Mint, illustrated. A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Brandon for their generous donations.

The Secretary moved that inasmuch as the American Numismatic Association members on the Pacific Coast feel keenly their geographical separation from their fellow members in other parts of the country, they are greatly in favor of having a voice in the governing body of our great Association, and moved that the Society go on record to sponsor Mr. Ralph A. Mitchell for nomination as Second Vice President of the A. N. A. Mr. Mitchell accepted the nomination. The Secretary was instructed to notify the General Secretary to that effect.

The program of the evening, conducted by Mr. Mitchell, consisted of an interesting talk by Mr. Kraft on various Greek coins and their historical background. Roy Hill talked on coins of Hawaii and U. S. Mint medals; Mr. James Hill on the U. S. Indian Head issue, and the Secretary discussed Great Britain's Coronation Medals, and coins of Haiti. Mr. Parker gave a short talk on the U. S. 20 cent and quarter issues. All illustrated their remarks by specimens from their collections, and exhibits were also made by members Parker and Werling.

It was moved that we deviate from our customary annual dinner in June and have instead a display meeting and a talk on the U. S. Half Dollar issues, and on coins from countries starting with I, J, K. After the meeting will occur a raffle, and door prizes given in connection with refreshments and a buffet supper.

—Edward Fogler, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—The 96th meeting was held on June 10 in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, with President Havens in the chair, and thirty-two members and guests present.

Mr. Reed, the Curator, commented on the May display in his store of 28 different widow's mites by Mr. Webb. He also mentioned that this month's display of coins will consist of 41 pieces of Colonial copper coins to be exhibited by Mr. R. F. Ballard. Mr. Farley will exhibit at 37 S. 18th Street ancient Chinese and Oriental coins during the month of July.

Mr. Ballard read an interesting letter from Corp. G. W. Magee, Jr., from somewhere in North Africa, telling of his experiences in buying coins there.

The exhibits of the evening were as follows:

Mr. Herrick: An excellent display of choice half cents from 1793 classified according to Gilbert.

Mr. Frey: A very fine half dollar dated 1795.

Mr. Ballard read a most interesting paper on the background of the Colonial copper coins, which he is displaying this month at 37 S. 18th Street. He explained in detail how some of these coins were named and why they were in circulation before the Revolutionary War.

An auction of a wide variety of coins followed the meeting.

—Arthur Sipe, Secretary.

RICHMOND COIN CLUB—The twenty-eighth regular meeting of the Club was held at 8 o'clock on Wednesday, June 9, at the home of Mr. C. H. R. Howe, with the President, Mr. Howe, presiding. There were five members and one visitor, Mrs. Howe, present.

From the beginning, the meeting assumed an informal aspect and after a very brief business meeting Mr. Howe made a most interesting display of the following: Complete U. S. proof sets from 1936 to date; type set of U. S. half cents; two pattern cents of 1854 and 1855; "A Hundred Dollars worth of Cents," 1799-1856-1804; complete set of large cents from F. to Unc.; complete set of small cents from F. to Unc. Each type of U. S. minor coins except 1796 half dollar. Type set of U. S. dollars; complete set of Unc. 2c pieces; complete set of nickel 3c pieces; silver 3c pieces from 1851 to 1862 inclusive; type set of U. S. gold, almost complete.

Mrs. Howe served refreshments and a most enjoyable social hour ensued.

The next meeting of our Club will be held on Wednesday, September 8, at the Byrd Park Club House.

—Mrs. Helen G. Lewis, Secretary.

SEATTLE COIN CLUB—The 82nd meeting of the Club was held May 27th at the Y. M. C. A., with President Worth presiding. There were 16 members and five visitors present. Our usual informal Round Table discussions of items of numismatic interest was especially interesting and informative, particularly comments of experiences of collectors with the many and frequent mail auctions.

Mr. Fouts gave another of his fine talks. This time it was on Jackson cents and Civil War tokens, and all present got a clear picture of the "why" and "wherefore" of these tokens. President Worth also added some interesting data on Civil War tokens.

The next meeting will feature medals. It was announced that the famous Carkeek collection of coins and medals will be put on display, and the Club was invited to see it. Mr. Fouts agreed to give his lecture on "The History of Coinage" at the July meeting.

Nine lots were available for the auction which followed. It was well received and produced some lively bidding.

Displays:

Collection of Jackson and Civil War tokens by Mr. Saeman.

Collection of small cents and nickels, all in extra fine to unc. condition, by Mr. Zeckser.

—Henry H. Zeckser, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

On Monday evening June 14, the Society held its ninth banquet at the Benson Hotel in Portland. John Slusher presided as toastmaster and there were 50 persons in attendance including members and guests.

After the welcome by the toastmaster those assembled enjoyed a fine meal which featured baked Columbia River Salmon as its main entree. With our decorations appropriate to Flag Day and a meal which featured unrationed food, it is felt that this banquet was in keeping with the present emergency.

Our guest speaker for the evening was Dr. H. L. Moon, a man who needs no introduction to most Northwest collectors. Dr. Moon, who formerly lived in Seattle and was a member and officer of the Seattle Coin Club, now resides in White Salmon, Washington. His talk on the Coinage and Early Medical History of Mexico was most instructive and well presented. Dr. Moon illustrated his talk with gold and silver coins of Mexico, among which was the 20 pesos gold piece with the Calendar Stone, in brill. unc. condition.

Geo. Pipes expressed his appreciation and that of the members for Dr. Moon's interesting talk. Geo. brought out the fact that the greatest pleasure to be derived from our hobby comes not from the mere accumulation but from the study of the history of the coins that form our collections.

Exhibits:

Mr. Percy Smith: Collection of U. S. gold featuring 20.00 gold pieces and a complete collection of Panama-Pacific Exposition Commemoratives.

Dr. Moon: Gold and silver coins of Mexico.

Henry Perry: U. S. gold and silver also medals.

Geo. McLarty: Canadian coins and tokens.

Chas. Lamb: Patriotic displays of street car tokens.

Steve Bibler: Oregon Beaver, Northwest tokens, fractional currency.

Miss Davine Vines: Canadian coins.

Mrs. Eltinge: Paper money in use in the South Sea Islands.

Mrs. Welk: Medals received in World War I.

John Slusher: Types in minor U. S. coins.

—John R. Slusher, Secretary.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its monthly meeting Monday evening, June 7, at the Women's City Club, 736 Jackson Place, N. W. Washington, D. C., with President C. Shirley Leachman in the chair. Thirteen members were present.

President Leachman reported that he had received replies from the Secretaries of several coin clubs to his inquiry about the taxation policy of their localities with reference to stamp and coin collections. A further report will be made when more information has been received. Those heard from included R. S. Yeoman, Secretary of the Racine Numismatic Society; Clifford Lindall, Secretary of the Chicago Coin Club; and Martin F. Kortjohn, President of the Bronx Coin Club.

Mrs. Edness K. Wilkins gave an unusually interesting paper on "History of the Early Mint Medals," and exhibited a number of specimens of the early medals from her collection. The medals, she said, tell the story of the Nation's heroes. She mentioned the fact that the dies of some of the early medals are still in existence and that medals can still be struck from them. She sketched the history of the Indian peace medals, which became the presidential series. Mrs. Wilkins also included in her talk some data on the service medals. In peace time, she said, all such medals are made by the mint. At present, because of the great demand, the Army is placing its orders with outside commercial firms, but the mint is still making all medals for the Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, and Maritime Commission.

Eldridge G. Jones gave an interesting discussion of the redemption of old and partially destroyed currency by the Treasury. His remarks were amplified by Mr. Edward L. Weikert. Mr. Weikert also commented on the various items in the Numismatist related to the activities of the Washington Numismatic Society. President Leachman and Capt. Joseph Moss gave some interesting sidelights on the subject of inflation; Capt. Moss traveled in Germany at the height of the inflation period after the last war.

—N. Key Hart, Secretary.

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB

—The regular monthly meeting of the Club was held Wednesday May 19, in the Williams Room of the Central Y. M. C. A.

The meeting was called to order with 13 members present. In the absence of President Morris and Vice President Fuller, Holmes H. Cessna presided.

Member Martin L. Johnson voiced his objections concerning the absence of any reports of our meetings in the last three issues of The Numismatist and asked A. N. A. District Secretary Holmes H. Cessna to investigate the matter.

Member Martin L. Johnson gave a talk on the coins of the Latin American countries. He displayed some very fine specimens, including the countries of Mexico, Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Spanish Reel Pieces.

Member William L. Wilson displayed and spoke on the Panama-Pacific Commemorative Coins. This set included the round and octagonal fifty dollar gold pieces, the gold two and one half, the gold dollar, and the silver half dollar.

The Door Prize was won by Secretary Hyde, a 5, 10 and 20 Dollar Notes of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company.

The Coin Raffle was won by Member Fred P. Keyser, a very fine specimen of the 1825 Dime.

A very lively and spirited auction followed adjournment.

—Charles H. Hyde, Secretary.

WESTERN PENN. NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its regular meeting June 1, in the Children's Lecture Room, Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh. There were ten members present. Mr. Coatsworth, President, in the chair.

Mr. Coatsworth called for Annual reports of each committee. Officers for the next year will be the same as the past year: President, Earl Coatsworth; Vice President, Robert S. Porter; Secy.-Treas., Ralph Buterbaugh; Curator, Dr. Paul McBride Gillis.

No paper was scheduled, so the members followed the business meeting by examining the exhibits, which were as follows:

Mr. Piper: Luther Medal, bronze, 400th Anniversary; Gutenberg Medal, bronze; Medal of A. N. S., bronze. To commemorate the cornerstone laying of St. Bartholomew's Church.

Mr. Coatsworth: Jackson cents and political tokens.

Mr. Woodside: 20 tokens in copper and silver of Jamaica, Isle of Man, Cape of Good Hope, Jersey, etc.

Mr. Peters: 1936 Proof Cent; Stacks of Fire Fused Nickels.

Mr. Eastwood: 8 Political Tokens of England, 1837; 11 miscellaneous 19th Century tokens of England.

—Ralph J. Buterbaugh, Secretary.

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

—The 138th monthly meeting of the Society was held at the Seneca Hotel June 14th; fifteen members and five guests were present. President Gillhooly presided. An interesting letter from Ray Starkloff, who is with the Navy at Dutch Harbor, was read. Members Berwyn Legg and James White announced that they were to have a display of coins in the Bexley Library in an effort to create an interest in coins with the people of that suburb of Columbus.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. J. M. Henderson, H. R. Rodecker and C. W. Randolph reported that they had approved the nomination of all present officers of the A. N. A., after which Pres. Gillhooley asked for nominations from the floor. T. James Clarke of Jamestown, N. Y., and George J. Bauer of Rochester, N. Y., were nominated for the Board of Governors, and T. James Clarke was also nominated for the office of Treasurer.

Mr. H. R. Rodecker distributed uncirculated 1943 D Cents to the ladies who were present.

After the various members talked on their displays an entertaining half hour was spent on a program entitled "The College of Numismatic Knowledge."

As this was Traders Night there was some brisk activity among those who had duplicates to dispose of and those who were in the market to buy.

The displays were as follows:
Mrs. J. M. Henderson: Columbus store cards and Civil War tokens.

H. R. Rodecker: Type card set, assorted foreign coins—some uncirculated; medals commemorating 100th anniversary of American Independence.

M. F. Walters: U. S. silver coins.

Conn Baker: Gold and silver coins dug up from time to time in India, dating back to the 3rd century B. C. Old Greek tetradrachms, gold mohur of the Great Kusan Kings 1st Century A. D. Chandra Gupta gold mohurs of the 7th century, and other interesting items.

Berwyn Legg: Commemorative half dollars of U. S.

Merrill Morse: One original photograph of Lincoln, one Plattsburg medal, and foreign coins of 1636.

Fred Kern: U. S. currency including Mt. Holly issue of the first Charter period, and notes of the Educational series.

E. G. Gillhooley: Complete set of Canadian cents, 1858-1943.

Mrs. C. W. Randolph: Large cents of U. S.

—Mrs. Chas. W. Randolph, Secretary.

COMMUNICATION—STOLEN GOLD

66 Laurel Road, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

To the Editor:

With reference to the letter which you were good enough to print on page 892 of the December, 1942, issue of The Numismatist, announcing the theft from my home of 36 gold coins of the Duchy of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, I am naturally very glad and thankful to tell you that the publicity of your columns and the generous cooperation both of a well-known dealer in New York who read my letter and of a private collector who had purchased several of the coins from him, have resulted in the recovery of 28 of the pieces. I wish to felicitate The Numismatist on the splendid influence it has shown in assisting me. It will hardly surprise readers of this letter if I say that I am still hoping to recover the remaining 8 pieces (quite apart from the Wayte-Raymond Album which held them). I list them as follows:

- 1615—"Eight Brothers"—Ducat—With asterisk between 1 and 6 of date.
- c.1623—Dorothea Sophia of Quedlinburg—Ducat.
- 1658—Wilhelm of Weimar—2 Ducats—Tentzel 46.3.
- 1699—Iohann Wilhelm—3 Ducats—Tentzel 53.7.
- 1716—Iohann Wilhelm—Ducat—Soothe 1112.
- 1741—Ernst August—4 Ducats—cf. Soothe 1100 (amalgamation of Weimar and Eisenach).
- 1756—Ernst August Constantin—Ducat—"Huldigung" at Eisenach.
- 1764—Anna Amalia—Pistole—Soothe 1110 Fiala 3194.

There is satisfactory evidence that the collection was stolen in March 1941 and immediately afterwards, in early April offered for sale entire or in part in New York City.

I shall feel most grateful for any further indication that can be given me of where the above eight pieces may be traced and recovered.

Sincerely yours,

L. McCORMACK-GOODHART.

ANOTHER VETERAN REGISTERS

In the search for those who have been actively interested in collecting for a period of fifty years or more, some interesting facts have been discovered. (See issues of March, April and May.) This month comes a letter from W. W. Garrabrant (ANA 1555) of Morris Plains, New Jersey, who is surely entitled to recognition.

He is 77 years of age, and began to collect at 14 (in 1880) upon receiving from his mother several large U. S. cents. He enthusiastically sought to fill in the series of dates, later adding Colonial copper, with especial attention being paid to those of New Jersey, of course. His collection now includes, among many other items, complete proof sets of Indian head and Lincoln cents.

Some years ago Mr. Garrabrant purchased for a small sum what was considered a doubtful cent of 1793 at the Elder sale of the Hewett collection, the cent being sold "as is." It later developed it was genuine, and the coin from which an electrotype had been made, the latter being used by Crosby to illustrate his 3-B variety, as he had never seen the original itself.

Mr. George H. Clapp of Pennsylvania (ANA 2465), who has deeded his collection of large cents to the American Numismatic Society, asked Mr. Garrabrant if he would donate this piece to the A. N. S. to complete its 1793 series. This he generously did about two years ago.

INFLATION

While I realize that coin prices are rising, I did not know that inflation had reached such a great extent until I received the following card which I shall quote:

"Dear Sir—I saw your ad in "The Directory of American Collectors" that you wanted to buy coins & stamps & hobbies. Well I have coins & stamps & Indian Relics. Well I have them. Ancient heavy copper coin, Hindu 200 years before Christ. Price is $3000 (three thousand dollars.) 101 Ranch Oklahoma Indian trade coin of brass, has name 101 Ranch and bucking bronco on it, Rare and no more of them, Price $4,000—four thousand dollars. I have a collection of Indian head Pennies not quite complete. Price for them is $35,000. Thirty-five thousand dollars. Will hold them until I hear from you. Also want Indian relics. Please write soon. Ans. soon."

I have not given the name or the address of the writer, but some would-be numismatist must have been displaying his knowledge of coin values to this fellow or boasting how much his collection was worth, and he thought that the coins he is offering should be worth that much too. I almost hate to put him right since the real values will be such a great drop from his prices, but I'll try my best to get him started on the right track as a future numismatist, or, if not that, at least a wiser man.

—ARLIE SLABAUGH, A. N. A. 8621.
Oakland, Maryland.

Another Mehl Acquisition!

The BELDEN E. ROACH COLLECTION New York City

Have just acquired this extensive and valuable Collection, — (about $50,000.00 Value) — of United States Gold, Silver and Copper Coins. Choice and rare Foreign Gold. American Colonials etc.!

Claims are easily made, but more difficult to substantiate. So I will not "claim" to "pay highest cash prices"—but I challenge you to give me an opportunity to make an offer on your collection, or to consider your price for it!

In my more than forty years in the numismatic profession, I have never lost a valuable collection where I was given a fair opportunity to make an offer.

It is well for you to remember that since the first of THIS year I secured the Voetter Collection, the Elrod Collection, Grinnell Collection, and now the great Roach Collection. There must be a good reason for my enjoying such a great preponderance of the numismatic business of the country. THERE IS! Let me tell you about it.

Will gladly arrange for a personal interview, where the transaction warrants, at no expense and no obligation to you. Write me.

DELUXE COIN CABINETS

Nearly all coin cabinets are now off the market for the duration, as government priorities prohibit the manufacture, due to the hardware, and other materials needed for defense. Fortunately, we have been able to obtain a contract to purchase a LIMITED NUMBER of cabinets, as specifications below, just what every collector is looking for, and unable to locate. Most cabinets that hold 1,000 coins or more usually sell for $20 or upward, and these are priced at practically pre-war prices. If you are in need of a nice cabinet, you will not delay your order, for these will sell very quickly.

A Rare Piece in Fractional Currency

Number 56 in the Standard Catalog, bust of Spinner and autograph signatures of Allison and New, is considered an outstanding rarity. We are told by good authority that of these, there are only 12 in existence. The 1943 paper money supplement, prices same at $600.00. We offer this in perfect crisp condition for only $525.

An Unusually Choice Collection of Pattern Cents

We offer a group of 18 all different United States Pattern Cents. It took the former owner about six years to accumulate all these different varieties. All are in brilliant perfect proof condition, and each mounted on an individual card with full descriptions listing the rarity number, and quantity of each piece struck. Several of the cents have less than 100 pieces struck. Of some, only 25 to 50 is the total strike, and of two items, the report lists only 6 to 8 pieces in existence.

To the collector who desires a representative showing of these very interesting coins, here is your opportunity. The price for all, is only $300.

SPECIAL

Complete set of 50 Peso or Mexican Centenarios formerly 11 pcs., now 12 pcs.
Ex. Fine with mint luster

INCLUDING THE NEW

MEXICAN

CENTENARIO UNC.

THE ONLY GOLD PIECE ISSUED BY ANY COUNTRY THIS YEAR

It is the same weight and finess as the old 50 Peso coins. The value does not show on the coin, instead: "37.5 GRAMOS ORO PURO" appears in two places on the obverse along with the dates 1921-1943.

There is only a limited number of this coin in this country and it is very doubtful if there will be anymore.

We are offering these coins listed as 12 pcs., in complete sets only $700.00

THE "NEW" 1943 MEXICAN CENTENARIO

The same weight and fineness as the old 50.00 peso coin but instead of the value it has "37.5 gramos oro puro." These coins are not intended for circulation but to give the people of Mexico something of value to lay away.

Being in Mexico City the day they were issued I was able to get a limited number.

Our price while they last is $55.00.

See cut of coin in this issue of The Numismatist.

PACIFIC CURRENCY

By ALLAN SUTHERLAND, Wellington, New Zealand

(The following interesting paper was read by Mr. Sutherland to a group of our men at U. S. A. No. 1 Naval Mobile Hospital, near Wellington, on May 27 of this year. He writes that Commander Sprague conveyed the greetings of the New Bedford Historical Society, and adds: "The men from your country have settled down nicely in our country, and are being welcomed in the homes of the people. Our common language and ideals, and the exemplary appearance and conduct of the men have resulted in a rapid diffusion. We are indeed grateful for all that U. S. A. has done for this little country, and we do what we can to make your countrymen feel at home. We are, I think, meeting with some success.")

Of this last there can be no doubt. Spoken with characteristic reserve, we can find much between the lines to emphasize his own modest estimate. When our men return we venture the belief that New Zealand will no longer be merely "a far country," but a warm and lasting reality. We thank Mr. Sutherland for his compliance with our request that his address appear in The Numismatist—Ed.).

I am privileged to be asked to address men of the United States of America temporarily domiciled in this hospital as a result of war service. The U. S. A. is not unknown to me for I spent some time there in 1935, and for several years I have been a member of two American numismatic organizations, and the literature I have received from them has given me some insight into American opinion. I have no intention of giving you a long lecture, but I am going to endeavour to show to you (in the space of 30 minutes) that, despite our slightly different accents, historically New Zealand and the U. S. A. are more closely knit than many people imagine; and I am also going to skate over some phases of currency history of the Pacific and show you that notwithstanding divergencies of a century, your forebears did as much as my forebears in accustoming the cannibalistic Maori of New Zealand to the ways of the white man. No doubt many of my hearers knew little of New Zealand before coming here—similarly few New Zealanders knew little of America—until the Marines arrived. I remember being once asked in Seattle where I came from. When I said "New Zealand," my American acquaintance said "Oh, are you motoring home?" Which shows that this speck in the ocean counts for little in normal times. But to get on with my story.

The history of a country is usually reflected in its currency. In fact ancient history could not have been fully written but for the keys to history contained on the coins that have come to us from past centuries. As one writer, Henry Austin Dobson, says:

"The Bust outlasts the throne—
The Coin, Tiberius."

History is being written in the currency now being used in the Pacific. Owing to the exigencies of war, regular peace time currencies are being supplemented or replaced by others, and money of necessity is making its appearance in some Islands near the fighting zones.

One hundred years ago the Spanish and the American dollar dominated the currency of the Pacific. Today the American dollar again dominates this area and weaves a silver thread of uniformity throughout the otherwise tangled Pacific currency fabric of modern times.

American Influence in New Zealand

The Maori of New Zealand first learned the use of money—coins—mainly from American sailors, sealers and whalers from Nantucket, New Bedford and other U. S. A. ports. In 1834 and for some years afterwards the number of American sailors and whalers living at Bay whaling stations and on ships centered for long periods on New Zealand, numbered 9,000 when the number of Britishers was only 2,000. Hence the Americans at that time did more than the British to accustom the Maoris to civilized life. The Maori word for silver money was "moni torra" (money dollars), and many barter and land transfer deeds—signed by Maoris merely by copying replicas of tattoo whirls on their faces as their mark or signature—include in the consideration so many dollars (or half crowns), but never have I seen the English pound mentioned in these early deeds.

The native money of the Maori was greenstone fashioned into ornaments or articles of utility. A secondary form of money was obsidian, used also for spear heads and for cutting. The Maori knew nothing of metal, although nuggets of gold were lying around him. Greenstone, a very hard substance, was used for his axe and adze heads. Being difficult to procure, attractive and easily portable, and hard to work, greenstone was highly esteemed, and certain adornments of greenstone when handed down assumed an insignia or tribal value.

With the coming of the white man, articles made from metal were eagerly sought after by the Maori—particularly tomahawks and nails, which had a utility value. One writer records that in the good old days American sailors could purchase a temporary Maori wife for a spike nail. The sailor of U. S. A. would merely hold up a spike nail and after a few words among the women one "would rise with dignity and disappear into the bush with him."

Yankee Notions

Usually whaling ships from U. S. A. would bring cargoes of "Yankee Notions"—beads and barter goods which they would barter for food, water, or anything the Maoris could give them. One such transaction is worth recording. U. S. A. barter goods were exchanged for fish and potatoes and pork. The fish and pork were taken on board the sailing vessel, but, owing to rough weather, the potatoes—in kits—remained in rows along the beach. Being marooned, the sailors each day bought temporary wives from the local Chief and soon the Chief repossessed all the potatoes—and the women as well—and the sailors had to induce the Chief to accept silver dollars to buy back the potatoes.

At first the Maori did not like or understand coins and he usually spent them or exchanged them for goods from other ships. The Maori would buy anything and everything to get rid of coins, but his visible riches—in the shape of goods—were an embarrassment to him as a strict custom of the Maori, communal ownership, decreed that all goods must be shared among the tribe. But when the more astute Maoris “got their coins right” they would prefer coins which they could hide in a belt under their blanket capes and spend on themselves at leisure with the smug satisfaction of a Wall Street capitalist.

But before the advent of the white man the economics of the Polynesian in New Zealand were associated with the custom of gift exchange in a form different from other primitive races. There were, for instance, ceremonial gifts, gifts resembling barter, but still not barter, and be-reavement gifts. Etiquette decreed that in certain cases there should be a delayed exchange, for if a gift were returned quickly it was interpreted as a soldier's farewell. “Goodbye and be damned to you.” It was not long before the Maori discarded his gift exchange and barter methods of trading, and traded for coins.

First Coinage in Circulation

When the first British governor arrived in New Zealand in 1840 the coinage in circulation was mainly U. S. A. silver dollars and golden eagles, and also coins of the East India Company, of Spain, of South America, of France. British coins were scarce, and in order to enable trade to continue freely the British governor decreed that coins of U. S. A., East India Company, South America, and Spain, should be officially recognised in New Zealand and he advertised their value in relation to British money. The coins of U. S. A. predominated, and it was not until 1847 that British coins were received in sufficient quantities to enable sterling coins to be made the sole currency of New Zealand. Even now silver and gold coins of U. S. A. are at times uncovered by the waves at Bay of Islands where U. S. A. whaling vessels congregated in the 'forties. One writer describing Kororeka (Bay of Islands) in 1837 states that in the shipping season, on Sundays, it was no uncommon sight to see “near 100 men roving about the beach, mostly drunk . . . the scenes of immorality and drunkenness are truly shocking.” He states there were 20 grog shops at the Bay and the inseparable consequence was that on liberty days, such as Sundays, ten or twelve pitched battles were often fought at one time. Be it remembered, however, that sailors of all nationalities congregated here at this time. New Zealand was no-man's land. British sovereignty was not declared until three years later. Those were the bad old days—or the good old days—when even rum was used as currency both in New Zealand and in Australia. Rum was rum in those days, judged by the results recorded by historians.

The reaction of Maoris to bank notes—or promises to pay in coins or gold—is difficult to evaluate at this stage, but writers of the past show that however suspicious they were of paper money, in 1881 many tribes freely accepted bank notes as money. In 1877 the Government wished to buy the Karangaroa plains from the Maoris. Chief Peraniko negotiated the sale for £15,000. The Government, however, with its usual tardiness, took only four years to put through the necessary authority. Meantime Chief Peraniko died and was embalmed and temporarily buried, his tangi—or wake—being deferred until the Government produced the cash. In 1881 arrangements were complete to hand over the money. Accordingly Chief Peranika was dug up and dressed up to preside over the ceremony of handing over the cash. An eyewitness, Mair, describes the ceremony as follows:

“On the appointed morning . . . several thousand natives had assembled at the village near Fort Galatea. The place was embowered in foliage; flags everywhere; over a hundred tents and marquees lining both sides of the marae, with the fine carved house . . . at the end of the square . . . We advanced with the escort, ushered in by the firing of volleys, hundreds of women waving the white plumes of the kakaho, and crying out the ancient welcome.

“In front of the house knelt the different tribal matua—solid phalanxes of stripped armed men, who sprang to their feet in rotation, and performed the thrilling peruperu (war dance), finally uniting in a body of 800 men in one great finale. Then the heart-moving strains of the tangi burst forth from over three thousands voices.”

Mair then describes his surprise at seeing the exhumed body of his friend, Chief Peraniko, suitably oiled and ornamented with rare plumes, seated on a platform adorned with choice cloaks, and one of his cold hands still grasping the family talisman, a greenstone mere. At his feet the faithful widow and her children bowed with grief. Mair continues:

“I then went forward and pressed noses affectionately with the widow and the fatherless ones. I hung the leather satchel with the £15,000 about the woman's neck; she retained it until it was required for distribution. Mats were laid in the marae, and I sat and listened to numberless eloquent speeches from notable Maori orators . . . Then followed a feast on a gargantuan scale. At the end of the feast there were hakas and dances till midnight.

“During the progress of the lengthy discussions the body of the chief had been removed for temporary reburial. Having danced and feasted until the payment was made, the huge gathering dispersed, each tribal representative taking his share of the books of bank-notes which, like autumn leaves, were ‘blown’ to the four winds.”

New Zealand Coinage

I come now to New Zealand coinage. Up to ten years ago the coins of Great Britain were used in New Zealand. In 1930 sterling exchange fluctuated markedly against Australia and New Zealand, with the result that Australian coins were smuggled to New Zealand in large numbers to be exchanged for our sterling coins. Later, when the New Zealand exchange rate slipped still further to £125 N. Z. for £100 sterling, sterling coins were smuggled out of the country, causing a serious shortage.

Regulations against smuggling coins were almost powerless. For instance, one man openly engaged a taxi and toured the country changing notes to coin, and when he had about £1,000 in coins in the taxi, the driver purposely lost him and got away with the swag—for a time—but the owner "put the law" on the driver and recovered his money.

Some smugglers exported sterling coins to England as "Frozen Duck," the cases being innocently conveyed in the ship's cold storage without mishap. Others exported coins in gas cylinders and in oil sumps of motorcycles. The serious shortage in coins forced the Government to consider issuing a special coinage for New Zealand. A Government Coinage Commission was set up to report on the manufacture, designs, and denominations that should be adopted. As a member of that Commission I fought for the metric system, but as there was a financial depression at the time and the change over would have been a little expensive, and particularly in view of the fact that the shortage in coin was so serious and that the Government could not wait for two years (the normal period necessary for such a change over), the Commission recommended that the £. s. d., or fractional system, should be continued meantime. There is a strong feeling in many parts of the British Empire that the metric system—as you have in U. S. A.—should be adopted for British coinages.

Coinage Designs

And now a word on the designs of New Zealand coins. The half penny (bronze) bears a tiki, a Maori charm often fashioned in greenstone and worn around the neck. It is said to induce fertility or virility. The object is an embryo child.

The penny (bronze) bears a representation of a tui, also known as a parson bird because of the white tufts on its throat. The Kowhai blossom on which it is perched is almost the national flower of New Zealand.

The threepence (silver) bears two carved patu or clubs crossed. These clubs were used in fighting, and in the early days the use of a patu on a skull of an enemy was a necessary preliminary to a good meal.

The sixpence (silver) shows a huia, an extinct bird, notable in that the female had a long curved beak and the male a short thick one, and the male used his beak to break bark when the female would insert her long beak into holes uncovered, to get grubs.

The shilling (silver) depicts a Maori in his kiltlike piupiu holding a taihia, a ceremonial staff.

The florin (2/- silver) has the Kiwi, a rare wingless bird.

The half crown (2/6 silver) bears the crowned arms of New Zealand, in the quarterings the Southern Cross, a golden fleece (lamb suspended by a ribbon) a wheat sheaf, and mining hammers crossed, symbols of New Zealand or of industry and production. In the center (pale) are three heraldic ships symbolic of Capt. Cook's three voyages to New Zealand.

There is a crown or 5/- piece issued 1935 showing the first Governor and a Maori chief shaking hands. This is called the Waitangi Crown. There is also a centennial half crown issued 1940 showing a Maori woman standing.

Native Currency

I will now pass on to other Pacific areas and deal with native currency as distinct from modern European currency used in these areas. In the Polynesian triangle stretching from Hawaii to Samoa, Tonga, and New Zealand at the base, and Easter Island at the apex, and in the Melanesian area, notably around Fiji, the word "money" does not adequately describe the commodities and adornments used as native exchange media. A wealth of social sentiment surrounds the tambu or whale's teeth and shell rings of Melanesia, and although used as a form of currency, in the main these are used as ceremonial gifts. Similarly in Polynésia the red-feather money of Hawaii, the mat money of Samoa, and articles of greenstone and feather cloaks of New Zealand were exchanged or used as a quid pro quo, but in an atmosphere that raised them above the plane of pure economics.

These articles, such as a greenstone mere, were often insignia of rank and wealth or symbols of tribal traditions, and were, at times, named when handed down from generation to generation. These valued articles, however, were usually held by the Chiefs and were seldom exchanged. But at times they were used almost in the same way as we would use bank notes of large denominations—with the exception that only Chiefs usually passed them, and ceremonial factors entered into the exchanges.

Commodities of lesser value, such as shell money of various colours fashioned into discs and threaded into necklaces, and tiny red and yellow feathers gummed to strings of bark, and the cowrie shell, were more frequently used as money. I have before me some examples of shell and whales teeth money. White shell discs, threaded alternately with cocoanut shell discs of the size of shirt buttons were exchanged in fathom lengths in Melanesia—one fathom would buy a wife, but it took three fathoms to buy a pig.

I have also before me red shell disc money of New Guinea, threaded with specimens of synthetic red shell money of a brighter red made and circulated by the Germans when they controlled part of New Guinea.

In the Santa Cruz Group bunches of small red feathers of the rare honey-eating bird gummed to strips of bark up to twenty feet in length were used as currency, and pointed ellipses of basalt two and one-half inches long were often placed on the feathers as a money tapu or protection against theft.

Between the Solomon Islands and the mainland of Papua is a group of islands known as the D'entrecasteaux Archipelago, where, at Sanaroa, is to be found the source of much of the Pacific Island native money. The spondylus shell ("spondulicks"—money?) found in the coral here has a layer of red shell which is fashioned into discs and holed for stringing. These are used as arm bands and necklaces, and for money. As the natives are seldom over-clothed, this is the most convenient way of carrying their riches. The money value is imparted to the shells because of their scarcity and the time and labour involved in preparation.

In the Taumu Islands twists of human hair have a currency value; in the Admiralty Islands strings of hand-wrought shell discs, and to the far North at Yap and Truk in Carolines stone money is still used, some of the holed stone discs being the size of a cartwheel. Small transactions are carried out with Ponape shell money, mats, and liquor-ice-soaked tobacco.

Standard Official Currencies of the Pacific

There were five standard currencies in use in Allied Pacific Islands before the war but now, through the influx of troops of different nationalities, most of these currencies are intermingled and are interchangeable with domestic currencies. In addition, wartime official paper money (of coin denominations and official card money of small denominations issued by traders) and canteen currency have been issued in some Islands to overcome the shortage of coins. In Hawaii, U. S. A. money is used. The only Colonial coinage issued by the U. S. A. was, I understand, for the Philippine Islands.

In New Caledonia, De Gaullist French paper money, U. S. A. coins and notes, canteen cards and some New Zealand currency are used. The domestic money is French and the Army money American.

In the New Hebrides, Bank of Indo-China notes (of a special Fighting French vintage) are used.

In Tonga, British coins and Tongan Government notes circulate concurrently with the currencies of the occupying troops.

In Fiji special Fiji coins and notes down to notes for 1d circulate with British pennies and threepences, Australian sixpences, and card tokens for 6d, 3d, and 1d issued by hotel keepers and traders.

Samoa uses currency of U. S. A., special Samoan Treasury notes, and New Zealand coins. Throughout practically the whole of this area the dominating currency is American. Being based on the metric system the American currency is being increasingly favoured by users of the out of date £. s. d. currency, and many hope that the dollar will continue as the standard for post war currency for the whole of the Pacific.

Invasion Money

I have not referred to Japanese invasion money which I think must have been planned by Hawaiian-educated Japanese. For instance, notes for a "½ shilling" would not be issued by British-educated Japanese, as we never refer to "½ Shillings" but to "Sixpences." The impudence of Tojo's henchmen in printing invasion money in advance will be a consolation to them in hell, which they fear so much. There is an old Oriental custom of printing counterfeit currency notes and burning them at funerals to bribe the Devil—and Tojo and his men will need them all.

Finally, I would like to mention the broader aspects of the pursuit or hobby of numismatics which is the collection and/or study of coins, medals and money generally. Numismatology is a major branch of the study of archaeology and reflects economic history. Coins go deep into the roots of history, being first issued about 800 B. C. They are practically the only enduring things that have come down through the centuries, unaltered by time, to tell in their mute way some of the stories of the ancient past. They are really the metallic archives of the ancients, who often issued special coins to commemorate victories or other important events, and it is a joy to handle these coins and muse over their history and the hands through which they have passed. The coins we handle today will become old one day and will be similarly regarded long after we have gone. Collecting postage stamps is another interesting hobby but they were first issued in 1840—only yesterday in comparison. It can be seen that a diversified field is available to student and collector of ancient or even modern coins and money generally, and only a glimpse of this field has been given to you tonight.

As a small gesture of friendship I have pleasure in handing to your Chairman for the Hospital Library an autographed and numbered copy of my recent work "The Numismatic History of New Zealand" which deals more fully with some of the subjects I have referred to in this lecture.

(At the conclusion of the lecture, slides of Greek coins of the B. C. period were screened, and questions were answered. The speaker was introduced by Chaplain Akers, and a vote of thanks was moved by Commander Sprague.)

THE COINS OF THE EASTERN EMPIRE

By G. L. SCHANZLIN, Upland, Indiana

Throughout the Middle Ages, Constantinople, the ancient Byzantium, was the clearing house between the civilized East and the half-barbaric West. For no sufficient reason we have been brought up to think and speak of the Eastern Empire and its people as decadent, presumably because their institutions, compared with those of the European West, were more ancient, changing at a slower rate, so slow at times that changes came almost imperceptibly. The decay and fall of the Roman Empire took a little over a thousand years; it must have had a pretty sturdy vitality to begin with. But there it is, the Byzantines, the proud successors of the Caesars and rulers in their own right, in even our modern histories appear in the light of a decadent race, possessing little else but the sorry shreds and remnants of imperial Rome. When Napoleon wanted a telling epithet to characterize Czar Alexander the First (a man whom he had little reason to love), he called this Russian emperor, a Greek of the Lower Empire. This fully expresses the low opinion which Western Europe has always held of the new Rome Constantinople had planted on the shores of the Bosphorus.

Little wonder that Byzantine coins are not much in demand by collectors—except the gold bezants, which well-to-do folks have hoarded through many centuries. Few people seem to know or care what the heavy coppers of Justinianus really mean, or why all, with those of many other rulers of ancient Byzantium, have a large capital M upon the reverse, while smaller pieces have a large K, an I, or an E. Even learned works find it difficult to distinguish Justin II from Justinian II, two rulers who were about as far apart in history, and as different in dress, for instance (as their coins clearly show), as George Washington was from the present occupant of the presidential chair. With preconceived ideas it is so easy to overlook actuality.

While admitting that Constantinople, down to the year of its capture by the Turks in 1453, kept burning the light of knowledge and of Greek culture, though dimly at times, the question may well be raised, what about the moral standards of those Romaic Greeks? There are dark and blood-stained pages in the history of the Byzantine and later Greek empire, political and social evils, misgovernment by weak rulers and their favorites, city riots, palace conspiracies, revolutions, assassinations, and intrigues without end. Compared with the reigns of Marius, Caligula, Nero, Domitian, and Commodus in ancient pagan Rome, the annals of New Rome, even at their worst, make rather tame and colorless reading. Even during certain periods of the dark ages, cruelties and corruption in Rome make some of the upheavals in contemporary Constantinople look modest and harmless.

Byzantine coins have neither escaped the glitter of the over-ripe semi-oriental culture of the lower empire, nor its periods of internal troubles, and external political weakness and lethargy; they reflect very clearly the changing conditions of the Byzantine state and society. The contacts and conflicts of that monarchy with Arab and Bulgar, Persian and Slavonian, Frank and Norman, with Crusaders and Assassins of the Sheik of the Mountain, all may be traced in the multifarious systems of coinage resorted to in the long sweep of its history. The Roman cast of mind, its legalistic and orderly precision, its arts and contrivances, the manners, customs, virtues and vices of the people, these persisting characteristics are clearly indicated in the many types of coins through their artistic, symbolic and linguistic peculiarities. It took the Eastern Empire over six centuries to rid its coins of the Latin language, the Emperor Basil, 813-86 A. D., introducing the first real Greek legends on his coppers, on the reverse only; and even then Latin characters are used instead of Greek!

This was in harmony with the imperial policy in all departments of the administration. Roman law with the Latin language ruled supreme in New Rome for long periods. Justinian, the lawgiver and codifier of the laws of the empire, as a special concession to the Greek-speaking population of the capital, allowed the heralds to address the spectators in Greek at the chariot races in the circus. That was two hundred years after Constantine had moved the center of the empire to Byzantium, named after him, Constantinople.

Latin inscriptions on coins continued down to the time of Michael VII, 1078 A. D. (Finlay, "Greece Under the Roman.") Hardly any of the families, whose members assumed the purple, were of Latin stock, not even great Justinian himself. The Justin family to which he belonged were Thracians; later dynasties were of Isaurian, Armenian, Macedonian, and perhaps even Slavonian origin; the southern Slav tribes, now Serbs and others, were called Slavonians by the early writers. So strong was the idea and ideal of empire that nationality counted little, for the prize of political advancement, leadership and empire was forever to the strong, the courageous, and the unscrupulous. Some of the best rulers of the empire had secured the crown through marriage with imperial princesses, some through the assassination of their predecessors, but most of them through political intrigue. Men and women came and went, dynasties rose and fell, but the system held, the old imperial system of state-craft, of law and order, perhaps the most amazing case of the triumph of the idea over things and conditions, over the passions of men and over mere physical force. All this and more is delineated on the later Roman and Byzantine coins for our investigation and study, indelibly engraved on the money used in bygone ages.

STILL MORE ABOUT THE SPRINKLE "DOLLAR"

We recently received from Farran Zerbe of New York, Past President of the A. N. A., a letter containing some reminiscences of the period prior to the time this magazine was acquired by the Association; among other things, he was reminded by our recent brief article on the Sprinkle "Dollar" (April issue) of his own contribution on the same subject to the American Journal of Numismatics in 1917. He suggests the propriety of reprinting this in part if it seems desirable; and with this additional material on a more or less legendary private coinage we will let the case rest until some definite evidence not heretofore advanced is discovered. With acknowledgment to the Journal, a portion of Mr. Zerbe's article, "Private Silver Coins of the United States," is herewith quoted:

Most American numismatists are somewhat familiar with the story of a silver piece known as the "Sprinkle Dollar," while persistent inquiries on the part of the writer have contributed to keeping the story alive in recent years.

Back in my embryo collector days when the effort to acquire every date of the copper cent was sufficiently absorbing for me not to know or care of the numismatic realms that lay beyond, a business man of the central west wrote to me for information about a silver piece which had been "knocking around" his desk for a number of years. He had forgotten where it came from and had never taken the trouble to inquire about it. He described the piece as about dollar size, an owl pictured on one side, a six-pointed star on the reverse. In later years I had reason to identify this piece as a "Sprinkle Dollar," but from whom or whence the inquiry had come I had forgotten, but knew that my reply had been without any personal interest in the piece. One day, about fifteen years ago, in assorting a lot of old letters I found the owl-star piece inquiry and was in consequence much elated. I hoped that the piece might yet be obtained for editing even if it could not be purchased. Disappointment came in reply to my letter—the piece had disappeared and could not be located. I kept in correspondence with the man and did not give up hope of obtaining it until the day I received a letter stating that he had just discovered that his sons, months previously, had used "the old silver thing that Dad don't want" for a bull's eye in their rifle target and that it had been shot to bits.

This is the one numismatic "bull's-eye" I have regretted, for I do not doubt that it was a "Sprinkle Dollar," and for which I would now gladly trade the set of copper cents that held my early interest.

To many people the "Sprinkle Dollar" is a fairy-tale or myth, having its foundation in a newspaper article published in 1895 which, so far as I know, is the earliest published reference to it. This article was published in the American Journal of Numismatics, January, 1896, and the Editor's note prefacing it is the only numismatic comment that has come to my notice. The account in the Journal is as follows:

"We find in the Boston Transcript a cutting from the Wheeling (W. Va.) Register, published a few weeks ago, giving an account of some curious pieces which appear to have escaped the notice of American collectors, although the writer calls them 'the famous Sprinkle Dollars.' The Register says:

'Not long ago a man living in Grayson, Carter County, Ky., received in payment for a horse sold to an old farmer, near the Lewis County line, $46, among which were three of the famous 'Sprinkle Dollars' of the early '30's. It has been more than twenty years since any of these peculiar coins have been found in this section and the production of these will recall a queer character who flourished in the early part of the century, Josiah Sprinkle, who lived in one of the roughest sections of Lewis County. One day he appeared in Washington, the county seat, with a buckskin pouch full of silver dollars of his own make. In every respect they appeared the equal of the national coin. The weight was more and the quality and ring of the metal were all that could be asked.

"The inscriptions on the coins were rudely outlined, and no attempt was made at imitation of the legal coin. Rudely outlined on one side was an owl, while a six cornered star showed with more accuracy upon the other. The coins were considerably larger than the regulation article, and thicker as well. Upon various occasions Sprinkle afterwards visited the town, and spent them more and more freely. At one time he volunteered the fact that he had a silver mine in the hills, but no one ever succeeded in inducing the old man to reveal his secret.

"Finally the government agents came on to investigate; Sprinkle was arrested and brought into court, but the dollars were proved to be pure silver, without alloy, worth, in fact, a trifle more than a dollar each, and after an exciting trial he reached down in a cavernous pocket and drew out a bag of fifty of the coins and promptly paid his attorney in the presence of the astonished officials. Sprinkle was never afterwards bothered, and continued until his death to make the dollars, how and where no one ever knew."

ALBANY COMMEMORATIVE HALF

From Willis J. McKinney, Secretary-Treasurer of the Albany Numismatic Society, comes the following communication, under date of June 19:

"The committee, which has had charge of the distribution of the Albany Commemorative Half Dollar, issued in 1936, has just announced that 8,126 unsold coins have been returned to the U. S. Treasury for redemption at face. A bill is now before Congress to permit such proceeds to be turned over to the general fund of the City of Albany.

"The original coinage was 25,013 pieces. Thus the number available to collectors has now been reduced to 16,887.

"A committee from the Albany Numismatic Society received assurance from the President of the Bank which distributed these coins at the time they were first released that none would ever be sold to speculators, or others, at less than the full price of $2.00. There is every reason to believe that this promise has been kept.

"An early increase in the value of this coin would seem to be in order."

AN INNACURATE REPORT

A press dispatch from Oregon City, Oregon, under date of June 10, was recently sent in by member F. B. Rowley of Yakima, Washington, stating that one thousand Oregon Trail commemorative half dollars are being struck and will soon be put on sale at $5 each, the coins to take the place of a proposed commemorative stamp refused by the P. O. Department.

The substance of the report was relayed to Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Director of the Mint. Her reply (June 30) quotes the Act passed by Congress August 5, 1939, prohibiting the subsequent issuance of commemorative coins pursuant to any Act of Congress authorizing such coinage enacted prior to March 1, 1939.

Mrs. Ross adds that an Act specifically authorizing further striking would be necessary prior to the reported issue, and that no such legislation has been passed.

This coin (designed by Laura G. Fraser) first appeared in 1926, P and S Mint; again in 1928, P; in 1933 D and 1934 D; in 1936 P and S; in 1937 D; in 1938 and 1939, all three Mints in each year: total, 14 varieties.

ELECTION MEDALS OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1844

By DOYLE DeWITT, Bloomfield, Connecticut

(Series began in issue of June, 1943)

MEDALS AND TOKENS OF GEORGE M. DALLAS

No. 9. Obverse: Inscription, GEORGE M. DALLAS, large bust to left.

Reverse: Inscription, UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL, enclosing octagonal shield inscribed OUR/COUNTRY/RIGHT/OR/WRONG/, surmounted by eagle, flanked by flags, swords and sprigs.

White Metal. 42 mm.

Note A—The obverse on this and the two succeeding tokens is the same as the reverse of No. 2. The dies were cut by Leonard.

Note B—The practice of circulating campaign tokens on behalf of the candidate for vice president was resorted to in only a few instances. In later campaigns, some such tokens and badges were circulated prior to the nominating conventions in the interest of the candidate's nomination for the presidency. That is not true in this instance as James Buchanan was the Pennsylvania "favorite son" for president. This may simply be a case of indiscriminate muling but probably the token actually received some distribution because of the obscurity of Polk and the fact that the possibility of a vice presidential succession to the presidency had been accented in the minds of the people by the recent death of Harrison.

Note C—This reverse was used on a Clay token (No. 17) where it has definite significance. It was also used on a Franklin Pierce campaign token of 1852.

Note D—OUR COUNTRY RIGHT OR WRONG—is undoubtedly a derivation from Stephen Decatur's famous toast in Norfolk in April 1816—"Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."

Note E—UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL—This proverb dates back to at least 550 B. C. It was first used as a campaign slogan in 1840 when it was embodied in a Harrison campaign song. It was used on several Clay pieces of the 1844 campaign where it has definite significance. (See Note 17-C.) I do not see how it can have any particular meaning so far as the candidacy of Dallas is concerned.

No. 10. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Wreath of oak leaves, the space within blank.

White Metal. 42 mm.

Note A—Undoubtedly a trial piece. This incomplete reverse also appears on a Clay token. (No. 18.)

No. 11. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Blank.

White Metal. 42 mm.

MEDALS AND TOKENS OF HENRY CLAY—1844

No. 12. Obverse: Draped bust of Clay to left on plain field, with LEONARD (engraver) on truncation.

Reverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY. THE CHAMPION OF A PROTECTIVE TARIFF.; center, in foreground, a sledge, plow and sheaf of wheat; in background, a sailing schooner with stern showing and U. S. flag flying right, sailboat to right in distance.

(Satterlee 121, 122, 123). Silver, Copper, White Metal. 50 mm.

Note A—The bust on the obverse of this and the two succeeding pieces was cut by Leonard. It is highly raised and distinguished from the others in the Clay series by its very sharp features, particularly the long, sharp nose.

Note B—THE CHAMPION OF A PROTECTIVE TARIFF—This and similar inscriptions appear on a great many of the Clay pieces of 1844. Throughout Clay's public life, the halls of Congress and the public platform resounded with his eloquent pleas for a tariff as an aid and protection to American industry. The Whig platform of 1844 advocated a "tariff for revenue to defray the necessary expenses of the government, and discriminating with special reference to the protection of the domestic labor of the country."

Note C—The device of the ship and implements of domestic labor symbolize the protective tariff. (See Note 1-E.) That Clay was not insensible to the value of the association of such symbols with his name is made clear by the following incident. In writing to one of his biographers, Rev. Calvin Colton who had asked him for his coat of arms, Clay wrote in reply, "I have really no coat of arms, and if I had, I should doubt the propriety of the use of it suggested by you. In lieu of it, would it not be better to employ some object drawn from those interests which I have sought to promote in the National Councils? A loom, shuttle, anvil, plow, or any other article connected with manufactures, agriculture or commerce." (Private Correspondence of Henry Clay. Edited by Calvin Colton, p. 532.)

No. 13. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY. THE PEOPLES CHOICE; in depressed center, a coastal scene with busy factories, sailing ship on water and 1844 below in exergue.

(Satterlee 124, 125). Copper, White Metal. 50 mm.

(This medal has been reported to exist in silver also.)

Note A—THE PEOPLES CHOICE and similar catch-phrases are as old as politics itself and have no particular significance here. (See Note 1-D.)

Note B—The device of the busy factories and ship symbolizes the benefits of a protective tariff. (See Notes 12-B and C.)

No. 14. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY AND PROTECTION TO ALL OUR ENTERPRISES; center, barrel, crates, anvil, plow and sheaf of wheat in foreground, side view of three-masted schooner and sailboat to right in background.

White Metal. 50 mm.

Note A—PROTECTION TO ALL OUR ENTERPRISES—See Notes 12-B and C.

Note B—Device of the ship and implements of labor—See Note 12-C.

No. 15. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY; center, togated bust to left with MITCHELL BOSTON (engraver) below.

(Satterlee 127). White Metal. 42 mm.

(Two other metal varieties of this token have been noted—one of gilt white metal and the other, brass.)

Note A—The obverse bears a well-executed youthful bust. It was used later with a reverse commemorating his death.

(Satterlee 126).

Note B—THE FLAG WE WEAR AT OUR MAST HEAD SHOULD BE THE CREDENTIALS OF OUR SEAMEN—comes from one of Clay's most famous speeches and was to be read in the history books of school children for decades. It was Clay's leadership in the House while Speaker that hastened the War of 1812. Clay had left the Senate, to be elected to the House because "he preferred the turbulence of the House to the solemn stillness of the Senate." He was elected Speaker on the opening day. At one of the sessions, Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts, leader of the Federalists in the House, had made a brilliant but bitter assault upon the whole war policy of the administration. It was up to Clay, the foremost of the young, aggressive group in the House, to answer him. He delivered a fiery, two-day speech on January 8 and 9, 1813. During the second day, while discussing the impressment of American seamen by Great Britain, he spoke of his lack of sympathy with a bill Congress had passed in 1776 requiring that our seamen be furnished with certificates of citizenship to prevent their being mistaken for British subjects. Then "he put forth his whole melodramatic power, drawing tears from the eyes of his listeners," as he cried, "If Great Britain desires a mark by which she can know her own subjects, let her give them an ear mark. The colours that float from the mast head, should be the credentials of our seamen."

Note C—YOUNG MEN'S CONVENTION BALTIMORE MAY, 1844.—On May 2, 1844, the day following the Whig National Convention at Baltimore, a "Young Men's Convention" was held to "ratify" the nominations of the convention for president and vice president.

No. 16. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY. 1844.; nude bust to left with LEONARD (engraver) on truncation.

Reverse: Inscription above, THE WEALTH OF A NATION; center, coastal scene with busy factories, sailing ship on water; below, in exergue, IS INDICATED BY/IT'S INDUSTRY.

(Satterlee 128, 129, 130). Silver, Copper, White Metal. 40 mm.

Note A—The bust is very similar to the others cut by Leonard on Nos. 12, 13 and 14. There are slight differences in the hair at the temple and in this instance the bust is undraped.

Note B—THE WEALTH OF A NATION IS INDICATED BY IT'S INDUSTRY—is intended to be a quotation from Clay's speech in the House on the tariff on March 30 and 31, 1824. He said, "the wealth of a nation is indicated by the measure of its protection of its industry." (Life and Speeches of Henry Clay. Daniel Mallory, Editor. Vol. I, p. 511.) (Also see Note 12-B.)

Note C—The device on the reverse is identical to that on the reverse of No. 13. (See Note 12-C.)

No. 17. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL; enclosing octagonal shield inscribed OUR/COUNTRY/RIGHT/OR/WRONG/, surmounted by eagle, flanked by flags, swords and sprigs.

White Metal. 40 mm.

Note A—The reverse is identical with the reverse on the Dallas token No. 9, and was also used on a Franklin Pierce token of the campaign of 1852. (See Note 9-C.)

Note B—OUR COUNTRY RIGHT OR WRONG—See Note 9-D.

Note C—UNITED WE STAND DIVIDED WE FALL—See Note 9-E. The fact that this proverb or parts of it was used on no less than five Clay campaign pieces, of which three are definitely attributable to the 1844 campaign by being so dated and one other by a corresponding dated reverse, is ample proof that it had a definite significance as far as Clay and his 1844 campaign were concerned and was not just a carry-over from the 1840 campaign of Harrison. The Great Seal of the State of Kentucky bears the inscription, "United we stand, Divided we fall," and it is likewise the motto of the state. Clay was the "Great Pacificator" and the underlying theme of his famous Compromises was unity. What then could better typify the political creed of this Kentucky statesman, author of the noted Compromises, than this age-old proverb? And indeed, its use as a Whig slogan in 1844 was most timely. Daniel Webster, prominent Whig and Secretary of State under Tyler, had refused to resign with the remainder of the cabinet appointed by Harrison and thus had declined to follow the course advocated by Clay and the Whig party. He lived in political isolation until a few months preceding the Whig National Convention when he and Clay effected a reconciliation. He attended the National Convention and in connection with the ratifying services publicly made a fervid pledge of allegiance to the Whig party and the candidacy of Clay, to the great glee of the assembled Whigs. A campaign song entitled, "Clay and Frelinghuysen," written by Oliver Ditson of Boston in 1844, expresses the Whig sentiment very appropriately—"The skies are bright, our hearts are light, In Baltimore the Whigs unite."

No. 18. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Wreath of oak leaves, the space within blank.

Bronze. 40 mm.

Note A—Same as reverse of Dallas token No. 10.

No. 19. Obverse: Inscription, OUR FLAG TRAMPLED UPON; center, Clay standing with right arm upraised and with left holding tattered U. S. flag.

Reverse: Center, a flying eagle with scroll in beak inscribed NATIVES, surmounted by semicircle of 7 stars and inscription BEWARE; around, OF FOREIGN INFLUENCE; below, 1844.

White Metal. 40 mm.

Note A—This token is a product of the Native American party or Native American Republican Association, whose members were more familiarly called the "Natives." Their platform was anti-foreign, anti-Catholic and asserted that only nativeborn, Protestant citizens were fit to run the country. After an earlier beginning and collapse, the party was reorganized in New York in 1843 and spread to New Jersey and Pennsylvania during the presidential campaign. Their espousal of the candidacy of Clay and Frelinghuysen drove the urban foreign vote to the Democrats and contributed to the defeat of the Whig ticket.

Note B—OUR FLAG TRAMPLED UPON and the device depicting Clay defending the already soiled flag symbolizes the hope of the "Natives" as to what Clay's action would be toward the alleged foreign and Catholic influences existing in the nation.

Note C—BEWARE OF FOREIGN INFLUENCE is a diminutive of the motto of Nativism, having its origin in Washington's Farewell Address—"Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of republican government." Clay himself said, "Republics, above all other governments, ought most seriously to guard against foreign influence." (Life and Speeches of Henry Clay—Daniel Mallory, Editor. Vol. I, p. 276.)

No. 20. Obverse: Small togated bust to left with THOMAS (engraver) on truncation, enclosed by inscription THE FARMER OF ASHLAND and oak wreath; above, HENRY CLAY; below, BORN APRIL 12 1777; three rosettes to right and left.

Reverse: Inscription around, NOMINATED BY THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION MAY. 1. 1844; within a beaded circle, HENRY CLAY/

OF/KENTUCKY/FOR PRESIDENT/THEODORE/FRELINGHUYSEN/OF/NEW JERSEY/FOR VICE/PRESIDENT/.

Silver, White Metal, Bronze, Copper Nickel. 37 mm.

Note A—The small bust on this and the four succeeding tokens, all cut by Thomas, is well executed and is a faithful likeness of Clay.

Note B—THE FARMER OF ASHLAND—Clay's home at Lexington, Kentucky was described by one of his biographers as follows—"Ashland, the residence of Mr. Clay, comprising the house, gardens, and park, is situated a mile and a half, southeast, from the courthouse in Lexington, on the southwest side of the turnpike road, leading to Richmond * * *. The whole estate of Ashland consists of between five and six hundred acres, of the best land in Kentucky—which, for agricultural purposes, is one of the richest states in the Union." (Colton's Life and Times of Henry Clay. Vol. I, p. 42.)

Note C—BORN APRIL 12, 1777—is the date of birth always used by Clay and furnished by him to his biographers. However, Horace Greeley, in writing the introduction to a biography of Clay on July 17, 1852, said, "It has recently been stated with confidence, by one who has in this case no conceivable motive for falsehood, that Mr. Clay was actually born in 1775, and so was two years older than he has hitherto been, and in the body of this work still is, represented." (Life of Henry Clay—By Epes Sargent. Edited and Completed at Mr. Clay's Death by Horace Greeley. P. 6.) Another of Clay's biographers states that the matter was instigated entirely by Clay's political opponents. He states, "there was a Henry (a brother) born in 1775, who died, and the future statesman took his name." (The True Henry Clay—By Joseph M. Rogers. P. 22.)

Note D—NOMINATED BY THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION MAY 1, 1844—refers to the Whig National Convention which made the party nominations, as distinguished from the ratifying convention of the next day.

No. 21. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, HONOR WHERE HONOR'S DUE/GEN. WILLIAM H. HARRISON/TO THE HERO OF TIPPECANOE/.; bust of Harrison to right.

Brass, White Metal. 37 mm.

Note A—This reverse was the obverse of a Harrison medal used in the campaign of 1840. (Satterlee 77½). If, when muled with this Clay obverse, it had any specific political purpose, it probably was to connect the name of Clay with the name of Harrison, the successful Whig candidate in the preceding presidential election.

No. 22. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, BUNKER HILL A NATION'S GRATITUDE; center, a representation of Bunker Hill Monument.

Silver, Bronze. 37 mm.

(Usually found on slightly larger planchet than No. 21—about 40 mm.)

Note A—This reverse was likewise used in the Harrison campaign. With the Harrison obverse described in Note 21-A, it was used to form Satterlee 77½.

No. 23. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: OUR NEXT PRESIDENT UNITED WE STAND DIVIDED WE FALL, in five curved lines in border of trefoils.

White Metal. 37 mm.

Note A—UNITED WE STAND DIVIDED WE FALL—See Note 17-C.

No. 24. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Blank.

Brass, White Metal. 37 mm.

(Evidently a trial piece, also found with larger rim—about 40 mm.)

White Metal. 38 mm.

Note A—This is another Native American party token—See Note 19-A.

Note B—WASHINGTON and BEWARE OF FOREIGN INFLUENCE—Here the name of Washington is directly connected with the quotation from his Farewell Address. (See Note 19-C.)

Note C—The device depicting the eagle surmounting the falling crowns and sceptors of the Pope and Monarchs, symbolizes the basic tenet of the Native American movement—the supremacy of native born Protestant citizens over foreign born and Catholic citizens. (See Note 19-A.)

Note D—The device of the monument and the inscription BUNKER HILL was used by the Native American movement to symbolize American Independence of any foreign power.

Note E—OUR COUNTRY FIRST—simply reiterates the theme of the party.

Note F—JUSTICE TO ALL, symbolized by the scales, may have its origin in Jefferson's First Inaugural Address of March 4, 1801, particularly since the same passage has an admonition concerning foreign entanglements—"Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political; peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations—entangling alliances with none."

No. 26. Obverse: Same as preceding except period after INFLUENCE instead of exclamation point.

Reverse: Similar to preceding except inscription to left, LEXINGTON APRIL 1775; to right, KENSINGTON, MAY. 1844; below, BUNKER HILL/JUNE 1775.

White Metal. 38 mm.

Note A—LEXINGTON APRIL 1775—refers to the battle in Massachusetts where the first blood was shed in the Revolutionary War. Thus the theme of American independence is accented. Lexington, Kentucky, Clay's home, was named in honor of Lexington, Massachusetts.

Note B—KENSINGTON, May, 1844—In May 1844, at Kensington, Pennsylvania (now a part of Philadelphia), about two miles from Independence Square, the Native Americans held a large celebration and procession. This and similar demonstrations, coupled with the demand of the Catholics to be permitted to use the Douai instead of the King James Bible in the public schools, led to bloody anti-Catholic riots, the burning of St. Michael's and St. Augustine's Churches, and the loss of several lives before being put down by the militia.

Note C—BUNKER HILL JUNE 1775—See Note 25-D.

No. 27. Obverse: Same as preceding except star on scroll instead of WASHINGTON.

Reverse: Similar to preceding except inscription at right and left on two preceding pieces are combined in two lines.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY MEDAL

By EDWARD M. UHLIG, A. N. A. 8812, Manhattan, Nevada

Like many collectors of coins, I have accumulated a few medals, and among them is one of great interest to me because of its particular history and associations; and I have often wondered how wide a distribution, if any, it has had down through the years. This medal was to have been given out at the time of the erection of the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island.

It is of bronze, 50 millimeters in diameter, four millimeters thick, and is contained in a flat wooden box lined with blue cloth.

On the obverse is the Statue of Liberty in high relief, and in the background is New York harbor, with buildings of New York and Brooklyn in low relief. Above, in a circular arch, is the inscription: COMMEMORATIVE MONUMENT OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, the inner border of the arch being composed of thirty-eight small stars, representing the thirty-eight states then in the Union. In the exergue, A. BARTHOLDI, STATUAIRE. To the left in very small letters appears the name of the medalist, TASSET. The almost microscopic inscription on the book held by Liberty is "July 4, 1776."

On the reverse is the inscription, IN/REMEMBRANCE/OF THE OLD FRIENDSHIP/BETWEEN/THE UNITED STATES AND FRANCE/BY/PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION/AMONGST THE CITIZENS/OF/BOOTH NATIONS/1776-1876. A cross and the name GUIRE are incused on the edge.

My grandfather, Amadee Mazzur, was one of the committee of eighty Frenchmen in New York City who sponsored the erection of the arm in Union Square, New York City, as a means of raising the necessary money to build the base and erect the statue of Bedloe's Island.

These medals were executed in France, and when received in this country the misspelling of the word "BOTH" in the inscription on the reverse was discovered, and in consequence (so the story has come down to me) the medals were never generally distributed.

I have often wondered what became of them. I know my mother's brothers and sisters each had one. In 1936 my aunt, who at that time was seventy-five years old, gave her medal, with quite a collection of pictures, cards and other literature concerning the completion of the statue, to the museum on Bedloe's Island.

It is possible that other members of the committee secured some of the medals, as my grandfather did, and that there was actually a limited distribution. Some other members of the A. N. A. may have copies in their collections, and perhaps can contribute further to the peculiar history of this interesting medal.

FROM SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND

(The following letter from Pvt. Peter J. Frankus, A. N. A. member No. 8318, will be of universal interest. Further letters from him, and similar communications from other members in active service will be most welcome.—Ed.)

"To the Editor:

"This letter acknowledges receiving my 1943 membership card and letter from the General Secretary stating that you, the Editor, might appreciate interesting facts or stories from members of the armed forces overseas concerning numismatics. So, as the Secretary stated, in the spirit of good numismatic fellowship, I will, if opportunity permits, send such news items for your consideration, and, if you choose, to publish same for the membership at large.

"Here in England many of the armed forces are building up a date by date collection of English coins (cigar box fashion). This consists of farthings, half and one pences, three pence, six pence, shillings and florins. Farthings ( $\frac{1}{4}$  cents) and three pence pieces are the most popular collector's pieces, but are also scarcer than the others mentioned.

"It took time for these Yank cigar box collectors to learn that a shilling is worth about twenty cents and a florin about forty cents in our money. Now they are full fledged veterans in the art of change. Ask any 'rookie' just over from the states!

"Surprising enough, these coins are found in circulation dating back to the 1870's, etc., to present date; but more surprising is the large number of early dates found and the condition of every piece. On the other hand, I saw only two large copper 'cart wheel' coins dating back to about 1798. As would be expected, right at this time I'm doing my darnedest to buy these two pieces from one of my buddies. So far this cigar box 'upstart' refuses to sell at any price, but by my continuous requests and offers he's weakening, and I hope to have those two fascinating pieces soon.

"While most of these collectors concentrate on English coins, many others are collecting a general run of foreign coins from all parts of the world—India, Ceylon, Polish and Canadian coins dominate. Of course English coins are 'first editions' in this type of collection also.

"From this group of cigar box collectors I sincerely believe that several serious collectors will develop after this war.

"Here in England good old American coins are not to be found or had in circulation, but believe it or not, nearly every soldier has a few U. S. quarters and 'folding money' (one and five dollar bills) stuck away in the darkest corner of his wallet just for a keepsake so they say, but in reality to remind him of the best spot on this earth no matter where he may roam—good old United States."

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED

The Coin Collector's Journal (Wayte Raymond, Inc.) for May-June features among other things an interesting and little known overdate (by A. Kosoff): a U. S. $20 gold of 1909 over 8, of which five copies have been discovered; the editor adds mention of a 25 cent S Mint, dated 1918 over 17, and of a 5 cent D Mint, also dated 1918 over 17. The issue also contains articles on the coins of Tunis, of Morocco and of China—all the foregoing illustrated.

* * *

Numismatic Review (Stack's), Vol. I, No. 1 (June). This new venture in the field has been expected for some time, and the first number has no doubt been examined with interest by all who have received it. It is labeled "A Scientific Digest Pertaining to Coins, Medals and Paper Money," and has an imposing Board of Advisors, with Thomas Ollive Mabbott as Editor, and Hans Holzer as Associate.

The first issue of this quarterly magazine is one of 58 pages, and contains not less than twenty articles, on a wide variety of numismatic subjects, dealing with periods ranging from the ancients down to modern days. A number of excellent illustrations accompany the text in most cases.

A cordial greeting, and best wishes from THE NUMISMATIST.

The Numismatic Scrapbook (Hewitt Bros.). "Isle of Man Internment Camp Money" is an interesting article by J. Hunt Deacon of Adelaide, the A. N. A. District Secretary for Australia. Another article deals with "Portraits of Lafayette on Bank Notes," by Charles N. Schmall. B. Morgenthau and Raymond J. Walker have written on "The Story Behind the Token," and "Coins of Barcelona," respectively. A check list of U. S. Transportation tokens will appeal to those who include these in their collection. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, answering an inquiry, states that all gold coins held by the Mints have been melted, as are those which are now received from time to time.

* * *

We have received advance sheets of Paul Pennington's ANCIENT COINS, just off the press of Hewitt Bros. Mr. Pennington, who is President of the Chicago Coin Club, modestly calls this slight volume "An introduction to a fascinating hobby," and he is justified in thus describing it. In its 68 pages he treats briefly of the historical, religious and economic background, the early stages of coinage, the coinage of the fourth and third centuries B. C., and that of the Roman Republic and of the Empire. The illustrations add much of value to the text. The author's interest in and intimate knowledge of his subject are well known, and the small edition—300 copies—will no doubt be promptly absorbed. The price of $1.50 is obviously less than cost.

WITH THE DEALERS

Some of the prices realized in Bolender's 153rd sale are as follows: Basel (131) silver double crown, $11.50; Genoa (134) triple crown, $16.25; Gluckstadt (154) crown, $12.25; Magdeburg (160) crown, $15. U. S. silver dollar, 1797 (327), $12.75; quarter, 1796 (460), $20.50; 1804 (461), $16; 1806 (464), unc., $17; dime, 1801 (471), $15; half dime, 1796 (472), $33. U. S. gold, $20, 1851 (1058), $44; 1854 (1059), $40; 1879S (1060), $40.50; 1907 (Saint-Gaudens) high relief (1063), $57.50; 1907, same (1064), low relief, $42.50. The remaining gold (about 70 lots) sold well. The $2.50 Mormon gold of 1849 (1872) brought $86; the rare 1875 gold dollar, brilliant proof (1875), $176; a 1794 silver dollar, very good (1876) realized $200, and $350 was paid for a brilliant proof of the 1838 silver dollar, reeded edge.

* * *

The 21st sale (June 5) by the Numismatic Gallery (A. Kosoff) realized some interesting prices. U. S. and foreign, ancient and modern, including some medals and an extensive list of numismatic literature, made up the 928 lots. A 1920 U. S. quarter, struck in nickel, unc. and possibly unique, brought $67.50; a 1794 half dollar, fine, $25.50; silver pound, Oxford mint, 1642, Charles I of England, very fine, $80 (a bargain); the half pound, $16.42, very fine, $25.50 (also a bargain); a gold aureus of Faustina, Sr., $23; U. S. $10 gold, 1852, Wass, Molitor, small head, v. g., $530; Cohen's eight volume work on Roman coinages, $155; a Jenk's priced catalogue (Chapman sale), $10.50; Madden's History of Jewish Coinage, $42.50; and Crosby's Early Coins of America, $42.50.

The magnificent collection of coins and paper money formed by Albert A. Grinnell of Detroit was sold by Mehl on June 15, and the prices would seem to reflect a steady upward trend for high grade material, and many new records were made. There were 2,214 lots, and the total realized was $38,659.56. The following quotations will be of interest:

Gold dollars: 1863, unc., $70; 1864, unc., $67.50; 1875 proof, $150; 1855 D, $105; 1856 D, $210; 1860 D, $155; 1870 S, $100. $2.50 gold: 1805, $41; 1808, $53.50. $3.00 gold: 1873, $132. $10.00 gold, 1795, $92.50.

Gold Stellas: 1879, flowing hair, $285; coiled hair, $575; 1880, flowing hair, $565; coiled hair, $850.

Colorado gold, $20, 1860, $667.50. The superb group of $50 gold pieces brought excellent prices generally: lots 194 and 195, $525 each; lot 196, $825; 197, $892.50; 198, $472.50; 200 and 201, $367.50 each; and 202, $810.

A set of commemorative half dollars brought $387.50; a Confederate re-strike of the 1861 half dollar (gem), $39. Lack of space forbids extensive quotations of figures in the paper money section. The catalogue, with printed price list, would be a valuable addition to any numismatic library.

CORRECTION

In the June issue the former home of L. B. Knighton, deceased, ANA 8196, was given as Richmond, Vermont; it should have been Richmond, Virginia.

Various auction prices are reported which represent about half or less of the figure the same pieces would bring today. In one sale a 1795 U. S. silver dollar, three leaves, uncirculated, sold for $15.75; an 1836, GOBRECHT on base, brilliant proof, $19.50; $10 gold, 1907 (Saint-Gaudens), wire edge, with periods, uncirculated, $15. In another, a "fine" Pine Tree shilling went for $5.25, and an Oak Tree, also "fine," for $6.10. A copy of Crosby's "Early Coins of America" for $16.25—now in demand at from $30 to $40. (This famous book, in unbound parts, brought the amazingly low price of $4 in the Stickney sale by Chapman in 1907.)

AMBITIOUS PLANS IN AUSTRALIA

We have recently received from J. Hunt Deacon, of Adelaide, South Australia, the first five issues of The Australian Numismatist, official organ of the Association of Australian Numismatists, founded (by Mr. Deacon) in July of 1939. Mr. Deacon will be recognized as the A. N. A. District Secretary for Australia; he is Keeper of Coins and Medals (since 1931) in the National Gallery at Adelaide, and has been associated therein for some twenty-five years.

In the first issue of this attractive little journal (August, 1940) he tells of the launching of the Association which, it is believed, will develop eventually into a substantial and representative body of collectors in Australia.

"In 1928 a proposal was put forward for the partial amalgamation of the three Numismatic Societies, but was rejected. . . . It was not until November of 1938, when it had become more and more apparent that something was wanting to combine the various numismatists and collectors scattered over our land, that steps were again taken to effect a Federal organization. Proposals were placed before Messrs. Kenyon, Raymond and Appleyard, and their support was generously promised towards any move to combat the general indifference brought about by the depression. The result was that these gentlemen, with the writer as General Organiser, formed a Provisional Committee. A circular which was drawn up and freely distributed throughout Australia outlined the proposal of an independent body, its aims and administration. As support came in steps were taken to establish the Association and to arrange for election of officers. Consequently the foundation, which might be regarded as a landmark in the history of Australian numismatics, was effected on July 1, 1939, with a membership roll of 30, of which four were Corporate bodies. The work commenced by the Provisional Committee was continued by the Executive Council from August 9. In the short space of twelve months practically all the necessary ground work of setting the Association on a working basis has been accomplished.

"With a membership comprising the numismatists of Australia and persons desiring to assist in the advancement of the study of numismatics, the Association, supported by the Numismatic Societies, has no limit to its possibilities. The establishment of societies in areas not yet served by such bodies is one of the best means of bringing collectors

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Editor. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

POST WAR NUMISMATICS

A review of the issues of THE NUMISMATIST during the period through which we were fighting in the first World War brings back vividly those days which had no parallel in our previous history. Wars, yes; the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, and several others; but they were of another age, measured by scope, equipment and number of men engaged. The first World War was new in our own experience, but it was met magnificently; the present conflict, in its tremendous sweep leaving no important spot on the globe unaffected, is closely allied in its nature to the first, though bringing the airplane, the tank, the submarine and other fighting craft of the Navy to a point of efficiency never reached before.

The spirit of the nation, however, was then as it is now—when finally aroused, indomitable. The fighting men of '17 and '18, and those of today, are equals—and no higher praise could be given either. There is now, nevertheless, a grimness that was not present in such depth twenty-five years ago, for we know that it must be “unconditional surrender” and not merely an armistice or a negotiated peace; no “reform” is possible with this brand of criminals; extermination is the only just and the only safe solution.

Thousands of our men are today in foreign parts, the existence of which was at least unfamiliar less than five years ago, and the location of many places known only by name was completely outside their knowledge. Maps and globes will later take on a reality that was undreamed of before London was bombed, and, happy as those who return will be to see their own country again, they will inevitably have lost a certain provincialism; that is, they will have acquired an awareness of other peoples and other countries, regardless of personal estimate—and any former ideas that we were an isolated and self-sufficient nation will have been repudiated by experience.

Among those who are in active service abroad are many of our own members, and many others, no doubt, who are more or less interested in collecting in normal times. There are still others who are attracted by strange coinages and who may accumulate a small collection of which will serve as a nucleus for more ambitious development after the war. Is it not reasonable to expect that at least some from each of these three groups will eventually broaden the field of their collections because of the experience and knowledge gained under present circumstances? An earlier indifference toward Australia, China, Great Britain, Russia, or any other contacts made by reason of the war may have discouraged any interest in their coinage; but (as an instance) Allan Sutherland's excellent talk on “Pacific Currency” (first article in this issue) recently given a group of our men in New Zealand, must have aroused any latent interest in the coins of their Dominion, or, more broadly, in the coins of any of the United Nations. One never knows when or where the collecting instinct may be discovered.

It seems likely that active service abroad will intensify the attraction of numismatics for many, if we may judge by various letters received from members overseas. A large number are still stationed in this country, and seem anxious that THE NUMISMATIST shall reach them regularly. Others have, at their request, been placed on the Inactive list, thus retaining their good standing, but without the magazine: uncertainty of location from month to month, especially in foreign service, makes this last necessary. Still others have kept up membership as usual, directing that THE NUMISMATIST be sent to their home address to be read and enjoyed after their return.

A final thought: the realization that we are but one star in the great constellation of nations will come more easily in the future—and our collecting interests may therefore expand; may we realize also that the Past is definitely a part of us, for it is a direct inheritance which we must accept, consciously or not; and since, in the first instance, our horizons in the Present may widen, so in the second may our perception of the Past add immeasurably to the interest and enjoyment certain to result from a study of the coinages of the ancients.

NEWS AND COMMENTS FROM THE LIBRARY

By TED R. HAMMER, Librarian-Curator

Circulation continues to hold up well despite the arrival of summer, and June was above the average. We think these Library Notes have something to do with it, but most orders are for works which have been in the Library for years, rather than new acquisitions mentioned here.

We have now only one month before the end of the fiscal year, and not one borrower owes for postage. Several borrowers, however, have failed to place cardboard around books before returning them, and in one instance a book came back with the back off because of poor wrapping!

The Library is happy to report the purchase of Spink's Numismatic Circular, particularly good reference for ancients, and the coins of Great Britain and her colonies. These volumes are bound and already several have been in circulation.

Every member of the ANA should have a copy of the Fifty-Year Index (of THE NUMISMATIST) which may be had from the Editor for one dollar. The Library has many single copies of our official magazine in addition to the complete bound set. The Index (A-56) is also available.

Recent donations to the Library include:

S-108, Numismatic Review (Stack's) Vol. 1, No. 1.

W-54. Priced catalogue of B. Max Mehl's February, 1921, sale of the Dr. G. F. E. Wilharm collection, donated by Fred Durin and Mrs. J. M. Henderson. This catalogue contains nearly 3,000 lots of coins of the world, ancient and modern, including many medals.

P-27. "The Assignats, The Depreciation of a Paper Currency," contributed by the author, Shepard Pond, member of the ANA Board and prominent New England numismatist. This is reprinted (with minor changes) from the January 1935 issue of THE NUMISMATIST. A footnote by Mr. Pond explains the assignat as "a sort of pledge or obligation with security."

W-55. "The Coinage of Ethiopia," by Howland Wood, 1937, published by Wayte Raymond, Inc., and contributed by the publisher. This excellent work was requested by one of our members, and we realized it was not in the Library. It was compiled when Ethiopia was much in the news, and shows extensive research in this little known field (but this was true of all efforts by the late Howland Wood).

D-39. "Bank Note Reporters and Counterfeit Detectors, 1826-1866; a Bibliography," by William H. Dillistin. These publications were highly important to financial institutions a century ago, and make interesting reading today. Daily newspapers of the era carried much information on banknote counterfeits and also on the local value of various notes—and the value varied, too. There is a brief description of these books by Mr. Dillistin, who tells of their importance and content.

Current Uncirculated Coins From the U. S. Treasury

Many inquiries have been received concerning the possibility of securing uncirculated current coins from the U. S. Treasury, and in order to have definite information on this question we addressed a letter to Mr. W. A. Julian, U. S. Treasurer. His reply follows:

"In reply to your letter of June 8 we wish to inform you that collectors, upon their individual applications and remittance, may obtain two specimens of each uncirculated coin now available at this office.

"The manufacture of proof coins has been discontinued until after the war.

"The new steel cents will not be discontinued due to their similarity to the ten-cent piece, and will be minted as long as they are needed for circulation purposes. They are put in circulation only where there is a shortage of copper cents."

A list of all available coins was enclosed. It is necessary to remit not only the face value of the coin ordered, but for first-class postage, and for registration also if this is desired. Postal money orders payable to the U. S. Treasurer are preferred, and this form of remittance will expedite shipment. Coins free from tarnish or scratches cannot be guaranteed.

Among those available are: Philadelphia Mint—1921 Morgan dollars, 1942 dimes, 1943 cents to half dollars; Denver Mint—1942 dimes and halves, 1943 cents to half dollars; San Francisco Mint—1942 dimes and half dollars, 1943 half dollars.

It is possible for one individual to order for several or for the whole club, but statement must be made that they are for the collections of those for whom they are purchased.

ALFRED STEPHEN KENYON—DECEASED

Notice has been received from J. Hunt Deacon (District Secretary for Australia, Adelaide), of the passing of Mr. A. S. Kenyon of Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. Mr. Kenyon was associated with the State National Numismatic Collection of Victoria, and was a member of the A. N. A. (No. 3523) since January 1929. He was born in 1867, and joined the Numismatic Society of Victoria in 1924. In this Society he was a past President, past Secretary and Life Member, and was chiefly responsible for its affiliation with the Historical Society of Victoria. He was one of the Provisional State organizers of the Association of Australian Numismatists, in which his membership number was No. 3, serving as President of that body in the second year. He joined the Numismatic Society of South Australia in March, 1928, as an Interstate member, and was made Honorary member in March, 1939. Mr. Kenyon was a man of many interests, and numismatists knew him chiefly on account of his knowledge of Australian and British coins, and for his study of the monetary and economic conditions of primitive man.

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION HONORS TWO OF ITS VETERAN COLLECTORS

At the June 15th meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association two of its oldest members, George J. Bauer and Almond H. Plumb, were signally honored by their fellow collectors in being presented with certificates of honorary active life membership, such certificates being, in fact, awards for distinguished service. The presentation was made by Dr. Arthur C. Parker, Past President, and Director of the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, in which the Association habitually holds its meetings. Both of these gentlemen are charter members, which dates their connection back over 30 years.

GEORGE J. BAUER

ALMOND H. PLUMB

Most of our membership will recall that George J. Bauer served the A. N. A. as President for two terms, having been elected at the Buffalo convention in 1930, and reelected at Cincinnati the following year. He was elected Treasurer in 1919, serving as such two terms with Waldo C. Moore as President; he was later a member of the Board of Governors, in 1921 and 1922.

His collecting days began prior to 1882, which gives him entr  to the distinguished group gradually registering as having actively collected for a half-century or more. He is said to possess one of the finest collections of ancient Greek and Roman in the country, and is recognized as an authority thereon. About ten years ago he disposed of his U. S.

coins, among them many outstanding rarities in marvelously fine condition.

Almond H. Plumb has attended many of the A. N. A. conventions when not too distant from Rochester, and his interests in coins lie mostly with U. S., especially large cents. He has made a fine showing with the lower priced specimens, proving that collectors of moderate means may find a wealth of material for study and enjoyment. Mr. Plumb has established a record of attendance possibly unique in his own Association, having been absent from only two meetings in 31 years.

Generously giving of their time and knowledge, these two men have had a substantial part in the development of numismatics in Rochester; and this has been especially marked in their unfailing readiness to help and encourage the younger collector—a service which vitally concerns the future welfare of our pursuit.

KESPI CUYOC—COPPER MINER

By WILLIAM FOX STEINBERG, New York City

Numismatists are interested in copper only when it has been given enough finishing touches to make it a coin, and then only if it is in very fine condition. I would like to pay brief tribute to Kespi Cuyoc, an honest man, interested in copper in any condition.

Many centuries before the Spanish conquest of Peru, the native Indians were familiar with copper. There were no mines, because it would have been unprofitable to excavate immense pits or drive long shafts in order to get the small amount of material which could be smelted (the only process with which the natives were familiar). So the pre-Incans and Incans worked on the surface, until the exhaustion of these sources forced them to begin tunneling. These tunnels were little more than burrows, slightly larger than the size of a man's body. Nevertheless, despite the slow progress possible under these conditions, the passage of many years saw the tunnels extending for hundreds of feet into the mountainsides.

So we come to our hero, Kespi Cuyoc, in the little village of Chuquikuma, Peru. Every man in Chuquikuma had his own burrow, and devoted his entire life to burrowing for little bits of metal. For hundreds of years, the men of this village had done nothing but burrow from morning to night. Nor could they ever hope to change their way of life. The Inca Empire, ruled mightily by the Incan and his advisers, regulated the lives of the people, and no one even dreamed of questioning the orders given. Perhaps they never wanted to. They had never heard of money, and their language contained no words to denote riches or poverty. So they envied nobody, and accepted life as it was. Kespi was one of these. The results of his labors were given to the common pile of the village, with no special reward for him who mined with the greatest diligence except pride in his own work, and the remote possibility of being appointed some day prefect of the village. Then he would have

WARTIME BUSINESS CONVENTION

Chicago—September 11, 12 and 13

Plans are now being completed for the wartime business Convention which will be held at Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, over the week end of September 11th, 12th and 13th. All members who will be attending are urged to make their reservations at once.

As announced in the July issue of the NUMISMATIST, it is not intended that attendance will be urged for this wartime business meeting because of the necessity of restricting travel as much as possible. Since the meeting will be strictly a business one, there will be no exhibits, no papers, no bourse, and no social events.

Our past President and member of the Board of Governors, Mr. Henri Ripstra of Chicago, has been named Chairman of the Convention Committee. His address is 2126 Gladys Ave.

Reservations should be made directly to the hotel. Mr. Ripstra will be glad to answer any other correspondence which any member might have regarding any Convention problem. Business at the Convention will be limited to essential matters as much as possible.

The major revision of the Constitution and By-Laws, for which a special Committee was appointed at the last Convention, will not be made this year because of the probable limited attendance.

Convention Badges, Bars and Buttons

General Secretary Sheldon calls attention to the familiar bronze convention badge in use for over 30 years, which will be available at \$1.00 to those who have not purchased them heretofore, and with the top ornament (with pin) at \$2.00. The convention bar, which may be attached by small links, with year and name of the convention city, 60 cents additional. These badges bear the seal of the Association (as shown on the cover of this magazine) and are  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches in diameter.

There are three buttons (new) also available, which may be worn on the lapel at any time: the bronze and the gold,  $\frac{5}{8}$  inch in diameter, at 50 and 85 cents respectively, bearing the Association seal, and a smaller silver button,  $\frac{3}{16}$  inch, at 70 cents, with the central portion of the seal and the initials ANA. These are especially attractive, and may be had by members regardless of the convention.

Convention Committee on Credentials

President Ferguson announces the following appointments to this committee: C. Lou Snyder, Chicago, Chairman; J. H. Morris, Jr., Homewood, Alabama; and Lewis M. Reagan, Brooklyn, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON PAPERS

President Ferguson has also announced the appointment of the following Committee on Papers. While none will be read at the convention, they will be submitted to the Editor of THE NUMISMATIST for possible later publication.

Kenneth W. Lee, 623 Security Bldg., Glendale, California, Chairman; Joseph F. Sawicki, 11900 Carlton Road, Station E, Cleveland, Ohio; Holmes H. Cessna, P. O. Box 133, Cumberland, Maryland; Stephen H. Bibler, c/o Bank of California, Portland, Oregon; Raymond Moulton, 2647 Chicago St., Omaha, Nebraska.

KESPI CUYHOC-COPPER MINER

a silver-mounted staff of office, and be the "father," adjusting all disputes and difficulties. But only in his spare time, for he would still have to burrow for his living.

Thus we find poor Kespi in his tunnel one day, destined for momentary grief and permanent glory. He has lit his lamp with a pyrite "fire stone" and tinder, and is laboriously picking away at the extreme end of his tunnel. It is easy (and a bit sad) to foresee what happened. He reaches a particularly soft section, or perhaps he swings his stone maul too strongly, or perhaps Nature decides to create a "Christ in Concrete" a thousand years before Di Donato. At any rate, Kespi Cuyoc is buried instantaneously by thousands and thousands of tons of rock.

Then came the noble Spaniards, killing Atahualpa, the Incan (about 1533), and his empire. Gold was their god, not copper (even as with some numismatists). The Chuquikumans were enslaved; their homes and fields destroyed. This good fortune, plus the passage of hundreds of years, destroyed all trace of the Chuquikumans and their tunnels.

Then came the really noble white men from the North, bringing civilization. This civilization included, among other things, dynamite. Copper was wanted again, and here was enough copper ore to please their little hearts. And so those same thousands and thousands of tons are blasted away until, one sunny day, Kespi Cuyoc comes to life (in a manner of speaking). He is still wearing a breech-cloth, rope-soled sandals, one knee drawn up, head and body crushed—But in a perfect state of preservation. Centuries had passed, centuries of water seeping through the crevices of the ore, depositing its mineral contents in the skin and flesh until the body became a solid mass of copper—an ancient copper miner transformed into copper.

Today Kespi Cuyoc rests in a glass case in the South American Archaeological Hall of the American Museum of Natural History in New York. May he rest in peace.

AMBITIOUS PLANS IN AUSTRALIA

together, and it is hoped that in the near future the foundation of these, and of corresponding clubs specializing in certain branches of the science, will be accomplished."

Then follows a list of five corporate, and thirty-seven individual members, representing not only South Australia, but Tasmania, New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, and as distant as Papua and England, a carefully prepared set of Rules, and a catalogue of numismatic papers written by various members, distributed under certain conditions among the membership through their circulating library; these papers are diversified as to subject and seem to offer evidence that our overseas friends take their numismatics seriously: a good omen for the future of the Association.

Three of the corporate members are the Numismatic Societies of Victoria (1914), of South Australia (1926), and of New South Wales (1939). The remaining brief but interesting numbers at hand indicate a promising future, although the most recent of them (July, 1942) announces that the activities of the Association, except the issuance of the journal, will cease for the duration of the war.

May this issue of our own NUMISMATIST carry to our fellow collectors in that distant continent our cordial and sincere congratulations on their initiative and vision of future possibilities, and may they grow steadily in strength and numismatic stature. Further news of their progress after our common enemies have been crushed in defeat will be given a hearty welcome.

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

ALBANY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—128th Meeting—June 24th, President Reynolds presiding. In attendance were 16 members and two visitors.

The Secretary read a news release announcing the return of $1,226 Albany half dollars to the treasury for melting. He reported informing various numismatic publications of this development.

The purchase of a copy of the reprint of J. W. Scott's standard work on the Copper and Nickel Coins of the World, for the Club library, was authorized upon motion of Dr. Sartoris.

The business session was adjourned at 9:35 P. M., and meeting was then turned over to Dr. Sartoris, Entertainment Chairman, who introduced the following exhibitors, who, in turn, spoke briefly about their displays.

Dr. La Grange: A logging scene set in miniature, including two teams of horses, ingeniously carved from wood by an inmate of Great Meadows Prison. He also exhibited a very choice set of large cents selected from his extensive collection of over 600 varieties.

Mr. Schermerhorn: Antique jewelry from coins and various numismatic novelties.

Mr. McKinney: 1796 quarter, 1797 half dime, and blank planchets for U. S. large cent, small cent, dime and half dollar.

Dr. Sartoris: 1856 flying eagle cent, and 17 rare U. S. pattern, trial or experimental pieces.

Mr. Van Kleeck: A large assortment of buttons and badges, military, fraternal, religious and civic, from his collection of between 800 and 900 such items.

Mr. Williamson: Various choice specimens of U. S. and foreign coins.

Mr. Kurth: Ancient Greek coins, and so-called barbaric reproductions of them.

Mr. Crowther for Mr. Raymond: U. S. commemorative gold and a few gold types.

Dr. Robertson: The two rare overdates described in the current issue of the Coin Collector's Journal, 1918-S over 1917 Quarter and the 1909 over 1908 double eagle, and in addition, various unusual or interesting foreign gold coins.

There were several other members who displayed some of their choice pieces.

—Willis J. McKinney, Secretary.

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 121st regular meeting was held on July 7 at 174 Montague St., Brooklyn. President Max M. Schwartz presiding. Sixteen members were present. The Club was honored by having Mr. Howard F. Street of Philadelphia as a guest. It was moved and carried that the treasurer be authorized to purchase a service flag for the members now in the armed service, that the appropriate number of stars be affixed and that the name of each member in the service be inscribed on his star. Mr. Martin F. Kortjohn, reporting on the Commemorative coin situation, suggested that numismatists might look forward to the promotion of new issues after the war, and that it might be well to consider the idea of sponsoring the issuance of commemorative silver dollars rather than any other denomination.

The topics were: United States commemorative coins other than half dollars; coins dated to the A. H. system; medals and tokens of General George B. McClellan. The following exhibits were made:

Mr. Blake: Full set of commemorative half dollars and small gold.

Mr. Friedman: U. S. dime, 1942 over 1941.

Mr. Heft: Gold coins of Bavaria, 3 ducats 1732; Salzburg  $\frac{1}{4}$  ducat, 1662; Nuremberg,  $\frac{1}{2}$  ducat; Germany 5 marks and 10 marks.

Mr. Hegarty: Coins with A. H. dates from Turkey, Tunis, Zanzibar, Sumatra, Bombay.

Mr. Knoth: Uncut sheet of Rhode Island colonial notes dated July 2, 1780.

Mr. Kortjohn: Isabella quarter dollar, Lafayette dollar, gold dollars of McKinley and Grant, Sesqui-centennial quarter eagle, Belgium 25 centimes of 1942 in zinc.

Mr. Kraus: Tunis, 10 centimes zinc, 1941. Vichy France, 10 and 20 centimes, dated 1941, in zinc. Fifty ruble note of Ukraine, 20 ruble note of Kerensky.

Mr. Leder: Civil War tokens of General McClellan, Isabella quarter dollar.

Mr. Maley: "Lucky Penny," Phoenix, Arizona. 400th Anniversary of founding Mint in Mexico. Escudo, Spain, Isabella II, 1867; 50c Panama, 1904; 8 reales. Bolivia, 1841; Peso, Salvador, 1894.

Mr. Reagan: Eight coins of Morocco dated to A. H. system. Lovette store card; Cowpens Centennial medals in bronze and silver; two medals of McClellan.

Mr. Schwartz: Collection of George B. McClellan medals.

Mr. Sghia: Hyderabad  $\frac{1}{4}$  rupee, India; rupee, Moghul Emperor Akbar. Egypt, 20 piastres. Persia, 5 reales. Soudan, Khalifa dollar. Piastre, Grand Camorra Island, Tunis, 20 francs.

Mr. Shapiro: Isabella quarter dollar, 1893.

—Lewis M. Reagan, Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—The 184th regular meeting was held at the Hayward Hotel on the evening of July 6, with 26 members and guests present. In addition to routine matters of business it was voted to arrange for a club subscription to the new publication, the Numismatic Review, and for circulation of the magazine among the members.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Albert Zakor, who addressed the club on the subject "Transportation Tokens Talk Too!" The first street railway fare tokens in this country were those issued by the New York and Harlem Railway about 1832, a horse car enterprise which was the important forerunner of modern electric transportation systems. This great historical event developed into a long continued battle between omnibus lines and the new horse cars which achieved the unbelievable speed of twelve miles per hour. Mr. Zakor exhibited transportation tokens from this early day as well as tokens from most of the different states issued by modern street railways.

The meeting was also made noteworthy by a most unusual exhibit of a full set of United States one, three, five, ten, twenty-five and fifty cent pieces in uncirculated and proof condition, from the collection of Mr. Joe Block. The next meeting will feature a button display with an address by Mr. Golding. A short auction which included several pieces from the club collection, closed the evening.

—Earle K. Stanton, Secretary.

CANTON COIN CLUB—The ninety-fifth meeting of the club was called to order by President Warren Smith, Tuesday evening, July 6th, in the Emerald Room of Hotel Belden. Eleven members and two guests were present.

Mr. R. W. Miller of Barberton, O., gave a very interesting talk on his specialty—two-cent pieces. He illustrated his discussion with specimens from his collection, which is probably one of the finest and most nearly complete in existence, containing several 1864 small mottoes, one in proof; all the other dates in proof, with many varieties uncirculated. Mr. Miller indicated that he is doing considerable research toward cataloguing all the various die varieties, and has discovered what he considers to be a possible overdate.

An auction of 41 lots was handled by Mr. Bruce following adjournment.

Displays:

Mr. Stover: Two pattern U. S. dollars, two Canadian dollars, and four Philippine Commemorative dollars.

Mr. Bruce: 1836 U. S. Pattern 2c piece and various Canadian coins.

Mr. W. J. Miller: Set of 2c pieces.

Mr. Smith: 2c and 3c pieces, and miscellaneous Canadian coins.

Mr. Bolus: 2c pieces, 1893 proof set, and set of current Canadian coins uncirculated.

—C. T. Bolus, Secretary.

CHICAGO COIN CLUB—The 293rd regular monthly meeting of the Club was held on July 7th at La Salle Hotel. Sixty-two members and three visitors were in attendance, with President Pennington presiding.

Mr. Ripstra announced that the A. N. A. will have their three day meeting on Sept. 11-12 and 13th in Chicago, and that a dinner and exhibit is planned for Sat. night, Sept. 11th. The auction committee also will have a fifty-lot quality auction in connection with the regular monthly meeting of the Club, which has been set for Saturday night also.

Mr. Sheldon announced the new A. N. A. lapel buttons are available. Mr. Lee Hewitt received best wishes of the Club on his forthcoming induction into the service.

Dr. Reich then presented the exhibits, which were as follows:

Mr. Sheldon: First Charter Period National Bank notes, and $5.00 Gold Bank note on the First National Gold Bank of San Francisco.

Mr. Barger: Collection of U. S. quarters from 1916 to date, including the branch mints, in uncirculated condition.

Mr. Burnham: A silver dollar, salvaged from the Battleship Arizona, and an off-center freak nickel.

Mr. Weiger: A collection of wooden nickels.

Mr. Powells: A Maria Theresa Thaler of 1780, struck for the Ethiopians in brilliant uncirculated condition.

Mr. Rayson: Early British Gold Staters, Virica, 30 B. C. and Addedomaros, 40 A. D.

Mr. Lamb: Proof quarters of 1796, 1827, 1849, 1850 and 1856, 1804 in uncirculated and 1823 in fine condition.

Mr. Beckman: Four Brazilian counter marked 80 and 40 Reis pieces showing the different devaluations.

Mr. Pennington: An exhibit of coins from Rome and Athens, showing by chart a reduction in weight of 22% over a period of two and a half centuries.

Mr. Keefer: A collection of 64 specimens, practically all proofs, mostly in silver and bronze of the four Malay States, ceded to Thailand recently by Japan.

A generous member announced that he will present a War Bond for the best exhibit during the A. N. A. Meeting.

—Clifford Lindall, Secretary.

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

The 139th monthly meeting of the Society was held at the Seneca Hotel, July 12th at 8 p. m. Seventeen members and one guest were present. President Gillhooley presided.

C. W. Randolph gave an interesting talk on Fractional Currency and Fred Kern read a very nicely prepared paper on "Gold."

Interesting displays were made by Fred Kern, U. S. gold; C. W. Randolph, fractional currency; S. J. Kabealo, early half dollars; M. F. Walters, U. S. quarters and dollars; C. K. Hoover, Liberty head nickels; Harry Rodecker, U. S. coins; Mrs. C. W. Randolph, foreign coins; President Gillhooley, Canadian five cent pieces; Mrs. J. M. Henderson, U. S. currency.

—Grace A. Randolph, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

The 105th meeting of the Society was held at the Plankinton House, Milwaukee, June 25, with an attendance of 25 members. President Culver presided.

After a very brief business meeting the members "got down to" the real business of the evening—it being Bourse Night, instead of the usual auction. Considerable trading and selling was done informally among the members with the result that Bourse Night was considered a success.

Displays:

R. J. Kircher: 13 freak cents.

Frank Schilz: 20 small gold coins of the world.

L. W. Culver: 4 Types of early U. S. gold five dollar pieces, extremely fine and uncirculated.

N. J. Hoffman: Extremely rare Washington medal, Baker 257, in silver, proof; and the same medal in heavily gilded bronze, but unlisted in Baker.

—N. J. Hoffman, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

The 118th meeting of the Society was held at the Newark Athletic Club, Newark, N. J., on July 8; nine members and one guest were present. President Brookes presided.

Mr. Douglas, for the Topic Committee, suggested the August topics should be: "U. S. Coin Notes and Silver Notes of 1896," "Copper Nickel Cents," "Countries beginning with H and I," and "Medals of Firemen."

The topics for the meeting were: "Ancient Greek Coins of Islands," "Medals of the American Flag," "U. S. Silver Dollars," "Paper Money of New Jersey," and "Coins of Countries beginning with G." The exhibits follow:

Mr. Adams: Tetradrachm of Syracuse, first coinage of Agathocles, 317-310 B. C. Obv., Head of Persephone to left; Rev., Victory driving quadriga.

Mrs. Brookes: Denmark: Christian V, 1692, Special date.

Mr. Brookes: Coins of German inflation, 3 crowns of Germany, 2 Real of Guadalupe, 7 Federal Reserve Notes.

Mrs. Douglas: Demarest medal of Newburgh: Centennial—showing Washington family coat-of-arms (silver).

Mr. Douglas: Type collection of Silver Dollars; Tetradrachm of Syracuse.

Mr. Stockmayer: $1.00 State Bank Note of New Brunswick; 26 Coins of Germany, 14 of which are proof, commemorating anniversaries of several universities; Jana, Breslau, Tuebingen, and commemorating the death or birth of famous men like Albrecht, Durer, Martin Luther, Goethe, Schiller; or historical events of cities and states.

—Emily Brookes, Secretary.

NEW YORK NUMISMATIC CLUB

The 415th regular meeting of the Club was held on Friday evening, July 9, 1943. Mr. Thomas F. Morris, President, presiding, with 19 members and three guests present.

The topics for the evening: United States 20c and 25c Pieces; Roman Coins of Domitian; Encased Postage Stamps; Coins and Medals of Christopher Columbus.

Exhibits were made by the following: Mr. T. F. Morris: Medal of Columbus struck in Iron.

Mr. A. W. Deas: U. S. coins and encased postage stamps; three bronze medals of Columbus.

Mr. F. S. Knobloch: 6 Coins of Domitian, including three commemorating the Secular games.

Mr. M. Schumacher: $1.00 Silver Certificate used in North Africa; $1.00 Silver Certificate of Hawaii.

Mr. R. W. Johnson: Ancient Roman. Mr. S. M. Mosser: Denarius and As of Domitian; anonymous quadrans from time of Domitian to Antoninus Pius.

Mr. O. T. Schia: Bronze As of Domitian; Type collection of United States Quarters from 1796 to 1943.

Mr. W. Ray Carpenter: 5 Quadrans of Domitian; 10 Franc Free French note; 10 Shilling note of the British Military Authority.

Mr. L. Kusterer: Various Columbus Medals, and rolled coins of the Chicago World's Fair.

Mr. J. Barnet: 1796 Quarter Dollar, uncirculated; Set of 20c pieces proof and uncirculated, excepting 1876 C. C.; 1799 Dollar badly misstruck; 12 encased postage stamps.

Mr. L. E. Cox: U. S. coins and various items relating to the Columbian Exposition, 1893.

Mr. D. G. Douglas: Sestertius, As and Quadrans, and two denarii of Domitian; Type collection of quarter dollars; 7 Encased postage stamps.

Mr. M. F. Kortjohn: Set of twenty cent pieces, one hundred quarter dollars from 1796 to 1934 including 1804, 1853 without arrows and 1916 standing Liberty; 25 Centimes of Belgium, dated 1942, struck in zinc.

Mrs. D. G. Douglas: Collection of Columbus medals, foreign and American; Five Dollar Bank Note with landing scene.

Mr. L. M. Reagan: 3 Encased postage stamps; 10 Columbus medals; 2 denarii of Domitian.

Mr. H. K. Downing: Large Cents, 1795 to 1847.

Mr. W. H. Arthur: English and American coins.

Mr. S. Mosher: Mexican Gold-Hoarder's Slug, dated 1943 and weighing 37.5 Grams.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd: Collection of 183 encased postage stamps; 20 Pesos gold, Mexico, dated 1892, with the Bust of Christopher Columbus; the only one known.

The Executive Committee suggested as the topic for the August meeting: Roman Coins of Nerva and Trajan; United States Half Dollar Series; Coins of the 2 Sicilys; Coins of the Republic of China. (Adopted).

Mr. Otto Sghia suggested that an exhibition be made of Coins some time in September or October, with all of the Coin Clubs in the metropolitan area co-operating. After a general discussion, this matter was left in the hands of the Executive Committee with the suggestion that if such a coin exhibition is held, the proper place to hold it would be the American Numismatic Society. Mr. W. Ray Carpenter, Chairman of the Executive Committee, is to advise the Club at the next meeting the recommendation of the Executive Committee.

—F. C. C. Boyd, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The 74th meeting of the Society was held Monday evening, July 12, at the Benson Hotel, in Portland. There were in attendance 16 members and 1 guest, President Bibler presiding.

Under new business, after some discussion by those present, the Secretary was instructed to obtain a bid on 10 or more of the new Wayne Raymond Standard Catalogues for the membership.

Leonard Trythall told us about the sale of the Oregon Trail Commemorative Half Dollars which has been received for this year. (?)

Geo. McLarty exhibited another "find," a 1918 over '17 S quarter.

Howard Hughes conducted the sale of the "White Elephant," and Steve Bibler took the prize money, a Sun Yat Sen dollar. This was the one coined in 1933 with the large bust of Sun Yat Sen and on the reverse a Chinese junk, rising sun and birds.

The rest of the evening was devoted to our displays which featured the axis nations' coins.

Howard Hughes' display was adjudged the best for the evening; it included German and Bavarian pattern coins, dollar size silver coins from Germany, Italy and Japan and a nice selection of foreign gold coins.

Displays were also made by Geo. McLarty, Henry Perry, Felix Baronovich and Willis Ashley all of which were very interesting.

The meeting was brought to a close with an auction, Howard Hughes disposing of several lots in quick order.

—John R. Slusher, Secretary.

ORANGE COUNTY COIN CLUB—

The 50th monthly meeting of the Club was held in Hotel Santa Ana on the third Tuesday evening in June. Approximately forty members and guests were present. A large number of those present were young men who came because of the special program for the juniors.

Mr. Bergen presented to the group Adolph Larson who gave a very inspiring talk to the juniors regarding the benefits derived from coin collection, emphasizing the fact that they should start their collections early and learn the history and geography behind the coins, rather than just learning their actual monetary value. His talk was very well received and enjoyed by both young and old.

Mr. Sam Koeppel had some very interesting coins which he showed to the group. With these coins was a Mexican fifty peso gold piece. He stated that this was the only gold coin to be minted in Mexico in 1943.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30 P. M. to meet again the third Tuesday evening in July.

—C. Glenn Curtis, Secretary.

PACIFIC COAST NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—In a colorful setting and in connection with a fine numismatic display, the Society celebrated its twenty-eighth anniversary on June 30th at the Hotel Whitcomb, with 45 members and their guests present.

President M. M. Morris, Jr., welcomed all present and adequately outlined the activities of the Society, past and present. The Secretary moved to dispense with the regular business on account of the lengthy program of the evening. He reported on the membership of the Society, 77 active, 10 Honorary, and 17 Fellows; and the associate membership of Mr. James Hunt Deacon, Department of Coins and Medals, National Gallery, Adelaide, South Australia.

Mr. William Kraft was presented with a framed engraved Fellowship Certificate by the President for his outstanding share in the success of our programs, and the numerous talks given by him on Greek and Roman coinage. Mr. N. O. Slate displayed his most complete collection of U. S. Half Dollars and gave a very interesting talk on this series, followed by a talk by Mr. Kraft on early Italian coinage. The secretary spoke on the coinage of Iceland and its historical background. Most of the members present made displays and gave short talks.

Five different door prizes were given and Mr. Kraft won the first prize consisting of a beautiful table lamp. Little Miss June Conner, our "mascot" was presented by the Secretary with a Silver Bracelet with 14 Silver Coins attached for her activities and the interest she has shown in the past. This was followed by a great raffle of 35 donated prizes conducted by Messrs. Mitchell and Conner and a substantial profit was derived, giving the opportunity to buy another $100.00 U. S. War Bond. A delightful buffet supper and refreshments were served after the meeting.

—Edward Fogler, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—The 97th regular meeting was held July 8th in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, with 26 members in attendance. President Havens presided.

Corporal Magee sent us another letter from somewhere in Africa and enclosed a 5 and 10 Franc Morocco note all of which were later auctioned for the Club's benefit.

Mr. Reiners exhibited two cards, one each of Washington quarters and Mercury dimes, all in fine condition, which were unanimously chosen as the outstanding exhibit of the evening.

Mr. Farley addressed us interestingly on the subject "Coins of India," now on display for the month of July at 37 S. 18th St.

Present with us was Mr. D. C. Wismer, the Dean of paper currency research, who retains great interest in the Club's activities. Although an octogenarian, he comes 25 miles from his home, when health permits, to be with us.

Our evening's auction, conducted by Mr. Schick, was unusually large, consisting of well over 100 lots, including uncirculated standing Liberty Quarters, rolls of uncirculated cents, uncut sheets of bank currency, Confederate money of large denominations, and many other fine specimens. Mr. Schick conducted it.

—Arthur Sipe, Secretary.

SEATTLE COIN CLUB—The 83rd meeting of the Club was held June 24th at the Y. M. C. A. Club Room, Pres. Worth presiding. There were 15 members and 3 visitors present. After considerable discussion on the subject, the Secretary was instructed to write the Secretary of the ANA concerning the unscrupulous tactics of a certain dealer and asking that advertisements from this party be refused in order to safeguard collectors not familiar with his practices.

The feature subject of the evening was Medals, and proved to be exceptionally interesting to all, so much so that the subject will be continued for our next meeting.

Mr. Wagner spoke on the Pony Express Medal, and gave a very interesting account of the events that inspired its use.

Mr. Maine's topic was the Jamestown Medal, struck in honor of Pocahontas, as Mr. Maine himself was reared, and practically grew up as a member of the Sioux tribe, he possessed the Indian background which enabled him to handle this subject in a unique and most interesting manner.

Pres. Worth brought a large part of the collection of medals possessed by Helene Madison of Seattle, who unquestionably was the greatest woman swimmer of all time. She broke 37 world and 78 national records in 17 months of competition, in the years from 1930 to 1932. She held 16 world records at one time, from 50 yards to a mile. Probably her outstanding feat was the breaking of 3 world records in winning the 880 yard race, breaking the record at 220, 440 and 880 yards. Two world records still stand. Pres. Worth brought out these and many more facts, most acceptably.

After an auction of some nice lots the meeting adjourned.

—Henry Zeckser, Secretary.

SYRACUSE NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—Regular monthly meeting held in Meyers Brass Rail on July 2, President Paul Burns presiding. Eight members and two visitors present. We enjoyed a dinner at 6:30. After dinner Secretary Frank Webster exhibited a block of the first of the series of commemorative stamps in honor of the European occupied countries. These stamps created some interest and resulted in the starting of three more commemorative stamp collections.

Secretary Webster brought up the subject of the annual Central New York Numismatic convention. This was supposed to have been held in Rochester last year and should be sponsored by the Syracuse Numismatic Association this year. We decided that owing to present conditions and difficulties in travelling, we cannot expect many from the Cortland and Rochester clubs to attend. However, we decided to hold the Convention in October for the local members, their families and friends, and will extend an invitation to the other clubs to those who can find it possible to attend. This subject will be taken up further at our next meeting.

Meeting was adjourned until the first Friday in August, which meeting will be held at some place to be decided on later.

—Frank O. Webster, Secretary.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society met at The Women's City Club, 736 Jackson Place N. W., on Monday evening, July 5th, with President Leachman presiding. There were fourteen members and three guests present.

The President reported that he had written to several club Secretaries in regard to the question of coin taxation in their localities, but had not heard from them. He also stated he would write other clubs in regard to this question.

Exhibits follow:

Mr. Zug: A very fine collection of all the types of U. S. Silver dollars, so-called dollars, and exposition medals and gave a very interesting explanation thereon.

Mr. McCormick: A complete collection of The Presidential medals from George Washington to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Leachman: $1, $2, $5 and $10 Coin or Treasury Notes of 1890 in uncirculated condition.

Mr. Permoda: An early newspaper "The New England Courant" dated Feb. 11, 1723, which was printed by Benjamin Franklin. It was a single sheet, printed on both sides and mounted in a frame with glass so both front and back could be read. Mr. Permoda stated that it was the second oldest newspaper ever published in this country.

—N. Key Hart, Secretary.

"THE ART THAT PRESERVES ALL ARTS"

He who first shortened the labour of copyists by device of Movable Types was disbanding hired armies, and cashiering most Kings and Senates, and creating a whole new democratic world: he had invented the art of printing.

—THOMAS CARLYLE.

THE U. S. LARGE CENTS

from a die which had broken or cracked), over-dates, errors etc. In 1798 for example, more than 90 different varieties were minted. If the collector is really serious, then the identification and classification of the varieties of these cents becomes a work of science. A man by the name of Doughty classified these varieties of cents from 1793 and including 1814. Andrews classified the coins from 1816 to 1857. Other men such as Crosby, Frossard, Hayes, Gilbert, and Newcomb contributed to various classifications.

The over-date large cents consist of 1798 over 97, 1799 over 98, 1800 over 79, 1807 over 6, 1809 over 8, 1810 over 9, 1811 over 10, 1819 over 18, over 98, 1800 over 179, 1807 over 6, 1809 over 8, 1810 over 9, 1811 over 10, 1819 over 18, 1820 over 19, 1823 over 22, 1824 over 22, 1826 over 25, 1828 2 over 8, 1839 over 36, 1844 over 81 and 1851 over 81.

The various types of large cents consist of: 1793 chain cent, 1793 wreath cent, 1793 liberty cap cent, any cent coined from 1794 or 1795, 1796 liberty cap, 1796 bust, any coin from 1829 to 1834, 1835 type of 1834, 1835 type of 1836, 1839 type of 1838. This coin has a line under the word cent and has no curl on the forehead; 1839 Silly head, which has a line under the word cent but has a curl on forehead; 1839 Booby head, which has no line under cent and has a large head, 1839 type of 1840, which has no line under cent and has a small head; 1843 type of 1842, which has small letters on reverse; 1843 obverse of 1842, reverse of 1844, which has large letters on reverse and a thin rim on obverse; 1843 type of 1844, which has large letters on reverse and a thick rim on obverse and any coin from 1844 to 1857. These are the major types of large cents such as are listed on type display boards. Other varieties consist of stems to wreath, stemless wreath, plain 4, crosslet 4, over-dates, die breaks etc.

I have made no attempt to teach any one anything about the large cents, mainly because I have so much to learn myself. However, if I have made any members aware of the large field of study open in the collection of the large cents, I will be more than gratified. A writer once said of a friend: "To know him is to love him." The same can be said of the large cents: "To know them is to love them."

MARS, THE WAR-GOD, IS GIVEN A HALO

War is a biological necessity of the first importance, a regulative element in the life of mankind which cannot be dispensed with. . . . But it is not only a biological law but a moral obligation and, as such, an indispensable factor in civilization. . . . The inevitableness, the idealism, and the blessing of war, as an indispensable and stimulating law of development, must be repeatedly emphasized.

—BERNHARDI, Germany and the Next War.

NUMISMATIC GALLERY

42 EAST 50TH ST.,
NEW YORK, N. Y.

August 1, 1943

Dear Friend:

You may be interested to learn that we have finally completed the Catalogue of the famous MICHAEL F. HIGGY COLLECTION.

Yes it took a little more time and a lot more work than we usually spend on our auction catalogues--but the results justify it. Here is a sale catalogue of which we are proud.

It contains 1850 lots of United States and foreign gold, silver and copper. Everything in U. S. half cents through dollars; sets of $1 and $3 gold coins; rare foreign gold and crowns; gem patterns and Colonials, etc.

Order your Price List of this sale and receive this special 18 plate catalogue, too; all for 50 cents and we'll send you a bill after the sale. Because of the limited edition, catalogues can be sent only to those ordering the price list.

This half a dollar will be the best numismatic investment of the year. Order your copy NOW.

Sincerely yours,

A. KOSOFF

THE "NEW" 1943 MEXICAN CENTENARIO

The same weight and fineness as the old 50.00 peso coin but instead of the value it has "37.5 gramos oro puro." These coins are not intended for circulation but to give the people of Mexico something of value to lay away.

Being in Mexico City the day they were issued I was able to get a limited number.

Our price while they last is $55.00.

WE ARE ALWAYS IN THE MARKET TO BUY GOLD COINS.

RECENT CHANGES IN OUR PAPER CURRENCY

By ROBERT H. LLOYD, North Tonawanda, New York

For the first time since 1937, when the dollar bills were re-issued as Series of 1935-A, changes have been made in some of our circulating notes. The changes are herein described in two parts; those affecting paper currency for use overseas; and those in our domestic circulation. The former were made in connection with military operations or as attempts to foil saboteurs, or loss in case of invasion; while the latter were occasioned by the unprecedented demand for currency due to the rising business activity at home, accompanied by a considerable increase in the circulation. We shall consider first those new varieties occasioned by the issue of notes for overseas use.

Readers will recall that, at the fall of France, the Bank of England immediately re-issued their ten shilling and pound notes in a new color, and after a brief period when exchange could be effected, the old series were invalidated for the duration of the war. This had the result of making it impossible for those notes seized in France and the Low Countries by the enemy to be used for propaganda purposes or by saboteurs. At least one of our new issues takes on this aspect, that of Hawaii, reported in THE NUMISMATIST for August, 1942, page 593. There is here a twofold purpose: to prevent currency in the hands of Japanese agents in the Islands from being used in sabotage work since it was of the old tenor, and in case of invasion to prevent seizures of money being used elsewhere by an invader. The Annual Proceedings of the American Numismatic Society, January 9, 1943, page 41, quoted words to the effect that "confiscators may not profit." This hints at seizures directly resulting from invasion or raiding. The issue for North Africa, unlike Hawaii, bears no words or surcharge with that designation, but, as in the Hawaiian case, our troops would be paid in a distinctive currency, and were not to accept old tenor notes, many of which exist in Europe, having been taken in countries invaded by the Axis.

This special printing of currency notes is the first time the United States has designated paper money issues for special overseas areas, although we have had ample opportunity for so doing. Heretofore the same bills as were used in the United States were used in Samoa, Puerto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii, and for a considerable time in Cuba. It is a direct attempt at the modern effort to wage war on the economic front, and it seems that paper money issues lend themselves easily to special control of this sort: witness Germany's "tourists' " marks, "export" marks, as well as marks for domestic use.

Notes Surcharged for Use In Hawaii

The following notes are extant and a few of them have worked into the United States:

Silver Certificates, Series 1935-A

$1 Julian & Morgenthau, brown seal, brown serial numbers.

Federal Reserve Notes L-12

$5 Series of 1934, Julian & Morgenthau, brown seal, brown serial nos.

$5 Series of 1934-A, Julian & Morgenthau, brown seal, brown serial nos.

$10 Series of 1934-A, Julian & Morgenthau, brown seal, brown serial nos.

We are indebted to Mr. S. J. C. Todd, Vice President of the Bishop National Bank of Hawaii, for accurate information on these notes. The author has examined specimens which have turned up in various banks in the East, and a number of them have been shown at meetings of the coin clubs here and there. The notes are in every way identical with those of the mainland except for the color of the seal and the serial numbers, and the surcharge. Each note on its face has imprinted the word HAWAII in capitals about one eighth inch size, three quarters of an inch from either end, reading up in the left field, reading down at the right end. On the reverse the word HAWAII is in double lined capitals, five eighth inch size, extending across the note, about one inch from either end.

The Federal Reserve Notes of this issue are naturally those of the Pacific area, issued thru the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, numbered L-12 on the Bank seal, 12 on the face of the note, and serial numbers preceded by "L." The color of the brown ink used is the same as that used on the Federal Reserve Bank note, Series of 1929.

Mr. Todd says, "The currency which is over printed HAWAII is for use in the Islands only and cannot be exported to, or used on the mainland of the United States." Soldiers contacted by the writer affirmed this statement, one stating a heavy fine for export of the notes. Hence it will be difficult for collectors to gather these bills, and the few that are here should be well prized by the holders. Bankers receiving these notes are not to pass them out to the public, but a few that do violate this will not be the less regarded, as it is only proper that responsible collectors should be allowed single specimens, and no harm can result from this.

Special Notes for North African Troops

That these notes were under preparation well before the campaign opened is now evident because the issue of crisp new five dollar Silver Certificates had ceased early in the year. This issue was intended for our troops, and was circulated for some months after the invasion. The British forces also had notes for this area in denominations of 1/, 2/6, 5/, 10/ and £ 1. With the establishment of the franc as the official monetary unit, and the recognition of the French authorities, the troops are now paid in francs of the Bank of Algiers, and dollars and shillings are being withdrawn.

North Africa Certificates may be catalogued as follows:

- $1 Silver Certificate, Series 1935-A yellow seal, blue numbers.
- $5 Silver Certificate, Series of 1934-A, yellow seal, blue numbers.
- $10 Silver Certificate, Series of 1934-A, yellow seal, blue numbers.

Since the notes are from current plates, they bear the facsimile signatures of Julian and Morgenthau, with current serial numbers. There were several printings of the one dollar certificates, and there may have been more than one printing of the higher values. This is established by the fact that the author had dollar certificate B30436784C with yellow seal, B31244993C with blue seal, B53778213C with yellow seal, and several higher numbers with blue seals in the same serial run, B-C. He will appreciate collectors sending record of their serial numbers in order to permit further study on this point, and thus determine the number of printings of each denomination. The color of the seals of the one dollar certificates approaches lemon yellow, somewhat paler on the fives and tens.

Unlike the Hawaiian issues, the North Africa notes have no special imprints. Furthermore, only the seal color differs, that of the serial numbers being in regular blue, while on Hawaiian issues number and seal are in the same color. The North Africa fives contain the same serial run as mainland certificates, serials J-A, and the tens serial A-A.

British dealers were able to procure a supply of their campaign notes for collectors, but there seems to have been a reluctance on the part of the Treasury to allow these notes to escape into the hands of the people. Collectors will do well to turn up every available specimen by inquiry from soldiers and bankers.

First Release of Stored Notes

On the home front collectors observed two turns in events affecting the paper money.

The first of these changes became apparent to collectors last May when suddenly there appeared in circulation large quantities of $5 Federal Reserve notes, a denomination which had not been common since 1935, when they were replaced gradually with the $5 Silver Certificates, Series of 1934 and 1934-A. With the issue of these $5 Reserve notes in 1942, new printings of the $5 Silver Certificates did not appear (blue seal), and those in circulation have become less common and are usually well worn specimens.

The return of the Federal Reserve $5 notes to circulation was demonstrated by the fact that these notes were all slightly different from current five dollar bills, and could be detected by these contrasts: first, their reverse designs were printed in a very light green ink, common in 1934, whereas dark green ink is used on all recent notes; secondly, their seals were apple green in color compared to dull green on current emissions; lastly, they were Series of 1934 while all tens and twenties were Series of 1934-A. Very shortly afterwards, in August, 1942, these same notes appeared as Series of 1934-A $5, which therefore is a new issue in 1942.

The fact that these notes were first taken from storage, and then currently printed is attested by the fact that it is possible to find $5 Series of 1934 with both light and dark green reverses, the dark shade being 1942 printings. The old plates (1934) were used concurrently with the new plates (1934-A) which fact is attested by finding consecutively numbered pairs of notes representing the two series, plate letters L and A. Since the first of the year, practically all shipments have been notes from 1934-A plates.

Second Release of Stored Notes

The resulting shortage of notes incurred by the special printings of notes for overseas and increasing local demands caused another interesting activity in the Treasury: that of issuing the withheld Federal Reserve Bank notes, Series of 1929. These notes had been issued after the Bank Holiday in March 1933, but had been retired in 1934. To meet the growing demands of business and to relieve the shortage, these notes in the denominations of $5, $10 and $20 were dumped into circulation in September 1942 and were the unissued remainders of the 1933 printings, which had never left the Treasury. Inasmuch as they were issued directly from the Treasury, the real status may be more a Reserve note than a Reserve Bank note. The Annual Proceedings of the American Numismatic Society, January 9, 1943, page 42, says "it is not definitely determined whether these are to be classed as Federal Reserve Bank notes or Federal Reserve notes." For collectors' purposes, however, they are merely the stored Bank notes being used up to avoid waste and meet the demands for currency.

The Annual Proceedings further states, "Unused blanks for National Bank notes, Series of 1929, are now being issued with Federal Reserve Bank imprints added." The meaning of this is not clear, but the author holds that all of them were printed in 1933, for the figures quoted by the Treasury, pp. 167-168 of the Coin Collectors Journal for November, 1936, show that only half of the original issue was ever placed in circulation. There is no indication from the serial numbers that new printings have been made in 1942.

A year or so ago, the Treasury widely circulated pamphlets entitled "Know Your Money." The fact that the Federal Reserve Bank notes had been out of circulation for some years naturally omitted them from the booklet, and as a result the Secret Service received many calls from persons desiring to know if the strange notes were genuine. Collectors, of course, were surprised but not mystified, because they immediately recognized the series as the one prepared to meet the supposed money shortage at the time of the Bank Holiday, using the plates of the National Bank notes and substituting the imprint of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks thereon. The release of these notes makes collectors wonder what other varieties the Treasury vaults must hold!

$2 Notes Come Into Their Own In Mexico

In a further attempt to defeat the use of funds seized by the Axis in conquered countries, the State Department secured the cooperation of Mexico last fall in retiring U. S. currency from circulation there. Two dollar notes were allowed to remain, as few of these were "travelling in foreign countries." Citizens of Mexico were given a limited number of days in which to deposit their U. S. funds. Travelers now use Travelers' checks and $2 notes in Mexico. In this way we check any influx of Axis money over the border. Thus all other U. S. paper money in Mexico is useless at the border until after the war, and not legal tender in our neighbor's country.

RECAPITULATION

LATEST NEWS FROM THE DENVER MINT

Dr. Philip W. Whiteley (A.N.A. 7406) of Denver has sent in the following local press clipping from The Denver Post, which should be of much interest to a large number of our members:

Nickelless nickels, wartime 5-cent pieces designed to save strategic minerals, will be coined in the Denver mint for the first time about Sept. 1, Moses E. Smith, mint superintendent, announced Friday.

Stamped with the regular "Jefferson nickel" dies, the new coins will be hardly distinguishable from nickels which actually do contain nickel, Smith said.

The coin alloy will consist of approximately 56 per cent silver, 9 per cent manganese and 35 per cent copper.

"So far this year the Denver mint has been busy on other coins and has made no 5-cent pieces," Smith explained. "When 5-cent pieces have been needed in the territory served by the Denver mint, they have been shipped in from the San Francisco mint, which has been making nickels without nickel for sometime.

"Now the San Francisco mint is shifting to other work."

LETTER FROM THE CHIEF ASSAYER OF 1793

By DAMON G. DOUGLAS, Caldwell, New Jersey

(A paper read before the Jersey City Coin Club July 15, 1943)

In this sesquicentennial year of the commencement of regular coinage at the first Mint of the United States, a letter, heretofore unpublished, should prove especially interesting. It was written in 1793 by Albion Cox, first Chief Assayer of the Mint, to "Caleb Camp Esqr., at Newark, New Jersey," and, with its original style preserved exactly, it reads:

Dr Sr

Philada Decr 16, 1793

Very shortly after I saw you here—from the increase of the Malignant fever we closed this Mint & departed the City from that time until the latter part of the last month when we returned all communication was cut off I therefore had no opportunity of writing to you & unfortunately I was taken ill the second day after my return & confined to my room three weeks I had the fever a few days after I quitted the City but with good nursing & a Clear air I recovd with the assistance of Medicine & my last complaint which was Inward Bloody Boils which the Doctors Inform me was the Remains of the fever & twas a happy circumstance that it so tormented as a return of the fever would have without doubt carried me off so far hav I suferd since I saw you, It yet remains to be terminated whether our lost time is to be paid—in Justice we ought to be paid as our expences was very high in the Country as every Imposition in house rent & provission was practiced by the Country people with the City—I trust from all these circumstances you will be patient until our matters are finally determined. I expect every moment to be called on before Congress as some alteration in the law respecting the Mint will take place in my favor—we have also a large quantity of Metal arrived from Europe & the West Indies which has caused a large Increase of business & must be attended to very strictly. The Moment I have settled my matters in Congress and received my salary you shall be acquainted don't fear that I shall not have it in my power to do you & every one Justice my prospects are very flattering but should any coercive measures be pursued its all over treat me with Comity & you will be safe pray let me hear from you & say on what terms you will settle the business that my mind may be at ease. I am not by any means as well as before the fever attacked me but I trust with care I shall soon recover Numbers have who recover from the fever are still in malingering state All the officers in the mint has now two quarters salary unsettled

I am Yr Very Hble Svt
Albion Cox

Mr. Frank H. Stewart in his grand "History of the First United States Mint" records the deaths of several Mint employees in this 1793 "malignant" (yellow) fever epidemic, one of whom was "Juseph Wright, portrait painter, [who] is said to have been appointed by Washington as the first designer and die sinker."

From the same source we also learn that Mr. Cox's fears regarding pay for the lost time were happily resolved by the payments recorded on pages 174 and 175 of his pay in full. The "alteration in the law respecting the Mint" which Mr. Cox was momentarily expecting to settle "in Congress" refers to the reduction in the amount of surety required from the Chief Assayer. This was accomplished "by Act of Congress, March 3, 1794."

The "large quantity of Metal arrived from Europe" was evidently the nearly fifteen tons of copper purchased by ambassador Thomas Pinckney in London from the firm of Taylor & Bailey at the request of Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson. That from the "West Indies" must also have been copper, since there was no provision in the Mint Act for the purchase of silver and gold, and since the "free coinage" of these metals could not be commenced until the Chief Assayer had been properly qualified by furnishing the required security. One or both of the following payments, listed by Mr. Stewart, may have been for the "West Indies" "Metal":

Dec. 2, 1793 Bartholomew Saragin 1659 lbs copper $239.88

Dec. 16, 1793 John Clement Stocker 11148 lbs old copper and cartage $1,742.66

Thus Mr. Cox's "large Increase of business" was in connection with the production of cents and half cents, and judging by the mint's previous copper purchases and by the quarterly copper coinage figures compiled by Mr. Stewart, it would seem that the time required for the refining, casting, rolling and cutting must have occupied most of the balance of 1793; and that when the "Metal" referred to finally emerged in the shape of coins, they largely bore the new date of 1794.

The recipient of the letter, Caleb Camp, had been the High Sheriff of Essex County during the Jersey Coppers coinage, and in his bailiwick had been the Elizabeth Town Mint operated by Albion Cox. When Albion left New Jersey at the wind up of his connection with this venture, he effected his departure "one jump ahead of the sheriff," whom in this letter he warns against taking "any coercive measures." Later, having finally collected his Assayer's salary, Cox did on April 2, 1794, make a settlement with Camp calling for a series of quarterly payments. However on November 27th, 1795, the bulk of this debt was still unpaid when an apoplectic fit put an untimely period at the end of the career of the first Mint's first Chief Assayer, Albion Cox.

"A BAD PENNY ALWAYS RETURNS"—LIKEWISE SOME GOOD CENTS

METROPOLIS, Ill.—A talisman, now carried by Arnold R. Kugler in the United States Marines, is going into battle as a good luck charm for the fourth time.

An 1855 United States penny, it started its military career with Rufus Cullom in the Civil War. It received its baptism of fire at Shiloh and went through the siege of Vicksburg and with Grant's army into Tennessee. When the war was over, Cullom returned to his home and put his "lucky penny" away for safekeeping along with other battle relics.

When American soldiers were called in the Spanish-American War thirty-three years later, Cullom gave his talisman to his nephew, W. P. Bunn. Young Bunn went through the Spanish-American War in the Caribbean area, seeing many of his comrades killed or injured or die of disease, yet he came through the war unscathed.

Nineteen years later, Bunn was watching Yankee soldiers embark for France to fight in World War I. Simon Korte, now a retail merchant in Metropolis, asked Bunn if he had anything that had been carried through the Spanish-American War. And the copper coin went off to war a third time.

Korte fought at the front in France and was with the army of occupation in Germany. When he returned to Metropolis he handed back to Bunn the coin that he was convinced had kept him uninjured and safe through three years of service.

Bunn, now an overseer at Fort Massac State Park near Metropolis, consented to give the good luck token to Arnold Kugler when he asked for it. Kugler was Illinois State Assistant Superintendent of Parks before his enlistment in the Marines.—(Press clipping from Farran Zerbe.)

ART AND HISTORY IN MEDALS

By E. GALLO-RUIZ, Department of Romance Languages
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

In the field of numismatics not everybody looks upon a medal as an object with a dual claim, historical and aesthetic. Historical associations irrelevant to the actual representation of the medal, the rarity of the specimen, the elevation of price, and other alien considerations are commonly found to be the reasons for collecting medals. Such an approach, however, defeats the real purpose of numismatics.

After the spurious elements irrelevant to the raison d'être of a medal have been discarded, the problem to be solved is how to appreciate and understand its intrinsic claims. This is by no means a simple task; it involves a complex analysis of the character or event commemorated, and the adequacy of the artistic shape which this commemoration has assumed; or, to put it in the language of art, a knowledge of form and content. For a medal, as some numismatists describe it, is like a good sonnet—an aesthetic organism in which form and content are well harmonized. In the light of these remarks, we advance a tentative criterion from which to judge properly the two aspects of a medal, or the demands of representation and its concomitant form. Content and form are so closely interwoven in a medal that to mention one is to speak of the other.

Among the works of sculpture the medal possesses the greatest durability because of its size, and above all because of the centripetal arrangement of its clustering design. Marble sculptures seldom survive the iconoclastic wrath, and until recently they provided excellent lime for the ignorant peasants of Europe. Many large bronzes of antiquity (and some modern) were doomed to perish in a similar fashion to provide metal for bells and cannon. A medal, on the other hand, resists destruction, and a thousand medals hardly provide enough bronze to cast a small cannon. Besides, a medal, like a coin or any other small object, soon captures the sympathy of its possessor, if it is beautiful, finding a secure place in his pocket. The ravages of time generally respect the immutability of medallion form and content; thus, to speak of the "eternal bronze" is to speak of the durability of medals.

This compactness and durability belong, paradoxically, to the least static of the works of sculpture. A medal, being sculpture without a fixed pedestal, has the mobility of the temporal arts, of music, poetry, and the dance. It is, so to say, an art of dual participation, both in space and time. A medal is seen and read. It is, therefore, free to transcend, as its round shape suggests, the limitations of three dimensional solids. Like music and literature it lives in time; yet it has the solidity of sculpture. Thus the memory of a person or the recording of an event, once extrinsicated in the adequate substantial form of a medal, moves on like classical coins, from past to present and from present to future, to carry over bits of history in its full pristine freshness.

Granted that the medal has no fixed setting because of its spatial and temporal mobility, we can, nevertheless, speak of the human hand as its pedestal. Medals are man-made to commemorate human events, for human information and enjoyment. A medal is therefore fulfilling its end only when it is in the hand of man, and when contemplated, read and understood.

But the continuous manipulation of a medal brings naturally the question of weight. A medal, being a freer type of art than sculpture in relief and sculpture in the round, demands far more kinaesthetic participation than any other type of sculpture. A pleasing weight, not too heavy, not too light, is desirable. This mutual cooperation of touch and eye brings the medal near to the human body, and establishes the closest possible relation among the spatial arts (architecture, painting, and sculpture) between the spectator and the work of art. Architecture, painting, and non-medallic sculpture never abandon their pedestals and aloofness of setting to rest upon our hands.

This intimacy between the beholder and the form and content of the medal explains the role medals played in the Italian Renaissance, an age of individualism in which personality strove for full development and wide recognition. Glancing through a collection of Italian medals of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries produces in us the agreeable feeling of living the robust life of the Humanists while we participate in the aesthetic vigor of the Renaissance.

But a similar effect is produced by good medals of any other period. What Cornelius von Fabriczy writes of Pisanello's art applies to any other capable medalist: "It is indeed a proud procession of crowned heads, celebrated princes and tyrants, dreaded condottieri, renowned statesmen and scholars, that the genius of the master places before our astonished and delighted gaze. In the ardent desire for posthumous fame all have sought to be immortalized by means of Pissano's spatula and crucible."<sup>1</sup> The high relief of the characters of the age of Castiglione, Machiavelli, Leonardo and Savonarola is preserved for posterity in the medals of the Renaissance in no less vivid and indelible characters than the revealing pages of Cellini's Autobiography. "The medal," wrote G. F. Hill, "served exactly that purpose which was nearest to the heart of the Italian of that period; and that was the expression of his virtu, the glorification of his personality."<sup>2</sup> The Napoleonic medals, likewise, are among the best documents of the Emperor's ambition, and help to trace the European events of that turbulent period, excluding some ironical exceptions, such as the famous medal of 1804, "struck at London" to commemorate Napoleon's "invasion" of Britain.<sup>3</sup>

As a work of art the medal commands a unique relation to the eye enjoying it. Being a relatively small object, it is to be seen from a short distance, yet not exactly like a miniature. In every artistic medal, following the best practices from Pisanello down to our modern age, the persons or events commemorated are treated with suggestions of monumentality such as are found in painting and sculpture. After all, a medal is intended to be "a portable monument"<sup>4</sup> of an individual, a family, a state, or an idea. The form of the medal is better adapted to give full expression to its content, in the great majority of cases, when monumentality and simplicity are preferred to delicacy and detail. Andrieu's false-classicism, for example, in his Napoleonic medals, exquisite in detail as it is, fails to present the Emperor in the truly monumental and sublime directness of Pisanello's style, the only adequate style to represent a hero.

A careful artist seldom neglects the aesthetic value of surprise, novelty, and anticipation we derive—as in reading a poem—in passing from the obverse of a medal to its reverse. In fact, this harmony of obverse and reverse is among the best criteria in judging medallie artistry. This demands a perfect blending of form and content on both sides, yet sufficiently modified to avoid the barren monotony of mass production.

Among other vital considerations, the sensuous appeal must not be neglected. The art and history of a medal appeal to our imagination and our intellect, but the senses too should participate here as they do in every aesthetic experience. This participation is made possible only by finishing the surface of the medal in the most convincing way. An adequate patina increases its beauty, while careless patination, on the other hand, is an artistic disease, a case of bad complexion. Excessive polishing of the surface is equally bad art. This evil kills the feeling of spontaneity and organicity. Mathematical regularity is desirable only in tools and machines, in what is inorganic and impersonal. In sincere arts and crafts, we prefer less rigidity; they should be objects in which the finger prints of the artificer and other indications of dynamic creative activity are present. A degree of irregularity, conceived within the canons of good taste adds a subtle charm to every work of art, a quality never found in mass production objects.

A medal is therefore “A piece coined for the purpose of commemorating some historical event or as an award for personal merit;”<sup>1</sup> furthermore, it is also a work of art in which a multitude of considerations of form and content have attained an organic unity and provide, at the same time, joy and information.

THE PLOT THICKENS

American housewives soon may be using ration “currency” of a more tangible sort, exchanging coin-shaped tokens of a plastic material for their food purchases instead of the paper stamps now in use. The Ration Division of the Office of Price Administration, it was learned yesterday, is contemplating the possible use of such tokens to relieve food merchants of difficulties in handling the stamps, and already has outlined the plan at a recent trade meeting in Washington.

Under the plan consumers would receive only one ration stamp monthly and this would be “redeemed” upon the initial purchase for merchandise and its remaining value in tokens. Thereafter the housewife would be relieved of carrying her ration books for the remainder of the month, and could keep her token “money” in a change purse.

Similarly banks assisting in the program would be freed of counting thousands of bits of small paper and could run the tokens through their coin machines with a minimum of difficulty and expense. Counterfeiting would be made extremely difficult by reason of a system of special colors with which the OPA proposes to identify the different denominations of tokens. The dyes under consideration, it was said, are of a type already in short supply, and although in strong demand for other needs at present it is thought that their very scarcity makes them especially desirable for use in the tokens.—(Press clipping from Farran Zerbe.)

THE COINS OF THE EASTERN EMPIRE

It must suffice for the purposes of this article to give a bare outline of the history of the Eastern Roman Empire down to the time when it merges into the Byzantine Empire, properly so called. It is almost impossible to do otherwise if one wants to get any semblance of order into the maze of names, dates and coins of these long centuries.

The one outstanding innovator after Constantine was, no doubt, the emperor Anastasius, ruling from 491 to 518 A. D. Selected by Ariadne, daughter of Leo I, for her second husband, Anastasius became a model ruler. He built the wall named after him, the great wall of Constantinople. It extended from the Sea of Marmora to the Black Sea, forming an arc of about 42 miles, completely guarding the capital from the land side. In both his outward and domestic policy Anastasius was energetic, wise, and on the whole successful, laying the foundations for the still more brilliant exploits of Justinian, who, after the short interval of the reign of Justin I, ruled the empire from 527 to 565.

No commonwealth will ever be more stable and prosperous than its fiscal and monetary system. The credit of a great empire stands or falls with the greater or lesser soundness of its policy of state finance. The system of coinage introduced by Anastasius and continued in its essential outlines for several centuries, was especially notable for its well regulated issue of bronze coins. One nummus, the smallest bronze piece, was marked with the first letter of the Greek alphabet, A, the five-nummi piece with an E, ten nummi with I, 20 nummi with K, and the largest piece of the series, the 40 nummi piece, with the letter M. In all cases these letters were in the field, on the reverse, conspicuously noticeable even to the ignorant and illiterate. The Greeks, away down into Byzantine times, never employed figures in writing out their numerals, the letters of their alphabet serving that purpose. A, E, I, K and M are merely the Greek figures of 1, 5, 10, 20 and 40 respectively. As noted above, these Greek letter-figures were, and for centuries remained, the only concession made to the Greek speaking population of the Eastern Empire, the coins otherwise continuing to show Latin legends.

Theoretically the standard of this bronze coinage prevailed for a long period. The actual exigencies of the troubled times of the empire under Justinian and his successors, throughout the seventh and eighth centuries, brought many weight reductions in these bronze pieces. The 40 nummi piece normally weighed about 250 grains; I do not think any issued during the time of Anastasius were much heavier than that. There are, however, in my possession some 40 nummi pieces, plainly marked M, which weigh only about 60 to 70 grains. On the other hand, there are reports of pieces of this denomination by Justinian I, which weigh nearly 400 grains.

The next period, 611 to 711, is occupied by the dynasty of Heraclius. I am not aware that any more silver pieces have survived of this period than of the one previous. The bronze pieces are much inferior in workmanship, at least the specimen which the present writer has had an opportunity to examine. Heraclius successfully defended the Asiatic sections of the empire, retaking Jerusalem with the famous Holy Cross from the Sassanians of the new Persian Empire. The dynasty ended with Justinian II, called Rhinotmetus the Noseless. He really deserves a separate chapter in the annals of new Rome. The Cross on the reverse of the coins is characteristic of this and later periods.

There follows the age of the Iconoclasts. Leo III, the Isaurian, who opens this age in 711, was one of the many remarkable characters in Byzantine history; few have done more to preserve the empire than this heterodox semi-barbarian.

Whatever one may think, or whichever side one may take in the theological conflicts of this stormy eighth century, the fact remains that the empire again weathered the storm. The numismatic remnants of this period down to the rise of the Basilian dynasty in 867 A. D. seem scant, and our knowledge of these times is unsatisfactory. The statement has been made that the cross on steps on the reverses was introduced by Leo III, a view which seems hardly in harmony with his decided aversion to religious symbols. It is doubtful whether the coins of the eighth and ninth century, both silver and bronze, have ever been carefully studied with a view to a better elucidation of the political and social affairs of this period. The written accounts and annals, largely produced by monkish authors, naturally are in a way mirrors of their time, mirrors however likely to show distorted partisan opinions. Here is a field for diligent and observant numismatists.

The next great epoch opens with the dynasty of Basil the Macedonian, 867-963 A. D. Again the type of coinage changes essentially, and Greek legends finally make their appearance, at least on the reverse of the bronze pieces. The relation of the 40 nummi bronze, from now on called the follis, to the silver coins, and their rate of exchange, seems to be unknown. The follis shows on the obverse the bust of the Saviour, and on the reverse the words in Greek: Jesus Christ—King of Kings. The obolos (a name of long standing), worth half a follis, has the effigy of the emperor on the obverse, and his name across the field on the reverse. The emperor is however called King of the Romans.

This bare outline brings us down nearly to the end of the first Christian millennium with another half millennium still to follow. Profound were the changes which the Eastern Empire experienced in those 700 years since Constantine. Its heyday was no doubt before the rise of Islam in the seventh century. But that the empire should have survived the Sassanian; the kingdoms of the Goths and Vandals built on the ruins of the western empire; and also its mortal enemies, the califates of Damascus and Baghdad, of Cairo, and many others, makes a study of this empire and its coins interesting and instructive in the extreme.

A REQUEST TO OUR ADVERTISERS

The Post Office Department is insistently asking that, in all cities in which postal zones have been adopted, the zone number be included in the address. Your cooperation in this respect will be definitely helpful.

NEW OR RECENT ISSUES

Through the courtesy of member Ernest Kraus of Brooklyn we are illustrating six fairly recent issues, as follows:

1. Tunis: 10 centimes, zinc, 1941, replacing the same value in nickel bronze formerly in circulation.

2 and 3. France-Vichy: 10 and 20 centimes, aluminum, 1941.

4. Brazil: 50 centavos, or half cruzeiro, copper, aluminum and zinc, 1942. This new denomination is replacing the milreis, in use in Brazil for over 300 years. Other new coins reported are the 20 and 10 centavos, in the same metal.

5 and 6. Argentine: 10 and 20 centavos, in brass-like metal, 1942, replacing the former coins of nickel, and with new design.

Past President L. W. Hoffecker of El Paso furnishes for illustration a new coin from India, which came into circulation in February of this year, but the issue is reported as small and the coin has already become scarce.

7. India: 1 pice, copper, 1943.

AN INTERESTING TRANSPORTATION TOKEN

Through the courtesy of Mr. F. Bowman (ANA 8473) of Montreal, we are enabled to illustrate a transportation token somewhat out of the ordinary, both in appearance and from the fact that, in this individual case it served as a free pass instead of representing toll paid. It is apparently of brass and about as thick as a half dollar.

Mr. Bowman explains the matter as follows:

"The Honore Mercier Bridge spanning the St. Lawrence River about seven miles above the City of Montreal connects Ville Lasalle on the north shore with the Indian Reservation Village of Caughnawaga on the south shore. It was opened for traffic in 1934 as a toll bridge, but arrangements were made to grant free passage to bona fide members of the band of Iroquois Indians in the Reservation of Caughnawaga. Each Indian was issued a metal pass which entitled him to free passage at any time.

"The bridge was declared free of tolls to the general public in 1942, after which time these tokens were no longer necessary.

"Enclosed token No. 1422 was officially issued to Mr. Joe Cross-The-River of Caughnawaga, Quebec, Canada."

The Indian with the picturesque and, for the time being, especially appropriate name, has, through Mr. Bowman, generously consented that the token should be sent the A. N. A. Curator; for which he has our hearty thanks.

A CHALLENGE

To be honest, to be kind, to earn a little and to spend a little less, to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence; to renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered; to keep a few friends but these without capitulation; above all, on the same grim condition to keep friends with himself: here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.

OREGON TRAIL COMMEMORATIVES

We have received the following letter from Mr. Stephen H. Bibler of Portland, a timely correction of an evident misunderstanding by the press and among individuals who may have recently purchased the Oregon Trail commemorative halves.

Portland, Oregon, August 11, 1943.

To the Editor:

I should like to clear up a report appearing in your August issue concerning the issuance and sale of additional Oregon Trail commemorative half dollars. Coins are being sold. This is not a new issue of coins as the press dispatches indicate but merely an additional sale of coins previously issued in 1936 and 1937 and which were apparently not all sold on the market at that time. Collectors expecting a 1943 date are disappointed. The coins are from the limited issue of 10,000 from the Philadelphia mint in 1936, and from the limited issue of 12,000 from the Denver mint in 1937.

The American Pioneer Trails Association is sponsoring the sale of 1,000 of these coins at a price of $5.00 each. Purchase of the coins includes an Oregon Trail Centennial membership in the American Pioneer Trails Association. Proceeds will be used to provide stakes made from treated Oregon wood with which to mark the Old Oregon Trail from Missouri to the coast, and to finance the Association's annual convention.

It is reported that 500 coins of each date are being offered. The coins are being sold at several places in Portland under the auspices more or less of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and I have been told that the sale is proceeding very satisfactorily. However, collectors should be warned that identical coins may be purchased (without the Trail membership) from responsible dealers for approximately $1.50 each. Some of the newspaper accounts are misleading and give the impression that a new and rare coin is being sold. A lot of the people who are buying these coins are going to be disappointed when they find out the actual low market price, which only hurts coin collecting in general. It is too bad that the Association did not adopt the policy of selling the membership and then giving the coins to the members.

—STEPHEN H. BIBLER, ANA 9165.

FILE FOR REFERENCE

It is not likely the Encyclopedia Britannica is often chosen for summer reading, but it may interest many collectors to know that under "Numismatics" there are 25 pages of text, eight fine plates of coins and two of medals. To the newer collectors especially this should be extremely valuable—and it is possible some discoveries might be made even by some of those who have been long in the ranks.

A CORRECTION

Our sincere apologies are due George J. Bauer and Almond H. Plumb for the unfortunate transposition of their names under the cut on page 638 of the August issue.

LOOKING BACKWARD

THROUGH THE EARLY FILES OF THE NUMISMATIST

FIFTY YEARS AGO

"We had an able apology written out for our August and September numbers, but it has gone astray." Thus did the Editor blandly dismiss the matter, leaving to the reader's imagination the nature of the lost double barreled apology. Dr. Heath must have enjoyed this venture in publishing; one can read between the lines amusement, optimism, tenacity, and numismatic enthusiasm. Well, he richly deserved whatever satisfaction he derived from his unpretentious little magazine, for it has lasted well over half a century and as yet shows no signs of disintegration. In the first issue (in the autumn of 1888), after a few introductory paragraphs, the Editor closed with this: "And so without further ado, we launch our frail bark on the journalistic seas, and with clear skies and a flowing sail go out on our mission."

In the announced program of the A. N. A. convention (held August 25, 1893) in Chicago there are listed an even dozen papers to be read, every one with an interesting title; one paper (on "The Coinage of the Roman Empire") came from far away New Zealand. Our friend George J. Bauer of Rochester, N. Y., was down for a discussion of "The Jetons of France;" in reviewing the list of authors one wonders if he is not the sole survivor of this early group of enthusiasts.

FORTY YEARS AGO

"Sec. 3. . . . But nothing in this Act shall be construed to forbid or prevent the printing and publishing of illustrations of coins and medals, or the making of the necessary plates for the same, to be used in illustrating numismatic and historical books and journals and the circulars of legitimate publishers and dealers in the same." This from a bill introduced in Congress by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, and approved in March, 1903.

This is quoted from the September issue of that year, and gives the impression it was the earliest legal permission to publish such illustrations; it was an amendment of an Act approved in February, 1891, dealing with counterfeiting, production of dies, etc. Perhaps some member can give a history of earlier legislation (if any) related directly or indirectly to the subject. It will be recalled that only in very recent years has it been legal to illustrate U. S. postage stamps; similar prohibition must have at some time existed with reference to coins.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Farran Zerbe communicates an interesting discovery in the case of the $10 (Saint-Gaudens) gold piece: the fact that two stars had been added to the 1912 issue, bringing the number to forty-eight; the occasion for this increase having been the admission of two states (New Mexico and Arizona) during that year. He inquires if the same revision had been made in the $20 piece. As we know, this had been done. It would be of much interest to learn how many of each value had been struck in 1912 (if any) prior to the addition of the two stars. (THE NUMISMATIST of March, 1941, called attention to these new varieties.)

"FOR OLD TIMES' SAKE"

Portland, Oregon.

To the Editor:

Although I may not be the oldest collector just now I'm not giving up, and since I started collecting when I was 9 years old I may yet make the grade. I got my start in Ontario, Canada, in 1886, when an old man gave me a one penny token of upper Canada, and I've been collecting ever since. I still have the penny in my Canadian collection, which, by the way, took first prize this month when the Oregon Numismatic Society held a Canadian coin night.

I've specialized in Canadian coins and tokens, U. S. standing Liberty quarters, and old bills. My Oregon membership number is 126, and A. N. A. is 9258.

DO THEY BUY CROCODILES FOR THE SERGEANT?

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA.—Here are the exchange rates quoted to Yanks occupying the Trobriand Islands and Woodlark Island, in terms of vile-smelling sticks of twist tobacco used by natives as currency:

|                                |                |
|--------------------------------|----------------|
| 20 oranges -----               | 1 stick        |
| 50 pounds sweet potatoes ----- | 1 stick        |
| 40 pounds bananas -----        | 1 stick        |
| 40 pounds pawpaws -----        | 1 stick        |
| Bush pigs, each -----          | 3 sticks       |
| Grass skirts, each -----       | 2 to 3 sticks  |
| Turtles -----                  | 2 sticks       |
| Canoes, each -----             | 1 to 4 sticks  |
| Walking sticks, each -----     | 3 to 6 sticks  |
| Crocodiles -----               | 1½ to 2 sticks |

Lists were distributed to each soldier so he could protect himself against being overcharged.

WHAT ARE THE OTHER SIX?

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower always carries in his pocket seven old coins, including a gold five-guinea piece.

As the Allied invasion fleet approached Sicily last night to begin the great assault on Europe, the General gave them a good rub for luck. In fact, as one of his aides said, he gave them several good rubs.

MILITARY CURRENCY FOR SICILY

Thanks are due Maj. Joseph Moss of Philadelphia, now in the Judge Advocate General's Department in Washington, for a clipping from a Washington paper, written by Donald Kovacic, staff writer for the A. P. A complete collection of the invasion currency used throughout the entire war, if one can be finally assembled, should prove not only of highest interest to collectors, but historically important. The account follows:

"Anglo-American military currency made its bow in the Allied occupation of Sicily to provide the monetary pattern for future occupations in Europe.

"A joint Treasury-War Department announcement told the story yesterday of how Great Britain and the United States decided on a distinctive, varicolored money to be carried into enemy lands.

"The first issue, which the departments said spoke a 'lira' language that will be understood by every Sicilian trader and consumer, presumably will be followed by issues speaking the 'franc,' 'reichsmark' and other money languages now familiar to the millions under the Nazi heel.

"Differing from previous invasion moneys, the new Allied military currency is entirely distinctive. And, with an eye to future operations, a basic design was arranged 'so that it might be adapted to the needs of troops in further assaults upon Hitler's European fortress merely by overprinting the proper currency designation and name of country on the basic stock.'

"The currency is in two sizes. For the Italian series the smaller size—about half that of American notes—was printed in denominations of 1, 2, 5 and 10 lire. A wheat field scene in brown appears on the face, with the denomination printed in the center. Blue, lavender, green and black borders identify the respective denominations.

"The larger size, comparable to American currency, was used for notes of 50, 100, 500 and 1000 lire denominations, with borders and design in blue, lavender, green and black, respectively, against a pale blue background.

"The words 'Allied Military Currency' and 'Issued in Italy' appear on all notes, while on the reverse side of the 'Four Freedoms'—freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want and freedom from fear—carry the message of the Atlantic Charter to the liberated lands.

"Actual planning of the job began some four months ago at a highly secret series of conferences between high American and British officials. Designs were completed under similar conditions of secrecy.

"Basic printing began early in June, with presses kept in operation 24 hours a day. On Monday, July 19, two planes carrying seven tons of the money took off. They arrived in Sicily the following Thursday. Other shipments of both currency and special postage stamps have followed."

"NEW PENNIES FOR OLD"

(Sent in by Stephen H. Bibler of Portland.)

"... For while copper goes away to the war, the steel-and-zinc pennies may be trained to become silver quarters, and these be translated into war savings stamps, and these into war bonds in turn. And if a new dime slips by for a new penny, all the better. Let's play a game with the new pennies, as the village bankers used to tell us we could. Soon they shall look like dollars, if we enlist them, and be dollars, and shall become war bonds—and the war bonds shall become the lightnings of Liberty. Blessed is the penny, the smallest coin of all, in till or pocket. The strength of the penny is the power of the dollar—the purified patriot power of the dollar."

—From The Oregonian (Portland.)

Chicago—September 11, 12 and 13

President Ferguson has left various important details of the arrangements to the Convention Committee, of which Past President J. Henri Ripstra of Chicago is Chairman, the other members being Mrs. Marie G. Boyer (Chicago) and Harold R. Klein, Hinsdale, Illinois. We do not as yet have the full program, but the following items should receive attention:

Business Sessions

Mr. Ripstra announces the time of the three business sessions as 10 o'clock a. m., sharp, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. This will give the various A. N. A. committees ample time for their necessary conferences in the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday, and no doubt adjournment may be had at noon on Monday. Such arrangements will also leave much free time for others to spend as they desire.

The sessions will be held in the air-conditioned American Room of Hotel La Salle, our convention headquarters.

Registration

The registration desk will be open at 9:30 Saturday morning.

Hotel Reservations

It is important that advance reservations be made, the earlier the better.

Important Event Saturday Evening

The Chicago Coin Club, through its Secretary, Clifford Lindall, 1451 East 77th St., has extended a most cordial invitation to dine with them at 6:30 p. m. at Hotel La Salle (room to be announced), tickets for which may be secured from the Sergeants-at-Arms and officials of the Club in the American Room. In this latter room (the Club's headquarters for their monthly meetings) a short business session of the Club will be held promptly at 8 o'clock, and this will be followed, writes the Secretary, "by an auction of only the finest specimens, and the high light of this meeting will be an exceptional exhibit of valuable numismatic items (under police protection);" he also adds that C. Lou Snyder, member of the Club, has donated several prizes for this exhibit, among them being a Victory Savings Bond and several brilliant proof sets encased in the new thermoplastic transparent holders. Outside exhibits welcome.

Advance dinner reservations should be made with Secretary Lindall.

Convention Papers

Papers submitted in former years have already formed a valuable portion of the conventions, even though time was not always available to hear them all read. Invariably such as were found acceptable have appeared in later issues of THE NUMISMATIST, thus giving the entire membership the privilege of learning their contents.

As announced by President Ferguson, it will not be possible to have papers presented this year, but, as stated in the August issue, he has appointed a Committee on Papers, and has urged that contributions be made as in past years.

The Editor wishes emphatically to supplement this invitation. For over half a century the articles in our official magazine have been largely furnished by the members, establishing a fine and immensely valuable tradition. While this issue will reach the membership only a short time before the convention, it may serve to remind any who have planned to send in a manuscript but have delayed completing it, that it is still possible to finish and mail it directly to the Editor at Hotel La Salle, who will see that it reaches the Chairman of the Committee in due course.

FIRST DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN CALIFORNIA

In the November, 1932, issue of THE NUMISMATIST appeared a most interesting article by Kenneth W. Lee of Glendale, California, giving what seems to be authentic historical evidence that gold was discovered in that state six years earlier than is commonly supposed, and not at Sutter's Mill, but in Placerito Canyon, near Los Angeles.

Mr. Lee has sent in a recent news clipping which ties directly into the above mentioned account, and it is given herewith:

SAN FERNANDO, June 21.—In response to an appeal for information on historical sites, S. G. Chamberlin of 318 Griswold Ave. has submitted a map showing the former location of a gold-discovery monument, previously erected in 1842, seven years before the California gold rush.

Only the base is left of a monument which commemorated Francisco Lopez's early discovery of the precious metal in Placerita Canyon near Newhall. The Board of Supervisors has decided to place markers designating historical sites of the county and is gathering information concerning them.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED

The Coin Collector's Journal (Raymond), for July-August. The new Standard Catalog is reported on the press and delivery is announced for early September. A special feature will be a department for notes on the various issues of U. S. coins. The series of articles by George W. Husker on "Coins of Africa" is continued with a compilation of the coins of Egypt, well illustrated. "Cowries as Money," by H. J. Bowker, and "Roman Republican Denarii," by R. W. Johnson (Part XI and final), the last illustrated with a full page plate, are both of interest. Joseph H. Spray has written a brief but useful article on "Date Designs of United States Coins."

The Numismatic Scrapbook (Hewitt Bros.) for July. "East India Company Medals and Coins," by Raymond J. Walker is given first place in this issue; Stephen H. Bibler discusses "Russian Exploration and Trade in Early America." A brief article on "What We Learn From Phoenician Coins" is by William Brimelow, and another installment of a check list of U. S. Transportation Tokens, arranged alphabetically, has reached the K's.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or of some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right is reserved to require payment in advance for any advertising, or to discontinue any advertising if bill is not paid promptly. All advertising is received subject to the above conditions. The right is reserved to decline any advertisement.

Copy for advertisements must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Editor. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

AN APPRECIATION

Those having torches will pass them on to others.

—PLATO.

Our fraternity is (fortunately) made up of many varieties of collectors, but the three major types may perhaps be catalogued as follows: those who only collect, those who collect and study, and those who collect, study, and eventually qualify as authors of authentic and important numismatic literature.

Again, and fortunately, the first named group is not static—must not be, in fact, or the second, and, from it in turn, the third, could not emerge. It would be interesting to know in what proportions of the whole these three groups exist. We are tempted to invite an estimate concerning this from those who have been a part of the Association for a considerable number of years, and who at the same time have had a fairly wide contact, both directly and by correspondence, with what might be termed a cross section of our membership. Such estimates would doubtless vary greatly, even among those best qualified to judge; nevertheless, one might strike an average not too far from the actual.

At this point, however, we immediately face a difficulty in the fact that "study," as applied to the second group, is an elastic term, and what one would regard as serious might by another be deemed only superficial. But let us grant that a reasonable familiarity with the historical background of the coins in question should be considered a fair minimum.

To the third—and much smaller—section we owe an enormous debt, which only the cumulative appreciation of many generations of collectors could possibly pay. Indeed, it is likely that no other payment—except the intangible one of satisfaction from having shared generously—has been or will be realized by those who have given uncounted hours and unmeasured effort to serious research, with little if any thought of ultimate financial profit. Their work has contributed vastly to the enjoyment—even fascination—of numismatics for those who insist upon a more intimate understanding of their collections than can be reached through mere possession.

In connection with the foregoing we should recognize another group—the smallest of all—a select company who have earned their distinction by intensive and extensive exploration, and have made available to others who may not have had similar opportunity, information on the nature, source and extent of the literature of numismatics in some chosen field. For regardless of how great the supply, it would be idle capital, so to speak, unless employed, and this is possible only when its existence and location are known.

A notable example—and, in fact, the inspiration of this brief editorial—is found in the most recent of the series of Numismatic Notes and Monographs, published by The American Numismatic Society, under the title of A NUMISMATIC BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE FAR EAST. Its compiler is Howard Franklin Bowker, of Oakland, California. Over a period of fifteen years he has not only accumulated an extensive private library on Far Eastern coinages, but has searched various public and semi-public libraries (including that of the A. N. A.) for related material. With what degree of success, one may judge by a review of the more than nine hundred references listed: books, magazines, pamphlets, many of them exceedingly rare, and with an additional list of dealers' illustrated sale catalogues (about seventy), running back as far as 1871. The location of nearly all of these items (except the last named) is given, not less than 235 of them being in the compiler's own library. The main section is arranged according to authors, but is later cross indexed for subjects. The bulk of the study is, of course, connected with China, but Japan, Corea, Tibet, Nepal, Siam and others were unavoidably included to a limited extent.

Mr. Bowker has done an amazingly thorough and scholarly piece of work, worthy of high praise for its own sake; but it is mentioned here also to illustrate both the achievements and the possibilities which exist within the broad field of numismatics—first, in the production of authentic reference material, and second, in the compilation of comprehensive and accurate information thereon. The author must of course precede the bibliographer, but the latter is clearly indispensable to the serious student.

ELECTION MEDALS OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1844

By DOYLE DeWITT, Bloomfield, Connecticut

(Series began in issue of June, 1943)

No. 28. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, civilian bust to right.

Note A—In this bust Clay appears older than in any of the series, thus it bears a closer resemblance to him in 1844 than the others. Most engravers portrayed him as a much younger man than he really was in 1844. He was 67 and had been in failing health for a number of years. This portrayal may have been intentional as the Whigs would have no desire to remind the voters of the untimely death of Harrison, likewise a Whig candidate at age 67, and who was to succumb one month after inauguration.

Note B—IN COMMEMORATION OF THE GREAT CONVENTION HELD AT BALTIMORE MAY 1844—probably refers to both the Whig nominating convention of May 1st and the ratifying convention of May 2nd, inasmuch as only the month is given.

Note C—The monument at Baltimore, the shaft of which is surmounted by a full-length figure of Washington, the work of André Causici of Italy, was completed in 1829. It was viewed by many Whig convention delegates, who were in Baltimore for the first time.

No. 29. Obverse: Same as preceding except no inscription.

Reverse: Same as preceding.

White Metal. 36 mm.

No. 30. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, head to right.

Reverse: Inscription around, LET US ENCOURAGE OUR OWN MANUFACTURES., enclosing BORN./IN VIRGINIA AP 12 1777/1799/OPPOSES THE/ALIEN & SEDITION LAW,/1806. ELECTED to U S SEN:/1814, COMM; AT GHENT./1821. COMPROMISE OF MISSO: QU:/1833. COMPRO: BILL PASSED./1843, RESIGNS AS SEN:/1844/THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE/FOR PRESIDENCY.

(Satterlee 134). White Metal. 35 mm.

Note A—This is a very ugly head.

Note B—LET US ENCOURAGE OUR OWN MANUFACTURES—Clay used phrases similar to this many times but probably this inscription is predicated upon a line in his "Protection" speech in the House on April 26, 1820 which was " * * * we ought to encourage home manufactures."

Note C—This reverse is the only one in the 1844 Clay series which delineates the principal political events in Clay's life.

BORN IN VIRGINIA AP 12 1777—See Note 20-C.

1799 OPPOSES THE ALIEN & SEDITION LAW—The Federalist sponsored Alien and Sedition Laws were unpopular in Kentucky. Young Clay opposed them "with all the fiery spirit of youth." (Henry Clay—By Carl Schurz—American Statesmen Series—Vol. I, p. 32.)

1806. ELECTED TO US SEN:—Clay was elected by the legislature of Kentucky to the U. S. Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of General John Adair. He took his seat in the Senate on December 29, 1806. According to the date of birth he acknowledged throughout his lifetime (and as given on this token), he was not yet constitutionally eligible to that body. He lacked three and a half months of the age of thirty years, which the Constitution prescribes as a condition of eligibility to the Senate of the United States. The records of the Senate show no evidence of any question having been raised upon this ground at the time he took the oath.

1814. COMM. AT GHENT—Clay, as one of the five peace commissioners appointed by President Madison, met with the British envoys at Ghent, in The Netherlands, where on December 14, 1814, a treaty was signed to terminate the War of 1812.

1821 COMPROMISE OF MISSO: QU:—From 1819 to 1821 Congress bickered over the admission of Missouri into the Union because of the underlying slavery question. During the latter part of 1821 and early 1822, Clay, as chairman of a joint committee of the House and Senate, drafted and caused to be adopted a set of Compromise Resolutions which led to the admission of Missouri to the Union.

1833. COMPROM: BILL PASSED—President Jackson's denunciation of John Calhoun's nullification threats which were prompted by South Carolina's resistance to the protective tariff, set the stage for Clay's next great compromise. He proposed and caused the adoption of the tariff compromise bill of 1833 which retained the principle of a protective tariff but at the same time made concessions to the nullifiers by reductions in tariff duties.

1843, RESIGNS AS SEN: On March 31, 1843, Clay resigned his seat in the U. S. Senate. His valedictory remarks were made in the Senate chamber "crowded to utmost capacity, by members of the other house, and by a large assemblage of citizens and ladies." His departure from the chamber following the conclusion of his remarks was the occasion of his reconciliation with John Calhoun, with whom he had not been on speaking terms for five years.

PEOPLES CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT—See Note 1-D.

No. 31. Obverse: Same as preceding except slightly different head.

Reverse: Same as preceding.

(Satterlee 135). White Metal. 35 mm.

Note A—While this head is undoubtedly the work of the engraver who cut No. 30 and is in most respects similar, there is a clear distinction. This head is more narrow, sharper, and the surface is raised slightly more than that on No. 30.

No. 32. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY THE PEOPLES CANDIDATE, head to left.

(Satterlee 139). White Metal. 33 mm.

Note A—THE PEOPLES CANDIDATE—See Note 1-D.

Note B—THE BIRTHPLACE OF HENRY CLAY SLASHES OF HANOVER—Clay was born in Hanover County, Virginia "in the neighborhood commonly called the Slashes—a term indicating a district of country that abounds in low swampy grounds." (Colton's Life & Times of Henry Clay. Vol. I, P. 17.) (The region is a few miles north of Richmond, and in the same general neighborhood where Patrick Henry was born.)

Note C—The representation of the house in which Clay was born follows the general detail of that depicted by an old print which was reproduced in several Clay biographies of the campaign.

No. 33. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, BORN APRIL 12, 1777, enclosing nude bust to right.

Reverse: THE/CONSTITUTION/THE UNION/AND PROTECTION/TO/HOME INDUSTRY/.

Brass. 35 mm.

Note A—BORN APRIL 12, 1777—See Note 20-C.

Note B—THE CONSTITUTION, THE UNION AND PROTECTION TO HOME INDUSTRY—Clay often connected his tariff policy with the Union and the Constitution. In his speech in the House on March 30 and 31, 1824, advocating Protection to Home Industry, he stated "All parts of the Union will participate" (in the benefits) and then a few moments later in answer to the charge of unconstitutionality of the bill—"I invoke that saving spirit of mutual concession under which our blessed Constitution was formed, and under which alone it can be administered." (Also see Notes 12-B and 43-B.)

(Satterlee 140). White Metal. 33 mm.

Note A—A HALO SHINES AS BRIGHT AS DAY, AROUND THE HEAD OF HENRY CLAY—I have not been able to establish the origin of this verse.

Note B—NON SIBI SED PATRIAE—When translated means "Not for himself, but for his country."

Note C—PROTECTION TO THE WORKING CLASS IS AN ASSURANCE OF SUCCESS—One of Clay's fundamental arguments in favor of his tariff was the benefits it provided to the working classes and of course this fact was widely used in extolling Clay as a "Pro-labor" candidate for president.

Note D—AUSPICUM MELIORIS AEVI—When translated means "Augury of a happier time." (A more modern version would be "Happy Days Are Here Again.")

Note E—The shield embossed with symbols of industry. (See Note 12-C.) Although a locomotive was used somewhat in the political cartoons of the period, this is the only instance that I have found of its use on a political token. Steam locomotives were very new at the time, having been in use in the United States slightly over ten years and upon only a few miles of track.

No. 35. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY. THE ASHLAND FARMER, nude bust to left.

(Satterlee 141). White Metal. 31 mm.

Note A—THE ASHLAND FARMER—See Note 20-B.

Note B—The bust is poorly executed and does not resemble Clay.

Note C—THE SAME OLD COON—Of course, the word "coon" is a typically American shortening for the word raccoon and its usage precedes 1844. We find such expressions as "I'm a gone coon" connected with an anecdote of the Revolutionary War. Its true origin lies with the American pioneer and frontiersman. The coon abounded in the wooded frontier areas and its skin was commonly used for clothing. The coon-skin cap, colorful and practical, symbolized the frontiersman. It was this association with the West that first brought it forth as a political symbol in 1839 during the Harrison campaign. A log cabin symbolized the rough frontier life of Harrison. One of the commonplace adornments of the exterior of the settler's log cabin was a coon-skin hanging up to dry. Hence, the replica of the log cabin in the Whig political procession bore its coon-skin for which the live coon was soon substituted. Before the 1840 campaign progressed very far, the live coon was to become a natural and favorite Whig symbol. When Clay became the Whig candidate in 1844, what was more inevitable than the continuance and amplification of the coon as a Whig symbol? Clay was a western candidate. Kentucky, the "dark and bloody ground," was his home and had seen more than its share of famous coon-skin capped frontiersmen. Cartoonists often depicted Clay dressed in a coon-skin cap. Under these circumstances it did not take long for the Whig orators, cartoonists and song writers to present Clay and the Whig cause as "The Same Old Coon." One cartoon entitled "The Same Old Coon" depicts the body of a large coon with the head of Clay. A Whig song ran "High on a limb that 'same old coon,' Was singing to himself this tune:—Get out of the way, you're all unlucky: Clear the way, for old Kentucky!" That it had a popular appeal, even to Clay himself, is indicated by several instances reported by his biographers, only one of which I will relate. In 1848, during a Clay appearance in Baltimore, someone in the audience shouted to Clay, "You are that same old coon." Clay replied, "Exactly: I am that same old coon." (Loud cheers and laughter.) (Life of Clay, By Epes Sargent. P. 304.)

Note D—The device of the plow, while symbolic of agriculture, was likewise widely used in the Harrison 1840 campaign and when used in conjunction with the coon, as here, is probably a carry-over from that campaign.

Note E—O K—While the origin of this expression is attributed to several sources, including the political libel on Jackson for his alleged spelling "Orl Korreet," its existence on this token, in my opinion, can be attributed to an entirely different source. In 1844, Samuel Morse demonstrated the practicability of his new electric telegraph by transmitting messages over the first telegraph wire, strung from Washington to Baltimore. (In fact, the events of the Democratic National Convention in Baltimore were transmitted to Washington through that medium.) Under the code contrived by Morse, the telegraphic symbol for "All Right" was O K. Thus, Clay was "All right." A campaign jingle ran—"Henry Clay—is O K."

No. 36. Obverse: Inscription, H. CLAY. THE MAN OF THE PEOPLE. THE STAR OF THE WEST; circle of 26 stars and date 1844 enclosing togated bust to left.

(Satterlee 142). White Metal. 31 mm.

Note A—The 26 stars are for the twenty-six states of the Union in 1844.

Note B—THE MAN OF THE PEOPLE—another hackneyed political phrase, has no special significance here, although the extent of its application to Clay during this period is evidenced by reading his biographies.

Note C—THE STAR OF THE WEST—was one of the many similar flattering tributes applied to Clay. A reading of his published correspondence will disclose the extent that this and similar terms was bestowed upon him by his admirers. John Greenleaf Whittier, in his poem commemorating Clay's retirement from the U. S. Senate in 1843, refers to him as "Pride of the West"—"Star of our Hope"—"Sun of the Free"—"Pride of the Just."

Note D—The device on the reverse is intended to be an emblematic representation of the Young West (Clay) arising to leadership for the benefit of the country and the world. This same reverse was repeated on a Lewis Cass campaign token of 1848.

Note E—UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL—See Note 17-C.

No. 37. Obverse: Same as preceding.

White Metal. 31 mm.

Note A—LIBERTY AND UNION NOW AND FOREVER ONE AND INSEPARABLE—is a quotation from the concluding sentence of Daniel Webster's great reply to Hayne in the Senate on January 26, 1830. It was a very popular and oft quoted phrase in the North.

Note B—The device of the spinning wheel, bale of wool and sheep is symbolic of home industry. The tariff bills of 1827-28, put through by Clay and his supporters and with the favorable vote of Webster, raised the tariff on woolens, and Webster spent some time in his reply to Hayne in 1830 to explain the reasons for his vote, which may account for the use of this device in connection with the quotation from Webster's speech. The same reverse was repeated on a campaign token of Zachary Taylor, Whig candidate for president in 1848.

No. 38. Obverse: Inscription, FOR HIS COUNTRY, clothed bust of Clay to right.

Reverse: Displayed eagle bearing U. S. shield on breast with olive branch in right talon and arrows in left, with scroll in beak inscribed HENRY CLAY; stars in field above and 1844 below.

Note A—This is a large but poorly executed bust of Clay.

Note B—FOR HIS COUNTRY—refers to Clay's oft asserted basis of his political creed. It is best expressed by him in his valedictory address to the U. S. Senate in 1843—"In all my public acts, I have had a sole and single eye, and a warm and devoted heart, directed and dedicated to what in my judgment I believed to be the true interest of my country." This is a portion of the inscription on his tomb at Lexington.

Note C—The eagle device on the reverse has its origin in the Great Seal of the United States and has been used extensively on our coins. In fact, this reverse resembles the half dollar of this period.

No. 39. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY AND THE AMERICAN SYSTEM., enclosing togated bust to right with initials I. B. C. (engraver) below.

Reverse: UNITED/WE/STAND, enclosed by laurel wreath.

(Satterlee 146, 147). Copper, Brass. 28 mm.

Note A—It is with some doubt that I place this token with the 1844 campaign. The bust is unlike any other in the Clay series. It bears no resemblance to him but does resemble in some respects a small lithograph of Jackson printed upon a ribbon at about the time of the campaign of 1832. However, it bears a closer resemblance to Lord Byron, the celebrated English poet, who died in 1824 while assisting in the Greek Revolution, of which Clay spoke at great length in the House on January 20, 1824.

Note B—THE AMERICAN SYSTEM—Clay coined this expression for his tariff policy in a two-day speech in the House of Representatives on March 30, 31, 1824, when he said, "Are we doomed to behold our industry languish and decay, yet more and more? But there is a remedy, and that remedy consists in modifying our foreign policy and adopting a genuine American System." (Also see Note 12-B.)

Note C—UNITED WE STAND—is undoubtedly a shortening of "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." (See Note 17-C.) It is the fact that this motto was used on no less than four other tokens of the 1844 series that leads me to the conclusion (perhaps dangerous) that this token belongs to the 1844 campaign. On this piece one invariably finds the WE weakly struck.

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

THE BRONX COIN CLUB—The 119th meeting of the Club was held on Tuesday, July 27th, at the Concourse Plaza Hotel, President Kortjohn presiding. Twelve members and four guests were present.

There was a discussion of the proposed get-together meeting suggested at the New York Numismatic Club and the celebration of the tenth anniversary of The Bronx Coin Club. This matter was left for the consideration and action of the Board of Governors.

Topics selected for the August meeting were the U. S. dollars from 1836 to 1873, coins, medals and tokens of Scotland and Ireland, ancient and modern coins of Sicily.

Exhibits were made as shown below:
Mr. Arthur: Bison nickel without date, brockage of Liberty Head nickel of 1903; silver dollars of 1795 and 1799.

Mr. Blake: Eleven 3, 4 and 6 penny silver pieces of England from James II to George IV.

Mr. Deas: 45 U. S. silver dollars in proof.

Mr. Douglas: Civil War fractional notes issued by New Jersey municipalities; Roman Republican denarii.

Mrs. Douglas: Ten political tokens of Henry Clay, including two in memory of his death.

Mr. Engel: U. S. dollars of 1796, 1799, 1801 and 1803.

Mr. Knobloch: Three denarii of Julius Caesar.

Mr. Knoth: Calais groat of Henry VI; three pence of 1568 of Elizabeth; crown, half crown, shilling and sixpence of Anne, shilling of George III dated 1787.

Mr. Kortjohn: Sixty English coins of the twentieth century, including a 19 piece specimen set of 1937; silver dollars of 1799 and 1803; denarius of Julius Caesar.

Mrs. Morgenthau: Six medals of Great Britain.

Mr. Sghia: Twelve silver dollars from 1795 to 1803; English crowns of Edward VI, Charles I, Commonwealth, Oliver Cromwell, Charles II, James II, William III, Anne, George I, II, and George III dated 1804 and 1820; George IV, Victoria, Edward VII, George V and VI.

Mr. Stein: Tetradrachm of Antiochus I, portrait drachms of Juba II and Cleopatra, drachm of Antiochus VI, drachm of Tryphon (fleur de coin) statuette of Apollo from the fifth century B. C.

Mr. Wagner: Medal of Lord Roberts, 1900; seven English war decorations of First World War.

—O. T. SGHIA, Secretary Pro Tem.

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 122nd regular meeting was held on August 4 at 174 Montague St., Brooklyn, President Max M. Schwartz presiding. Ten members and one guest were present.

The topics were: United States coins of 1796, coins with dates on both sides, medals and tokens of Horace Greeley, aviation medals. Mrs. Damon G. Douglas and Mr. Max M. Schwartz exhibited extensive collections of political tokens of Horace Greeley and they related many interesting bits of information regarding the life of Greeley and the presidential campaign of 1872.

The following exhibits were made:

Mrs. Douglas: Photograph of Horace Greeley, collection of Greeley political tokens, four medals of George Washington.

Mr. Douglas: Dollar and cents of 1796.

Mr. Friedman: Freak 1941-S dime.

Mr. Kortjohn: Forty-five new acquisitions including many war casualties and new designs.

Mr. Kraus: Two Roman bronzes of Maximinus. Two Egyptian copper coins of early issue with Arabic inscriptions.

Mr. Leder: Misstruck 1937 nickel.

Mr. Reagan: Quarter dollar and dimes of 1796. Set of prison money of "The Tombs", New York City. Medal of Long Island Historical Society. Two medals pertaining to mathematics.

Mr. Schwartz: Twenty political tokens of Horace Greeley in various metals; five aviation medals.

—LEWIS M. REAGAN, Secretary.

CINCINNATI NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The July meeting of the Association was held on the 13th with President Horwitz in the chair. Mr. J. F. Carabin was congratulated on the acceptance of his paper for publication in The Numismatist. The balance of the meeting was devoted entirely to the quarterly auction which consisted of 209 lots.

The August meeting of the Association was held on the 10th at the Netherland Plaza with President Horwitz presiding. The feature of this meeting was a new paper by Mr. Waldo C. Moore, subject, "Washington In Miniature." A display of 36 notes illustrated the paper. Mr. Moore's papers are usually on little known subjects and are always interesting, particularly demonstrating the wide field of numismatics.

—GEORGE D. PARVIN, Secretary.

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its 140th regular monthly meeting, August 9th at 8 P. M. in the Rose Room of the Hotel Seneca. Twelve members and three guests were in attendance.

The President, Mr. E. G. Gillhooley, requested Mrs. J. M. Henderson to serve as Secretary in the absence of Mrs. C. W. Randolph.

A letter was read from Mr. Leon Belt expressing his appreciation to the Society for having nominated him for membership on the Board of Governors of the A. N. A.

The President reminded us that it was not at all difficult to gain numismatic information, stating that while relaxing in an easy chair he had picked up his encyclopedia and read about the famous persons and events which had prompted the issuing of our commemorative coins.

After a brief business session the President turned the meeting over to Mr. Rodecker and Mr. C. E. Higgy, who had arranged the following program:

Mr. B. L. Thuma gave a talk on "Silver." He found that no exact date has been given as to when silver was first discovered; quoting from the book of Genesis, which states that Abram was rich in silver and gold. He also mentioned having resided in a State for 14 years, where silver was the only medium of exchange. Some valuable information was given, pertaining to the numerous ways in which silver is being used in the war production, as well as the coinage of money.

Mr. George Andrews gave a short talk on the Griswold Script, which was issued by Ezra Griswold of Worthington, Ohio. The first issue appeared in 1816 and continued in use through the year 1819. The speaker displayed a set of the first issue.

Exhibits were: Mrs. J. M. Henderson: The $2.00 script issued by Ezra Griswold in 1819.

Harry Rodecker: Brazil paper money, brought home by a Lieut. who took part in the bombing of Tunisia and Sicily.

Berwyn Legg: Peruvian Sol; Civil War tokens.

M. F. Walters: Dollars, half dollars, quarters, and half cents.

F. W. Burton: Collection of English pennies, 50 varieties, uncirculated.

S. J. Kabealo: Complete series of U. S. Commemorative coins; also modern proofs, 1836 to date.

Jack F. Burns: Four 5-franc, and also a 10-franc sent to him from Africa by Col. Howard M. Morten.

E. G. Gillhooley: Six sets of the P. S. and D Mint cents, mounted with individual news release over the first six months of 1943.

—CORA DELL HENDERSON,
Secretary Pro Tem.

CHICAGO COIN CLUB—The 294th regular monthly meeting of the Club was held at La Salle Hotel on Aug. 4th. Fifty-six members and three guests were in attendance, with Vice-President Barger presiding.

Vice-President Barger suggested that members who have display cases, please bring them early at the next meeting. Mr. Ripstra reviewed the plans for the A. N. A. war-time business meeting which will be held Sept. 11th, 12th, and 13th.

Mr. Sheldon asked that the Club announce in The Numismatist, the dinner which will be held at the La Salle Hotel on Sat. night, Sept. 11th. This will precede the regular meeting of the Chicago Coin Club.

Mr. Evans, our Librarian, announced a gift from Mr. Shugrue of two old numismatic books, for which the Club gave a vote of thanks.

Mr. Sheldon spoke on the effect of the war on numismatics and noted many of the special moneys issued by the U. S. for use by our Forces in different parts of the world. Mr. Keefer gave an interesting account of the origin of Wass, Molitor & Co., and their coinage.

Dr. Reich then presented the exhibitors, who spoke on their exhibits:

M. Vernon Sheldon: Alexander The Great, B. C. 336-323, 1/4th, single and double gold staters, 1/10 gold stater of Cirene.

Earl F. Barger: Thirty old Roman silver and bronze coins struck from 410 B. C. to 337 A. D. Also several early Italian copper coins, including the Papal States mint coins of 18th and 19th century.

Alvin M. Beckman: Commemorative Series of Brazilian silver coins: 4000, 2000 and 1000 reis pieces in proof, all struck in 1900. 2000 reis piece of 1913 struck in Germany for the Brazilian Government. Spelling of Brazil instead of Brasil, first time this spelling was used on 2000 reis pieces. 8 real piece of Mexico, counterstamped with crowned Portuguese arms, circulated in Brazil although originally intended for Portuguese colonies only.

Don C. Keefer: A collection of Army and Navy insignia of the United States, also some Russian army insignia.

Dr. Reich: Antique Sicilian coins (Syracuse, Akragas, Panormus, Mes-sana.)

—CLIFFORD LINDALL, Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—Thirty numismatists were in attendance at the 185th regular meeting held on the evening of August 3, 1943. Reports were received from Mr. Jorgensen in reference to the club library, and from Mr. Block concerning exhibits, two committees which are actively functioning.

The interesting address by Rev. Harry Golding on the subject "Intriguing Historic Buttons," furnished a distinct innovation in club programs. Rev. Golding is a collector of coins, buttons and many other things and his talk created unusual interest in respect to the very popular button hobby. President Larsen introduced the speaker by calling attention to the fact that the button, like the wheel, was one of the greatest mechanical inventions. Rev.

Golding traced the history of the button from earliest times, among the first buttons being tree twigs which were used to fasten garments together in place of the earlier girdle or tie-around. Buttons were used in the army as early as 1784, being made of pewter, while bullet buttons are still in use at West Point. In some cases buttons have passed through several generations and were often mentioned in wills. In connection with the address the speaker exhibited a large collection including buttons dating from 1798, Washington buttons and many other pieces of beauty and interest. Mr. Basil Swift exhibited two fine engravings by the artist Togarath, featuring buttons. The meeting closed at an early hour, no auction being held.

—EARLE K. STANTON, Secretary.

CANTON COIN CLUB—The ninety-sixth regular meeting of the club was held Monday evening, August 2nd, at the Hotel Belden, Warren Smith presiding. Twelve members and one guest were present.

By unanimous vote the club meeting night was changed to the second Tuesday of each month to avoid the regular Monday evening conflict with local store war worker shopping hours.

Mr. Stover conducted a 20-question quiz on numismatics, which was well received.

Displays:

Mr. Smith: Nickel 3c pieces, and a 1922 plain Lincoln cent.

Mr. Stover: Pattern cent, 3 cent and 5 cents, all in nickel; a drachma of Bactria, and one of Pergamum.

Mr. Welch: Dollar size coins of Venezuela, Ecuador, Chile, Peru, Bolivia and Brazil.

Mr. Bruce: Silver dollars of South America, and 3 cent silver and nickel types uncirculated.

Mr. Bolus: 1884 Proof 3 cent nickel, 1873, proof 3 cent silver, and miscellaneous minor coins of South America.

Meeting adjourned for an auction of 21 lots.

—C. T. BOLUS, Secretary.

CHARLOTTE COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the club was held on June 14, with President C. Y. Conder presiding.

The Numismatic Quiz planned at the prior meeting was successfully conducted by Mr. Walton, who gave un-circulated steel cents and Jefferson nickels to the members answering each question individually, and to the member having to his credit the highest score at the end of the quiz. President Conder won first prize and Dr. Conway A. Bolt won second.

Among the many questions were the following:

1. What was the name of the assayer who in 1850 made slugs of gold in sizes $36., $40., 37., $45., $50., and $54., and which was the rarest?

2. What was the first coin issued by the United States, and in what year?

3. The largest piece of money in the world is known by what name, and is of what approximate size?

4. What was the highest price ever offered for a single United States coin?

5. What two denominations of coins were made with left and right face types and in what year?

6. How many different denominations of United States coins have been minted?

7. Where was the first United States Mint, and when was it opened?

8. How long was the Charlotte, North Carolina, Mint in operation?

The above questions with others asked during the quiz were exceptionally interesting to the members present, and it is planned to have another of this type at a subsequent meeting.

—KAY J. JENNELL, Secretary.

HEART OF AMERICA (Kansas City) NUMISMATIC ASS'N.—The 113th consecutive meeting of the Association was called to order by President A. B. Grant on August 9. Eighteen members and twelve guests were present.

One of our guests, Capt. Russell Dick, of the Air Transport command, showed several sound pictures of fighting activity on several fronts, which were enjoyed by the club membership and guests of the Bellerive Hotel, who were invited by the club for this part of the meeting.

A very interesting album of fractional and distress currency from various parts of the world was displayed by Mr. Frank W. Osborn. Mr. Rowold distributed uncirculated Colorado two mill plastic tax tokens to each member.

Light entertainment programs and air conditioned meeting facilities have combined to hold up attendance through the summer, and an enthusiastic spirit is indicated for the coming fall and winter meetings.

—C. ALLEN HARPER, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.—The Society held its 106th meeting at the Miller Brewery, Milwaukee, on July 30, 1943, upon invitation of its Sales Manager, Frank Huber, who is one of our members. Thirty-three members and two guests were in attendance.

Only a very brief business meeting was held, after which our host served a delicious lunch and other refreshments which were appropriate and appreciated because it was a hot evening. Many members had brought along coins which were examined by those present, and considerable trading and selling took place. This meeting was an interesting diversion from our usual meeting and was therefore enjoyed by all present. A hearty vote of thanks was extended our genial host.

—N. J. HOFFMAN, Secretary.

ORANGE COUNTY COIN CLUB.—The Club met for its 51st monthly session at the Church of the Messiah at eight o'clock P. M. the third Tuesday evening in July.

President Harry Hanson presided. The regular order of business was disposed of. The most important of this business was the reading of the application of Mr. Holger Jorgensen, who is a noted authority on ancient coins. He was unanimously voted into the club. Mr. Jorgensen was then called upon to talk and he told about some very old Roman coins, the first coins to be issued by the Roman empire several hundred years B. C. He showed some specimens of these interesting coins.

Dr. Janet McFarland was then introduced by the program chairman, Mr. Bergen. She gave a most inspiring and instructive talk on what makes collectors, and why we have hobbies. She stated that the most brilliant men are collectors or have a hobby of some kind. It was brought out that a good hobby is an activity which gives emotional satisfaction. She named four values to be derived: 1. Having a hobby gives a person a satisfaction of personal ACCOMPLISHMENT. 2. It allows for CREATIVE ABILITY, that is, in arranging and displaying collections. 3. It gives you a broader PROSPECT and clears the mind. 4. It REDUCES NERVOUS TENSION. She said that in all of her experience as a psychiatrist she has never found a person with psychopathic tendencies who had a hobby and worked at it. Her talk was well received.

Adolph Larson then conducted one of his successful auction sales and in spite of the extreme heat there was much spirited bidding.

—C. GLENN CURTIS, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY.—The 119th meeting of the Society was held at the Newark Athletic Club, Newark, N. J., on August 12, with twelve members and three guests present. President Brookes presided.

Mr. Wade read newspaper items of numismatic interest, as well as a paper on U. S. invasion money of Sicily.

President Brookes announced the death of our valued member, Mr. H. Prescott Beach, after which the members stood in silence in respect to the memory of Mr. Beach. President Brookes appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. George H. Blake and James M. Wade to form a resolution expressing the Society's sorrow at the loss of our departed member.

Mr. Douglas moved that the resolution reported by the committee in charge, concerning Mr. Beach, be adopted. It was so voted by the Society.

Mr. Douglas, for the Topic Committee, suggested the following topics for September: "U. S. five cent nickels," "Coins of the Twelve Caesars," "Coins of Countries Beginning with J, L & M," "Fractional Currency," and "Medals of New Jersey."

Dr. Hugo Stockmayer spoke on his coin collecting interests, and illustrated his talk with various specimens. The talk was given in an interesting and humorous style, and was greatly enjoyed by the members of the Society.

Mr. Eric Witzel read a short paper on a Confederate document.

The topics for the meeting were: "U. S. Coin Notes and Silver Notes of 1896," "Copper Nickel Cents," "Coins of Countries beginning with H and I," and "Medals of Firemen."

The exhibits of the evening were made by Mrs. Brookes, Mrs. Douglas, and Messrs. Arthur, Blake, Brookes, Douglas, Duffield, Hughes, Stockmayer and Wade.

—EMILY LARSON BROOKES, Secy.

NEW YORK NUMISMATIC CLUB.—The 416th regular meeting of the Club was held on Friday evening, August 13. Mr. LeRoy E. Cox, Vice President, presiding, with 15 members present.

The topics for the evening: "Roman Coins of Nerva and Trajan," "United States Half Dollar Series," "Coins of the Two Sicilies," "Coins of the Republic of China."

Exhibits were made by the following: Mrs. Damon G. Douglas: Exhibit of Washington items; new acquisitions of Columbus.

Damon G. Douglas: Types of U. S. half dollars; 7 Chinese coins; 7 coins of Trajan and Nerva; 10 coins of the Two Sicilys.

Stuart Mosher: Fake silver dollars of the Chinese Republic; two fake silver dollars of Mexico.

R. W. Johnson: Nerva—Tetradrachm minted in Caesarea in Cappadocia; Trajan—Dupondius and Sestertius.

J. H. Spray: Type collection of United States half dollars, all in exceptionally nice condition.

H. Stein: Greek bronze statuette of Apollo, early 4th Century B. C., style of Lysippos, fine preservation; Tetradrachm of Syracuse, Euaenetus type; Two transitional tetradrachms of Syracuse; Tetradrachm of Antiochus I of Syria; Drachma of Antiochus VI of Syria; Drachma of Tryphon, usurper in Syria (fleur de coin).

H. K. Downing: Large Cents 1798, 1800, 1826, 1827, 1848, 1849 and 1853.

L. M. Reagan: Uncut sheet of Colonial Notes of Rhode Island, 1780—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 20 dollars.

M. F. Kortjohn: Eleven coins of Chinese Republic; five pattern half dollars; 50 lira piece of Syracuse; denarius of Trajan.

A. W. Deas: 18 different types of Chinese coins.

W. H. Arthur: A 1941 Jefferson Nickel with reeded edge taken from circulation—not genuine.

L. E. Cox: Complete U. S. Commemorative half dollars; 8 types of U. S. dollars; Chinese $1. 1912 and 1914.

J. Barnet: $10 Certificate of North Africa, with yellow seal.

L. Kusterer: Various Chinese coins.

F. C. C. Boyd: Various die varieties of half dollars, 1794-5-6-7, all from very fine to proof condition; 49 silver dollars of the Republic of Mexico, 12 of which struck in gold.

The Medallic Art Committee reported that the Sghia Medal would be ready for distribution at the September meeting. All of these Medals being struck in silver, to be sold at $5 each.

Mr. A. W. Deas, for the Publication Committee, read clippings from the various newspapers and magazines about Numismatics, and mentioned that from the number of items he is reading in the newspapers, the public is becoming "money conscious."

The Executive Committee suggested as topics for the September meeting: Silver Dollars from 1794 to 1839; United States Advertising Cards in Similitude to United States Coins; Coins of Italy; Coins of Hadrian; Coins of the Kings of Syria; Political Medals of William Henry Harrison. Adopted.

—F. C. C. BOYD, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The 75th meeting of the Society was held on Monday evening, August 9, at the Benson Hotel in Portland. President Bibler presided, and there were 15 members and one guest present.

Under the heading of new business, Howard Hughes moved that a resolution be sent Mr. J. Douglas Ferguson, President of the A. N. A., urging the investment of at least 80% of the large surplus of funds of the A. N. A., now on deposit in various savings banks, in U. S. War Bonds. A copy of such resolution to go to Mr. Burton H. Sax-ton, Editor of The Numismatist, and copies to the coin clubs of the U. S. This motion was seconded by Geo. Pipes and approved unanimously.

Howard Hughes next presented a most interesting talk on the History of the Danish Colonies. He illustrated his talk with coins from Denmark, Iceland and Greenland. Incidentally, I believe Mr. Hughes has one of the best collections of U. S. and foreign coins, both as to condition and variety, in this section of the country.

Geo. Pipes gave us the historical background of several of the towns of Sicily which have been much in the news lately: Syracuse, Catania and Messina. He told us that many of the landmarks of the ancient peoples, buildings, temples, etc., remain much the same as many hundreds of years ago. He touched briefly on the coins of these cities, as well as displaying several which well illustrated the high state to which art was developed by these ancient peoples.

Congratulations are also in order for President Bibler, who revealed he has been appointed to the Committee on Papers to secure choice articles to be read at the A. N. A. Convention to be held in Chicago.

Howard Hughes closed the meeting with an auction which contained much choice foreign material. Considering the small summer crowd, bidding was active.

—JOHN R. SLUSHER, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—The 98th regular monthly meeting was called to order by President Havens on August 12th in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. There were 24 members and guests present.

Our first president, Mr. Samuel K. Faucett, was by unanimous vote made an honorary member of the Club for his untiring efforts in behalf of its formation and organization.

Mr. Enberg exhibited a highly interesting group of eleven large and small United States notes in crisp condition, each one separately encased.

Mr. Ballard exhibited six hand painted Arabian postcards sent to him by Corp. Magee from Africa.

Mr. Ballard, the Editor of our "News Letter" which is sent to the members in the Armed Forces and to those who are ill, read two interesting letters one from Corporal Patterson, telling of his experiences in this country, and one from Corporal Magee from somewhere in North Africa. The latter included two Algerian five franc notes, which were auctioned for the benefit of the Club.

Mr. Farley is continuing his display of "The Coins of India" at 37 S. 18th St., Philadelphia, during the month of August. This is a most interesting exhibit.

Mr. Schick conducted this evening's auction, consisting of more than 100 lots, including a number of tokens, fine large cents and half cents, rolls of 50 Indian Head Cents, choice half dollars, and many other choice specimens.

—ARTHUR SIPE, Secretary.

SYRACUSE NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—

Regular monthly dinner and meeting held at Meyers Brass Rail Friday, August 6, at 6:30 P. M. Five members and two visitors present, President Paul Burns presiding.

The secretary produced a newspaper clipping of recent date announcing in detail the minting of a couple of United States war time coins. One is the new Zinc coated cent commonly called the "Steel Cent." The other is the "Nickel-less" nickel. This nickel has been minted since early in 1943 and contains 35% silver. This is the first United States coin minted in Philadelphia that shows a mint mark. The letter "P" appears over the dome of Jefferson's Monticello home.

Frank Webster displayed a 1943 Canadian Victory Nickel, which promoted quite a little interest. This is a 12-sided coin in the regular 1943 issue. "We win when we work willingly" is around the outside in Morse code. It is a beautiful coin.

Meeting adjourned at 11:00 o'clock until the first Friday in September.

—FRANK O. WEBSTER, Secretary.

TOLEDO COIN CLUB—The Club held its 137th meeting, with President B. H. Kranz presiding.

A resolution was adopted, eliminating the annual banquet, also the annual picnic for the duration.

Plans are being made to extend a special invitation to all local and surrounding territory coin collectors for a get together at one of the fall meetings.

Mr. Leo MacDonough entertained the members with some interesting picture slides, reproduced from the National Geographic Magazine, entitled "Geography of Money." (Issue of December, 1927.—Ed.)

Following coins were displayed: Silver Dollars uncirculated; Rob't Burnor; Pioneer Gold; C. C. Shroyer; Proof Set, Irish Free State; Sherwood Henderson; Proof Silver Dollars; Elsor Heater.

Following papers were read: "The dollar and the cent"; "Entrants in Coin Collecting Marathon"; "The 150th Anniversary of the U. S. Mint."

At the conclusion of the regular business meeting, Mr. C. C. Shroyer was host to the members at a luncheon.

—S. L. SZYPERSKI, Secretary.

WASHINGTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its monthly meeting at the Women's City Club, 736 Jackson Place N. W., Washington, D. C., on Monday evening, August 2, with President C. Shirley Leachman presiding. Sixteen members were present.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. Burton H. Saxton, Editor and Business Manager of The Numismatist, stating that an investigation was being made of an advertiser in The Numismatist about whom members of this Society had complained.

President Leachman said he still hoped to collect enough information from Coin Clubs in other parts of the country to support this Society's contention that coin collections are not generally subject to taxation. When he has received such information he will ask for a hearing before the District tax officials, he said. Several members expressed the feeling that collectors should wait for the tax authorities to devise a method of arriving at the valuation of coin collections—in other words, let them make the next move.

Mr. Edward L. Weikert exhibited a number of coins and medals of the Columbian Exposition, and an odd paper-weight which was a replica of 10 stacked Columbian half dollars.

Mr. William E. Atwood showed a Russian 5-kopek piece, which he said was commonly used by the Russians in buying fur pelts in Alaska.

Mr. Edward S. Conger exhibited an octagonal California gold half dollar, and passed around a copy of the first issue of The Numismatic Review for the members to inspect. He also gave some interesting comments on invasion currency.

Mr. Donald E. Jameson offered specimens of the $1, $5, and $10 North African notes. He said these were issued under different circumstances from the issuance of the Hawaiian notes, which are redeemable only in Hawaii. The North African bills are being passed around in Washington by numbers of ferry pilots and soldiers returning for various reasons.

Mr. John Zug exhibited a large number of Columbian Exposition medals and souvenir pieces, and a full set of the Exposition tickets.

Capt. Joseph Moss offered interesting comment on the subject of inflation, quoting a statement from the United Nations Review to the effect that Germany earned one billion dollars by the "trick of inflation" after the last war.

President Leachman announced that Mr. Weikert will present a coin exhibit and give a talk at the Children's Museum of Washington at a meeting in the fall.

—N. KEY HART, Secretary.

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB

—The regular monthly meeting of the Club was held July 21 in the Williams Room of the Central Y. M. C. A., with President Morris presiding. The meeting was called to order at 8 P. M. with 16 members present.

A letter from the Editor of The Numismatist was read. It explained just why the minutes of the June meeting were not acceptable for publication: so much of the contents were of interest to this Club's membership alone.

Member Glimes showed a collection of half dollars complete from 1892 and with quite a few of earlier dates. He spoke on the collection and gave quite a few interesting stories as to how he came into possession of the different specimens.

Member Johnson showed a collection of South and Central American coins of the silver dollar size. He gave a short talk on each.

Member Cessna read letters he had received of his appointment as a member of the "Committee on Papers" of the A. N. A. Due to the war the A. N. A. will not have its regular meeting and any papers formerly read at the meeting would not be read and approved by the "Committee on Papers" and then published in The Numismatist. This appointment is an honor both to Mr. Cessna and also to the Western Maryland Coin Club.

A rather interesting quiz was tried out where as several members were given envelopes containing a coin each, they were to give an extemporaneous talk on the coin. The members did very well in all cases, and after they had finished other members added bits of information of their knowledge. This quiz was both interesting and instructive to the membership.

—F. B. FABLE, Secretary.

WESTERN PENNA. NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society met in Webster Hall Hotel on Tuesday evening, August 3rd; President Coatsworth in the chair. Fourteen members and one visitor were present.

As this meeting was to be a social meeting, no paper was scheduled. The exhibits, however, were briefly described by their owners and were as follows:

Mr. Coatsworth: U. S. early overdated half dollars and other U. S. coins.

Mr. Porter: Collection of 1896 Bryan Campaign money; 1896 Pattern Five cent piece in aluminum.

Mr. Woodside: Ten coins of Oliver Cromwell in gold, silver and copper; 16 Scottish coins—Alexander III to William II—in gold and silver.

Dr. Hepting: Russia—3 roubles, proof, 6 roubles, 12 roubles in platinum; $20 gold St. Gaudens type, 1907, Roman numerals.

Dr. Gillis: Gutenberg medal.

Mr. Reynolds: $1 bill invasion (U. S.) currency used in Africa.

Mr. Kiefer: A number of early uncirculated and proof 10 cent pieces.

Mr. Hunt: American Colonial coins and tokens.

—RALPH J. BUTERBAUGH, Secretary.

HERE IS A JOB FOR THE ELECTRIC EYE

To the Editor:

As can be seen from the table below, the number of scarce date cents in circulation is rapidly declining. There are now not enough desirable Lincoln cents in circulation to justify spending time looking for them—a condition that did not exist until the past year or two. This is attributed both to the fact that scarce dates are constantly being pulled out to complete coin boards, and the tremendous preponderance of recently minted cents in circulation.

| Date        | 1937       | 1943        |
|-------------|------------|-------------|
| 1909 VDB    | 1 in 2,500 | 1 in 2,500  |
| 1909 S      | 1 in 5,000 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1909 S-VDB  | none       | none        |
| 1910 S      | 1 in 2,000 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1911 S      | 1 in 5,000 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1912 S      | 1 in 2,500 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1913 S      | 1 in 1,000 | 1 in 6,000  |
| 1914 D      | 1 in 2,000 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1914 S      | 1 in 5,000 | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1921 S      | 1 in 350   | 1 in 1,300  |
| 1922 (no D) | none       | 1 in 10,000 |
| 1922 D      | 1 in 140   | 1 in 1,300  |
| 1923 S      | 1 in 1,000 | 1 in 2,500  |
| 1924 D      | 1 in 800   | 1 in 20,000 |
| 1924 S      | 1 in 500   | 1 in 1,200  |
| 1926 S      | 1 in 5,000 | 1 in 6,000  |
| 1931 D      | 1 in 750   | 1 in 1,800  |
| 1931 S      | none       | 1 in 20,000 |

The fact that a few 1922 (no D) cents and a 1931-S were found this year and none six years ago, is probably due to the fact that this year's search included a larger number of cents, 20,000; last time about 15,000.

At any rate, the amount of money paid the "assistant" for looking through the 20,000 cents hardly justified the value of coins found, many of them not being in very good condition, so if anyone else has an idea of going through the local bank's supply of cents just forget it—and buy a few scarce dates instead.

Another Word About "Claims" for Paying Highest (?) Prices:

A Recent Purchase:

My dear Mr. Mehl:—

I wish to thank you for the remittance which I received for the Collection of Fractional Currency recently sent you. It was above my expectations.

I shipped you yesterday my collection of Gold, Silver and Copper coins. I have not had the time to estimate its value. Just send me your check for its value. You need not write me first.

Sincerely,

Daniel S. Perry

Incidentally, the above collection of Fractional Currency is the most complete I have ever owned. The Specimen or "Pattern Notes" is the most remarkable I have ever seen—

AND

Have just secured a Collection of U. S. and Pioneer Gold Coins, one of the largest and most valuable of the Mid-west, including no less than thirty-seven $50.00 gold pieces and other Pioneer gold, including the Wass Molitor & Co. $20.00 gold pieces, small and large head varieties. Of the large head only 3 are known and its auction record is $7,000.00. A complete set of $4.00 Gold Pieces—the finest complete set of Gold Dollars I have ever seen. Rare Half-Eagles. Complete set of Early $10.00 Gold 1795 to 1804, including both varieties of the 1798. Rare Early Half-Eagles before 1835, etc., etc.

So you see, whenever and wherever I am given an opportunity to negotiate for a Collection, I usually get the Collection—because my "claims" for paying highest market prices are backed by proven success—ample financial responsibility, and an unassailable record of more than fifty years of fair dealing.

Compare my past records and present standing. See my rating in Dun & Bradstreet.

Don't be influenced by "Claims"—Get the facts.

Wait for my next Sale Quality Catalog! It will be a hum-dinger!

DELUXE COIN CABINETS

Nearly all coin cabinets are now off the market for the duration, as government priorities prohibit the manufacture, due to the hardware, and other materials needed for defense. Fortunately, we have been able to obtain a contract to purchase a LIMITED NUMBER of cabinets, as specifications below, just what every collector is looking for, and unable to locate. Most cabinets that hold 1,000 coins or more usually sell for $20 or upward, and these are priced at practically pre-war prices. If you are in need of a nice cabinet, you will not delay your order, for these will sell very quickly.

THE "NEW" 1943
MEXICAN CENTENARIO
THE ONLY GOLD COIN MINTED BY ANY COUNTRY
THIS YEAR

The same weight and fineness as the old 50 peso coin but instead of the value it has "37.5 Gramos oro puro". These coins are not intended for circulation but to give the people of Mexico something of value to lay away.

Our coins came to us direct from the Mint. But we do not send out the MINT RUN but select only perfect coins for our customers.

In answer to a question raised:

TRANSPORTATION TOKENS "TALK" TOO!

By A. C. ZAKOR, Los Angeles

A paper read before the California Coin Club on July 6, 1943.

The common and mercenary expression "money talks" can be applied to Transportation tokens, because they too have plenty to tell. Numismatists are people who have stopped and listened to money "talk," and have learned its language well enough to give us many pertinent facts of history. Likewise, if numismatists will listen when Transportation tokens "talk," they will learn many more facts about the pioneers who struggled to make man's pathway a little less thorny, and easier to travel. Most all large cities have some rare old Transportation token that is ready and willing to tell its story of how it helped to build a great city from a small hamlet. A few timely stories have already appeared in THE NUMISMATIST on the subject of Transportation tokens (see 50 year Index), which should be reviewed by collectors who are interested in this subject.

This paper will attempt an abridged story of one Transportation token that is unique, in that it was the first token ever to be issued for fare on a street-car (horse-car). This token gave its possessor one ride on the first city street railway in the world, the New York & Harlem Railroad, and was illustrated in the August 1917 issue of THE NUMISMATIST, Vol. XXX, bottom of page 325. It is therefore symbolic of the horse car era, 1832 to 1890, the most colorful period in our history, "when men were men." It tells the story of a long battle in which the horse car had attempted to prove its superiority over the omnibus and eventually replace it. Financial panics, business depressions, and the Civil War were all instrumental in retarding any rapid growth of the new city horse car railways. Considerable capital was necessary to organize and start a new street railway, while nearly anyone could start an omnibus line.

First, let us go back to the year 1825 and look at the background of the token in question. The little Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam had grown to nearly two hundred thousand inhabitants, and was now known as New York City; but it had no paid police or fire departments, and no gas lights or running water. The working man still had to walk to work unless he was rich enough to own or hire a carriage. New York City was having severe growing pains! A man named Abraham Brower noticed this and decided something should be done about it. As a result he introduced the first vehicle in America to be used as a local carrier of mass transportation, placing it into service on Broadway in 1827. It was named the "Accomodation" and was a modification of the stage coach, having seats for twelve people, at a fare of one shilling per person.

Credit for inventing the first omnibus type of vehicle for mass transportation should go to Blaise Pascal, philosopher and mathematician, who was granted a patent by Louis XIV of France in 1662. It soon became very popular in Paris. One and one-half centuries later an Englishman named George Shillibeer introduced an improvement over the "diligences" of Paris that became known as the "l'omnibus." In the Spring of 1831 Abraham Brower borrowed Shillibeer's idea and introduced an "omnibus" of his own in New York City. By 1835 there were over a hundred of these so called "Broadway beauties" in regular service, and they soon set the standard for such vehicles for many years to come, for they made the tremendous speed of nine miles per hour.

At the time Brower introduced his omnibus in New York, John Mason, a wealthy merchant, and president of the Chemical Bank, had a remarkable new idea for an "omnibus on rails." Assisted by others, he raised sufficient capital to organize the "New York and Harlem Railroad Company," and was granted letters of incorporation April 25, 1831. The result of this action drove the first nail in the coffin of the omnibus. This was a remarkable idea, that of coaches mounted on iron wheels drawn by horses over iron rails laid in the center of the street. The vehicle was similar in design to the stage coach, though a little larger, and seating thirty passengers. There were three separate compartments, each having an entrance door of its own. The coaches were upholstered in fine cloth inside, while the outside was elaborately decorated with gorgeous ornamental paintings. In fact they were so gorgeous the manufacturer had the design patented, the grant being signed by President Andrew Jackson.

A distinction should be made in that the first passenger railway coach to travel on rails was in England in 1825, but this was not a city street railway. It was used for intercity travel only and was drawn by horses until 1830, when the locomotive was used as the motive power. Similar events transpired in the United States about this same time.

Soon the familiar refrain "Fares, please" began to ring out with monotonous regularity. Top hatted gentlemen and satin clad ladies of New York's "400" crowded the sidewalks of the Bowery on a frosty morning in November, 1832, to watch Mayor Walter Bowne and the City Council help John Mason inaugurate his pioneer street car service on upper Fourth avenue. Amid the shouts of the eager spectators the horses trotted off in handsome style, pulling the two cars at the breath-taking speed of twelve miles per hour. The first car was filled with city officials, and closely following was the second car filled with company officials. After a ride and a demonstration of the new safety brakes, the Mayor said: "This event will go down in the history of our Country as the greatest achievement of man." Everyone predicted that the completion of the railway would make Harlem a suburb of New York.

By 1834 the railway had grown from one mile in length to four miles, with the cars operating on a fifteen-minute headway. At first the fare for one ride was twelve and one-half cents. Later, tokens or metallic "tickets," as they were called, were issued to passengers, entitling the holder to one ride from New York City proper to Harlem. Bale & Smith, the well known firm of engravers, struck the first of these tokens on an octagonal planchet, 18 mm. in diameter, in both lead and copper, about 1837. At this time Dr. Feuchtwanger was attempting to interest the U. S. Mint in the use of his new metal alloy for coinage purposes. Three years later Bale & Smith struck more of these tokens in Feuchtwanger metal or German silver, as it was later called.

The German silver issue was struck on a thin octagonal planchet, also 18 mm. in diameter. Obverse inscription: THE N-YORK/& HAR- LAEM/RAILROAD/COMPANY. The reverse is a fair example of the die sinker's art, showing the first "omnibus on rails" in good detail, with the initials of Bale & Smith: B & S N.Y. There are three varieties in German silver; the first is without any countermark, the second shows a countermark on the obverse similar to a rosette, while the third shows an incuse representation of a dog, the latter being classed as the rarest of the three. The reason for these countermarks is not definitely known.

While the New York & Harlem token was not mentioned in M. Auguste Moyaux's work on railroad medals and tokens, it has been listed or illustrated in various works on New York Store Cards since about 1910. Among the first of these was a list compiled by Mr. F. C. C. Boyd about thirty years ago and published by the New York Numismatic Club, which listed the token as No. 214. The "Coin & Medal Bulletin" of May 1916 also listed it, followed by THE NUMISMATIST of August, 1917. Then Edgar H. Adams included the five varieties, numbers 619 to 623 inclusive, in his list of New York Store Cards, in 1926. Recently Wayte Raymond published an illustrated list, giving it No. 63.

Recently the New York & Harlem token has appeared in mint condition, struck on a thick silver planchet, which may warrant these being classed as restrikes. The token has also been seen on what appears to be a counterstruck Liberty seated dime; the original die being of the same diameter makes this feasible.

John Mason had originally planned to build a steam road to connect with the proposed Albany & New York Railroad that was coming down from Albany to the Harlem River. He expected to run it from Harlem through a sparsely settled section of New York to the center of the city. Then the plans were changed to extend the line, to furnish local transportation similar to the omnibus and use horses, and finally it was decided to use both forms of motive power. The trains were hauled by locomotive from the Harlem River to twenty-sixth street, where the engines were detached and replaced by horses, which hauled the passengers the remainder of the distance to the City Hall.

In 1850 the horse-car lines experienced a brief spurt in life when new lines were laid on Third, Sixth, and Eighth avenues. Most of the lines eventually issued fare tokens, as did several omnibus lines, but space will not permit going into their stories at this time. A number of these tokens were illustrated in the August 1917 issue of THE NUMISMATIST.

By 1855 there were 593 omnibuses operating over twenty-seven routes throughout the city, most of them being individually owned and operated. Although it was conceded by some few that steel wheels rolling over steel rails were an improvement over wooden wheels rolling over cobblestones, the omnibus continued to increase in numbers but not in popularity. The battle between the horse car and the omnibus continued unabated for over a generation, but it was inevitable the horse car should win out. Many property owners favored the street railway, but several big merchants on Broadway favored the omnibus, and the battle was carried to the State Legislature where the horse car lost the first round.

Discourteous, arrogant, and irresponsible omnibus drivers were dashing recklessly through the crowded streets. Eventually this caused public opinion to swing over and strongly favor the street railway, as shown by an item that appeared in the New York Herald of October 2, 1864, which reads as follows:

Modern martyrdom may be succinctly defined as riding a New York omnibus. The discomforts, inconveniences, and annoyances of a trip on one of these vehicles are almost intolerable. From the beginning to the end of the journey a constant quarrel is progressing. The driver quarrels with the passengers, and the passengers quarrel with the driver. There are quarrels about getting out, and quarrels about getting in. There are quarrels about change and quarrels about the ticket swindle. The driver swears at the passengers and the passengers harangue the driver through the strap hole—a position in which even Demosthenes could not be eloquent. Respectable clergymen in white chokers are obliged to listen to loud oaths. Ladies are disgusted, frightened, and insulted. Children are alarmed and lift up their voices and weep. Indignant gentlemen rise to remonstrate with the irate Jehu and are suddenly bumped back into their seats, twice as indignant as before, besides being involved in supplementary quarrels with those other passengers upon whose corns they have accidentally trodden. Thus the omnibus rolls along, a perfect Bedlam on wheels.

Twenty years later, the general public had become thoroughly disgusted with the omnibus, and the franchise was finally granted for a street railway on Broadway. After a battle of fifty-two years the horse car had won. Said the New York Tribune of 1884:

In a few weeks the Broadway 'Bus will be but a memory. —it will have faded into the limbo of the past and have become a subject for the folk-lore of the future. Yet this imminent change need not evoke gloomy thoughts. The Broadway 'Bus, to say sooth, can well be spared. In fact it could have been spared some time ago; and there are those who go so far as to maintain that its room would have been better than its company at any moment since its first introduction. For it must be acknowledged that the Broadway 'Bus is not a Thing of Beauty. It combines more ugliness and discomfort than were ever crowded together in one vehicle. During all the years it has lumbered and rumbled down Broadway it has elicited the liveliest expressions of amazement from strangers within our gates—amazement, for most part, that so progressive and inventive a people should tolerate a mode of conveyance as far behind the age as an old mail coach is behind a Pullman drawing-room car. . . . The Broadway 'Bus may be said to have typified the awkward period of the Republic's adolescence when it was thought necessary to advertise our democracy in all ways, and when somehow the admission of any concession to public convenience was thought to savor of bloated aristocracy.

Pioneered by the New York & Harlem Railroad, the omnibus had been lifted off the cobblestone pavement and placed on steel rails. The picturesque horse car furnished the inspiration for Isaac H. Bromley to write his well known verse (published in the New York Tribune about 1874):

The conductor when he receives a fare,
Will punch in the presence of the passinjure.
A blue trip slip for an 8-cent fare,
A buff trip slip for a 6-cent fare,
A pink trip slip for a 3-cent fare,
All in the presence of the passinjure.
Punch brother, punch, punch with care,
Punch in the presence of the passinjure.*

Tokens are known to have been issued for transportation purposes in England since 1731, but the one issued by the New York & Harlem Railroad bears the distinction of being the first to be used on any local street railway line that served the general public. A possible exception could exist, such as in Rome two thousand years ago where most of the private vehicles were banned from the congested streets to allow public carriers the freedom of the main thoroughfares. Of this, little is known today, but sometime someone may dig up something that will tell us a story of how their super-vehicle did their part in making it easier for man to travel to and fro upon the face of the earth. Nahum, the Elkoshite, had predicted in the eighth century B. C., that "the chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against the other in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightnings." Nahum had noted the slow evolution of the crude chariot that traveled the roads radiating from Babylon in the year 1500 B. C. and had foreseen big improvements for the future. Ironically enough, the chariot was used only as an instrument of war for centuries, until women placed soft cushions in them and used them for transportation.

* John Anderson Miller, in his "Fares, Please" (1943), attributes this verse to Noah Brooks. It has also been erroneously credited to Mark Twain because of his article many years ago in The Atlantic Monthly, in which he described the sufferings inflicted upon him by this jingle, which was based upon an actual sign seen by Bromley in one of these early street cars.—Ed.

DIE BREAKS ON THE JEFFERSON 5 CENT PIECE

Member John C. Schoy of Stockton, California, calls attention to certain die breaks on the reverse of the 1942 Jefferson "nickel," and sends in four specimens, which are to be given our Curator, who will no doubt acknowledge them direct.

No. 1. The break starts at the upper rim, cuts through the dome, between the pillars and down to lower rim.

No. 2. From upper rim through mm S, extending on down to opposite rim.

No. 3. From upper rim, through mm S, across dome, extending as far as "cents."

No. 4. Similar to No. 3, but extending through "States" to lower rim.

These die breaks are almost microscopic, but may show more plainly on other specimens which could have been struck later in the year.

THE MARIA THERESA (OR LEVANTINE) THALER

By J. HUNT DEACON, Adelaide, South Australia

(The author is District Secretary of the A. N. A. for Australia; Government Numismatist in the Department of Coins and Medals, National Gallery, Adelaide; Founder and Past President of the Association of Australian Numismatists; Founder, Past President and Honorary Life Member of the Numismatic Society of South Australia, etc.)

How many numismatists have realised that, despite all we know concerning this Trade dollar, there are many questions regarding it still to be answered?

Let us then view it with the searching eyes of an enthusiastic numismatist. Let us see what it tells us; what it does not tell us, but which we already know; and, still more important, that which is not shown and which we have still to find out. This paper is an attempt to collect that which is known; and to solicit information regarding that which we do not know. Throughout the paper certain questions will be asked, and these, irrespective of whether any theory has been advanced or not, will be followed by a number in brackets. There will be several of them.

PART I—A NUMISMATOGRAPH (a detailed and informative description of the specimen).

In this Part we shall deal with what the coin shows us. Before describing the coin, however, we have to recognize that there are at least two varieties—probably several more. In order to compare these two, I will designate them A and B: the chief differences are then:

Obverse

1. Diameter in millimetres: A, 41.4; B, 41.5
2. Overall bust in millimetres: A, 36.4; B, 37.4
3. Brooch: A, Oval; B, Circular.
4. Height of letters S. F.: A, 2.0; B, 2.8

Reverse

5. Rings around eagle's haloes: A, 1; B, 2
6. Pellets in ribbon between crowns: A, 2, 3, 3, 3, 3, 1; B, 2, 4, 5, 5, 4, ?
7. Figure 7 in date: A, straight tail; B, curved tail.
8. Figure 8 in date: A, thick horizontal; B, thick vertical.
9. Terminal saltire, ragged: A, slightly; B, very.
10. Terminal saltire, angle of: A, acute; B, obtuse.
11. Terminal saltire, dot after: A, No; B, Yes.
12. Positions of legends in relation to the types differ considerably.

Is there another variety besides these [1]? In the Num. Cir. (1912, Col. 13818, No. 103504) one of these pieces is described, and the words "but with S. F. under the bust," implying that the specimen described immediately before it had no such letters. If this means a new variety, with which of the above (A or B) does it agree?

Taking the common variety, the obverse might be described as follows: Commencing at the top right hand 'corner,' M - THERESA - D - G -

MARIA THERESA THALER-1780
(Courtesy New Netherlands Coin Co.)

This piece is illustrated only as a general type of the subject of this paper, and while it conforms in most points to one of the varieties described by Mr. Deacon, there are a few minor differences. Under the circumstances, however, these are unimportant.

R - IMP - HU - REG - This legend is divided between the G and the R by the bottom of the bust; and between the beginning and ending of the legend, by the top of the head. The stops between the words and abbreviations are centered, and these, it is to be noted, are markings of division, not of abbreviation, hence a stop after the word THERESA. It is advisable here to pause in our description to regard the obverse and reverse legends as a whole, for the titles are continued on the reverse side of the coin. Therefore we have MARIA THERESA DEI GRATIA ROMANORUM IMPERATRIX HUNGARIAE BOHEMIAE REGINA ARCHIDUX AUSTRIA DUX BURGUNDIAE COMES TYROLIS; or, Maria Theresa, by the Grace of God, Roman Empress (i. e. Empress of the Holy Roman Empire), Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, Archduchess of Austria, Duchess of Burgundy, and Countess of Tyrol.

Now to continue the obverse description: In center, a filleted and veiled (the widow's veil) bust of Maria Theresa to right; the fillet bears eight pearls; the bodice, which is cut low, is fastened on the shoulder by a clasp of nine pearls. Below the bust, the letter S - F - , the stops being centered. The whole is within a slightly serrated and raised rim. Now, let us analyze it.

M. THERESA. Maria Theresa is really too well known a personage in European history to warrant much in the way of biographical details; these can be obtained quite easily at any good reference library. However, some facts must be mentioned, to establish a ground upon which discussion is to follow. Maria Theresa Walburga Amelia Christina were the names under which she was baptised on the evening of her birth, May 13th, 1717; but during her girlhood she was known as the Archduchess Theresa. She was the eldest daughter of Emperor Charles VI (last of the Austrian Hapburgs) and his wife, Elizabeth Christina (daughter of Ludwig Rudolf of Brunswick-Wolfenbuttel and Christine Louise, daughter of Ernest, Duke of Oettingen). She married her second cousin (incidentally also her ninth cousin once removed) Francis (Stephen), III of Lorraine (1729-1735) and I of Tuscany (1735-1745), at the church of the Augustine friars in Vienna on February 12th, 1736. Francis was elected King of the Romans on September 13th, 1745, this being preliminary to his installation as Emperor. He had been chosen by all the Electors, excepting those of Brandenburg and the Palatinate, who abstained from voting. He was crowned on October 4th (St. Francis's Day), 1745, at Frankfurt, and in reference to this ceremony it must be recorded that Maria Theresa refused to be crowned there on the plea that it was her desire to "efface herself and secure for her consort a position of undivided eminence." Francis I died at Innsbruck on August 18th, 1765, and was succeeded by his son Joseph II, who reigned until 1790—just ten years after the death of his mother. Maria Theresa had sixteen children, five sons and eleven daughters. Of the sixteen the first, third and tenth died in infancy; the seventh, eleventh and twelfth died at an early age; the second, sixth and sixteenth died unmarried—the sixteenth being MAXIMILIAN, Archbishop of Cologne (1745-1801), Bishop of Munster, Grand Master of the Teutonic Order etc. The others were the fourth, Emperor Joseph II (1765-1790) (the first of the House of Hapsburg-Lorraine); the ninth, the Emperor, Leopold II (1790-1818); the fourteenth, Ferdinand, who married the heiress of, and secured the estates of, Modena; the fifth, Marie Christine, who married Prince Albert of Saxe-Teschen; the eighth, Maria Amelia, who married Ferdinand, Duke of Parma; the thirteenth, Marie Caroline, who married Ferdinand I(IV) of Naples or Two Sicilies; and the fifteenth, the unfortunate Marie Antoinette, who married the equally unfortunate Louis XVI of France.

Ordinary history books declare that Maria Theresa was proclaimed at Vienna on her father's death (Oct. 20th, 1740) with the titles he held, but according to Sir Thomas Robinson "a demise and an accession in these countries are attended with no very pompous circumstances. There are no proclamations, no military salutations or military oaths." Her succession to the Austrian estates was based upon the Pragmatic Sanction of April 19th, 1713, which settled the succession upon her in the absence of heirs-male of Charles VI. It must be noted that until the election of her husband as Emperor, Maria Theresa was known by her then highest title of Queen (King) of Hungary. The death of Charles VI was taken fullest advantage of by the enemies of the House of Hapsburg. Charles of Bavaria (the "Bold Bavarian") was elected Emperor in preference to the husband of Maria Theresa on Jan. 24th, 1742, and under the title of Charles VII was crowned at Frankfurt-on-Main on Feb. 12th. He died on January 20th, 1745. During such time as the Imperial office was vacant, the Elector of Saxony, as Archmarshal of the Empire, governed as Vicar.

Maria Theresa died at Vienna on November 29th, 1780, in her 64th year. She was buried with her husband in the Imperial vault at the Church of the Capuchins, Vienna. She has been described as "very beautiful, her person formed to wear a crown, with a winning and animated face, a noble figure, and fascinating manners." She was most accomplished; she sang, played and danced, and could converse fluently in Latin, French, Spanish, Italian and German. "By nature she was very high-spirited, even proud, never willing to abate a jot from her claims. She was most sincerely desirous of the good of her people, which, however, must be compassed in her way, for she was despotic as well as benevolent. Her will was strong, her understanding vigorous. Generous, chivalrous, earnest, she had religious principle as the mainspring of her life, but it was often times a religious principle hardly to be distinguished from bigotry."

D. G. This is the accepted abbreviation of DEI GRATIA and needs little comment, so expressive is it of the Divine Right of Kings, although its appearance on present day English coins has little to do with its original significance. Its earliest use appears to have been by Charles the Bold (843-877), for a denier of Angers. When he came to strike money, this monarch borrowed one of the best known types of his grandfather, Charlemagne, and to differentiate the coins, substituted GRATIA D-I REX for REX.

R. IMP. This is the abbreviated form for Empress of the Romans (i.e., Empress of the Holy Roman Empire). Actually it is incorrect, for she was not chosen as such by the Electors in accordance with the Golden Bull of Charles IV (1356). She enjoyed the title solely; first as the wife of Francis I; and secondly as the Empress-Mother.

HU and BO with the Queenly abbreviation of REG. It is recorded that she was proclaimed both in Hungary and Bohemia on the day of her father's death. Regarding Hungary: she was crowned in the Gothic Cathedral of St. Martin, Pozsony (Pressburg) on June 25th, 1741, and was greeted after the ceremony in the same manner as at her proclamation in Hungary, with cries of "Long live our Lady the King" (not Queen). Her coronation as Queen of Bohemia took place at Prague (presumably in the Cathedral of St. Vitus) on May 12th, 1743. It will be noticed that the U in the abbreviation HU is a U and not a V; reference will be made to this later.

PORTRAIT. It is not commonly known who designed the coin, for in most references this information is absent; the subject will be treated in Part II. With the knowledge of her character it will be seen that the artist has faithfully indicated it in her portrait. Mention was made of the number of pearls in the fillet and clasp, on account of some information by Clements Markham in his "History of the Abyssinian Expedition of 1868," to the effect that the natives there would accept no money other than the Maria Theresa Thalers, and then they would religiously count the number of pearls in the two items of dress before finally accepting them.

S. F. I have already raised the question as to whether there are specimens without these initials. They present one of the stumbling-blocks. There can be no doubt that these letters refer to SCHOBEL and FABI (or is it FABY?[2]), Mintmaster and Mintwarden respectively of the Günzberg Mint. Regarding Tobias Johann Schöbel, we learn from Forrer that he was an Austrian and served at Günzberg from 1762-1789. However, there are some points to clear up regarding Fabi. Joseph Fabi, we are told in one reference by Forrer, was an Austrian who succeeded Clotz as Mintwarden in 1773, but the date of termination of this office is not given; but Forrer also gives a JOSEF Faby, a Bohemian and Mintmaster of the Prague Mint from 1800-1810. I think it is highly probable that these two are the one and the same person. We are also told by Forrer that Fabi was joint Mintmaster at Vienna in 1780 when the Maria Theresa Thalers were struck, but surely this must be incorrect. We must remember that it is questionable whether the Thalers were issued at the Vienna Mint in 1780; that Fabi could hardly have been joint Mintmaster at Vienna and Mintwarden at Günzberg at the same time; that it is highly unlikely that such a position as Mintmaster of the Vienna Mint would have been held jointly; that even if he had succeeded Cronberg as Mintmaster at Vienna in 1780, his appointment to the mint of Prague in 1800 would have been a reduction in status; and finally, if the first issues at Günzberg were of the year 1783, his initial would not have appeared on them if he was at Vienna.

Now, where was Günzberg? In several old German catalogues the Maria Theresa Thaler is referred to as the Günzberger Thaler, which supports a theory that they were not Imperial issues. Günzberg, the Roman GUNTIA, is situated at the mouth of the River Günz where it joins the Donau (Danube). It was the administrative center of the Austrian possessions in Swabia, and the seat of a mint where coins were struck for Burgau in 1766, and for parts of the Austrian Netherlands in 1790. The mint mark of Günzberg was the letter H. Why was the issue of this coin first effected at Günzberg [3]? Was it because its issue was expressly for Varder-Oesterreich? If so, if the coin was primarily intended as a Trade Dollar, why should it have been issued here in preference to Vienna? It was not because it was nearer or within easier reach of Trieste, the chief exporting port of Austria at the time. Whether intended primarily as a Trade dollar or not, the piece appears to be of the commemorative or memorial class; and no doubt issued for some personal possession of Maria Theresa. We do not know when the minting of the piece at Günzberg ceased [4]; perhaps up to the time that Burgau and the surrounding country was lost to Bavaria.

The Reverse Considered

Now let us review the reverse, which is even more interesting to the research worker than the obverse. The description can be made out as follows: Commencing at the top right hand "corner," ARCHIDUX - AVST - DUX - BURG - CO - TYR - 1780 - x. The legend is divided between the X and B by the tail of the eagle, and between the beginning and ending of the legend, by the crown. In center, a double-headed eagle, above which an Imperial crown, and having what appears to be haloes around (or in) their beaks, wings outstretched and bearing on its breast a shield of arms, surmounted by two crowns. The shield can thus be described: 1. Quarterly, per pale, (1) Barry of eight, argent and gules, for ancient Hungary; and (2) gules, on a mount in base vert, an open crown or, issuant therefrom a patriarchial cross argent, for modern Hungary. 2. Gules, a lion rampant argent, double queue, for Bohemia. 3. Bendy of six or and azure, a bordure gules, for ancient Burgundy; 4. Argent, three bends sinister gules, over all a pale or for Burgau; superimposed over all on a crowned escutcheon of pretence, gules, a fess argent, for Austria. The two crowns surmounting the shield are over the arms of Hungary and Bohemia, respectively. The whole within a slightly serrated and raised rim. Now, in detail.

ARCHID AVST. This is the abbreviated title of Archduchess of Austria. The title of Archduke was granted by Emperor Ferdinand III to his son, Maximilian and his heirs in 1453; but the title of Archduke-Palatine had been assumed by Rudolph IV of Austria as early as 1365, but it was not recognized by Emperor Charles IV, and Rudolph was compelled to cease using it. Note the U in AVST is a V. Maria Theresa succeeded her father to the Austrian estates, and on November 22nd, 1740, received the homage of the nobles of Upper and Lower Austria.

DUX BURG. Here we get the title Duchess of Burgundy. Bryce, in his "Holy Roman Empire," gives an Appendix (A) on the Burgundies. He describes ten different counties, duchies or kingdoms of this name, and the one referred to by the legend, and by the arms, is that which he gives as the 10th. He states, "The Duchy of Burgundy (Lower Burgundy, Bourgoyne), the most northerly part of the old Kingdom of the Burgundians, was always a fief of the crown of France, and a province of France till the Revolution. It was of this Duchy that Philip the Good and Charles the Bold were Dukes. The possession of Burgundy came to Austria through the marriage of Maximilian I with Mary, the daughter and heiress of Charles the Bold, on August 18th, 1477."

There are several comments regarding DUX BURG. As there is no feminine in Latin for the word DUX the masculine is used, despite the fact that some German books translate DUX and ARCHID as Duchissa and Archduchissa, which might be a mediaeval form. We know that Maria Theresa was hailed in Hungary as King; and it is quite likely that she was regarded in Burgundy as the Duke, and in Tyrol as the Count. Why is it that whereas the U in AVST is rendered as a V, the U form is used in HU, DUX, BURG, and in IUSTITIA in the edge reading [5]? Was it carelessness? DUX is followed by a centred pellet, which, like that following THERESA, is a dividing mark.

CO TYR. This denotes Countess of Tyrol. The ending of the inscriptions with this might suggest to some the place of issue; but the absence of the arms of Tyrol must be considered. To explain the acquisition of Tyrol by Austria, one cannot do better than to quote Coxe ("House of Austria"), with some additions in parentheses.

"The marriage (1342) of Margaret Maultasch, heiress of the Tyrol (daughter of Henry II Count, widow of John Henry of Luxemburg, Margrave of Moravia), with Louis of Bavaria (Margrave of Brandenburg, son of Louis IV, Emperor, Duke of Bavaria and Beatrix of Glogau) having never been confirmed by the Pope (possibly Innocent IV), was branded as illegitimate, and her connection with her husband stigmatised as licentious. Rhudolph (IV, of Austria, born 1339, succeeded 1539, died 1394), however, succeeded in gaining the approbation of the pontiff, obtained the legitimation of Meinhard and bestowed upon him the hand of his sister Margaret.

"In gratitude for these favors, Margaret Maultasch gave the reversion of the Tyrol to the Dukes of Austria, should her husband and son die without issue. Her husband dying in 1361, and her son in 1363. Rhudolph was apprehensive lest the Bavarian princes should obtain possession of the Tyrol, in virtue of the marriage contract of Margaret with Louis, which secured the reversion of that province to the House of Lower Bavaria, in failure of her issue. He therefore crossed the Alps in the depth of winter, with great difficulty and danger, and prevailed upon Margaret Maultasch to ratify her former grant; but, knowing her capricious and unstable temper, he succeeded in obtaining the immediate session of the Tyrol, and by expatiating on the beauties of his capital and the splendour of his court, persuaded Margaret to accompany him and his sister, the widow of Meinhard, to Vienna. His next move was to obtain the approbation of the Emperor (Charles IV, of Luxemburg).

"This, however, was no easy task, for, notwithstanding the tie of his marriage with the daughter of Charles, the natural jealousies of the houses of Austria and Luxemburg had occasioned frequent contests, and at this juncture Rhudolph and his three brothers (Frederic, Albert and Leopold) were united with the kings of Hungary and Poland, against the Emperor, as King of Bohemia. Fortunately Catherine mediated a reconciliation between her husband and father, and in 1634 a meeting took place at Brunn between Charles and the Austrian princess. Charles confirmed the donation of Margaret, invested Rhudolph with the Tyrol, and even entered into a family compact for the reciprocal reversion of their respective territories in failure of male issue."

TWENTIETH CENTURY MEXICO

By ROBERT C. CAHALL, Hammond, Indiana

This article prepared in connection with an exhibit of Twentieth Century Mexican coins at the American Numismatic Association meeting held at the LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, September 11, 1943.

Twentieth Century Mexico? Yes, but not without the strings which tie it to the ancient past. The numismatic arts of this present great nation are in most cases merely the embellished symbols and designs of its founders. These coins while of recent mintage and a variety of alloys not known to exist when the first law for coinage of Mexican specie was passed on May 11, 1535 are living mementos of a glorious past.

As a historical note, the first conventionally shaped Mexican coins were pieces of two, three and four reales, struck at the Mexico City Mint by Sr. Alonso del Ricon, Assayer. They were mostly of silver as the copper was of poor quality and brittle, and could not withstand the blows of the coining hammer. Probably the reason for this poor grade of copper is that it was mined and refined by the Indians of Mechoacan, using the most primitive methods, and then sent to the Mint for transformation into coins.

Let us then consider the Twentieth Century coins struck by Mexico, and examine them closely to ascertain if they truly belong to the present. How odd, that we find in the glitter of their polish, and revealed in their remarkable die work, the lore and tradition of the Aztecs, who, historians tell us, were the fathers of the Mexican nation. Both the obverse and reverse of many of the present day coins are inscribed with the symbols of this ancient civilization.

On the face of the coins is to be found the coat of arms of the nation. This emblem dates back to the year 1325, when 109 years before, in the year 1216, the Aztecs, having been conquered by the Colhuas, were reduced to slavery; and their existence as a nation seemed compromised for all times. For their astuteness and valor shown while fighting for their masters during one of the innumerable bloody conflicts of the time, they were given their freedom. Happy over the recovery of their liberty, they began their peregrinations, finally settling near lakes Tezococo, Xochimilco, Chalco, and Xaltocan. On their arrival at the lakes they saw, growing on a rock in the center of the lake, a cactus; and on the cactus an eagle perched, holding in his beak a snake. It was here that they formed a city, which they first named Tenochtitlan, meaning "Stone and Cactus." At a later date, the Aztecs took the name of Mexicatls, from which the name of Mexico was derived. It was taken from a Toltec word, meaning "Situated near water."

The other of the two chief designs found on Twentieth Century coins is the replica, in various degrees of exactness, of the Aztec calendar.

The Aztec calendar is a gigantic block of carved stone. It bears the same significance to the historical development of the Americas as that baked clay tablet, which enabled archaeologists to translate the Cuneiform writing which opened to present day civilization the dark past of the Egyptians. This Aztec calendar has proved to be as accurate a means of computing time as any present day method. It is actually presumed to have been conceived by the Mayan race, but one of the early Aztec kings, "Quetzacoatl," borrowed it from them while migrating through Yucatan. The calendar is based on a Lunar year and is on the same principle as both the early Egyptian and Asiatic calendars.

The Aztec calendar represents a cycle of fifty-two years, divided into four periods of thirteen years each. To remove the difference in point of duration between the solar year and the civil year they added a complementary period of thirteen days (a symbolic number to them) to the end of each cycle. There were eighteen months of twenty days each; and to make up the full 365 days, there were added to the last month of each year five days which were called NEMONTEMI; i. e., useless, and these days were set aside for festivities.

This stone is reproduced on most coins, jewelry, leather carving, and souvenirs manufactured in Mexico.

From 1900 to 1905, all coins bear the inscription, "Republic of Mexico," and are struck in the denominations of pesos—50, 20, 10, 5, 2½, 2, and 1 in gold. In silver are 2 and 1 peso pieces, and centavos—50, 20, 10, and 5. In base metals are to be found 20, 10, 5, 2, and 1 centavo pieces. The principal design used is the coat of arms on the reverse, and on the obverse the date and rayed liberty cap, denoting a free nation. In 1905 we have a major change to "Estados Unidos Mexicanos," i. e., the United States of Mexico, still keeping the coat of arms and, in higher denominations, the liberty cap—this same design being carried down to the present.

There are few exceptions, one of which is the most recent coinage of the 50 peso gold victory piece. Since the Republic abandoned the gold monetary standard in 1931, the issuance of this new piece is considered as merchandise, rather than money, and has no legal tender value stated on the coin: although it is of the same weight and fineness as regular issue pieces, containing 37.5 grams of pure gold. The piece was released to the public April 15th, 1943. It has the same winged victory statue as the two pesos silver piece, which commemorates the centenary of Mexico's independence, declared in 1821.

NEWS AND COMMENTS FROM THE LIBRARY

By TED R. HAMMER, Librarian-Curator

The fiscal year ended with a total of 762 books lent—not the record year, but high in view of conditions.

Work has been completed on a new Library List, which this office hopes will go to press before the end of the year. There are several additional sections, which will make it simpler for members to find works on special subjects.

Volumes V and VI of the new series, The Coin Collector's Journal have been purchased, making both the old and new series complete in the Library. S-15 is the Library number of the old series by the Scott Company, while R-45 is the number of the new series. While the CCJ contains numerous articles on all types of U. S. coins and paper money, it also has hundreds of articles on coins of the world.

The Library is in receipt of a copy of the 1944 "Standard Catalogue of United States Coins," compiled and published by Wayte Raymond, Inc., 630 Fifth Avenue, NYC. The publishers have issued a high grade work, and bound better than many war-time publications. The new publication not only has the Commonwealth of the Philippines coins, but two pages including a plate of coins of Hawaii. The coins struck at the branch Mints are now listed with those from the Philadelphia Mint—a decided improvement. The general information section has been moved to the back of the book and enlarged to five pages—in our opinion the most worthwhile change. Mr. Raymond has included "Notes on Various Denominations," which will prove a great help to many. Since most large public libraries have the Standard Catalogue on their shelves this department will be an aid to beginners because of its information about coins ranging from the half cent to the double eagle. The work retains its Mint reports and the fine index. The Library number is R-38 (be sure to ask for year wanted).

There is a growing demand for the Henry Jewett catalogue (1909) (J-11); M. A. Stickney catalogue (S-109); and the Jenks catalogue (J-10). All are priced.

We have something new on Continental currency (new to the Library, that is), "Continental Money," with which we have bound a catalogue listing prices. The article is from Harper's Magazine of 1863, is an exhaustive treatise on the subject, and well illustrated. In ordering this, ask for H-51.

Willis J. McKinney has contributed a copy of his work, "United States Commemorative Half Dollars" (Numismatic Scrapbook reprint), which not only contains much background data, information on mint-marks and an illustration of each coin, but the coinage, original value, and 1943 catalogue price. This is M-32 in the Library.

Auction catalogues of 1940, 1941 and 1942 have been bound together by years and are available under the Number A-60. Most of the leading sales of those years are included with price lists.

Howard Franklin Bowker has compiled a thorough work, "A Numismatic Bibliography of the Far East—A Check List of Titles in European Languages." The American Numismatic Society published the work as No. 101 of its Numismatic Notes and Monographs.

WASHINGTON IN MINIATURE

By WALDO C. MOORE, Lewisburg, Ohio

(A paper submitted to the Cincinnati A. N. A. Convention, 1942)

Although somewhat foreign to our subject and if permitted to digress, we desire first to call attention to the greatness of Washington. The Washington Monument is one of the most impressive memorials ever erected. It bears no name. No designation is necessary. A soaring stone.

On one of its landings is a stone tablet from China. Its inscription is one of the most beautiful tributes ever paid Washington, by his own or any other country. Translated it reads: "Su-Ki-Yu, by imperial appointment, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Fuh Kun, in his Universal Geography says: 'It is evident that Washington was a remarkable man. In devising plans he was more decided than Chin-Shing or Wu-Kang. In winning a country he was braver than Tsau-Tsau or Lin Pi. Wielding his four-footed falchion he extended the frontiers thousands of miles, and then refused to usurp the Royal Dignity or transmit it to posterity, but first established rules for an elective administration. Where in the world can be found such a public spirit? Truly the sentiments of the three dynasties have all at once unexpectedly appeared in our day! In ruling the State he promoted and fostered good customs and did not depend on military merit. In this he differed from all other nations. I have seen his portrait; his air and form are grand, inspiring in a remarkable degree. Ah, who would not call him a hero? The United States of America regard it promotive of virtue generally and extensively neither to establish title of nobility and royalty nor to conform to the age as respects customs and public influence, but instead to deliver over their public deliberations and inventions so that the like of such a nation, one so remarkable, does not exist in ancient or modern times. Among the people of the great West can any man in ancient or modern times fail to pronounce Washington peerless?' This stone is presented by a Company of Christians, and engraved at Ninpu in the Province of Che Heang, China, this Third Year of the Reign of the Emperor He-en Fung. Sixth Month and Seventh Day." (July 12, 1853.)

And now to our subject proper. Recently in scanning the pages of some of the earlier numbers of THE NUMISMATIST, our attention was attracted to a short description, in the January, 1894 issue, of the small engraved head of Washington that had been used on some obsolete bank notes which were commonly acknowledged and generally accepted prior to the Civil War, also which were found engraved occasionally on the coupons of some Southern State bonds. Since we were quite sure that some such vignettes of this great character had been noticed in the past and were likely to be found in the writer's private collection of obsolete paper currency, we naturally began a search through our files for miniature Washingtons and were rewarded with the following sub-joined list.

Obsolete paper money makes a most interesting study and is an entertaining and diverting hobby. To be the possessor of some such notes issued in the days of our fore-parents, bearing scenes of pastoral life and of American history, and also quite liberally depicting many of the early pioneers who had no little part in making America what it is today, would seem quite enough to make an ardent collector and student out of one who had been merely an accumulator.

Before announcing our find we wish to state that Webster defines a "vignette" as follows: "Any picture, as an engraving, which shades off gradually into surrounding ground or the unprinted paper. In general, a picture, illustration, or depiction in words, especially one of a small or dainty kind."

It is understood the list of illustrations here given of the several vignettes representative of "Washington In Miniature," as delineated on various obsolete notes, is aimed not so much at completeness as for the purpose of stirring up a greater and lasting interest and study of uncurrent paper currency.

Doubtless miniature Washingtons were depicted on obsolete paper money issues other than the examples herein listed. Likely various other printed forms, instruments and documents in many instances were so embellished. The writer would be pleased to learn of any others than those mentioned in this paper. And now for the list of Washington miniatures to be found in the writer's private collection.

$10. The Bank of the State of Georgia, principal office at Savannah. 1862. Number of note 3. Wismer 566.

$10. As above. Branch office at Eatonton. 1860. Wismer 358.

The Pulaski monument is shown in center of each of the above notes. Engravers were Danforth, Wright & Company, New York and Philadelphia. Since the principal or parent bank of the Bank of the State of Georgia at Savannah had established branch banks throughout the state, it is just our guess that this same $10 note issue other than those above mentioned, may have been placed in circulation by each established office. Established branches other than those already stated, were at Greensborough, Griffin, Macon, Milledgeville and Washington.

We find that some of the currency issued by the State of North Carolina in 1862 was printed on the reverse of some North Carolina $500 bonds. Like miniature Washingtons, with similar scroll work, appear on the upper corners of the interest coupons of these bonds which were made payable at the Bank of the Republic, New York City.

$100. The State of North Carolina, Raleigh. December 1, 1861. Serial letter B. Unknown to Bradbeer at time of his checking list in 1915. Coupons on reverse of note printed in blue. Engraved by J. Manouvrier, New Orleans, Louisiana.

$50. As above. January 20, 1862. Serial letter B. Unknown to Bradbeer at time of his publication. Coupons on reverse of note printed in blue. Engravers were J. Manouvrier, New Orleans.

$50. As above. January 22, 1862. Serial letter D. Not listed by Bradbeer. Coupons on reverse of note printed in black. Engraved by J. Manouvrier, New Orleans.

Illustration No. 2. Washington in miniature appearing on lower tip of the large "5" at both ends of note.

$5. The Havre-de-Grace Bank, Havre-de-Grace, Maryland. 1846. Serial letter A. Wismer 399. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

$5. The Commercial Bank, Wilmington, North Carolina. 1850. Letter A. "FIVE" in large red letters across face of note. Wismer 286. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, New York.

$5. As above. 1859. Letter A. "FIVE" in large white letters on green lathework across face of note. Wismer 287. Patented 30 June, 1857. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, New York.

Illustration No. 3. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle to left of Justice standing, the whole within an upright oval narrow frame.

Five-cent scrip. City of Wilmington, Delaware. 1837. Engraved by Underwood, Bald, Spencer & Hufty.

Illustration No. 4. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle to left of Justice standing, the whole within an upright oval wide and heavy frame.

$4. The Nashville Banking & Exchange House, Nashville, Tennessee. 1837. Letter B. Pictured on this note are medallions of Washington, Lafayette and Franklin. The note is not listed by Wismer. This note is signed Yeatman Woods & Company. Hand-stamped across face of note, "Payable in Tennessee bank notes."

Illustration No. 5. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle to left of Justice standing, the whole within an upright oval frame quite elaborately embellished.

$3. Bank of Granville, The Granville Alexandrian Society, Granville, Ohio. 10 January, 1839. Letter A. Note No. 3117. Signed by A. J. Smith, Cashier and P. W. Taylor, President. Wismer 233. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

$3. As above. 10 January, 1839. Note No. 5823. Letter A. Signed by A. J. Smith, Cashier and A. Avery, President. You will note that the dates and the Cashier's signatures on these $3 Bank of Granville items are alike, but the President's signatures are different. A change of officers must have taken place on January 10, 1839.

Illustration No. 6. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle to left of a female seated on rock; the real vignette gradually shading off.

$20. The Bank of Augusta, Augusta, Georgia. Post note. Letter A.

Wisner 167. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York. Probable date 1863.

$100. The Ocmulgee Bank, Macon, Georgia. 1837. Letter A. Not listed by Wisner. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

$1. The Louisiana State Bank, New Orleans, Louisiana. Letter B. Not listed by Wisner.

$10. The Bank of Monroe, Monroe, Michigan. 1835. Letter A. With picture of Jackson to left. Note signed by J. Q. Adams, President. Wisner 252. Monroe was the home of Dr. George Heath, founder of THE NUMISMATIST. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, New York.

$3. The Bank of Ypsilanti, Ypsilanti, Michigan. 1839. Letter A. Depicted on note are Washington and Franklin. Wisner 416. Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York, were the engravers.

$100. The Planters Bank of the State of Mississippi, principal bank at Natchez. 1836. Letter B. Depicted on note are Washington and Franklin. Wisner 180. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Company, New York.

$100. As above. Branch office at Columbus, Mississippi. 1835. Letter C. Wisner 67.

$100. As above. Branch bank at Woodville, Mississippi. 1833. Letter B. Wisner 231.

Since the home office or principal bank of the Planters Bank at Natchez had established branch offices throughout the state, it is again our guess that this same $100 note issue other than those already mentioned, may have been placed in circulation by each established office. Established branches other than those already mentioned, were at Aberdeen, Jackson, Manchester, Monticello, Fort Gibson and Vicksburg.

$20. The State Bank of New Brunswick, New Brunswick, New Jersey. Letter A. 1861. Wisner 578. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, New York.

$5. The Bank of Owego, Owego, New York. 1864. Letter B. Wisner 1500. Engraved by American Bank Note Company, New York.

$10. The Merchants Bank, Newbern, North Carolina. 1853. Letter B. Wisner 140. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, New York.

Fifty-cent Bill of Exchange, Charleston, South Carolina. Serial letter B. Drawn to A. I. Orr and payable at Macon, Georgia. A picture of Washington appears to the left end of note. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

Illustration No. 7. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle with female seated on rock within a circle which is surrounded by elaborate decoration.

$100. The Bank of Augusta, Augusta, Georgia. Probable date 1862.

Letter A. Post note. Wismer 172. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

$5. The Jackson County Bank, Jacksonburgh, Michigan. 1837. Letter A. Wismer 212. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York.

Illustration No. 8. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle, a female seated on rock all within a circle with dainty scroll border.

$5. Bank of Granville, The Granville Alexandrian Society, Granville, Ohio. Serial letter A. Wismer 234. Engravers were Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, New York. Undated and unsigned.

$5. As above. 1836. Letter B. Signed A. G. Wannuars (?) President and A. P. Richards (?) Cashier.

$5. As above. 1838. Letter B. Signed A. J. Smith Cashier and P. W. Taylor President.

$5. As above. Serial letter C. Undated and unsigned.

Illustration No. 9. Washington in miniature on breast of eagle with female seated on rock, pictured within a square.

Fifty-cent scrip. Treasurer of the Town of Putnam, now included within the corporate limits of the city of Zanesville, Ohio. 1841. Engraved by Rawdon, Wright & Hatch, Cincinnati.

Illustration No. 10. An angel and cupid unveiling portrait of a miniature Washington, so catalogued by D. C. Wismer in his Descriptive List of Ohio Obsolete Paper Money.

$5. The Washington Social Library Company, Washington Bank, Miamiburg, Ohio. 1845. Letter B. Wismer 320. Engraved by Woodruff & Hammond, Cincinnati. It appears that this portrait was intended to represent the likeness of our first president. One must use his imagination and not scrutinize too closely. It seems a very poor excuse however viewed, but even at that, the writer has seen proper to include the same in this paper on the miniature portraits of Washington as depicted on obsolete paper money.

"THE TALE OF A HUMBLE COPPER"

Under the above title we quote an interesting excerpt from the Pennsylvania Gazette of February 7, 1858, a copy of which is in the possession of Charles McSorley, Jr., of Philadelphia, who has been kind enough to send the following transcription:

I am a lowly copper coin whose name matters little. Here I am known as a cent or penny while across the sea I may be called a kreutzer, centime or kopeck. My ruddy color presents an appearance much like that of the sun tanned faces of millions of hard-laboring farmers, tradesmen, and peasants throughout the world. They are the people I represent; I am as far apart from the shining silver and glistening gold as they themselves are from the wealthy and further yet from the magnificent splendor of the Emperors, kings and nobles of the world. The only gloss on my features is the well worn smoothness which comes from being burnished by hundreds of hands yearly. Rarely will you find a ten year old gold or silver piece as worn as I after one year of service.

I have seen sights that would tarnish the proudest gold piece with envy. Every time I am passed on to a new owner a new world opens before me. I have seen the seven seas through a sailor's pocket; the wheat at harvest time through a farmer's well worn purse; the peaceful meadows and crowded towns while in the carriage driver's coin bag, but things are not always so pleasant. Some sights would have made the largest silver piece shudder. The glorious battle field after an engagement. It is still, signs of ruin and desolation are everywhere. This I saw while being owned by a grenadier who kept me for luck, later I saw him killed before my very eyes by the lunge of a cavalryman's sabre.

Yes, I have lived my life and all these sights have passed before me while the gold and silver of the miser lay hoarded in a moss covered chest in the cold, dreary earth.

THE A. N. A. CHICAGO CONVENTION

SEPTEMBER 11th, 12th and 13th

In this brief report we shall deal only with some of the items of interest outside the business sessions; an account of the latter will appear in the November issue.

As announced by President Ferguson, the Convention this year was streamlined because of war time conditions, and therefore no entertainment was planned, no exhibits were made, and no papers read. Business was expedited at the three morning sessions, the final one adjourning at 11 o'clock Monday.

The outstanding event was the dinner on Saturday evening in the Lincoln room at La Salle Hotel, headquarters of the Convention. This was sponsored by the Chicago Coin Club, and proved to be a very happy occasion. In the unavoidable absence of President Pennington, Vice President Barger presided here and at the regular meeting of the Club which followed in the American room. President Ferguson was presented at the dinner, and other officers, Board members and out of town guests at the later meeting. Secretary Lindall reports 124 in attendance in the first instance, and at the subsequent meeting (the 295th) there were 178 members and guests present. An auction was conducted by William G. Rayson, good prices being realized generally.

Some very fine exhibits had been arranged by Club members, and C. Lou Snyder very generously donated ten prizes, consisting of a War Bond, proof sets, gold dollars and silver bars. The exhibits were listed by Secretary Lindall as follows:

Mr. Barger: 1st prize. 150 coins of intrinsic value, largely gold, of 40 countries, consisting of many rare items, including the copper  $\frac{1}{2}$  daler Swedish plate money; 5 and 10 kopek Russian pieces in unc. condition, 1 and 2 penny cartwheels of Great Britain, and a collection of U. S. cents from 1795 to 1943, complete, with the small 1856 flying eagle, all in superb condition.

Mr. Carlson: 2nd prize. A nice collection of Swedish coins, consisting of gold, copper, silver and plate money.

Mrs. Rayson: 3rd prize. A collection of small gold and silver coins of the world.

Dr. Reich: 4th prize. Medals referring to medicine, floods, famines, plagues and other epidemic diseases, and to vaccination.

Mr. Lamb: 5th prize. 1856 proofs, $1, 50, 25 and 10 cents, half dime, 3 cents, large and small cents; 1857 proofs, same, and 1858 proofs, same, with large and small letter cents; 1796 $1 small date, small letters, unc. 1795 $1 type of 1794, in proof. 1844 dime, proof; 1823 quarter, fine, and 1827 quarter in proof.

Mr. Keefer: 6th prize. A specialized collection of Korea only, showing each single number as listed in Ramsden's book, as well as in the Frederick Starr book of Korea, without exception.

Mr. Day: 7th prize. Sets of U. S. coins mounted in plastic holders.

Mr. Bauer: 8th prize. 324 thaler pieces of Mining crowns, Greek coins of Syracuse, Mende, Decadrachm of the 2nd Queen of Egypt of the last Dynasty. Medals of Wm. & Mary, Charles II of England, Libertas Americana medals in silver, and a portrait medal of Christ by an artist who was beheaded in the square at Augsburg.

Mr. Rutz: 9th prize. Phil. mint bronze medals (31) of our Presidents; 16 pcs. Directors of U. S. Mint; 14 pcs. Secretaries of the Treasury; 61 medals from the Columbian and Century of Progress Fairs; 22 pcs. coins and medals of Martin Luther and the Reformation.

Mr. Cleary: 10th prize. 50 Canadian tokens, sets of coinage of George V and George VI; 4 generations of Canadian pennies, and a Tercentenary medal of Three Rivers, Quebec.

Mrs. Green: From the Colonel E. H. R. Green collection, one complete set Mexican gold, silver and copper coinage of 1879, as presented to Mrs. Forrester by the Mexican Government, in magnificent gold and silver filigree covered plush lined case. Also one roll of 1939 D nickels, uncirculated.

Mrs. Carlson: A collection of U. S. fractional currency in choice condition.

Mr. Amidon: Set of U. S. commemorative gold, set of Washington quarters in proof, also Trade dollar proofs of 1880 and 1881.

Sgt. Boosel: Uncut sheet of $1, 33rd sheet issued in 1935; 8 proof sets of 1936; A. N. A. badges, 1933 to date.

Mr. Ostrander: Various types of U. S. and foreign gold: Coronation set of George VI; Vatican set and Siam Bullet money.

Mr. Powells: Exhibit of coins in sets from Albania, British East and West Africa, Fiji, India, Lithuania, Morocco, New Guinea, New Zealand, Southern Rhodesia, all unc.; also 1000 Siamese porcelain coins.

Mr. Isaacs: 40 Civil War Merchant tokens of Indiana.

Mr. Kortjohn: Extensive collection of coins struck during the present war, illustrating the use of non-strategic metals in striking coins replacing those formerly struck in strategic metals.

Mr. Bilger: The Wellington medal by Pistrucci, chief Engraver at the London Mint, for the Prince Regent, later George IV, in commemoration of the Battle of Waterloo.

Mr. Cahall: 20th Century Mexican 50 peso down to the 1 centavo; set of $5 gold—the only coin struck at all mints, also various types of U. S. and foreign coins.

Mr. Rayson: British hammered and milled coins from 30 B. C. to 1904 A. D., also British crowns from Edward VI to James II.

The Committee on Arrangements, as appointed by President Ferguson, consisted of Past President J. Henri Ripstra, Marie Boyer, and Harold Klein. Their numerous responsibilities were most efficiently cared for, and the resolution later adopted by the Convention emphasizing our appreciation had been very definitely earned.

The election results were as follows:

Officers

President, Martin F. Kortjohn, New York City;
1st Vice President, V. Leon Belt, Waterloo, Iowa;
2nd Vice President, Ralph A. Mitchell, San Francisco;

COLLECT INDIAN HEAD CENTS FOR PLEASURE AND PROFIT

By MARVIN WINSETT, Dallas, Texas

(A paper presented at a meeting of the Dallas Coin Club, September 16, 1943)

By way of preface let me remark that my interest in numismatics is general in the widest sense of the word. I am forced to admit that the real dyed-in-the-wool collector would regard me as an accumulator, however not one without ambitions to become a collector. My collection is a little of everything and not much of anything, consisting of foreign crowns, commemorative half dollars, half cents, large cents, Indian Head and Lincoln cents.

It may be of passing interest to you to know that my collection of small cents is complete with the exception of the 1856 and the 1864-L. These coins range from fine to proof, with the exception of a very few which are only very good.

To begin at the beginning, the Indian Head cent (which is NOT a penny, as so many like to call it) was designed by James B. Longacre. His model was not an Indian, but his daughter, Sarah Longacre, who posed for him with the Indian head-dress, although the resulting design was not her portrait. Longacre used his initial "L" on the first Indian head cent coined in 1859. It was omitted from most of the 1864 issue, appearing on only a comparatively small number, which made a rarity of the 1864-L.

Indian head cents were coined from 1859 to 1909. All were struck at the Philadelphia Mint except during the years 1908 and 1909, during which years a comparatively small number were issued by the San Francisco Mint, which made rarities of the 1908-S and 1909-S cents.

The Flying Eagle cents, generally spoken of and collected along with the Indian Head cents, were coined in 1856, 1857 and 1858. The so called white cents, or nickels, as they were called at that time (and the Flying Eagle cents are included with them) were coined through 1864. Their weight was 72 grains and their content was 12% nickel and 88% copper.

According to Scott's catalog, there are about 35 die varieties of the 1858 Flying Eagle cent, and really more than two sizes of letters. In the large letter variety the base of the "A" in America touches the base of the letter "M," which is not the case with the other varieties. The 1856-1864 copper-nickel cents in uncirculated condition often have a proof-like surface, but the real proof can be identified by its sharp edge.

The bronze Indian head cents were coined from 1864 to 1909. Their content is 95% copper, 3% tin and 2% zinc, their weight being reduced to 48 grains.

Both the uncirculated and proof bronze Indian Head cents are usually toned in a wide variety of color shades. (My own 1885 proof is a brilliant purple color.) Perfect brilliant red coins are scarce and usually command a higher price.

The 1856 Flying Eagle cent is the rarest date. Other rare dates are the 1864-L, the 1877 and the 1909-S. Other scarce dates, some of which might be called rare now, are the 1861, 1870, 1871, 1872 and 1908-S, with some few other dates also getting scarce.

It is surprising how few scarce dates and how few fine Indian Head cents are at large today. During the past ten years I have looked through at least four or five thousand and have found only forty or fifty in fine condition, and no rarities whatever. It is safe to say that the majority of scarce and fine cents are all in the hands of collectors.

Here are some comparisons that may interest you. According to Scott's 1913 catalog you could purchase an 1871 uncirculated cent for 75 cents at that time, whereas an 1872 would cost only 30 cents uncirculated. Today the 1872 costs considerably more than the 1871; according to Wayte Raymond's new catalog the 1872 now lists at $12.50 uncirculated while the 1871 in the same condition lists for $8.50. There is only a difference of about 1,000 pieces in the coinage of these two years, the 1871 being the smaller, which it seems would make it the more valuable, but such is not the case.

Another similar instance and comparison would be between the 1908-S and the 1909-S cents. Scott quotes the 1908-S cent in his 1913 catalog at 75 cents uncirculated, while the 1909-S cent in the same condition is quoted at only 40 cents. Today the 1909-S cent is worth considerably more than the 1908-S. Quoting again from Wayte Raymond's new catalog, the 1908-S uncirculated lists at $4.00, while the 1909-S in the same condition lists at $12.50, or more than three times as much. Apparently there is every reason why the 1909-S cent should have been higher in the beginning because there were only 309,000 coined, whereas, there were 1,115,000 of the 1908-S coined.

It's just one man's opinion and you need not risk any money on it, but I believe that some day the 1857 Flying Eagle cent will sell for more than the 1858. There were only 17,450,000 of the 1857 coined, while there were 24,600,000 (all kinds) of the 1858. At the present time the 1858 lists at about twice that of the 1857 in uncirculated condition.

In the March, 1943, issue of THE NUMISMATIST Mr. Lewis M. Reagan, Director of Publicity for the A. N. A., had a very interesting article on "The Sesqui-centennial of the One Cent Piece." I quote from his article as follows: "Cents were not redeemable by the government until the law of 1871, although provision had been made for their exchange for other cents of later issue. Prior to 1864 there was no specified amount for which cents were legal tender, but from 1864 to 1865 they had a legal tender value up to ten cents. This was reduced in 1865 to four cents and increased in 1873 to 25 cents." Mr. Reagan states further in his article: "In 1862 most coins disappeared from circulation. Some were hoarded, some melted, but they were mostly exported to Canada, the West Indies, Central and South America. They made a dramatic reappearance in 1877 so that is the year there were more minor coins than were needed. This resulted in a suspension of minor coinage during the year, so that minor coins of 1877 are among the greatest rarities." The foregoing facts explain why the 1877 cent is so rare today.

Collecting small cents, and particularly the Flying Eagle and Indian Head cents, is a fascinating hobby; and considered from an investment angle (and every collector likes to contemplate that point of view) it can be very profitable too. Most Indian Head cents can be purchased in fine condition for a nominal sum, while the uncirculated and proof coins in nearly all dates bring a high premium. And so it is with Indian Head cents as with other coins: it pays to collect condition, preferably uncirculated and proof; certainly nothing less than fine, if you want your collection to increase in value.

According to Scott's 1913 catalog you could buy all the 1877's you wanted in fine condition then for six bits apiece. Today that same 1877 lists for $10.00. Then you could buy uncirculated 1872's for 30 cents, but today that same coin will cost you about $12.50. These same tremendous price increases will apply to most all of the rare and scarce dates, and even the fairly common dates, when in fine condition, have moved right along in price.

Sometimes we wonder where prices on small cents will stop. Of course they will not actually ever stop; rarities will continue to be rarities and become even rarer as time goes on, and as the demand increases the prices will continue to rise. There are occasional slumps in the coin market as in other markets, but values on the whole remain fairly consistent. It may well be that the seemingly high prices asked for some of these coins today will prove to be a bargain tomorrow.

I have never figured it accurately, but believe that my own collection of Indian Head cents have easily doubled in value since they were purchased. Doubtless this is due, in part, to inflationary trends; nevertheless there seems to be a constant increase in the value of fine coins.

My ambition is to have all of the early small cents in brilliant uncirculated condition, acquired a few at a time; you might call it the hard way. After all it's the anticipation, the constant search, the study and rumination that add zest to the science of numismatics.

Doubtless there are several in this club who have already achieved my goal and long since invaded other fields of interesting conquest, but as a beginner-collector I'm still continuing the search for perfection with oil burning in my lantern, and diligence not unlike Diogenes in his search for an honest man.

WHY NOT CHANGE THE SHAPE OF THE DIME?

The new steel cent, in the opinion of "hundreds" who have written letters of protest to Secretary Morgenthau, is so much like a dime in appearance something should be done to end the confusion. The Secretary says it will not be practicable to change its size, color or shape; and adds this comforting assurance: "the experts tell me that in time the coins will tarnish, and no one will ever mistake one for a dime." These "experts"—how they do as-tarnish one!

LOOKING BACKWARD

THROUGH THE EARLY FILES OF THE NUMISMATIST

FIFTY YEARS AGO

The third annual convention of the A. N. A. held at Chicago on August 21, 1893, is briefly reviewed. Even at the one day session the several papers mentioned last month were read and evidently received with appreciation. The Treasurer's report showed the balance of cash on hand to be $138.47. The Mint had an exhibit in the "Government Building"—whether by coincidence or design—and the statement was made that it contained two 1804 dollars! The Mint must have been hoarding in those days, having twice the usual allotment of this rarity; and what and where was the said Government Building? (In Jackson Park?)

FORTY YEARS AGO

A. R. Frey begins a series of articles on the tokens and medals relating to numismatists and coin dealers; and in this first instalment an interesting account is given of I. Edward Cogan, "the father of the coin trade in America." Born in England in 1803, coming to the United States about 1855, he began business in Philadelphia. In 1867 he moved to New York, continuing in the coin business for many years; his death occurred in 1884, in his 82nd year. He was among the first to hold auction sales in this country, and the early issues of The American Journal of Numismatics contain many references to him.

We find no present day dealers among the six and one-half pages devoted to advertising in this number, excepting Dr. Jacob Hirsch, who was then in Munich.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Well, the modest third annual convention, mentioned above, had a full grown successor in the one lasting five days at Detroit in August 1913. The October issue carries a full and interesting report of the proceedings.

Possibly the item of greatest potential significance was a letter received from the Superintendent of the Mint, Dr. T. L. Compartment, who was to have spoken at the Convention but found it impossible to be present. His letter emphasized the great desirability of securing more attention from our museums and universities to establishing and enlarging coin collections, and, in the latter case, of offering courses in numismatics. He suggested that a careful survey be made of the then existing situation, and that the A. N. A. become active in promoting such far reaching plans. We may have more to say on this subject in the near future.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THOMAS JEFFERSON—1743-1943

Every noble life leaves the fibre of it interwoven forever in the work of the world; by so much evermore the strength of the human race has gained.

—JOHN RUSKIN.

It seems eminently fitting that special attention should be paid the 1943 issue of our recent Jefferson 5-cent piece—the first “nickel” from which that metal has been entirely absent—for it marks the two hundredth anniversary of the year in which Jefferson was born.

It would require many of these pages even to catalogue the political, economic, scientific and geographical developments that have helped to make the history of those two centuries in our own country. But any student of U. S. coinage (in all metals) can begin with this attractive piece struck in honor of a great president, and, working backward in point of time for those two hundred years, will find the reflection of much of our evolution as a world power in the various issues. This review, with its final arrival at the state of our monetary system in 1743, should make one sharply conscious of the significance of the term "two centuries"—and should awaken a keener interest in the subject of this sketch, whose momentous life began two hundred years ago.

We have emphasized before our strong belief in the value of collateral reading in connection with our numismatic interests; and, with especial reference to Jefferson, we venture to call attention to a recent Life by Saul K. Padover (Harcourt, Brace and Company). In these days of world conflict, when headlines are eagerly scanned for the latest news from Europe, the Far East and the South Pacific, it might be thought that the biography of a great American—even one of our greatest—would command little attention; but there may be two opinions on that. Monthly reports from many sections of the country show that non-fiction keeps its high place with the nation's readers, and biographies do not suffer by comparison.

As a matter of fact, what could be a better tonic than an intimate, authentic and well-written life of Thomas Jefferson, the author of the Declaration of Independence—lawyer, statesman, ambassador, Secretary of State, Vice President, President, and philosopher? His own times were full of peril, of profound anxiety, of the problems of a new Republic which only time could answer; the war with Great Britain, fought under incredible difficulties, the almost superhuman task of building an enduring Constitution—all these, and more, taxed the courage, the patience, the patriotism and the wisdom of the Founders of what had finally become the UNITED STATES of America.

Jefferson was in the midst of all this, exerting a quiet but vital influence; to be reminded again of the part he played in those years of tragic difficulty is to breathe in new courage, and to set an even greater value on the things we are fighting for today.

There is an immense literature on Jefferson, but, strangely enough, almost no other comprehensive life has appeared for many years. The one here considered is a delight to read. Like many other modern biographies, it bears little resemblance in style and structure to those difficult volumes of fifty or more years ago. Today, the best of them not only tell the factual story of their subjects, but make them seem actual contemporaries; this one of Padover's is no exception, and deserves to be placed on a select shelf in our personal libraries.

There were sharply defined periods in Jefferson's life, overlapping succeeding periods to a surprisingly small extent, except of course for the continuing thread of experience and maturing judgment, which are naturally cumulative. But the transitions were often sudden—such as his appointment as Ambassador to France in 1784; upon his return in 1789 he learned of his appointment as Secretary of State in Washington's Cabinet—a most unhappy experience; he returned to Monticello determined to become again what he always held as productive of the highest national good—a farmer—and devoid of all political ambition for the future; but largely against his will he was injected into national politics, and in the election of 1796 he lost the Presidency to John Adams by three electoral votes, thus becoming Vice President. Four years later, however, he was heart and soul in one of the most violent campaigns the country has known; and after the decision was thrown into Congress, dead-locked for thirty-five ballots, the thirty-sixth was taken on February 17, 1801, and he was elected third President of the United States. He served two terms, the second a stormy four years, retiring gratefully to Monticello at their close. History was made during his administration, the Louisiana Purchase being the crowning—but not the only—achievement.

From his earliest years of maturity he believed passionately in free speech, a free press, religious liberty, and a free public school system; and convictions with Jefferson meant action.

His death occurred on July 4, 1826, and at that moment John Adams also lay dying in Quincy, Massachusetts; his last words were, "Thomas Jefferson still survives."

James Madison spoke truly when he said of Thomas Jefferson: "He lives and will live in the memory and gratitude of the wise and good, as a luminary of science, as a votary of liberty, as a model of patriotism, and as a benefactor of the human kind."

It is a heartening experience to read this new record of one of our greatest Americans; and this coin of 1943, which bears his portrait on one side and a sketch of his famous home on the other, should thereafter take on a new and lasting significance.

DEATH OF ROYAL E. LaGRANGE

Dr. Royal E. LaGrange, of Fort Ann, N. Y., A. N. A. No. 8233, and one of the most esteemed and active members of the Albany Numismatic Society, died suddenly Sept. 4th, following a heart attack.

As a collector, Dr. LaGrange was a specialist in U. S. large cents and had an outstanding collection, including over 600 varieties. He was the author of a very scholarly paper on large cent over dates, which was published in the November, 1941 issue of the Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine and in the Albany club's 100th meeting booklet.

Dr. LaGrange seldom missed a meeting of the Albany Numismatic Society although he had to travel about 140 miles to be present.

In addition to his private practice in Fort Ann, Dr. LaGrange was Senior Physician at Great Meadows State Prison, at Comstock. He was also active in Masonic affairs. Dr. LaGrange is survived by his wife and one son. He was 59 years of age.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED

Standard Catalogue of United States Coins. (Wayte Raymond. $2.50.) The 1944 edition of this catalogue has been looked forward to with keen interest not only by collectors who confine their numismatic activities to the coinage of our own country, but by those who include other countries and periods in their accumulations. Mr. Raymond and his associates have succeeded in making what was an already indispensable reference work one of even wider usefulness.

Added knowledge brings added appreciation. A collection assembled intelligently and with discrimination—regardless of what particular phase of numismatics may be selected—is the one which affords the greatest satisfaction to its owner, and is most likely to realize substantial returns in event of disposal in after years. Applying this principle to U. S. coins, it is difficult to imagine forming such a collection without an authentic reference work, and Mr. Raymond's catalogue definitely qualifies as such.

If the prices quoted reflect the present market, and they doubtless do, the general upward tendency should be gratifying to those who have been building their collections over a term of years; they likewise carry the implication of further increases, suggesting the wisdom of filling certain blank spaces without more than necessary delay.

Numismatic Scrapbook (Hewitt Bros.) for September. "State Bank Note Facsimiles and the Publications That Contain Them," by John A. Muscalus, is the result of a unique bit of research—in fact, an extensive bibliography that should appeal strongly to those collectors of state bank notes who wish to get as much of the historical background as possible. This is the first of a series . . . G. L. Schanzlin has a brief article on the "Weights of Early Roman Coins"; the check list of Transportation Tokens continues, and a few other short articles and news items appear.

THE HIGGY SALE

The Michael F. Higgs Collection of rare coins was sold at the Numismatic Gallery, 42 E. 50th Street, New York, on September 10 and 11, for a total of over $30,000.00. Many outstanding dealers and collectors were in attendance, and brisk bidding resulted in many record breaking prices. A 1796 half dollar sold at $210.00, and an 1802 proof silver dollar at $250.00. A $3 gold proof of 1877 sold at $300.00, a 1793 cent went for $170.00, an 1856 cent brought $110.00. A $50.00 gold piece of Augustus Humbert dated 1852 to a private collector at $600.00, a cent dated 1792 went for $390.00, a $4.00 piece brought $340.00.

A CORRECTION GLADLY MADE

In the list of deaths of members in the September issue appeared the name of F. Bowman of Montreal. This was an unfortunate error, and we are happy to quote from Mr. Bowman's recent letter that he is "very much alive."

TWO INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENTS

An Exposition at the A. N. S. Building

The numismatic clubs and societies in the metropolitan area of New York are holding a public Exposition on the premises of the American Numismatic Society, 156th Street and Broadway, for two weeks beginning October 16th and ending October 30, 1943. The Exposition is being run under the auspices of a committee composed of Mr. W. Ray Carpenter, Chairman, Mr. Leonard Kusterer, Mr. Stuart Mosher and Mr. Harry Stein.

It is the intention that this Exposition will involve to a great extent the coins, paper money and medals of the various countries, and it is their intention to try and make this Exposition one of the best held in any part of the country. A publicity campaign will be started the early part of October so as to insure a large attendance.

Tenth Anniversary of The Bronx Coin Club

A cordial invitation is extended to collectors in the New York Metropolitan Area to attend the tenth anniversary dinner of The Bronx Coin Club. This will take place on Tuesday, October 26, 1943, at the Concourse Plaza Hotel, at 161st Street and the Grand Concourse, in The Bronx. The hotel is near the Yankee Stadium and may be reached by the Woodlawn or Concourse subways, 161st Street (Yankee Stadium) station. Assembly will be at seven o'clock and dinner will be served at seven thirty. Ladies are urged to attend.

In order that the hotel may make the necessary preparations for food, please send in your reservations and money for tickets at an early date to the club's acting secretary, Mr. Homer K. Downing, 939 Woodycrest Avenue, The Bronx 52, New York City. Tickets will be $1.50 each, including the tip. Exhibits will be limited to three coins telling a story of interest to you.

FALL CONVENTION IOWA NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

Announcement has just been received from President M. A. Radke, of the fall convention of the Iowa Numismatic Association, to be held at Fairfield on Saturday and Sunday, October 16 and 17. The headquarters will be at the Leggett Hotel, with business sessions and exhibits at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Saturday afternoon will be given to placing the exhibits, with dinner at the hotel at 6:30, followed by a technicolor travel film of unusual interest.

After the usual officers' and members' breakfast on Sunday morning the convention business session will be held; the noon "banquet" will precede the auction.

It will be the twelfth semi-annual convention held by this aggressive association; every one has been fairly rated a genuine success, and numismatics in Iowa has been established on solid ground largely through the sustained and enthusiastic interest of the membership of the various Clubs supporting the Association. It is believed the attendance at Fairfield will be substantial, although transportation difficulties are by no means light.

ELECTION MEDALS OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1844

By DOYLE DeWITT, Bloomfield, Connecticut

(Series began in issue of June, 1943)

No. 40. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY 1844, togated bust to left within circle of 26 stars and inner circle of pellets.

Reverse: Shield, inscribed with foul anchor, partially enclosed by wreath; inscription above, HOPE; below, 1844; 13 stars above shield. Silver, Copper, Brass, White Metal, Lead. 26 mm.

Note A—Twenty-six stars—See Note 1-B.

Note B—The device on the reverse is a representation of the seal of the State of Rhode Island. Its connection with Clay is undoubtedly predicated upon a little known part of Clay's career which has become eclipsed by greater events. In a speech at Lexington on June 9, 1842, on the occasion of a festival in his honor, Clay went at great length to condemn the Dorr Rebellion in Rhode Island which he alleged had been fomented by the actions of the Democrats and had been encouraged by the Democratic press. He paid tribute to the historic past of Rhode Island and spoke in glowing praise of the authorities who had put down the rebellion. In a cartoon of the period, we also find him chiding Van Buren about the consequences of the Democratic support of the rebellion. Is it any wonder then, that Clay's supporters saw fit to commemorate his Rhode Island sentiments with a token? He carried Rhode Island over Polk very easily.

No. 41. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Blank.

Note A—Evidently a trial piece.

No. 42. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, bust to right.

Reverse: A/TARIFF/FOR/PROTECTION/ enclosed in oak and palm wreath, 11 stars.

White Metal. 27 mm.

Note A—A TARIFF FOR PROTECTION—See Note 12-B.

No. 43. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, togated bust to right.

Reverse: Inscription around, THE UNION AND THE CONSTITUTION, rosette; inscription within circle, THE/ELOQUENT/ADVOCATE OF/PROTECTION/TO/HOME INDUSTRY/.

Silver, Bronze. 27 mm.

Note A—The workmanship, appearance and metal (bronze) arouse suspicion as to whether this token might not have been issued later than 1844. However, because of the similarity of the reverse inscription to so many others of this campaign, I have, with some trepidation, included it in the 1844 series. It was probably cut by Bale & Smith. It was muled with a number of reverses, to which I have given sub-numbers (43A, 43B, 43C) and described below, some or all of which were probably not issued as campaign pieces of 1844, although I have no information to the contrary.

Note B—THE UNION AND THE CONSTITUTION—In some form, this phrase has been used by every American statesman since the adoption of the Constitution. Washington started it by using it in his Farewell Address in this fashion—"that Union and brotherly affection may be perpetual; that the free Constitution, which is the work of your hands, may be sacredly maintained." Clay used it in some form a number of times, once in this way, when accepting his nomination for the presidency in 1832—"Our common country shall ever find me faithful to the Union and the Constitution." (Official Journal of the National Republican Convention—1831.) (Also see Note 33-B.)

Note C—THE ELOQUENT ADVOCATE OF PROTECTION TO HOME INDUSTRY—See Note 12-B. It is the similarity of this inscription to so many others of 1844 tokens that causes me to link it with the 1844 campaign.

No. 43-A. Obverse: Same as preceding.

(Baker 212). Silver, Bronze, Brass, White Metal. 37 mm.

Note A—The reverse bears a close resemblance to a similar design on the business card of Bale & Smith, Engravers and Die Cutters, 68 Nassau St., New York. (Also muled with a reverse of Washington by George H. Lovett which apparently was not issued in 1844. Baker 213.)

No. 43-B. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Silver. 27 mm.

No. 43-C. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, MAJ. GEN. W. H. HARRISON, military bust of Harrison to left in border of 23 stars.

Copper. 27 mm.

Note A—The reverse of this token appears as an obverse on a Harrison token (apparently not contemporary with the 1840 campaign) with a reverse depicting a log cabin and cider barrel and inscribed EARLY HOME OF GENL HARRISON/THE HERO OF TIPPECANOE.

White Metal. 27 mm.

No. 44. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, circle of 26 stars, enclosing head to left.

Reverse: Inscription, PROTECTION TO AMERICAN INDUSTRY, displayed eagle bearing U. S. shield on breast with olive branch in right claw and arrows in left.

(Satterlee 149, 150). Copper, Brass. 25 mm.

(I have this token in my collection in silvered brass also.)

Note A—Twenty-six stars—See Note 1-B.

Note B—The head is featured by a very thick neck.

Note C—PROTECTION TO AMERICAN INDUSTRY—See Note 12-B.

Note D—Eagle device—See Note 38-C.

No. 45. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY ELECTED PRESIDENT A. D. 1844, enclosing head to left.

(Satterlee 151). Brass. 24 mm.

Note A—HENRY CLAY ELECTED PRESIDENT A. D. 1844—This is an example of the type of medallie inscription which, in lesser known instances, is apt to confuse the student of historical Numismatics. The inscription, of course, does not state a fact but rather the anticipation and hope of the Clay admirers. While such a practice was not common, it did occur on a few other occasions with other candidates. The practice involves an element of frugality also, because if the candidate was actually elected, the same token could also be used to commemorate his election or inauguration. A similar practice was followed by the printmakers of this period.

Note B—THE MILLBOY OF THE SLASHES—and the accompanying scene has its foundation "in the filial and fraternal duty of Henry Clay, who, after he was big enough, was seen, whenever the meal-barrel was low, going to and fro on the road between his mother's house and Mrs. Darricott's mill on the Pamunkey river, mounted on a bag that was thrown across a pony that was guided by a rope-bridle; and thus he became familiarly known, by the people living on his line of travel, as The Millboy of the Slashes" (Colton's Life and Times of Henry Clay. Vol. I, P. 19.) (Also see Note 32-B.) This nickname was a product of the 1844 campaign. It had not been used prior to that time.

Note C—INAUGURATED MARCH 4TH 1845—See Note A.

No. 46. Obverse: Inscription, HARRY OF THE WEST 1845, star and two periods to right and left of date, clothed bust to left.

Reverse: Inscription, THE/PROTECTOR/OF HOME/INDUSTRY/, enclosed in oak and olive wreath.

(Satterlee 156). Copper. 24 mm.

Note A—HARRY OF THE WEST—This was one of the more popular nicknames of Clay. (See Note 36-C.) Of course, Harry is the more intimate form of Henry, and incidentally, the teutonic origin of the name Henry means "Home Ruler."

Note B—THE PROTECTOR OF HOME INDUSTRY—See Note 12-B.

No. 47. Obverse: Inscription above, HENRY CLAY/THE ASHLAND FARMER/; below, BORN APRIL 12, 1777, star to right and left; center, nude bust to left with 1844 below.

Reverse: Inscription, THE NOBLE/AND/PATRIOTIC/SUPPORTER/OF PROTECTION, enclosed by flowering wreath.

(Satterlee 158). Reeded Edge. Brass. 24 mm.

Note A—THE ASHLAND FARMER—See Note 20-B.

Note B—BORN APRIL 12, 1777—See Note 20-C.

Note C—THE NOBLE AND PATRIOTIC SUPPORTER OF PROTECTION—See Note 12-B.

No. 48. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Inscription, WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE & FOUND WANTING, enclosing scales balanced in favor of WHIGS over DEMOCRATS; center, 1840.

(Satterlee 159). Reeded Edge. Brass. 24 mm.

Note A—This reverse was used on a Harrison token of 1840 (Satterlee 98) and imitated on a Van Buren token of the same campaign (Satterlee 65). (Note the date had not been changed for this campaign.)

Note B—WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE & FOUND WANTING—had a biblical source originally. See Daniel V:27—"Thou art weighed in the balances and art found wanting." It was also the literal phraseology applied to the Talabboram, a curious custom practiced in India, whereby the provincial ruler, the Maharajah of Travencore, was weighed in a scale against gold coin. During the chanting of priests, the gold was heaped upon the scale until the Maharajah arose well in the air. Then the gold was distributed to the multitudes of assembled Brahmins, and needless to say the Maharajah was greatly adored.

Its use in the 1840 campaign, however, is based upon a pro-Whig cartoon entitled "Weighed and Found Wanting, or The Effects of a Summers Ramble." On one scale is Van Buren who was then president, and who is outweighed by Clay on the other scale. The cartoon was circulated in the interest of the Clay candidacy in 1840 prior to the date of the Whig convention which nominated Harrison. It is not an unreasonable assumption that the inspiration for the cartoon may have come from this very custom of far-away India, because it had been described in detail in the leading Gazetteers of the period and because in the scale with Van Buren are stacked—"Sub-treasury, Hard Currency and All."

Its repetition on a token in the 1844 campaign attests to its popular appeal and further strengthens the assumption that its origin as a political device might have come from some unusual but well-read custom such as the Talabboram.

No. 49. Obverse: Inscription above, HENRY CLAY/THE FARMER OF ASHLAND/; below, BORN APRIL 12. 1777, star to right and left; center, clothed bust to left with initial T (engraver) on coat.

Reverse: Inscription, THE NOBLE &/PATRIOTIC/SUPPORTER/ OF THE/PEOPLES RIGHTS/, enclosed in flowering wreath.

(Satterlee 160). Brass. 24 mm.

(This token is also found with the engraver's full initials on the coat—I. F. T.)

Note A—This bust is very similar to that on Nos. 47 and 48 and undoubtedly is the work of the same engraver. This clothed bust always reminds me of Calvin Coolidge.

Note B—THE FARMER OF ASHLAND—See Note 20-B.

Note C—BORN APRIL 12. 1777—See Note 20-C.

Note D—THE NOBLE & PATRIOTIC SUPPORTER OF THE PEOPLES RIGHTS—This inscription may have some reference to the monument erected by Clay's admirers at the western terminus of the Cumberland road, as a tribute to his efforts on behalf of the road, whereon he is referred to as the "Eloquent Defender of National Rights." However, probably it is just another expression of flattery bestowed upon Clay.

COULD BE!

"It just happened that when we were working out the new design we decided to throw in a few dashes—and it came out that way in Morse." R. J. Edmunds, Superintendent of the Royal Canadian Mint speaking, referring to the code inscription around the edge of the reverse of the 1943 Canadian five cent piece—the one with the twelve "sides." It will be remembered this strange coincidence (?) reads, "We win when we work willingly." We suspect Mr. Edmunds was having a bit of fun with the press correspondent who quoted this interview to an Ottawa newspaper under date of July 3. He (the correspondent) goes on to say:

"But there's another version to the story. It's to the effect that the Mint wanted to put some kind of an inspirational message on the coin to build up the 'V for Victory' symbol. The difficulty was that the design of every coin is very minutely described in a proclamation and there can't be any unauthorized lettering.

"However, there's a row of small 'beads' on both sides of every coin, just inside the slightly raised edge, and as Mr. Edmunds said: 'The beading is never mentioned in the proclamation for a new coin; I don't know why—it's just one of those things.'

"So somebody thought up the bright idea of playing with the beading—and the dot-and-dash message was the result."

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

BALTIMORE COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the club was held on August 19th, with nineteen members and two guests present.

The reports of the various committee chairmen were heard and an announcement that at the meeting to be held September 16th, Mr. Philip Straus (President) will exhibit U. S. Proof coins and cents. The regular auction was then held with splendid results.

Mr. Albert Steinberg exhibited various U. S. pattern five cent pieces, including the following:

A. W. #803 in nickel, rarity 6; A. W. #541, rarity 8; A. W. #1652 in copper, rarity 8; A. W. #1038 in silver, rarity 10; A. W. #551 in nickel, rarity 8; and A. W. #1694 in nickel, rarity 8.

—ARNOLD M. LOHRFINCK,
Secretary.

BRONX COIN CLUB—A very enthusiastic meeting of the Club was held at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on August 24. This was the 120th regular meeting. President Kortjohn presided, with 17 members and four guests in attendance.

A very interesting paper was presented by Mr. Kennedy on The Gun Money of Ireland issued by King James.

Topics selected for the September meeting were: U. S. Silver Dollars 1878 to 1935, 18th and 19th Century Coins of Italy (excluding those of Sicily), Italian Medals and Decorations, and 18th Century Coins of England.

Exhibits were made as shown below and the meeting adjourned at 11 P. M.

Mr. Clark: 103 English Silver Coins of Geo. III, Geo. IV, Wm. IV, and Victoria.

Mr. Deas: 13 U. S. proof silver dollars, 1799 U. S. silver dollar, Lafayette dollar, and a Bryan dollar of 1896 by Gorham.

Mr. Kosoff: Gobrecht dollars of 1836, U. S. silver dollars of 1838, 1839, 1851, 1852, and 1858.

Mr. Knoth: 24 bronze medals of France.

Mr. Schwartz: A collection of tokens of Aug. B. Sage, including historical tokens, odds and ends, and Masonic medallions. Also, a token of the Numismatic Gallery issued about the middle of the 19th Century.

Mr. Sghia: U. S. silver dollar of 1858, 4 Irish Bank tokens, three Bank of England silver pieces, shillings of Birmingham, Bristol, Lancaster and York; 5 coins of Scotland, and 15 crowns of the two Sicilies.

Mr. Stein: Coins of Sicily: dekadrachm by Euainetos, two transitional style tetradrachms. Tetradrachm of Messina. Dekadrachm of Arsinoe II, Queen of Egypt.

Mr. Van der Meer: Dutch East India coins dated 1941; 10 cent piece issued by the San Francisco Mint, and a 25 cent piece issued by the Philadelphia Mint.

Mr. Wagner: Belgium, 25 Franc of 1850 and 20 Franc of 1874 and 1914.

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 123rd regular meeting was called to order on September 1 at 174 Montague Street, Brooklyn, Mr. Max M. Schwartz, President, presiding. Twelve members and one guest were present.

Announcement was made regarding the exhibition to be made in October by the coin clubs of metropolitan New York and a committee consisting of Messrs. Reagan, Klaf and Douglas was appointed to arrange for the participation by the Brooklyn Club. The ballot for the Club's vote in the forthcoming A. N. A. election was prepared in accordance with the direction of the membership.

The topics were: United States Coins of 1797, Prison Tokens, Items Pertaining to the American Numismatic Association, Medals and Tokens of Zachary Taylor. Mr. Schwartz read a paper on the life and tokens of Taylor. The following exhibits were made:

Mr. Blake: Twenty-five official convention badges of A. N. A. conventions. Medals of ex-presidents of the New York Numismatic Club.

Mrs. Douglas: Mint Peace medal of Zachary Taylor and four political Taylor tokens.

Mr. Douglas: Tokens of the Tombs Prison in New York City, George Junior Republic, Journal Junior Republic.

Mr. Friedman: Three specimens of 1939 re-engraved nickel.

Mr. Knoth: Numbers 2 and 3 of the American Numismatic Series by Charles T. Tatman.

Mr. Kortjohn: A. N. A. badges 1935 to 1942. One pice coin and half anna of India dated 1943; pfennig of Germany dated 1942, in zinc; one fen of China in 1941, in aluminum.

Mr. Leder: Collection of early silver dollars; Cent of 1797; Canadian penny tokens; several Good Luck tokens.

Mr. Maley: New issue of red plastic 2 mill tax token of Colorado.

Mr. Reagan: Large collection of German prison tokens.

Mr. Schwartz: Collection (about forty pieces) of campaign medals and tokens of Zachary Taylor and Lewis Cass.

—LEWIS M. REAGAN, Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—The 186th meeting, held at the Hayward Hotel on the evening of September 7, brought together twenty-nine members and guests. The death of Mr. Ed M. Lee, a charter member of the California Coin Club and well known authority on the gold coinage of California and other numismatic subjects, was announced and those present stood in silent tribute to his memory.

An unusual feature of the program was President Larson's quiz concerning odd terms used on coins such as the spade guinea, anna and pi of India, yen and many others.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Holger Jorgensen whose subject was "The Lure of Ancient Coins," on which topic he is an acknowledged expert in this part of the world. Mr. Jorgensen spoke in interesting detail concerning the ancient Greek coinage covering a period of about one thousand years. He divided the coinage into three classes: the autonomous coins of the Greek city states before the time of Alexander the Great, the regal coins which followed, bearing portraits of some seven hundred rulers, and finally the Graeco-Roman imperial series. About sixteen hundred mints are represented in this coinage. The well known symbols identifying the coins of Athens, Carthage, Aegina, and Agrigentum, were mentioned, and attention called to the great artistic value of Greek coins of the finest period. An unusually fine exhibit of electrum, gold, silver and bronze coins of Greece was on display.

The Treasurer, Mr. Hawley, exhibited a framed newspaper of the year 1800 containing accounts of the death of George Washington. A short auction closed the evening.

—EARLE K. STANTON, Secretary.

CANTON (O.) COIN CLUB—The 97th meeting of the Club was held Tuesday evening, September 14th, at 8 P. M. at the Belden Hotel; Warren Smith presiding. Fourteen members and two guests were present.

Highlight of the evening was a talk by Sheriff Ralph E. Elser of Mahoning County, about his experiences in coin collecting. Especially interesting and timely was Mr. Elser's statement that as Sheriff he has been able, in dealing with the problem of delinquent boys, to use the fascinating hobby of numismatics as an aid in rehabilitation. He pointed out that several such boys who had been community problems ceased to be troublesome when engrossed in Indian Head cent boards.

Mr. Elser accompanied his talk with a beautiful display of coins from his collection.

Mr. Smith: Sets of Liberty and Buffalo nickels.

Mr. Elwood: Coins of Central America.

Mr. Miller: Coins of Central America.
Mr. Bruce: Coins of Central America, several types of U. S. nickels in proof and unc. condition; yellow seal "Invasion Currency" in one and five dollar denominations.

Mr. Welch: Sets of Liberty and Buffalo nickels.

Mr. Bolus: Sets of Liberty and Buffalo nickels, and coins of Central America.

The meeting was adjourned for an auction of 59 lots.

—C. T. BOLUS, Secretary.

CHARLOTTE (N. C.) COIN CLUB—

The July meeting of the Club was held on the evening of the 19th.

Mr. Fitzgerald recommended that action be taken now toward establishing a permanent Club Library. It was unanimously agreed that such action would be beneficial to the Club. President Conder offered to donate all of Wayne Raymond's works and various other numismatic literature. The Library has now become well established through donations by other members.

Our junior member, Leo Renz, and President Conder arranged to show the movie "Know Your Money." The showing of this film to the members and visitors present proved to be an interesting feature and it was planned to have one of like type on a later date.

—KAY J. JENNEL, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The 106th regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at the Plankinton House, Milwaukee, on August 27, with an attendance of 29 members. Vice President Burmeister presided.

The business meeting was brief. A suggestion for a quiz on numismatics received favorable response and probably will be had at one of our meetings in the near future. Considerable interest also was evidenced in the coming A. N. A. convention in Chicago in September. About ten of our members may be expected to attend the meeting at Chicago on September 11th.

Displays: R. J. Kircher: Seven different types of 1793 large cents in fine to extremely fine condition; complete set of uncirculated Indian Head cents. A. P. Bertsch: Twenty-four pieces large size U. S. paper money. W. J. Boeyer: 1795 U. S. silver dollar, fine to very fine, received in payment of a bill.

After adjournment an auction of about 35 lots was held, and as usual these auctions are an interesting part of our meetings.

—N. J. HOFFMAN, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The 120th meeting of the Society was held at the Newark Athletic Club, Newark, N. J., on September 9th. Nine members and two guests were present. President Brookes presided.

Mr. Wade read press items of numismatic interest.

Mr. Alfred T. Duffield read an exceedingly able paper on U. S. Nickels, much to the members' enjoyment. His paper showed considerable research on the subject and was both interesting and informative.

Mr. Blaisdell, Chairman of the Topics Committee, suggested the following for the October topics: "Half Dimes"; "Invasion Money"; "Mythology on Ancient Coins"; "Coins with Animals on Them"; and "Medals of Columbus."

The topics for the meeting were: "U. S. 5 Cent Nickels"; "Coins of Countries beginning with J, L, & M"; "Fractional Currency"; "Coins of the Twelve Caesars"; and "Medals of New Jersey." The exhibits follow:

Mr. Van Amerigen: Coins of the 12 Caesars.

Mrs. Black: 15 pattern cents of copper nickel; 25c fractional currency; Mass. one shilling and 6 pence—#1884, to be paid "by the 1st Day of Dec. 1782"—signed by J. Brown.

Mr. Blaisdell: U. S. Complete set 5c proofs to 1912; various specimens of fractional currency.

Mrs. Brookes: An enameled brooch made from a Columbian Half Dollar, and one made from a U. S. 1879 Dollar. A Bryan political token.

Mr. Brookes: Japan, 1 Bu and ¼ bu; Latvia, 1 Lats, 20 Santimu; Lubeck, City issue, 1552; Lundy Islands, 1 puffin and ½ puffin; Liberia, 1 cent piece; Luxembourg, 1 Franc; Lichtenstein, 1 Franc; Liban, 1 Piastre; Yellow seal "Short-Snorter" $1.00 bill with 15 signatures; Reconstruction Finance Corp. U. S. Treasury check for 20 cents drawn in payment for one tire.

Mrs. Douglas: Medals of New Jersey.

Mr. Douglas: Coins of the 12 Caesars; N. J. municipal fractional currency.

Mr. Duffield: Nickels—1866-1943, with some dates missing.

Mr. Stockmayer: Fractional currency, about 70 pieces; Coins of Japan; Kiantsehou; Latvia; Liberia; Lithuania; Lundy Islands and Mexico.

Mr. Wade: 21 crown size coins of Montenegro, Lichtenstein, Latvia, Morocco, Malta, Japan, Mexico, Mongolia, and Madras British India.

—EMILY LARSON BROOKES,

Secretary.

NEW YORK NUMISMATIC CLUB—

The 417th regular meeting of the Club was held on Friday evening, September 10, Mr. Thomas F. Morris, President, presiding, with 16 members and one guest present.

The topics for the evening: Silver Dollars from 1794 to 1839; United States Advertising Cards in Similitude to United States Coins; Coins of Italy; Coins of Hadrian; Coins of the Kings of Syria; Political Medals of William Henry Harrison.

Exhibits were made by the following: Mr. Arthur W. Deas: 1 medal, City of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. T. James Clarke: 20 Early U. S. Silver Dollars; 10 Foreign, 10 Ducat Pieces.

Mr. Homer Downing: Large Cuts of 1795, 1796, 1803, 1832 and 1837; Campaign token of Henry Clay.

Mr. R. S. Holzman: Two one-dollar notes with consecutive serial numbers: the first signed by Mellon, the second by Mills.

Mr. T. F. Morris: 9 Specimens U. S. $1.00 silver from 1795 to 1803.

Mr. L. E. Cox: U. S. $1.00 1798 Large Eagle; 2 misstruck 1943 cents; several coins of Italy, including a set of steel money of 1939; 5 cents Postal currency of Ceylon, issued June 1, 1942.

Mr. O. T. Sghia: Crowns of Bologna, Cisalpine Rep., Eritrea, Florence, Genoa, Ligurian Rep., Italy, Lombardy, Lucca, Mantua, Milan, Modena, Neapolitan Rep., Paicma, Piacenza, Ragusa, Roman Rep., Tuscany, Venice.

Mr. Leonard Kusterer: 3 Advertising

Cards; 5 medals of William H. Harrison.

Mr. J. H. Spray: An 1857 quarter in extremely fine condition, which is very rare for this coin. Although there are no 1943 P Nickels made in proof for 1943, still this specimen seems to equal in all respects except brilliancy a proof of the new type nickel.

Mr. G. S. Ragee: Kellogg & Company double eagle; 1854 in choice condition for this coin; quarter eagle, 1808.

Mr. H. J. Stein: Two coins of Capua struck during the occupation of Hannibal; Dekadrachm of Arsinoe II; Sestertius of Hadrian; Large Bronze of Antinous.

Mr. W. Ray Carpenter: Silver proof of the Prince of Wales (Duke of Windsor) struck by Spink. Probably commemorates his trip to India during 1921-1922. Silver proof medal of Pres. Theodore Roosevelt and Prince Henry of Germany—commemorates the latter's visit to the United States in 1902. 5 franc notes of Algeria and Tunisia; 1 franc note of New Caledonia—Free French; Dunham Aluminum Disme Token dated 1919.

Mr. A. H. Arthur: A small collection of American business cards having the similitude of U. S. Coins. An economy War penny used by American soldiers during World War I, while training at Camp Stewart, Ga. A 1943 Steel Cent on a rather thin planchet, unc.

Mr. Joseph Barnett: 17 different Harrison political medals.

Mr. John Zug: $20 gold proof, 1850; $10 demand notes 1861, Boston, Philadelphia and New York; $5 demand note 1861, Boston; $50, $500 and $1000 Montgomery Confederate notes; $5 and $10 Richmond notes of 1861; 50c note, Series III, signed by Allison and New.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd: 184 William Henry Harrison Medals; 168 Advertising Cards.

The Executive Committee suggested as the topics for the October meeting, Roman Coins of Antoninus Pius; United States Dollars 1840 to Date; Coins of the Balkan States; Political Medals and Tokens of Henry Clay. (Adopted.)

The special committee of which Mr. W. Ray Carpenter is chairman for the Coin Exposition to be held at the American Numismatic Society, 156th St. and Broadway from October 16th to October 30th, reported that the committee has been formulating plans for the Exposition to be held on the above dates. He called our attention to the fact that all of the Clubs and Societies in the metropolitan area are cooperating and it is his belief that the Exposition should be a great numismatic success. He requested that all the members of the Club write him immediately, giving him the data on the series of their collection which they intend to exhibit. All communications pertaining to the Exposition are to be addressed to Mr. W. Ray Carpenter, 136 East 208th Street, New York City.

—F. C. C. BOYD, Secretary.

OMAHA COIN CLUB—100th regular meeting. Seven members and five guests present, with President Blaufuss presiding.

Mr. Thorson reported for the committee in regard to having a medal struck to commemorate our 100th meeting. After considerable correspondence they found it would be very difficult and expensive on account of war time conditions to strike a medal at this time.

The committee recommended the issue be deferred. Their report was accepted, correspondence placed on file, and the committee was released with a vote of thanks.

Mr. Addison Wilson made a splendid talk on U. S. quarters. His collection contains all the types of quarters, but his specialty is the Standing Liberty. Mr. Wilson says he believes the 1927-S quarter in unc. condition will be one of our future rarities.

President Blaufuss announced that our next meeting would be a past Presidents' night, and efforts will be made to have all past Presidents out for this meeting. Dr. Judd will talk on "Pattern Quarters," and a door prize will be donated by Mr. Haase.

Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Wilson: Complete set of U. S. quarter dollar types, including a 1796, 1916 Standing Liberty and the rare 1918-S over 1917-S, all in proof or unc. condition. Various other types of U. S. silver coins.

Dr. Judd: Set of Massachusetts Pine Tree Money—shilling, six pence and three pence, all unc., and very rare in this condition.

Mrs. Whitford: Unc. set of British coins mounted on a board.

Mr. Campbell: 1910-S double eagle, unc.

—RAYMOND MOULTON, Secretary.

ORANGE COUNTY (CAL.) COIN CLUB—The Club held its 52nd monthly meeting at the Church of the Messiah in Santa Ana on the evening of August 19th.

President Hanson asked for introduction of guests. Among those introduced was Lt. Stough, of the United States Army, who interested the members by telling of his various collections and hobbies that have accumulated since his boyhood.

Herbert Bergen then presented President Hanson with a very old and rare gun to add to his well known gun collection.

Program chairman Herb Bergen then introduced the noted collector, Mr. Holger Jorgensen, who spoke on Chinese and Roman coins. He gave a complete history of both the types of money, from the first piece up to the present day coins. His talk was very interesting and instructive to all present.

—C. GLENN CURTIS, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The 76th meeting of the Society was held on Monday evening, September 13, at the Benson Hotel in Portland, with President Bibler presiding. There were in attendance 19 members and two guests.

Under the head of old business your President and Secretary read various letters, commenting on our resolution sent to Mr. J. Douglas Ferguson, President of the A. N. A., urging the investment of at least 80% of the surplus funds of the A. N. A. in U. S. War Bonds. Mr. Ferguson's reply was read. After some discussion this matter was allowed to rest until after the Special Advisory Committee has met at the Chicago convention.

It was with regret that we learned of the passing of Mr. Ed M. Lee of Glendale, California, one of the West's great numismatists.

The displays follow:

Mr. Seyffert: Coins of the world, some of them proof coppers.

Geo. McLarty: Collection of local medals and tokens; also souvenirs obtained from German prisoners of war.

Howard Hughes: Norris, Gregg & Norris, A. Bechtler, Wass Molitor and Oregon Beaver, all $5.00 gold, as well as a Northwest token and Hudson Bay tokens.

Henry Perry: A fine display of U. S. gold and half dollars.

Stan Sebolt: Proof set in a new transparent plastic holder.

Leonard Trythall: Unusual gold coins the size of a U. S. dime.

Stephen Bibler: Ancient coins in exceptionally fine condition.

The highlight of our meeting was the paper read by President Steve Bibler, his subject being "The Abernethy Rock, A Medium of Exchange."

The statement that rocks were used in Oregon in the 1840s for money, is one that Mr. Bibler has found to be a fact. This is substantiated by an actual specimen in the museum of The Oregon Historical Society in Portland, and by a series of statements of ownership by persons who had possession of this specimen, which go back to its origin.

This strange medium of exchange came into being because of a great need in those pioneer days for something that could be used in trade by all. Therein is Mr. Bibler's story of Geo. Abernethy and his rocks which circulated for money in the great Oregon country. I will not attempt to condense Mr. Bibler's story for we feel sure we will all be able to read it soon since it was Steve's contribution to the A. N. A. Committee on Papers for the Chicago Convention.

—JOHN R. SLUSHER, Secretary.

PASADENA COIN CLUB—The 31st regular meeting was held September 15th, at 115 E. Union Street, Pasadena; President Langford presiding. 21 members and two guests were present. An exhibit of rare medals by President Langford was shown in the Club's new display coin case. Inability to get the new 1944 Wayne Raymond Coin Catalogue for all those ordering same was discussed. A letter from Mr. J. Hunt Deacon of Australia was read and comments from members showed his letters are appreciated. A Swedish 2 Kroner commemorating Old Sweden—New Sweden was shown by Mr. Rollinson. Discussion of the phenomenal rise in coins and its cause was one of the topics of this meeting. An auction at close of meeting of 93 items brought $72.55, and Mr. Greening, our able Auctioneer, handled this with ease.

—W. D. McCOLLUM, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—The 99th regular meeting was called to order by President Havens on September 9th, in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, with 42 members and guests present.

The Curator, Mr. Reed, announced that the next exhibit at 37 S. 18th St., for the month of September would be large size $1.00 U. S. notes, beginning with the 1862 series.

A vote of appreciation was extended to Mr. Farley for his outstanding exhibit of "The Coins of India" during July and August, which aroused considerable interest.

The exhibits of the evening were as follows:

Mr. Enburg: Thirteen different English shillings in choice condition, from Edward VI, dated 1547, to George VI, dated 1936, including all varieties.

Mr. Schick: A 5 kroner Swedish note fashioned into an ash tray; a Coronation medal of Edward VII dated 1902; a Benjamin Franklin medal designed by August Frank for the National Export Exposition, dated 1899.

Mr. Enburg's exhibit won the vote of the evening as the most outstanding.

Mr. Farley reported that he had submitted a list of eleven numismatic books to Mr. Price of the Free Library of Phila. and was assured that these books would be purchased in an effort to build up the Numismatic section.

He also reported that Dr. Mershon had donated to the library thru the club's committee the new 1944 copy of The Standard Catalogue of U. S. Coins by Wayne Raymond.

A brief period at the close of the meeting for the Club's entertainment was devoted to questions and answers by those present.

The auction at the close of the meeting was conducted by Mr. Schick and consisted of over 150 items, including large U. S. notes in crisp condition, Canadian tokens, U. S. and foreign silver dollars, standing liberty quarters, Scandinavian and Russian coins, and many other varieties.

—ARTHUR SIPE, Secretary.

RACINE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

The sixty-sixth monthly meeting was called to order by Vice-president Arthur E. Jones at 8:30 P. M., Friday, September 10th at the Y. M. C. A. Fourteen members and one guest were present.

The following members stated that they planned to be present at the A. N. A. Convention at Chicago the following day: Gene Arneson, J. V. McDermott, Glenn Goetke, Louis Wilczynski, Karl Borseth and R. S. Yeoman.

A bound volume of 1940 Coin Collectors Journal was presented to the Club by Vice President Arthur E. Jones.

Rev. A. G. Weller, librarian, displayed and gave an interesting talk about the recently reported re-engraved Jefferson nickel of 1939. The sketch by Malcolm Chell-Frost in the February Numismatist was shown the members. The item in the March Scrapbook on this variety was also referred to.

Displays:

Karl Borseth: Hendrick Hudson commemorative gold dollar token 1909, unc.; also 1911 $2½ gold, unc.

Louis Wilczynski: 1836 $1.00 Gobrecht on base. V. F. 1797 $1.00, 10 stars to left, 6 to right.

—R. S. YEOMAN, Secretary.

RICHMOND COIN CLUB—The twenty-ninth regular meeting of the Club was held on Wednesday, September 8, at 8 o'clock at the Byrd Park Club House with the President, Mr. Howe, presiding. There were nine members present.

The President turned the meeting over to Mr. Lewis, Chairman of the Program Committee, who after promising a paper for our next meeting, presented each member with an uncirculated 1943 Canadian 5 cent Victory piece.

Mr. Howe displayed a 1795 $5.00 gold piece obtained at the Grinnel sale. Miss McCaw displayed several pieces of English money as follows: groats of Henry V and Henry VI, and the London groat of Edward IV; half crowns of Elizabeth, George IV, Victoria (old head), George V and George VI.

Mr. Farley showed three bronze pieces of the "Caesars of the Scriptures," Augustus, Tiberius and Claudius, giving us a most interesting talk on them.

—MRS. HELEN G. LEWIS, Secretary.

SYRACUSE NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—Regular monthly dinner and meeting held at Meyers Brass Rail Friday, September 3, at 6:30 P. M. Five members and three visitors present, President Paul Burns presiding.

Subject for discussion was the forthcoming Convention, or Central New York Coin Meeting. This is an annual affair sponsored alternately by the Clubs in Syracuse, Cortland and Rochester. Syracuse sponsored it three years ago, but there was none held in Cortland nor Rochester the past two years. In view of war time travel restrictions and difficulties we cannot expect many to attend from out of town this year. Therefore, it was decided that the local Association would arrange a dinner and exhibit, and possibly an auction, invite the families and extend an invitation to our neighboring Clubs for the attendance of any of their members and families who can find it convenient to come.

Mr. Cassidy will advise Paul Burns when arrangements are made so we can set the date for our meeting. Mr. Burns will then arrange to get a guest speaker for the evening.

—FRANK O. WEBSTER, Secretary.

WASHINGTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—Sixteen members and two guests attended the monthly meeting of the Society, held at the Women's City Club, 736 Jackson Place, N. W., Washington, D. C., on the evening of September 6.

A resolution circulated by the Oregon Numismatic Society, Portland, Ore., recommending that the A. N. A. invest "all surplus funds, or at least 80 percent of the treasury cash, in United States Savings Bonds," was unanimously approved, on motion of Maj. Joseph Moss.

President C. Shirley Leachman presented a letter received from the Secretary of the Boston Numismatic Society commenting on the question of taxation of coin collections. Mr. Leachman said he would try to arrange an interview with Chairman Randolph of the House District Committee before the Society's next meeting, to present the information he has been able to gather that might have a bearing on the move of District tax officials to include coin and stamp collections in personal property assessments.

Mr. William E. Atwood exhibited a specimen of the new Mexican 50 pesos gold piece. Mr. Edward S. Conger showed one of the old-style 50 pesos for comparison. President Leachman exhibited a collection of token money used by the settlers on the Matanuska Valley project in Alaska, started by the Resettlement Administration in 1935.

The meeting closed with an auction sale, with Mr. Charles E. McCormick, of Baltimore, serving as auctioneer. About 120 lots of coins were offered. Sales totaled $38.92; commission received by Society, $2.50.

—N. KEY HART, Secretary.

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the Club was held Wednesday, August 18, in the Williams Room of the Central YMCA, with 14 members present; President Morris in the chair.

A discussion was held, following an article in the August "Scrapbook," on the C. & O. Canal, its issues of paper money, and its bearing on Cumberland.

Member Charles moved that the Club purchase for the library a copy of Adams & Woodin's book on U. S. Pattern Coins; carried.

Member Johnson displayed and spoke on a group of Mexican coins. An interesting item was a piece of "Copper Chisel Money," age unknown, of the ancient Aztecs of Mexico.

Member Parker showed a money scale in very good condition, found in an old post office. This scale was used approximately 90 years ago, at a time prior to the present reeded edge on coins, when many of our silver and gold coins were shaved for bullion and then still used at face value.

Member Wilson has been nominated to the Board of Governors of the A. N. A. The election will take place in September.

The gold dollar drawing, a very fine 1852 coin, was won by member Wilson.

—F. BRUCE FABLE, Secretary.

WESTERN PENNA. NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its regular meeting in the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, on Tuesday evening, September 7th, at 8:00 o'clock; President Coatsworth in the chair, and nine members present.

Exhibits were as follows:

Dr. Gillis: Two varieties of the Joachimthal of Louis I, last Bohemian King; War medal of Crimea—British.

Mr. Marlier: Collection of Russian coins—silver and copper.

Mr. Reynolds: Several Russian coins, including a Soviet dollar used in China in 1934; Mounted rouble, dated 1897, given by the late Czar to the household guard.

Mr. Coatsworth: 2c—1873; 3c silver—1851-O, 1855, 1864; 3c nickel—1877, 1887, 1886.

—RALPH BUTTERBAUGH, Secretary.

THE ASSOCIATION'S LIBRARY

The November issue will contain a condensed report of the proceedings of the Chicago Convention. Especial attention is called to the report of the librarian. To many it will be a revelation, both in content and in the steadily increasing interest shown by collectors. The Library privileges alone are worth the annual cost of membership.

DELUXE COIN CABINETS

Nearly all coin cabinets are now off the market for the duration, as government priorities prohibit the manufacture, due to the hardware, and other materials needed for defense. Fortunately, we have been able to obtain a contract to purchase a LIMITED NUMBER of cabinets, as specifications below, just what every collector is looking for, and unable to locate. Most cabinets that hold 1,000 coins or more usually sell for $20 or upward, and these are priced at practically pre-war prices. If you are in need of a nice cabinet, you will not delay your order, for these will sell very quickly.

It's Hard To Believe . . . .

To call our sale of the Higgy Collection a great success would be gross understatement. It was truly a record-breaking event attended by many of our outstanding collectors and dealers.

When the reports of this sale get around, as they certainly will, you will want to have this eventful catalogue and price list as a permanent record.

We have 100 copies available at $2.00 for the catalogue and price list. Our prediction is that it soon will sell at $5.00 or more and that collectors will seek it for years to come. 100 copies will not last long. If you haven't a copy, order it now.

WANTED FOR CASH

Rolls of Cents, Nickels, Dimes, Quarters, and Halves, 1901 to date, what have you to offer? Must be UNCIRCULATED. What have you in lots of 5 or more of a kind?

Any Choice Numismatic Material including Books and Plate Catalogues?

My Numismatic Library (one of the finest in the country) is for sale. It will not be sacrificed, but I will not ask such ridiculous prices as shown on the realized price lists from recent auctions for this material. This Library will not be separated, and is a cash and carry proposition. No auction.

THANKS for the response

I have a few of the Medals to sell. I have decided to sell the foreign coins in a MAIL AUCTION. This will be some time in October. Let me put your name on the list to receive the catalogue when completed.

Meantime I still want to buy two 1939 Oregon sets.

Write me today what you want to trade. I may have the coins you want. Thanks again.

THE NICKEL

By A. T. DUFFIELD, Summit, New Jersey

(A paper read at the meeting of the New Jersey Numismatic Society September 9, 1943.)

Nickel is a metallic element; melting point  $1440^{\circ}$  Centigrade ( $2625^{\circ}$  Fahrenheit); Brinell Hardness number 85 (3000 Kilograms) and density 8.85. It is white in color with a high optical reflectivity of about 65%; magnetic at ordinary temperatures enabling it to be easily distinguished from white copper base alloys of nickel which are not. It is malleable and readily worked under compression machinery.

The most remarkable thing about the United States five cent piece, familiarly known as the "nickel," is the paucity of information about a coin of which so many have been issued. From the first issue in 1866 to the end of 1942, 2,815,256,992 pieces have been struck, having a total value of $140,762,849.60. Of these: 2,268,440,632 were struck by the Philadelphia Mint, 303,392,300 by the Denver mint, and 243,424,000 by the San Francisco Mint. Denver and San Francisco did not commence striking until 1912. None was coined by Philadelphia in 1877 (except proofs), 1922, 1931, 1932 and 1933; by San Francisco in 1922, 1932, 1933 and 1934; by Denver in 1921, 1922, 1923, 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933. No Buffalos were coined in 1938 by Philadelphia and San Francisco, though both Mints issued Jeffersons in that year. Denver, however, coined both varieties in 1938. In 1942, when the second issue of Jeffersons appeared, with change in metallic content and the letter "P" on the Philadelphian, none of the old style was minted in San Francisco and none of the new style in Denver.

Our nickel is technically known as a cupro-nickel coin, consisting until 1942 of 75% copper and 25% nickel.

The nickel was authorized by Act of Congress May 16, 1866, and first coined in that year. Its weight was 77.16 grams and, as before stated, it consisted of 75% copper and 25% nickel.

The 1866 type, presumably engraved by James B. Longacre, Mint Engraver 1844-1868, shows on the obverse the shield of the United States, with a branch of laurel leaves and berries on either side, joined at the top by what resembles part of a Malta cross and over this IN GOD WE TRUST. Under the shield the date appears. The reverse shows the figure "5" in the center, surrounded by thirteen stars separated by rays, with UNITED STATES OF AMERICA at the top and the word CENTS at the bottom. This type was also coined in 1867, but in that year the design was changed by eliminating the rays between the stars on the reverse. This second type was continued into 1883.

In 1883 a third type was designed. On the obverse appeared the head of Liberty surrounded by thirteen stars, with the date below. The reverse shows a "V" in the center of a wreath, with UNITED STATES OF AMERICA above and E PLURIBUS UNUM below. As the word "cents" did not appear this coin was gilded by sharpers and passed on the uninitiated as a five dollar gold piece. Two million pieces were coined, but the greater part were held by the Government when the sharp practice was discovered. To correct the trouble E PLURIBUS UNUM was moved to the top of the wreath on the reverse and the word CENTS added at the bottom; the new pieces were also issued in 1883, making a fourth type. Presumably types three and four were engraved by Charles E. Barber, Mint Engraver 1880-1916. This fourth type continued through 1912 and in that year was also minted for the first time at Denver and San Francisco.

On account of delay in approving the design for the Buffalo nickel in 1913, dies of Type Four were prepared in that year, and it is reported that five pieces were struck in proof and in some way taken from the Mint. They were said to have been exhibited at the A. N. A. August 1913 convention. They were advertised for sale in 1927. In 1921 they were currently reported to have a value of $750—whether per piece or per lot I do not know. Many 1903, 1908 and 1910 coins, with dates altered to 1913, have been offered to collectors.

And now we come to Type Five—the much maligned Buffalo nickel. In January 1913, the Hon. Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury, was quoted as having said:

"A new five cent piece will shortly be issued with designs that will again assist the art students of our coinage. Coins have always aimed to be works of art, both in ancient and modern times. We do not hope, under present conditions, to equal the coins of the great ancient periods. The artists then had a far greater opportunity because the coins did not have to be stacked. Notwithstanding our practical limitations, however, modern coins can still be immensely interesting and beautiful; and the designs for the new nickel will give this coin a place with the best modern work."

The designer of the "Buffalo" was James Earl Fraser. He claimed to have used three Indians as models for the obverse, of whom two were Chief Iron Tail of the Cheyennes and Chief Two Moons. The former is pictured in the August 1913 Numismatist. The model for the buffalo was "Black Diamond" of the New York Zoo. We might interpolate here that in 1915 Black Diamond was sold (he was then 20 years old) for $700. He weighed 1,550 pounds and dressed to 750 pounds of usable meat. His hide, 13' x 13', was made into a robe, and his head, a magnificent one, was mounted, but where preserved your deponent knows not.

As you all know, the obverse shows an Indian head with the word LIBERTY to the northeast (or 2 o'clock) and the date at the base of the neck with the letter "F", the designer's initial, below it. On the reverse, the buffalo with UNITED STATES OF AMERICA above, E. PLURIBUS UNUM to the northeast (2 o'clock), and FIVE CENTS on the mound on which the buffalo stands. THE NUMISMATIST criticized the die work and concavity of the coin and thought the rough finish would encourage counterfeiting, which it did. It also criticized the obscurity of the date and motto, and thought the slightest wear would obliterate them. This also proved to be the case. Due to the raised mound, the FIVE CENTS quickly wore away. To obviate this difficulty the lower part of the mound was cut away and the FIVE CENTS in raised letters did not show above the level surface of the coin. This was done in 1913, so two types of the Buffalo were minted in that year, known as Type I, or the Mound, and Type II. As nickel issues, however, they are really Type V and Type VI. The Buffaloes were made at all the Mints and in most of the years 1913-1938. The first Buffalo piece was struck at Philadelphia February 17, 1913.

In 1936 George W. Williams, of the Baltimore Coin Club, suggested to the authorities that coins bearing heads of Presidents be issued from time to time until all of the Presidents were accounted for, beginning with Jefferson. Why he overlooked John Adams, I do not know. Washington was already taken care of on the 1932 quarter and Lincoln was on the cent. Whether because of this suggestion, or not, the Government opened a competition for designs of a Jefferson nickel, and some 390 designs were submitted. The committee of judges selected the design of Felix Schlag, of Chicago, and after certain modifications the Jefferson nickel was issued in 1938 by all the Mints. This was the first U. S. coin design ever selected in open competition.

This nickel (Type VII) bears the head of Jefferson on the obverse, with IN GOD WE TRUST to the left and LIBERTY and the date to the right. On the reverse, a representation of Jefferson's home, Monticello, with the name immediately below. Under that, FIVE CENTS and below UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Above the mansion E PLURIBUS UNUM. The mint marks for San Francisco and Denver were placed to the right of the mansion.

In 1942 a new issue, Type VIII, was struck and the metallic content was changed on account of copper and nickel shortages. It contains 56% silver, 9% manganese, and 35% copper, so our nickel is no longer a nickel.

The only change in design was the placing of the mint designation above the mansion, instead of at the right, and for the first time in its history, I understand, the Philadelphia mint was designated by a "P".

If you ever stop to think how many different things could be purchased for a nickel, I believe you will agree with me in my belief that there are more than can be purchased with any other single U. S. coin. In addition to its use in slot machines, telephone coin boxes and subway turnstiles, it will buy many articles of merchandise, and once would buy a Satevepost. In one 5 and 10 store a few years ago there were over 800 items purchasable for a nickel. No wonder the Government has had to strike over two and three-quarter billions of them.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

Chicago, September 11, 12 and 13, 1943

(In the interests of economy and of conservation of paper, it was decided that this year's proceedings be incorporated with the regular issue of November, rather than publish separately, as in recent years; also, that they be edited and condensed, omitting, however, nothing of importance to the record. The following account is presented on that basis.—Ed.)

The first session of the Convention was called to order Saturday morning at 11 o'clock by J. Henri Ripstra of Chicago, Past President of the Association, member of the Board of Governors, and chairman of the Convention Committee. After expressing a very gracious welcome to the members in attendance, Mr. Ripstra asked President Ferguson to take the chair and formally open the Convention.

The Committee on Credentials through its chairman, C. Lou Snyder of Chicago, reported the requisite number present to constitute a quorum.

The President then announced the personnel of the various committees, and, after paying a tribute to those members whose deaths had occurred during the fiscal year, he asked General Secretary Sheldon to read their names, the Convention standing.

IN MEMORIAM

Let us now pause in remembrance of those members whose deaths occurred during the past year. We are grateful for the contribution they have made to the welfare of the Association, and are confident their influence will persist. Their passing is regretted in all sincerity, and this regret springs from a deep sense of fraternity which does exist among the members of our organization. May we unflinchingly keep this spirit alive.

Here are the names of those whose loss we record today:

L. E. Armant
Irl E. Baker
H. Prescott Beach
Reverend Francis Betten

John B. Sunt
Rudolph Svinning

The President then presented his annual report, given here in full:

PRESIDENT FERGUSON'S ADDRESS

"Another year has passed into history. The strength of the free peoples, with ever increasing momentum, is rapidly restoring freedom throughout the world. Much blood must yet be shed; many months, perhaps several years of intense effort, including some privations, we must expect. Many of our loved ones will not come back, but freedom and liberty will be restored throughout the world, and you and I will again live in a world at peace. A world of peace that I hope and pray we will see is maintained through a united agreement between the English-speaking peoples of the world and, if possible, between all the nations now our allies, against aggression.

"In these dark days through which we have passed, we have perhaps realized as never before that our ideals are as one. We have shown by the remarkable coordination of our armed forces throughout the world that we are satisfied to set aside nationalistic pride and individualism, that our full power may be unified to meet our common objective. Let us keep this before us as our objective as we enter a new era of peace. Our great leaders have warned us that there will be many dark days yet ahead: let us not make the mistake, natural as it may be, of softening our efforts toward winning the war until that very hour when peace is declared.

"Many of us may be physically and mentally tired from the strain of what we have been going through since the beginning of the war, even in our civilian responsibilities. Let us realize how small our contribution is, compared with those boys who have given their lives for us, or who, while possibly being returned to us, will come back maimed for life. In order that these great sacrifices may be kept to a minimum, may those of us on the home front put into our everyday life a little more effort, in order that our part may be well done.

Wholesome Condition of the A. N. A.

"Through this, another year of war our Association, I am glad to report, has come through with increased strength both in membership activities and in finances. You will be glad to know that our membership and our finances are in their strongest position in the lifetime of our Association. I do not intend to give you statistics in these my remarks. This information you will receive in the reports of the General Secretary, of our Honorary Treasurer, and of our other elective officers.

"On behalf of the membership, and particularly because of the outstanding co-operation and understanding I have received, I want to pay great credit to our Vice-President, to the members of our Board of Governors, to our General Secretary, to our Honorary Treasurer, to our Librarian and Curator, to our Director of Publicity, to our Editor and Business Manager of THE NUMISMATIST, his acting predecessor in office and later his assistant, Mr. Lee Hewitt, and to the District Secretaries. Largely to them, to their unselfish, wholehearted cooperation and leadership, goes the credit for the extremely healthy position we find ourselves in at this time.

"The membership will be interested to know that, in keeping with the recommendations of the Advisory Committee on Finances, as appointed two years ago upon the order of the Philadelphia Convention, your Executive have again authorized that an amount approximating the surplus from our year's operations is to be invested in Government bonds of the United States of America.

The Library

"Particularly would I like to comment on the outstanding work performed by our Librarian and Curator, Mr. Hammer. In studying his report you will appreciate the immense amount of work associated with his responsibilities. This he has performed most efficiently and willingly.

"Your Executive are of the opinion that our circulating Library should be one of the greatest sources of value to the membership of our Association. The additions which have been made to our Library again this year and last, have made it of greatly increased value. Our membership is to be congratulated upon the excellent manner in which they have cooperated with the Librarian in returning books promptly.

"Your General Secretary was appointed Chairman of a committee responsible for the issuance of slides illustrating coins and medals, prepared by a new process, to be made available to Corporate Clubs for their meetings. I am delighted that our General Secretary, although intensely busy with his regular civilian responsibilities associated with war work, is able to report that two complete sets of these slides are now available to form the nucleus of a new service obtainable by our membership through our Library. He will report in greater detail to you.

"Many of you will have noticed that our Membership and Library Lists are badly out of date. While recognizing this fact, your Executive were of the opinion that we should not rush to have these republished while we had on hand a considerable number of the present issue of both of these booklets. It is now recognized that they must be republished. Our Librarian has completed the material for the new Library List, and my successor in office, and the incoming Executive I understand, will be ordering the printing of this to be completed early this Fall.

"Our General Secretary has been appointed to complete a new Membership List which will be ordered printed upon the advice of the newly elected Executive.

The Official Magazine

"To the great group of members of the Association, THE NUMISMATIST is representative of our national body. All of us eagerly look forward to its arrival each month. I had the sad responsibility a year ago of announcing the resignation of our great friend and Honorary member, Frank Duffield, from the Editorship and Business Managership of our magazine, an office which he had filled for so long most efficiently. Mr. Duffield, very much against his will, found it necessary to give the Association very short notice for his replacement. Your Executive, while in Convention at Cincinnati, most carefully reviewed those among the membership who might do honor to the Association by succeeding Mr. Duffield. One among the membership stood out in all of our minds as through his experience being particularly suitable for the appointment. Unfortunately it was recognized that since he was already connected as Editor and part owner of another outstanding numismatic magazine, that it would not be desirable to carry out his appointment on a permanent basis. Mr. Lee Hewitt was asked if he might find it possible temporarily to accept the Editorship and Business Managership of THE NUMISMATIST until a permanent appointee could be located, at the same time temporarily discontinuing his active association with his own magazine. Mr. Hewitt showed his extreme loyalty to our Association and his outstanding character when he at once agreed.

"That he served our Association with honor and great credit to himself, is evident from the issues which were produced under his direction, until the appointment of Mr. Burton H. Saxton.

"We have all been much interested to know that Mr. Hewitt has now entered the Armed Services of the United States of America. We wish him all the best luck in the world, including his safe return home after victory has been won.

"I am sure we all recognize the wholehearted effort, the constructive and businesslike editorship that Mr. Burton H. Saxton is giving to us as Editor of THE NUMISMATIST. It has been my good fortune to have been closely in contact with Mr. Saxton through correspondence during these months. He has already inaugurated a number of new features in our magazine. He has other plans in mind. Under his keen and thoughtful management I am satisfied that we will be extremely proud of our magazine. He is working toward the time when increased funds from our advertising will either entirely take care of the expenses of THE NUMISMATIST, or allow for even a larger publication.

A Notable Recommendation

"I would recommend for action at this Convention the appointment of a Committee to establish a medal of outstanding artistic merit to be awarded annually in gold and silver (or silver and bronze), to the two members of the Association whose contribution or contributions to THE NUMISMATIST are considered to have been of the greatest merit during the Association's year. Such presentations to take place at each annual Convention, commencing with that of the year 1944, the funds for the medal to be taken from the general funds of the Association. A separate Committee being appointed annually by the President and by succeeding Presidents, to consist of the Editor of THE NUMISMATIST as Chairman, the President as ex officio, and one other member, to decide upon the recipients. If, because of wartime restrictions the actual striking of these medals should not be feasible during the period of war, the award to be announced at the annual Convention and the actual medal itself to be forwarded when regulations have allowed the striking of the medal.

"With other numismatic publications paying for much of their material, it seems to me that some such recognition should be available to our most outstanding contributors as a mark of their research and writing. I believe this would bring about many splendid papers containing much original material, and would in consequence make our magazine more outstanding and the work of our Association more valuable. While so many scientific bodies annually award such medals for contributions in their fields of research and writing, it has been, I believe, an omission which we should at once rectify, to create some such recognition in our Association.

"I believe that if the Convention should approve this recommendation, the Committee appointed to take the responsibility for the issuance of the medal should secure sketches and suggestions from some of the leading medallic sculptors of this continent, and it should be understood that a reasonably substantial fee would be paid to the sculptor finally commissioned. Companies regularly making it a practice of striking medals would also be of outstanding help to such a Committee.

"I look forward to the time in later years when a second medal may also be issued by the Association, to be awarded perhaps every second year, in gold, to the author of the most outstanding book on a numismatic subject published during that period. Such a medal might or might not be limited to members of the Association.

"I have been sorry that, due to the necessity of making this, our annual Convention, a 'streamlined' business meeting, it has not seemed fair to the membership as a whole to bring about a review of our Constitution and By-laws which was scheduled for this year, and for which a special Committee was appointed following the last Convention, under the Chairmanship of Major Joseph Moss. We all recognize the outstanding aptitude that Major Moss has for undertaking this important revision. I would like to suggest to the incoming Executive that they reappoint Major Moss with the understanding that he continue his study of our Constitution and By-laws, with the thought that at our first Convention following the coming of peace, he would report his recommendations to that year's annual Convention.

Future Possibilities

"Anyone who has been as closely associated with the affairs of our Association as its President during two years of office, I believe may be pardoned for looking into the future. As bright and as outstanding as has been our past, I can readily foresee a future many times more active and more successful.

"I feel the officers and membership will be interested to know that I believe that when the war is over, we should begin at once to look about for a full-time numismatist, with outstanding business ability, to be the active business head of our Association. Legally we must and do maintain an office in Washington. Our present office there merely meets the requirements of the law. I believe that after the war we should have our own space in Washington, a small office in a good location where this full-time active head of the Association would have his headquarters. I believe he should be designated as our General Secretary. I feel that he, with a good stenographer, could undertake the responsibilities of our present General Secretary, and of either or possibly both our Director of Publicity and of our Librarian and Curator.

"As excellent as have been the services rendered by the present incumbents of those offices, we cannot always hope to have men so willing to devote practically their full leisure time to our responsibilities, as have these men now in office. As our Association continues to grow, it will quickly reach beyond the time when these responsibilities can be adequately discharged in their spare time.

"There may be some members who will have the feeling that it would be desirable to have our general office in a more central location, such as Chicago, bearing in mind also that our present General Secretary, as well as his predecessor in office, have been located here. As for the central location, I do not feel that this is particularly important with the speed of modern communication, taking into consideration that our annual Conventions are, by agreement, held at various points from year to year. If I felt that our present General Secretary would be keenly interested in such a permanent appointment and he could not leave Chicago, I would possibly somewhat modify my views. On the other hand, I know that he has continued in office only at considerable sacrifice to himself, and upon the strongly expressed wish of his fellow-officers and a considerable portion of the membership.

"Since our Association is privileged to be chartered by the United States of America, and must, according to that charter, have an office in the city of Washington, I feel that for all of these reasons it is in the best interests of our Association eventually to locate our permanent headquarters there. I feel that the Executive in office at the time peace arrives, should squarely face the desirability of such a step. I believe that financially it is feasible. Our incoming Executive may wish to appoint a Committee to give careful study to such a plan and make recommendations to the Executive for their consideration, that they in turn may have definite recommendations to make to the national Convention in assembly after peace has been restored to this earth.

Acknowledgments

"We are greatly indebted to our Convention Committee, consisting of our old friend and past President, Mr. Henri Ripstra, Chairman, with Mrs. Marie G. Boyer and Mr. H. R. Klein, as members, for the excellent arrangements they have made for this Convention, which is taking the form of a wartime business meeting.

"We are further greatly appreciative of the many courtesies and thoughtful kindnesses which are being shown us by the Chicago Coin Club. This evening I hope to have the privilege of conveying our gratitude to their Club at the special meeting they have arranged in our honor.

"I want to thank the members who have accepted appointments to the various Convention Committees for their wholehearted cooperation.

"In closing, may I again express my heartfelt appreciation to my fellow-officers and to the membership at large, for their wonderful cooperation during the two years in which I have had the honor of serving you. May the sessions of this wartime business meeting be conducted with the same wholesome, high-minded spirit of complete cooperation and understanding."

---

Because of the fact that certain printed reports had been prepared in advance, and given to members for review at the time of their registration, this portion of the program was expedited, various points being discussed or clarified as desired. The reports acted upon at this first session follow. All were accepted, and such portions as required it were referred to the Auditing and Resolutions committees.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S SUMMARY

Financial

This past year proved a continuation of the former year's trend with increased collections that carried our income to a new high. The net income above operating expense similarly shows a slight gain. Collections have been prompt, which minimized the Collection Cost and further reduced the need for second and third dues notices to the delinquents. It is to the member's cooperation in remitting dues within thirty days following receipt of dues statement in December, that this office owes a full measure of appreciation. The handling of a maximum amount of dues prior to January greatly simplifies this routine in the General Secretary's office.

Uncollected dues from 1943 delinquents dropped to $141.75, as compared to $678.00 a year ago.

General Operating expenses increased slightly for the year, which in turn, were proportionate to the membership body gain.

Memberships

Numismatics has steadily gained a broader field of fraternal and speculative following. Our membership gain is a reality to this observation. The admittance of Corporate Clubs, Life and Regular memberships have increased the membership roll to the largest in the A. N. A. history. Two Junior Members have been admitted under the Cincinnati resolution to accept juniors between the ages of 18 and 21 years, with reservations. It is suggested to promote a keener interest in this membership class and in a measure for the years spent, to investigate, prepare and set up a permanent affiliation class for deserving youth.

Secretarial

Comparable with the A. N. A. growth, is the parallel office increase of correspondence and records. The past year has proved a peak one in that regard. The foreign mails have been uncertain and slow; though better than the preceding year. Domestic mails have undergone a decided change with appreciably slower schedules and many more handling errors noted. Communications to those in the Armed Services are equal to personal mails in that bracket. Government regulations are being complied with in every detail and with cooperation in the various agencies the best.

The acquisition of Ediphone equipment and a heavy safe, has contributed greatly to the office efficiency. As the A. N. A. now owns a nearly complete office equipment setup, which bulk and weight proved too much for the home apartment, this office is now installed at 565 West Washington Blvd., Chicago, Ill. In general, every effort is made to streamline this office into the limited hours away from the war production that comes first.

Recommended Improvements

A steady membership turnover and increase has caused the need for additional filing cabinets. The purchase of necessary additional cabinets is suggested.

Honorable Mention

Honors and thanks are given to Mr. William Mertes of St. Cloud, Minnesota, for proposing and signing for more applicants than any other lay-member of the Association. Messrs. D. G. Piper, Edward Fogler and Ira S. Reed follow closely in this honored class.*

Mr. Horace M. Grant of Rhode Island, again leads the District Secretary group in number of applications sponsored. All officers contributed much toward increasing the number of applications received during the 1942-1943 Fiscal Year by 89 over the previous year.

This office is very grateful for the generous cooperation by fellow officers and members at large. By their efforts and interest, the Association now has the largest membership in its history.

M. VERNON SHELTON, General Secretary.

* Mr. Sheldon's report also included a list of 226 sponsors of applications for membership during the year, totalling 574.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN-CURATOR

Showing an increase in circulation over the preceding year, and indicating a sustained interest in numismatics, your Librarian-Curator submits herewith his report for the fiscal year 1942-1943.

This report is based upon the monthly reports sent to the President and to the General Secretary.

A total of 762 books were borrowed, as compared to 726 during the previous year; there were 283 different loans, the same as during the preceding year.

Other statistics: Delays account books out, 52; no. different borrowers 279 (computed monthly, which means that four persons had two loans the same month—there were approximately 255 different borrowers for the year); 271 letters received, not including queries from non-members; 289 letters written not including above "fan mail"; 580 letters received from non-members about coin values, etc.; 609 postal cards used by the Library.

Sixty-nine books were bound by the Librarian and 52 by binderies; there were 21 book purchases, totaling 54 books.

Illinois led in circulation for the third successive year with 88 books; Iowa again was second with 74, and Pennsylvania was third with 66. During the preceding year the figures were: Illinois, 109; Iowa, 92; and New York, 74. (Complete circulation by states in separate table).

Important additions to the library included: American Journal of Numismatics, complete; Spink's Numismatic Circular, complete; Atkins English Colonial Coinage; A. W. Hands "Common Greek Coins," Vol. I; Schultz Fractional Currency check list; these were purchased. Among donations: a number of old auction catalogues and current auction catalogues; Henry Jewett sale, 1909; M. A. Stickney sale, 1907; famous Jenks sale of 1921.

We lost no postage through borrowers having failed to return same, although there was a $4 loss from this item the previous year.

Statistical Summary

DISBURSEMENTS

|                                     |          |
|-------------------------------------|----------|
| New books .....                     | $146.04 |
| Binding .....                       | 91.36    |
| Postage and box rent .....          | 26.00    |
| Office expenses .....               | 71.17    |
| Cartage, express, etc. ....         | 34.33    |
| Printing and steno. help .....      | 20.87    |
| Insurance, safety deposit box ..... | 28.70    |

The postage was higher because of the numerous exchanges made by the library in acquiring new works and trading duplicate copies of The Numismatist for copies not in the Library. Some of the donations came express and some by parcel post—likewise binding and new book purchases increased the expense in that department. Also charged against the cartage and express were shipments to Cincinnati and to Waterloo, Iowa, where the Library had exhibits. The costs totaled nearly $20. The Cincinnati one, the first attempt by the Library to have a display at a national convention, was approved by President Ferguson. The nearly 100 books displayed there were not counted as loans; neither were those displayed at Waterloo. Also charged against office expense was the building of a wooden case for coins and medals in the custody of the Librarian-Curator. This cost nearly $10 for labor and materials, and was needed greatly.

There were several other catalogues by Mr. Blake and by Mrs. Henderson as reported in our monthly column in The Numismatist.

OTHER DONATIONS

A pair of 1943 Canadian bronze five-cent pieces, uncirculated, were donated by Bert Koper.

Mrs. J. M. Henderson contributed 20 ANA convention badges and seven ANA convention photographs. These will be put with the badges and photographs exhibited annually at the regular conventions. Dr. Henderson had given this committee several items previously to fill in for years needed, and the foregoing are duplicates.

A member reported losing Coins of Early America (C-10) by Sylvester Crosby, and Coinage of 1793 Cents and Half Cents (Crosby). The work on colonial American coins is the most popular in the Library and the second (C-11) is out most of the time also. We purchased new copies at once. Then the member found those reported lost or stolen. However, the work on Colonials was in need of repairs and the Librarian really needed a second so he could serve better in answering queries.

At the suggestion of the General Secretary, we kept a record during the 1941-1942 fiscal year, and were able to report spending 666 hours on Library work. During the past 12 months we devoted 920 hours to the library. A tabulation by months: August 97, September 48, October 77, November 68, December 60, January 62, February 78, March 74, April 71, May 88, June 102 and July 95. In April, May and June we spent a lot of time due to the pricing of catalogues given the Library, although we had some help in this work; much time was spent in October on sorting over old, loose Numismatists, and compiling lists of these and duplicates for publication in The Numismatist. In August, 1942, much of the time was required for the year end report and getting the shipment of coins, medals and books to the convention. The 97 hours spent on Library work that month does not include any time at the Cincinnati convention.

We started work in June on the new Library list. This alone required more than 100 hours before the typing started and we have it about one-fourth typed at this writing. The foregoing tabulation does not include trips to the post office. Much time is spent every week looking up books for members who write in and ask us to select two or three or more works on a certain subject. Many queries are received from collectors and non-collectors to identify items—this alone requires time. And the report will show we wrote 289 letters, used 609 postal cards and answered in addition 580 letters from non-members. These frequently require a lot of research to identify coins from written descriptions, drawings or rubbings. So we spent about 2½ hours a day on Library work—only it does not work out that way. There is a little work to be done every day and it takes about two full evenings, plus 90 per cent of the week end. At this writing, we have worked 11 consecutive Sundays from morning until night, often until midnight.

Growing constantly, the Library occupies two rooms in addition to a pantry we took over for the storage of duplicate Numismatists and the coin and medal cabinet. It requires 77 hours a month to handle the Library work, not including the two trips a day to the post office.

In addition to the receipts for the operation of the Library, we received $6.02 from the sale of duplicate Numismatists and $1.75 from the sale of convention badges.

At the Cincinnati convention, the Board of Governors voted the American Journal of Numismatics purchase and binding would not be credited against the 1942-1943 appropriation. Although this purchase was voted by the board in the 1941-1942 fiscal year, it was charged against the Library for the current fiscal year, since no special appropriation was made, and for that reason it appeared the Library exceeded its appropriation.

We will be happy to see an increase in the number of borrowers and the number of books during the coming year if we again serve in this capacity. Each loan averaged two and two-thirds books during the year; average postage was around 13 to 15 cents, running from 1½c to 61c. There were 167 insured loans and 108 uninsured. Four members of the Association visited the Library in addition to Burlington Coin Club members.

T. R. HAMMER, Librarian-Curator.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY

The duties of the Director of Publicity consist chiefly in (1) writing and inserting advertisements in the name of the Association in selected publications, inviting interested persons to apply for membership, subscribe to The Numismatist, order a sample copy at 25c, or write for further information; (2) assisting the District Secretaries in promoting publicity for the Association; and (3) answering of general inquiries regarding numismatics.

During the past year the work has been carried on in a manner similar to that of preceding years. The financial and statistical report given below indicates a substantial increase in activity over any preceding year and with corresponding increase in results obtained. While the amount spent for advertising has been less than in former years the actual amount of advertising has been greater and its effectiveness has been improved. Our most productive advertisement is that appearing in the Whitman Handbook, carried through the courtesy of the publishers without cost to the Association. Mr. Barney Bluestone has been kind enough to carry a full page advertisement for the Association in most of his auction catalogs, without charge. Our advertisement in the Numismatic Scrapbook on an exchange of space agreement with the Numismatist has been continued. These advertisements have brought us a tremendous response without expenditure of cash from the appropriation for advertising.

The distribution of the Haskin booklets has been continued to those District Secretaries requesting them. The number of requests has been somewhat fewer than in preceding years but sufficient to exhaust the supply on hand at the beginning of the year and an additional 300 copies purchased during the year.

The recommendations of the special Committee on Publicity, appointed last year by the President (See 1942 Proceedings, page 33) have been carried out insofar as possible and with very satisfactory results.

The sale of single copies has increased considerably and the cost of mailing them accounts for a part of the increase in expense for postage and printing. Because of the large volume of mail handled it has been necessary to use numerous printed forms to save time and we now have a stock of these sufficient for most of the needs of the coming year.

The checking account for this office carried in the Chase National Bank has continued to be a great convenience. We have a working balance of $200 there, in addition to the unexpended balance of the advertising appropriation. This was done in order to maintain a minimum balance of $200 in accordance with the requirements of the Bank.

Even with printed form letters and other time-saving devices the volume of mail at times became so heavy that some secretarial assistance was required in order that it might all be answered promptly. The total expense for this assistance amounted to $60.50 during the year and this expenditure was authorized by the Executive Board. It is included below in item 16 which also includes amount spent for Haskin booklets.

The Director of Publicity had the pleasure of acting as general chairman of the National Coin Week Committee this year. It was impossible (or at least inconvenient) to maintain a separate postage account for Coin Week publicity so that all postage used for publicity purposes by this office was charged to the general advertising appropriation. The total expense of Coin Week slightly exceeded the appropriation for that purpose so that the deficit was paid out of the general advertising appropriation.

The financial report below shows that the income from this office is nearly double the expense. As pointed out in each previous report the cash receipts do not represent in full the results of the work of this office. Some advertising which has been paid for (and all that has been authorized has been paid for) has not yet appeared. Some applications have been sent directly to the General Secretary in cases where the original contact was made with this office as a result of our advertising. The expenditures include, in addition to the special items already mentioned, the cost of the Haskin booklets and the answering of general numismatic inquiries, a service which we render but for which we expect and receive no income.

The following recommendations are made with respect to this office:

1. The appropriation for 1943-44 be $500, as for this past year.
2. The working balance of $200, not subject to withdrawal for any expenditures, remain on deposit to guarantee a minimum balance as required by the Bank.
3. The continued authorization of the purchase and distribution to District Secretaries of the Haskin booklets to an amount not to exceed $75. We had a similar authorization this year but required only $27.
4. The continued authorization of the use of a limited number of surplus and back numbers of The Numismatist for advertising purposes, to be paid for at single copy rate from the advertising appropriation to an amount not to exceed $60. (This is a mere matter of bookkeeping for the amount is forwarded to the Business Manager and remains in the funds of the Association, but it is desirable to have a record of the number used in this way.)
5. With the approval of the Business Manager of The Numismatist, the continuation of the exchange of space agreement with the Numismatic Scrapbook (one-half page per month), without charge against the appropriation for advertising.

The Director of Publicity takes this opportunity of expressing his thanks to all those persons who contributed in any way to the effectiveness of the work of this office. Special thanks are due to the Whitman Publishing Company and to Mr. Barney Bluestone for their generosity to the Association in carrying our advertisements without charge.

The financial report appears below in the last column of the table and the corresponding figures for the preceding four years are given for comparison. Details of the expenditures with receipts and cancelled checks for each item (except postage) have been furnished to the Auditing Committee and are available to others on request. An error which appeared in the report of 1942 (cash on hand August 1, 1942) has been corrected.

Appropriation was $100. This amount was received from the Treasurer.

Deficit of $12.48 and postage from office of General Chairman were charged to appropriation of Director of Publicity.

LEWIS M. REAGAN, General Chairman.

Lewis M. Reagan of Brooklyn, Chairman of the National Coin Week Committee, in adding comments to its report, reminded the Convention of the various prizes awarded (reported in the June NUMISMATIST), stating that all had been delivered except one, the first prize, which was won by the New Jersey Numismatic Club, consisting of an attractive banner. Damon G. Douglas of Caldwell, New Jersey, a member of the Club, being present, Mr. Reagan asked him to receive the banner on behalf of his Club, an especially fitting commission since Mr. Douglas had been chairman of the local committee.

EDWARD T. NEWELL ILLUSTRATION SLIDE COMMITTEE REPORT

In general terms, this Committee has retrenched to confine its activities to the making of slides from rare coins only as the opportunities are offered. From the 1941-42 year was carried over a considerable stock of plastic which made further purchases unnecessary during the 1942-43 fiscal year. Therefore, none of the appropriation of \$100.00, set up at the Cincinnati Convention was employed. Since our plastic stock of clear material is nearly exhausted, there has been placed an order in the amount of \$30.00 for random pieces of  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch thick lucite. Ample stock of amber plastic is still at hand for the Committee's use. As there will be no colored plastic available for the duration, the conserving of this material for only special purposes is apparent.

At this writing there are 860 slides in various states of manufacture. Two complete sets of U. S. Commemorative Types are nearly completed. These represent the only complete series approaching completion for distribution. Your Committee has progressed slowly and surely with these slides so as to make certain when complete, they will be permanent and a credit to our Library.

It is suggested to again appropriate $100.00 for the continuation of this educational slide project, and that another Committee be appointed to carry forward during the 1943-1944 fiscal year the Edward T. Newell Illustration Slide effort.

REPORT OF AUDITING COMMITTEE

We have made an examination of the books and records kept by the General Secretary and the Treasurer, and the statements prepared by the Business Manager of The Numismatist for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1943, and submit herewith statements of Income and Expenses for the general fund and for The Numismatist, and a statement of transactions of the Life Membership fund, together with a summary of cash transactions for the fiscal year.

With the exception of The Numismatist, each of the separate functions of the Association has had a profit. Had The Numismatist been credited with a portion of members' dues for their subscriptions, this would also have yielded a profit. The Association profit for the fiscal year was $2,941.43 but, since a $2,000 Series F War Bond had been purchased at a cost of $1,480, the increase in the cash funds was only $1,461.43. We understand that instructions have been given for the purchase of $2,500 additional War Bonds, but that they had not as yet been bought.

The attached statements do not agree in detail with those of the several officers because of the separation herein of general and Numismatist transactions, the absence from the statement of the General Secretary of interest on bank balances and the dividend from the closed bank, and because of the allowances made by us for the balances held by the Business Manager of

The Numismatist and by the Director of Publicity. However, the records of each of these officers correctly record the income and the expenditures appertaining to their several offices.

During the year the income and expenses of The Numismatist were cleared through the office of the General Secretary. The old cash balance of Mr. Duffield was transferred to the Treasurer after its accuracy was determined.

Our examination consisted of tracing the vouchers to the entries in the several cash books, inspecting the checks returned by the bank for signatures and endorsements, and comparing them with the cash book entries. The formal vouchers were examined to ascertain that the Treasurer was properly authorized by the President and General Secretary to draw the checks on the bank. Original invoices were traced to the cash book when they were available. Many were missing because they had been returned to the creditors to be receipted. Inasmuch as the cancelled checks constitute a good receipt, the Treasurer was instructed to retain them in future in his files. Recorded receipts were compared with deposits made in the banks. Membership records were not checked for the reason that they are too bulky to be shipped from Chicago for audit outside that city. Mr. Damon Douglas was asked by the committee to examine the $2,000 War Bonds and reported that he had examined them, giving the necessary details to the committee.

The books were neatly and accurately maintained and correctly show the finances of the American Numismatic Association. We wish to express our thanks to the various officers for their courtesy and cooperation which greatly facilitated the work of the auditors.

MARTIN F. KORTJOHN, Certified Public Accountant.

At this point the Editor made the comment that "the so-called 'loss' of $2,300 under THE NUMISMATIST should in fairness be reduced by the existing paper stock inventory of $500, leaving the real excess of disbursements over income only $1,800." To which Mr. Kortjohn replied that the Editor was entirely correct in his statement.

A suggestion was made by George J. Bauer of Rochester that hereafter Life Memberships should be limited to individuals. (This privilege is now enjoyed by a number of clubs, and one library.) Loyd B. Gettys of Davenport moved that it be referred to the Resolutions Committee; seconded by Mr. Ripstra, and carried.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

The Committee on Education wish to report that our work has, of necessity, been dormant this past year, due to the war. In most cases members of the Committee are serving in the United States forces or are doing defense work.

Because of the importance of the work, we wish, however, to request a continuance of the present financial allotment reserved for the Committee's use. The committee hopes to resume its work at the war's ending, and wishes to keep the funds available for that time.

Best wishes to the members attending the 1943 convention.

EMILY LARSON BROOKES, Chairman.

The President expressed the wish that when conditions again become normal this Committee would actively resume its duties.

Second Day's Session

Meeting called to order at 9 o'clock Sunday morning; President Ferguson in the chair.

FURTHER REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS

Your Committee has carefully examined the proxies validated by the General Secretary and we hereby certify that the following is a true count of those received.

C. LOU SNYDER, Chairman
J. H. MORRIS, JR.
LEWIS M. REAGAN.

The Resolutions Committee (Russell W. Stehfest, V. Leon Belt and C. T. Shelby) being ready to make partial report, the chairman presented the following:

It is the recommendation of this Committee that the American Numismatic Association

(a) appropriate the sum of $500 for the fiscal year 1943-44 for the use of the Director of Publicity, being the same amount and appropriated under the same terms as for last year;

(b) that the Director of Publicity be authorized to purchase and distribute to District Secretaries and such other sources as he may deem appropriate Haskin booklets, to cost the Association not in excess of $75;

(c) that the Director of Publicity be authorized to use such surplus back numbers of The Numismatist for advertising purposes as may be available, which shall be paid for at the single copy rate from the advertising appropriation to an amount not exceeding $75;

(d) that the Director of Publicity and the Business Manager of The Numismatist be authorized to continue the exchange of advertising space between The Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine and The Numismatist on the same terms and conditions as are now in force.

(ADOPTED)

Upon consideration of the extra expense and expenditure of time required by the offices of our Librarian and Director of Publicity, it is recommended by your Committee that the allowance made to these two offices be increased in the sum of $10 per month over and above the allowance for the past year, and that said amounts be paid to said officers quarterly.

(ADOPTED)

Upon recommendation of the Librarian-Curator, T. R. Hammer, it is the recommendation of your Committee that the sum of $300 be advanced to said Librarian-Curator for the fiscal year 1943-44 to be used as may be necessary for office expense, book binding, and/or the purchase of new books. It is the belief of this Committee that this amount is necessary in order to keep the much enlarged Library in proper condition, and respectfully recommend the adoption of this resolution.

(ADOPTED)

It is the recommendation of this Committee that the salary of the General Secretary be increased from $1,500 to $2,100 for the fiscal year 1943-44, proportionate amounts of said salary to be paid monthly as they become due. An increase is recommended because of the increased duties connected with the office by reason of a substantial increase in our membership; the additional correspondence connected therewith, necessitating additional time and, also, by reason of the general increase in wages and costs of living brought about by conditions entirely beyond the control of the said office.

(ADOPTED)

It is recommended by this Committee that there be appropriated for the use of the President the sum of $500 for the fiscal year of 1943-44 to be used as he may deem proper for necessary traveling, stenographic, communication expense, and other incidentals.

(ADOPTED)

This Committee recommends that the sum of $100 be appropriated for the use of The Edward T. Newell Extension of Numismatic Knowledge Committee to be used, if necessary, for whatever purpose may be necessary. It is understood by this Committee that no part of the funds appropriated for the last fiscal year were used, but being informed by the chairman of said committee, our General Secretary, Mr. M. Vernon Sheldon, that it will be necessary to expend approximately this amount to put into force the purposes for which said committee was named, a renewal of said appropriation is recommended.

(ADOPTED)

It is the recommendation of your Committee that the Educational Committee, as now constituted, be continued for the fiscal year 1943-44, and that the sum of $250 be appropriated for the use of said Committee.

(ADOPTED)

It is recommended by this Committee that the sum of $100 be appropriated, as heretofore, for the purpose of purchasing additions to the Moritz Wormser's Memorial Exhibit of The American Numismatic Association.

(ADOPTED)

The matter of the application of His Majesty, King Farouk II of Egypt, has been submitted to this Committee. Taking into consideration the very great honor which this application has bestowed upon our Association, but being mindful of the provisions of our Constitution and By-laws, it is the recommendation of this Committee that this Association unanimously extend to His Majesty an Honorary membership in our Association to become effective immediately, and that our present President and Secretary be instructed to forward through the proper channels a properly engrossed certificate of honorary membership to His Majesty, King Farouk II of Egypt.

(ADOPTED)

It is the recommendation of your Committee that this Association go on record by vote of thanks extended to all members, societies, organizations and other donors for contributions made to the American Numismatic Association during the fiscal year 1942-43 as shown by the report of our Librarian-Curator, T. R. Hammer. Such contributions of books, pamphlets, coins, medals, magazines, and other numismatic material is thankfully received, and as it is not feasible to personally thank each and every person individually, we recommend that this vote of appreciation be expressed on the records as adopted unanimously.

(ADOPTED)

General Secretary Sheldon suggested that the reports of the District Secretaries be published as in former years, in connection with the Convention proceedings. It was so agreed. He called attention at the same time to the numismatic activity in Virginia and West Virginia, neither of which is represented by a District Secretary, and expressed the opinion that perhaps one appointment might serve for both states—a matter which no doubt will be given consideration.

President Ferguson inquired as to invitations for the 1944 Convention. Secretary Sheldon stated there were several on file, but that of the Chicago Coin Club had been on record for the past three years, and it was felt that, since 1944 would mark the 25th anniversary of the Club, special consideration should be given this organization.

The President called attention to the streamlined Convention of this year, its brevity dictated by war conditions, and the selection of Chicago for the reason of its convenient location: that under the conditions as stated it should have no adverse effect upon the possible choice of Chicago for 1944. It is understood, of course, that the Board finally determines the matter from year to year. No other invitations were mentioned from the floor.

Mr. Gettys reminded the Convention that the invitation extended last year to meet in Iowa in 1946 was still in full force, that year being the 100th anniversary of Iowa's admission to statehood.

Joseph B. Stack moved that 50 complete sets of THE NUMISMATIST be bound each year and presented to universities or libraries. After some discussion, the motion was lost.

Mr. Belt announced the fall convention of the Iowa Numismatic Association at Fairfield on October 16 and 17, extending a cordial invitation to any and all who could attend.

Mr. Reagan expressed himself as believing the annual appropriation of $100, which has been made for several years for National Coin Week activity, to be unnecessary, and that such expenses could be met from the appropriation for publicity. Mr. Kortjohn spoke in agreement, doubting that the results justified the former expense, and regretting that the response was not more general, pretty much the same organizations participating each year. Mr. Bauer also expressed the opinion that a special appropriation was wasteful, and suggested that simply an appeal to all clubs to cooperate would be as effective without special inducement. (The question of Coin Week activities will be referred to the Executive Committee.)

The Resolutions Committee then presented the following:

Upon recommendation of this body, the Committee submits the following resolution:

Be it RESOLVED that from and after this date no Life Membership Certificates be issued to any corporate club or association, it being the consensus of opinion of this Association that Life Memberships should be properly restricted to individuals.

(ADOPTED)

A resolution to amend the By-laws as they relate to the cost of Life Membership, substituting varying and equitable rates according to the attained age of the member when such certificate is issued, was offered, discussed briefly, and on motion of Mr. Bauer, tabled until the next Convention.

Third Day's Session

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 a. m., Monday, President Ferguson in the chair.

After various greetings were read by General Secretary Sheldon, the President asked him to report on the results obtained by the Committee on Papers; this follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PAPERS

The following papers were submitted to the Committee on Papers:

- I. Merit and Proficiency Medal, Number 1 Wireless School—British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. J. Douglas Ferguson.
- II. Cleopatra, Almost Empress of Rome. Earle Kezartee Stanton.
- III. To Hanover Tokens. Ed. M. Lee.
- IV. Money of the California George Junior Republic. Ed. M. Lee.
- V. Mexico Coins and Coinage—(The Twenty Pesos and Calendar Stone). Dr. H. L. Moon.
- VI. An Abernethy "Rock"—A Medium of Exchange. Stephen H. Bibler.
- VII. Brazil's Nickel Coinage. Chas. A. Baumann.

KENNETH W. LEE, Chairman
J. F. SAWICKI
RAYMOND MOULTON
HOLMES CESSNA
STEPHEN BIBLER.

(J. Hunt Deacon, District Secretary for Australia, had previously submitted a paper for the Convention, sending it direct to President Ferguson, who forwarded it to the Editor. On account of plans for the coming months, it was deemed best to begin publication in the October issue, under the title of "The Maria Theresa (or Levantine) Thaler."—Ed.)

These were turned over to the Editor for later consideration.

The Resolutions Committee then offered the following final resolutions:

Considering the recommendation of our honored President, this Committee offers the following resolution:

Be it RESOLVED that the President appoint a committee, of which he shall be a member, to study and report to the Executive Committee the feasibility of the American Numismatic Association establishing a Medal Award of outstanding artistic merit, to be awarded annually to such member or members of the Association as the committee deem advisable, in recognition of our appreciation for original articles submitted to our official publication, the appointed committee to report said proposition for final adoption or rejection to the Executive Board, and that said Board be empowered to act on said report without further submission to this body.

(ADOPTED)

Be it RESOLVED by the American Numismatic Association in convention assembled at Chicago, Illinois, this 13th day of September, 1943, that official recognition be extended to those committees who have so efficiently worked for and at the Convention, the Chicago Coin Club, our hosts, its officers and members, and in particular to Mr. J. Henri Ripstra and his committee for their loyal efforts in making this streamlined wartime convention a success.

(ADOPTED)

President Ferguson, after thanking the Resolutions Committee for their highly efficient service, continued:

"The decision arrived at by the Executive of your Association to make this a wartime, streamlined business meeting, that there should be no more business transacted than would be considered essential, I am sure you will agree with us was at least desirable for this year. We have taken that course because we felt that under prevailing conditions we could not recommend strongly to our membership to do the amount of traveling that would be necessary to bring them from all over the United States and Canada as would be customary.

"Your Executive, in coming to this decision, took considerable time through correspondence and thought and consulted with a number of members. Frankly, we were divided in our opinion. Not that there was any unfortunate division of opinion such as might be expressed in counter purposes, but we found it difficult to know whether an institution such as our Convention is, which we have all looked forward to attending for so many years, should entirely forego under such conditions as we are living today the privilege of meeting together; or as a wartime business meeting, how far we should go toward having the advantages of normal convention life.

"Although coming practically unanimously to the decision to hold this type of Convention, I think many of us have been wondering, even since coming here, if we have been wise. We have come to the decision that we have been.

"Personally, I am glad that we have met in convention. I feel, as did the other members of the Executive, that with the reading of our By-laws and Constitution as at present worded, there was no other course for us to take. As to whether we were wise to have curtailed as much as we have the normal convention activities, personally, I am not sure, and I know that other members of the Executive Committee are also somewhat wondering if, since we were getting together, it wouldn't have been possible to perhaps have had exhibits from those of you who came, and perhaps a few social functions, nothing elaborate, but perhaps a little more than we had.

"Fortunately the human or lighter side of the Convention, as well as to a considerable extent the numismatic side, was greatly enhanced due to the splendid spirit and cooperation shown by our corporate member, the outstanding Chicago Coin Club. The Saturday afternoon and Saturday evening which they gave to us will remain always in our memory, I am sure, as a feature which we were greatly privileged to share with them.

"Two of the members of the Executive Committee who are here suggested that this morning I make a few remarks in this connection, and ask any of you who would like to express yourselves as to the possible agenda for next year's meeting. I know that our incoming President and the incoming Executive would be very happy to take into consideration any thoughts that any of you would like to express in this connection."

Mr. Stehfest stated his belief that a Convention should be held even if conditions be not so favorable, but favored the last week-end in August, rather than any dates in September. Mr. Gettys urged a full-scale Convention in 1944. Mr. Ripstra was in agreement, but called attention to the success of this Convention regardless of lack of entertainment, and expressed the belief that it had set a precedent for the future; that smaller centers could adequately sponsor a Convention if they were relieved of the expensive and, in many cases, difficult duties of entertainment. He made an exception of 1944, provided Chicago was again chosen, as it would be the Chicago Coin Club's way of commemorating its 25th anniversary; but insisted his opinion was sound in principle.

The President then called for the report of the Election Committee (M. H. Powills, chairman; Capt. Vernon Brown, Lu Riggs and Paul Ginther), which was given by the chairman, as follows:

ELECTION COMMITTEE REPORT

Your Committee on Elections has received, inspected, and tabulated the vote cast for the Officers and Members of the Board of Governors for the fiscal year 1943-1944. We certify the results as follows:

|                                                           |      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Number of ballots sent out by the General Secretary ..... | 3504 |
| Total number of ballots returned .....                    | 1026 |
| Number of void or blank ballots .....                     | 13   |

Number of ballots cast for candidates for the following offices:

|                                                                                                                                                                                                           |     |

Your Committee on Elections hereby certifies and declares that the following Officers and Board of Governors have been duly elected:

President: Martin F. Kortjohn
 Vice-President: V. Leon Belt
 Second Vice-President: Ralph A. Mitchell
 General Secretary: M. Vernon Sheldon
 Treasurer: George H. Blake
 Librarian and Curator: T. R. Hammer
 Board of Governors: V. B. Chambers, Damon G. Douglas, J. Henri Ripstra, Nelson T. Thorson, William L. Wilson.

M. A. POWILLS, Chairman.

President Ferguson:

"Before we call on our Past President, George Bauer, to install the new officers, I would like to pay particular tribute to two officers of these last two years that I have had the privilege of serving with who felt it undesirable to allow their names to stand for any particular office. Their work has been so cooperative and outstanding for the Association that I would feel it negligence on my part if I did not pay brief tribute officially to their work.

"I am now referring to Mr. Shepard Pond, who has served our Association particularly capably as a member of the Board of Governors. I do so hope that Mr. Pond may find his time less taken up in the future years so that we may again have the advantage of his outstanding leadership and good advice as a member of our executive family.

"I think you all either know Shepard Pond or know of him. He is one of the keenest, most outstanding numismatists of this continent. He is a very successful business executive. He has given of his time without stint to our Association during these two years as he did at one time in the more distant past when he previously served the Association in an official connection.

"The other man that I refer to has been our Second Vice President, Mr. George M. Todd, who has represented the southern section of the United States in our Executive during the last two years in a most capable manner. Mr. Todd, like so many others, is greatly wrapped up in wartime responsibilities of a civilian nature and found it impossible to allow his nomination for this year to stand. He is another man who is eminently qualified, as he has shown during the past year, for outstanding work on behalf of our Association."

After congratulating the newly elected officers and Board members on the recognition accorded them, he asked George H. Bauer, Past President, to install them, which was done briefly, and President Kortjohn then assumed the chair, and addressed the Convention as follows:

PRESIDENT KORTJOHN'S ADDRESS

"Mr. Bauer put into words something that I knew was the case. I felt that if I were elected President, I would have a high mark to try to attain if I followed the precedent set by Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson certainly did a fine job in these last two years, and it will be very difficult, even in normal times, to keep up that record. I only hope that after my term of office is over, you will say, 'Well, he did a pretty good job,' and that is all I can expect.

"I want to thank all of you for the confidence you reposed in me when you elected me President of the Association. I certainly never thought for one minute back years ago that I would ever be President of this national association, and it is a great honor, I assure you.

"There have been a number of things that I thought would be good for the Association to have in mind and to work on in order to keep up with our Constitution and By-laws. You may know that the largest paragraph of our Constitution is that which gives our aims; namely, to give wider publicity to our hobby and a greater interest in numismatics.

"In doing that we can increase our membership. We can get an increase in our own membership and get a greater interest in numismatics by promoting numismatics in youth organizations, schools, Y. M. C. A.'s, and kindred organizations. We can increase the social and fraternal relationships of A. N. A. members by having them join local clubs and participating in local activities and encouraging A. N. A. members to attend our own Convention.

"One of the methods that we can adopt in helping to attain this aim is to sponsor the interest of collectors in commemoratives of special issues of United States coins. You have heard me talk about commemoratives before. In fact, I think that is one of the reasons that helped me to attain this high office at the present time. I did a lot of fighting about commemoratives and I have some thoughts on it that I would like to put before the A. N. A. at this meeting because if there is any way of getting it across to the collectors throughout the United States, throughout the world, it is certainly at a meeting of this kind.

"Now, I believe we should have these commemorative coins in the future. Such coins should not be half dollars, but silver dollars. There are thousands of collectors throughout the country who want commemoratives. The government could raise in excess of $100,000 a year in revenue on the sale of commemoratives. The old objections of the Treasury Department against the issue of commemoratives will be overcome if some of these suggestions that I make are followed. Furthermore, important current and historical events could be marked in the indestructible medium of our coinage.

"The coins should be dollars, which should be issued for several reasons: they offer a more satisfactory area for a sculptor to practice his art, especially when limited by certain requirements of the government. Their being of a larger size, there is a greater likelihood of their being retained than spent. Dollars are not circulated except in the western states, and this reduces the danger of counterfeiting. When issued as proofs, the possibility of counterfeiting is completely eliminated.

"Because of the past abuses of the coining privilege, half dollars, even if desired, have become an impossible field in which to compete except for comparatively wealthy persons. With only one previous issue of rather substantial numbers, the silver dollar field is almost virgin ground.

"Collecting dollar size coins is becoming increasingly popular. I don't have to tell those of you that attend Coin Club meetings how popular exhibitions of dollar size coins are, and this would just fall right in line with that.

"Coins should be issued to the general public by the Treasury Department or the Mint service. The past practice of issuing to an organization has resulted in abuses which made huge profits for some people and caused disgust of collectors. If distribution was by government, the possibility of abuse would not exist.

"Collectors throughout the country, when newspaper publicity was given to the issue, would be in a position to know of the new coin and to obtain one or more instead of the past practice of keeping the knowledge secret and allowing corners of issues to be made.

"Limited strikings would have to be made by the Mint, Philadelphia only, merely on demand of a commission in conformity with their congressional authority. Heretofore the work of the Mint was seriously hampered by this special work. Coinage of proof coins should be encouraged and the selling price should be $2.50 each to cover the cost of making the dies and the special handling.

"Should Congress or the Treasury Department so decide, special issue dollars could be sold at $1.50 each to help meet the cost of dies and other special work and to help reduce the possibilities of counterfeiting because there is not a great likelihood of coins having a premium of 50 cents or $1.50 being placed in circulation.

"Commemoratives of special issue coins should be issued for special historical purposes only and in completely different sequence of a non-repeating nature. No more than four of such coins should be minted in any one year. If more than this number are issued, the special issue will become the commonplace and the public will not recognize the event as having the deserved importance.

"Possibly a commission consisting of a historian, a journalist, a college professor, and a numismatist should be appointed to pass on the importance of the event to be recognized by a special issue dollar. I don't call them commemorative dollars. We might have a special issue, for instance, for the victory over Italy or for the victory over Germany or for the cessation of war. So that is why I term them special issue rather than just commemorative.

"Now, what the Treasury is interested in is profits, or rather, funds that they can use for general purposes. The profit on the sale of these coins would be considerable. For the last few years the Mint has sold about 25,000 sets of proof coins of the different denominations. These proof coins differ from year to year only in respect to the date. If special issue coins, each bearing a different design, were issued, the demand would increase several times, even though a premium of $1.50 over face were asked. Thus for one issue a profit of $100,000 is not outside the realms of possibility.

"Furthermore, since comparatively few of the coins would have to be redeemed, the profit would be further increased by the difference between the price of silver and the face value, and the silver used in striking these dollars would be permanently off the market. That would be something that some of the silver states would like to see.

"Lastly, the objections of the Treasury Department to the issuance of commemorative coins on the ground that they will encourage counterfeiting are not valid. Proofs make counterfeiting impossible. Premiums paid will reduce the commemoratives reaching circulation, and this will discourage counterfeiting.

"Counterfeiting of commemoratives has been extremely small and in cases where resorted to—I don't know whether there was more than one, but I put it in the plural just to be on the safe side—were intended to defraud collectors and not to pass it over to the public.

"Finally, collectors study coins and can detect counterfeits as readily as or better than the secret service operatives. Collectors have always been most cooperative with the secret service in finding counterfeit commemoratives and assisting in tracking down the counterfeiter.

"Now, I believe that all of you will agree that if we have a greater interest in commemoratives, not only by those 3,600 members that we have in the Association, those that subscribe to THE NUMISMATIST and those that at the present time are patronizing our dealers, but to those people on the street who never saw a commemorative coin, I think we would have a very large increase in membership, and I believe that we would then begin to attain to a greater extent some of the aims of our Association."

The Convention then adjourned sine die, at twelve o'clock.

ANNUAL REPORTS FROM DISTRICT SECRETARIES*J. HUNT DEACON*District Secretary for Australia

There is little to report; numismatic activities have been few and far between. The Association of Australian Numismatists is in partial recess; the Australian Numismatic Society is in recess and the Numismatic Societies of South Australia and New South Wales alone operate with anything like regularity. Two applications for membership from Australia have been made during the year; and the death of one Australian member of the A. N. A. is recorded. It is hoped that during the war we will be able to carry on and be ready to re-enter numismatic life with renewed vigour.

JOSEPH B. DOYLE*District Secretary for Massachusetts

In the Boston area there is good interest in numismatics as indicated by the fine gain in membership during the year. Working hours and war conditions have made it impossible to visit any of the Clubs in the District; I now find it necessary to forego the pleasure of being in attendance at the meetings of the Boston Numismatic Society.

In connection with National Coin Week the Boston Numismatic Society won second prize for an outstanding exhibit which was on display in a window of Gilchrist's store. The display was viewed by thousands of people and undoubtedly created some interest.

The membership tabulation for this District as recorded in The Numismatist from August, 1942 to August, 1943, is as follows: gained by reinstatement, 1; gained by new members, 19; total, 20. Losses by death, 3; by resignation, 1; total, 4. This shows a net gain of 15 for the year, and appreciation is expressed to all who helped make this gain possible.

HORACE M. GRANT*District Secretary for Rhode Island

I believe I can truthfully report that Numismatic interests in Rhode Island during the last twelve months have greatly increased, although the Coin Club of Rhode Island has been very inactive, we have hopes that this fall the Club will have a revival, and that we can report some very interesting and instructive meetings.

The "Honorable Mention" given me by our Secretary in his report as read by him this morning, is very pleasing to me, but I feel that some of the credit rightfully belongs to my secretary, Miss Wilna B. Mackintosh, who has been of considerable help in securing these applications. A grand total of ten applications, one a month, taking out the two summer months, is not so many. What a Society we would have if during the coming year each active member would turn in two applications!

JOHN J. GONZALES*District Secretary for Georgia and Southern Alabama

I regret my report must, for several reasons, be again discouraging. Having seemingly exhausted for the time being the prospects for new local members, we must look for them in other parts of this wide and still virgin field.

The expenses of correspondence, and the time devoted to seeking new members while on trips through Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi during the past twenty-one years as your representative, have been cheerfully donated; but for several reasons were discontinued until conditions improve, or the Association determines upon some practical plans for assisting their "salesmen." I trust the Association has or will favorably consider investing at least a part of its increasing funds in War Bonds.

RAYMOND MOULTON*District Secretary for Nebraska

Numismatics in Nebraska has not forged ahead in great strides during the past year, but A. N. A. memberships here are about the same as a year ago. Actual numismatic activity has slowed down to a certain extent on account of the war.

The Omaha Coin Club is entering its tenth year and we have thirty members, with five serving our country in the Armed Forces.

Omaha was privileged to have the Government Secret Service Exhibit shown here this summer. "The Silent Saboteur Exhibit" was visited by 35,000 people. Some of the principal items on display were counterfeit coins and paper currency; counterfeit coins and dies captured at Perry, Iowa, in 1938, and a pocket size counterfeiting plant for $10 bills. There were also display boards containing all denominations of bills now used, and a $100,000 genuine United States note. Several specimens of invasion money were also shown. Other items of interest were exhibited by the Glenn L. Martin Co., and other Omaha war industries.

As mentioned in last year's report, Nebraska is proud of its widely known Byron Reed Collection which is owned by the city of Omaha, and is housed in the Omaha Public Library. Anyone wishing to see this collection should contact Mr. Nelson T. Thorson, past President of A. N. A., who is Curator.

I have this year been honored to serve on the Committee of Papers for the annual A. N. A. Convention.

M. JOE MURPHY*District Secretary for Arizona

During the past year things here have improved in some degree, although a number of the coin and stamp collectors have joined the Armed Forces of the United States.

Several new members have been added to our Association rolls through members situated in this locality and we will continue to bring in members interested in coin collecting or otherwise numismatically inclined.

I have been given considerable support in my office as District Secretary for Arizona, by the members, and trust that I shall continue to warrant their respect and cooperation, as well as that of the officers of the A. N. A.

H. E. ROWALD*District Secretary for Western Missouri

In spite of the number of members taken into the Armed Forces and placed on the inactive list, Western Missouri still shows a slight increase in membership in the A. N. A.

Our local club, the H. A. N. A., also has maintained its average membership, and continues to progress even in these war times. Gas rationing has not affected attendance seriously, and with the Fall and Winter season ahead of us even better than normal attendance is expected.

Coin Week was observed here with the usual enthusiasm, and while we did not place in the prize money, several members were responsible for our getting Honorable Mention.

In my correspondence with members in the Armed Services, I have found that, regardless of where a man may be, he still enjoys news about coins; with this in mind, I urge everyone not to let these boys down. A new coin or token sent them is just as important as a letter from home, so I ask that the Convention in session pledge itself to keep sending coins or tokens to the boys overseas. And make this pledge just as solemn as your pledge to buy War Bonds.

ARTHUR RUTZ*District Secretary for Indiana

Eighteen new and transfer members were added.

There are four active A. N. A. corporate member Coin Clubs: Calumet Numismatic Club (Northwest corner of the state), Anderson, Indianapolis and Muncie Coin Clubs, in Indiana.

Coin Week displays were made by the Clubs and individual members with the Muncie Coin Club receiving Honorable Mention. Admiral M. Siebert and Alfred Muter both made displays in Warsaw.

The Indianapolis Coin Club had a good attendance at their annual open house meeting. The scheduled C. S. N. S. meeting was omitted due to travel restrictions.

Your District Secretary made repeat exhibits at the Gary and East Chicago Public Libraries in the name of the Calumet Numismatic Club. A Coin Week display was made at the Northern Indiana Public Service Co. window in Gary.

R. STEHFEST

District Secretary for Eastern Michigan

During the past year it has been found necessary for the Detroit Coin Club to meet only once a month. The meetings have been very well attended, considering rationing problems, and a very fine banquet was held for the members, their wives and guests.

I sponsored five new memberships for the Eastern Michigan District in the past year.

J. M. TAYLOR

District Secretary for Western New York

My appointment became effective in Nov. 1942. During this time I have attempted in various ways to impress upon the collectors in this District the advantages and pleasure to be gained from membership in the A. N. A.

The numismatic activities in this District have been rather quiet, due principally to the war. In 1942 our Buffalo Club and the Rochester Club held a joint meeting in Batavia after a lapse of several years. The results of this meeting were included in Mr. Lloyd's 1942 report. It was the intention of the two Clubs at that time to hold a joint meeting annually. Plans were partly completed again this year, but due to transportation difficulties we were compelled to cancel the meeting. For similar reasons, we made no attempt to hold a joint meeting with the Toronto Club.

An attempt has been made recently to form a Junior Coin Club at the Burgard Vocational school in Buffalo by one of our members, Mr. Murdock, who is an instructor there.

The Buffalo Numismatic Association has issued its annual Club token for 1943. This is the 17th consecutive year the Club has issued a token.

In June the Buffalo Numismatic Association had the pleasure and honor of entertaining our illustrious A. N. A. President, Mr. J. Douglas Ferguson. The meeting was held in the Hotel Statler, and was attended by twenty-nine members, including three of our out of town members: Mr. Geo. Bauer of Rochester, Mr. T. James Clarke of Jamestown, and Mr. Edward Gilroy of Wayland, N. Y.; Mr. C. W. Foster of Rochester also attended. Mr. Bauer and Mr. Clarke are past Presidents of the A. N. A., and Mr. Gilroy the first President of the Buffalo Numismatic Association. The meeting was highly successful.

Fewer new members have been gained in 1943 than in 1942. However, I have three prospective members in view. The attendance at our local club has fallen off, due to enlistments in the service, and to employment in war industries. I believe this represents the trend throughout the country. The percentage of A. N. A. members to total membership in our local club is the largest on record, slightly over 50%.

The writer was appointed by the Buffalo Council of the Boy Scouts of America, as merit badge counselor for Buffalo.

Mr. A. R. Seymour, former District Secretary for Central New York, in one of his reports mentioned that he would like to see a provision that any Boy Scout who is trying for a merit badge in coins be given The Numismatist, either free or at a reduced price, for one year in order to build up interest in his hobby. I heartily agree with Mr. Seymour in his view, and wish something along this line could be done.

ED. M. LEE

Numismatics lost one of its most ardent and enthusiastic members with the passing of Edward M. Lee, who died on August 31st at the age of 72. He had suffered a prolonged illness of several years but kept his activity up to the very last minute, succumbing to a heart attack in his office while working with coins.

He was born in New London, Iowa, in 1871, and through his connections with financial institutions he became interested in coins as a hobby. For well over forty years he collected ardently, and in the past thirteen years had been engaged in the numismatic business with his son, Kenneth W. Lee.

His special collecting interest was in the California gold quarters, halves and dollars, and in 1932 he published the only book ever printed on this subject. He possessed one of the finest collections ever assembled, and at the time of his death he had over 380 different varieties of them. He had studied for years the rarity of his varieties and had been cataloging them preparatory to publishing a revised edition of his book.

He was a charter member of the California Coin Club, an Associate member of the American Numismatic Society, a fellow of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society, and a member of the American Numismatic Association, No. 2613. He was a pioneer business, civic and religious leader in Glendale, having moved there with his family in 1905, and was associated with the First National Bank of Glendale for many years.

His loss will be great, but his interest and his contributions to numismatics in general will be felt for many years to come. The numismatic business, in which he was so active, will be carried on by his son, Kenneth W. Lee.

Dear Mr. Ferguson:

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th of September addressed to Mr. Ewart who is at present absent from the office due to illness.

In order that you might have an immediate answer to the information you request concerning the 1942 twelve-sided five-cent coin, I have taken it upon myself to reply to your letter.

The coin was not issued with the sharp corners. Tests were conducted here at the Mint with the pay telephones etc., and the coin with the sharper corners did not prove satisfactory for use in such machines and it was therefore modified. A few of the original type were struck for test purposes only and these were destroyed when the modified type was adopted.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) A. P. WILLIAMS, Secretary,
Royal Canadian Mint.

OUR 50-YEAR INDEX IS STILL AVAILABLE

ELECTION MEDALS OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1844

By DOYLE DeWITT, Bloomfield, Connecticut

(Series began in issue of June, 1943)

(Concluded)

No. 50. Obverse: Inscription, PRESIDENT, HENRY CLAY 1845, nude bust to right enclosed by oak wreath.

Reverse: Inscription, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, displayed eagle, with rays, bearing U. S. shield on breast, with olive branch in right claw and arrows in left; fowl anchor below.

(Satterlee 162). White Metal. 21 mm.

Note A—PRESIDENT, HENRY CLAY 1845—See Note 45-A.

Note B—UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, and eagle device—See Note 38-C.

Note C—The fowl anchor device indicates that this is probably another Rhode Island token. See Note 40-B.

No. 51. Obverse: Same as preceding except different bust.

Reverse: Same as preceding.

(Satterlee 163). White Metal. 21 mm.

Note A—The bust on this token is very homely and is larger and longer than that on the preceding.

No. 52. Obverse: Same as No. 50.

Reverse: Inscription, UNITED/WE STAND/DIVIDED/WE FALL./; center, clasped hands.

(Satterlee 164). White Metal. 21 mm.

Note A—UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL (symbolized by clasped hands)—See Note 17-C.

No. 53. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Same as No. 50 except without rays and with coon below instead of fowl anchor.

White Metal. 21 mm.

Note A—The device of the coon—See Note 35-C.

No. 54. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, head to right on milled field.

Reverse: Inscription, A TARIFF/—FOR—/PROTECTION/, enclosed by olive wreath.

(Satterlee 148). Thick flan. Silver, Nickel, Brass, Copper, White Metal. 19 mm.

Note A—This is the ugliest head of the series. It is almost a caricature.

Note B—A TARIFF FOR PROTECTION—See Note 12-B.

No. 55. Obverse: Inscription, FOR PRESIDENT 1845, head to left with initial T (engraver) below.

(Satterlee 165). White Metal. 19 mm.

(Also struck in copper)

Note A—HENRY CLAY, WILL CARRY THE DAY—is a line from a campaign jingle put to song. The complete version was "With Henry Clay, We'll Win the Day, And Home Industry Defend; With Polk and Dallas, We'll to the Gallows. Free Trade and Texas Send." It appeared on a Clay riband of this campaign.

SHELL TOKENS OF HENRY CLAY—1844

No. 56. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, togated bust to left with initials W. B. D. (engraver) on truncation, all enclosed in finely beaded circle; raised ornamental floral border.

Reverse: Inscription, CLAY/&/FRELINGHUYSEN/PROTECTION/&/UNION/; ornaments to right and left of each & and three curved lines below UNION; all enclosed in laurel wreath.

(Satterlee 152). Gilt Brass Shell. 26 mm.

Note A—Brass shells—See Note 6-A.

Note B—PROTECTION & UNION—See Notes 12-B, 33-B and 43-B.

No. 57. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Same as preceding except inscription, ornaments and wreath are incuse.

Gilt Brass Shell. 26 mm.

Note A—The reverse of Polk shell No. 8 is likewise incuse.

No. 58. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, togated bust to left; raised ornamental rose border.

(Satterlee 153). Gilt Brass Shell. 24 mm.

Note A—This bust has a ludicrous appearance because of the extremely thin neck.

Note B—PROTECTION & UNION—See Notes 12-B, 33-B and 43-B.

Note C—Do the cross ornaments bear any significance to Frelinghuysen's alleged Nativistic leanings? (See Notes 19-A and 26-B.)

No. 59. Obverse: Same as preceding except very minor differences in the bust.

Reverse: Same as preceding.

(Not Seen). Gilt Brass Shell. 24 mm.

No. 60. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY 1845, semicircle of 25 stars, head to right; raised ornamental rose border.

Reverse: Inscription, CLAY/&/FRELINGHUYSEN/PROTECTION/&/UNION/; ornaments to right and left of each &, cross and two leaf ornaments between FRELINGHUYSEN and PROTECTION.

(Satterlee 154). Gilt Brass Shell. 24 mm.

Note A—PROTECTION & UNION—See Notes 12-B, 33-B and 43-B.

Note B—Cross ornament—See Note 58-C.

No. 61. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, togated bust to left with THOMAS (engraver) on truncation.

Reverse: PROTECTION/TO/AMERICAN/INDUSTRY/, rose and leaf ornament between AMERICAN and INDUSTRY.

(The obverse and reverse shells are joined by a flat frame with relief decorations on obverse and reverse.)

(Satterlee 155). Brass Shell. 24 mm.

Note A—This bust, engraved by Thomas, appears on tokens Nos. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24.

Note B—PROTECTION TO AMERICAN INDUSTRY—See Note 12-B.

No. 62. Obverse: Same as preceding.

Reverse: Same as preceding.

(The obverse and reverse shells are joined by a flat frame with much higher relief decorations on obverse and reverse than on preceding number.)

Brass Shell. 24 mm.

No. 63. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY BORN APRIL 12. 1777, togated bust to left with THOMAS (engraver) on truncation.

Reverse: THE NOBLE & PATRIOTIC DEFENDER OF PROTECTION, in 6 lines, enclosed by wreath.

Brass Shell. 23 mm.

Note A—Same bust as preceding—See Note 61-A.

Note B—THE NOBLE & PATRIOTIC DEFENDER OF PROTECTION—See Note 49-D, also Note 12-B.

No. 64. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, togated bust to left, with THOMAS (engraver) on truncation; raised, ornamental serrated border.

Reverse: Blank (single shell mounted on pin).

Oval planchet. Copper Shell. 21x26 mm.

Note A—Same bust as preceding—See Note 61-A.

No. 65. Obverse: Bust of Clay to left, within a laurel wreath border.

Reverse: Blank (single shell mounted on pin).

Oval planchet. Brass Shell. 20x26 mm.

Note A—The laurel wreath on this obverse may indicate it was issued after Clay's death. However, its similarity to the preceding number causes me to include it in this series.

CLAY POLITICAL TOKENS OTHER THAN 1844

(See Introductory Explanatory Note, June Issue)

A. Obverse: Thick, togated bust to right with C. C. W. (engraver) on truncation.

Reverse: BORN APRIL 12. 1777/ENTERED CONGRESS 1806/ELECTED SPEAKER 1811/TREATY OF GHENT 1814/SEC. OF STATE 1825./, enclosed by oak wreath.

The delineation of Clay's public career up to 1825 seems amply to justify the conclusion that this token was struck prior to 1844.

A token of 1844 (No. 30) delineated his career up to the time of that campaign. This token may have been struck to commemorate his appointment as Secretary of State by President Adams in 1825, but probably it was an 1832 campaign token. For, if the purpose had been to commemorate his appointment, it could have been much more suitably inscribed, as was done in similar instances. Also, his appointment by Adams created such a furore with charges of "bargaining" that it scarcely seems the appropriate occasion for the striking of a medal.

Another medal (not listed by Satterlee) has a very similar reverse inscription except "The Father of the American System" is added which seems quite definitely to place it as an election token of the 1832 campaign.

B. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY OF KENTUCKY; togated bust to left with TRUE, F. (engraver) below, enclosed in circle.

Reverse: Ornamental border composed of sheaf of papers inscribed TREATY, American flag, shield, Liberty pole and cap, implements of commerce, industry and agriculture, and horn of plenty; center, EQUAL & /FULL/ PROTECTION/TO/AMERICAN/INDUSTRY/, with scroll above inscribed E PLURIBUS UNUM. One of the implements of industry is an anvil on which the engraver inscribed his initials, B. C. T.

(Satterlee 133). White Metal. 36 mm.

This token was cut by Benjamin C. True of Troy, New York, who also cut several Hard Times tokens dated 1835. Mr. Alfred Z. Reed has conducted considerable research into the history of the True family. (See The Numismatist—Dec. 1941—P. 924.) The Anti-Jackson party, composed of Clay and Adams factions, was united in 1825 to be called the National Republican party. After Adams' defeat in 1828, Clay became the leader of the party. The national convention of the party met in Baltimore on December 12, 1831 and unanimously nominated Clay for president and authorized the "Young Men" of the party to hold a convention in 1832 to ratify the nominations and draw a platform. Clay was a member of the Senate at the time and on February 2, 3 and 6, 1832, delivered one of his most eloquent speeches "in defense of the American System." In his closing remarks he stated—"if the measure of protection to any article can be demonstrated to be undue and inordinate; it would be the duty of Congress to interpose and apply a remedy. * * * But to make it fulfill the purposes of its institution, the measure of protection ought to be adequate." (Life and Speeches of Henry Clay. Edited by Daniel Mallory. Vol. II, P. 55.) On May 11, 1832, the convention of "Young Men" met at Washington, ratified the nominations of the party and adopted a platform, a part of which read "that an adequate protection to American industry is indispensable to the prosperity of the country."

All of the foregoing seems to permit a reasonable deduction that this token was issued for the 1832 campaign.

C. Obverse: Inscription, HENRY CLAY, clothed civilian bust to right.

Reverse: THE CHAMPION OF/REPUBLICANISM/AND THE/AMERICAN SYSTEM/, enclosed in oak wreath.

(Satterlee 136). Copper. 38 mm.

The reverse inscription would, in my opinion, place this token in the 1832 campaign. Nowhere in the extensive 1844 series is Clay referred to in any connection with "Republicanism." In 1832, he was however the candidate of the National Republican party (see notes under B) and one has only to read the convention proceedings and various published tracts of that party to see their many references to "Republicanism." In 1844, the party was defunct and had been largely replaced by the Whigs so it seems unlikely that a token would be struck for that campaign connecting Clay with "Republicanism." The connection of "Republicanism" and "the American System" was timely and is readily understandable as Clay had made one of his most famous speeches on the American System in February 1832 (see Notes under B). The oak wreath appearing on the reverse is the same device appearing on Satterlee 133 (A above) which is likewise attributable to the 1832 campaign.

As indicated, Satterlee listed this token in copper which would seem to preclude its issuance prior to 1844, as tokens of this size do not seem to have been issued in copper prior to 1844. However, this objection seems to be overcome by the fact that copies struck in white metal have been reported, for example see token No. 39—"Medals and Tokens of Henry Clay"—The Numismatist, April 1917. Pp. 146-151. Struck in white metal, its similarity to the tokens of the campaigns previous to 1844 becomes evident.

(Satterlee 157). Brass. 24 mm.

This token is obviously attributable to the campaign of 1848 by the date on the reverse. The aged Clay was not a serious contender, however.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

TWO NOTABLE RECOMMENDATIONS

The three sessions of the Chicago Convention set a standard for future similar events in the dispatch with which necessary matters were presented, considered, and disposed of. This does not mean decisions were lightly made; quite the contrary. But the plan of furnishing members in advance with printed reports of certain officers and committees again proved its value; time was conserved, a clear understanding assured, and discussion of the numerous items presented was, in the main, brief but adequate.

Elsewhere in this issue may be found President Ferguson's address: it deserves a thoughtful reading, for it reflects the experience and observation of two years in the position of chief executive of the Association.

He has taken his responsibilities seriously, and has met them efficiently; but his concern for the immediate welfare of our organization has not fostered an indifference to our future development. Not content with merely a hopeful outlook, he has definite ideas concerning a number of projects which appeal to him as constructive, practical, and highly desirable.

One of these which, we believe, deserves special emphasis, is his recommendation that we establish "a medal of outstanding artistic merit to be awarded annually in gold and silver (or silver and bronze) to the two members of the Association whose contribution or contributions to THE NUMISMATIST are considered to have been of the greatest merit during the Association's year."

By later resolution, unanimously adopted, the President was directed to appoint a committee, of which he should be a member, to study the feasibility of the proposal and report its findings to the Executive Committee, which is to make final decision thereon.

It seems logical that the official magazine of the Association should be in position to attract articles of the highest merit, and in many cases the award of such a medal—surely a coveted recognition—would no doubt outweigh any monetary consideration likely to be realized. THE NUMISMATIST depends upon Association members for contributions, and these have been and are being freely made, with no thought of remuneration. We need not dwell here upon the fine spirit that has prompted this support; it is plainly evident in every issue.

But here is our opportunity to recognize, through a medium that money could not buy, the work of able and enthusiastic collectors who are willing to devote time and energy to building something of literary and numismatic distinction, and which could, most fittingly, appear in the pages of the Association's own magazine. It would be a worthy aim, and the element of contest would lend additional interest. Let us hope President Ferguson's recommendation may be adopted, and, if so, that the artistic excellence of the medal may be commensurate with the high purpose it is to serve.

The second proposal that carries strong appeal is the one made by our newly elected President, Martin Kortjohn, in his address to the Convention just prior to adjournment. (The address appears in full elsewhere in this issue.) It is, in substance, that plans be made and a definite course of sustained action be taken to secure, if at all possible, Congressional approval of a yearly issue of silver dollars by the Mint, each issue to commemorate some historical event of major importance, and possessing the highest artistic qualities obtainable.

His arguments for adopting the larger size, in contrast with the familiar half dollar; for provisions of minting, limitation of price, and control of distribution effectively preventing certain practices which in the past brought reproach upon the whole series—all are sound, and should carry weight when the time comes to present them. Other points were also touched upon: the profit to the Government, especially on proofs; the improbability of attempts to counterfeit; and the restriction of each issue to one mint, one variety, and one date—these give added emphasis to the project submitted.

It would seem that the proposal should meet with almost unanimous approval among collectors; a silver dollar bearing designs of beauty, dignity, and historical significance should have an immensely wide appeal, not only to those already collecting, but to the public, from which would inevitably come new recruits to the ranks of numismatics. The commemorative half dollars, with all their faults, were responsible for many such additions; we believe commemorative dollars issued within the limitations and complying with the requirements already mentioned, would have a vastly greater influence in this direction.

The recommendations of Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Kortjohn deserve not only our serious consideration, but, we venture to add, our enthusiastic and collective support.

Comments from the membership on either or both subjects are invited.

AN APPRECIATED COMMUNICATION

The following letter may have considerable interest for those of our members who include in their collections at least a few medals of artistic and historical value. The writer is in position to speak with authority, and his commendation is therefore especially welcome.

To the Editor:

As Editor of The Numismatist I want to congratulate you on the publication of the fine article "Art and History in Medals" in the September issue, and I hope that you will try to persuade Prof. Gallo-Ruiz to give us further contributions on this much neglected subject.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter which I have sent to Prof. Gallo-Ruiz.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) JOHN R. SINNOCK,
Medallist-Engraver, United States Mint.

(COPY)

My dear Prof. Gallo-Ruiz:

I want you to know how much I appreciated your splendid article in the September number of The Numismatist on the "Art and History in Medals." The "Medal" is sadly in need of a champion in this country, where it is probably less appreciated than in any other civilized nation. Such an article as yours should do much to awaken an interest in this branch of the arts.

I wish your article could be reprinted in some of our magazines of art. I hope we will hear more from you.

A UNIQUE ORGANIZATION

The Historical Coinings Society, with headquarters at San Francisco, operated as a non-profit organization, is producing material which, in the hands of teachers, can vividly link up the coinages of all time with the outstanding events and personages of history. The Society has donated such material to grade and high schools and to universities, and it has been used not only in connection with history, but with art and languages.

"The March of Money" is the title given this unique output, and consists of reproductions of 24 of the great coins of history, obverse and reverse, made of a metallic-like substance, gummed for mounting (as a stamp) in the proper spaces in a 12-sheet album, with each piece written up briefly but sufficiently for the purpose. The designs are embossed, and the colors those of the various metals. They are available at a modest price, as noted in our advertising section. Hon. John Allan, Keeper of Coins, British Museum, is one of the General Advisory Committee.

FALL CONVENTION OF IOWA NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

Forty-five members and guests of the Iowa Numismatic Association attended the semi-annual convention on Saturday and Sunday, October 16 and 17, held this time at Fairfield. As this was the mid-year meeting, no election or annual reports were scheduled. A dinner Saturday evening, and at noon on Sunday, with the officers' and directors' breakfast Sunday morning, were given at the Hotel Leggett. The business session and exhibits were held at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That the Iowa Numismatic Association urge the holding of a national or international exposition at the State Fair Grounds in Des Moines during 1946, the year marking the 100th anniversary of the granting of Iowa's statehood: dependent upon the termination of the war.

That proper effort be made to secure the reduction of present book rate postage to 1½ cents per pound, the rate which was formerly current for a brief period.

V. Leon Belt of Waterloo, Past President of the I. N. A., and recently elected 1st Vice President of the A. N. A., gave a brief resumé of the business sessions of the latter at its Chicago convention, and M. Vernon Sheldon, General Secretary of the A. N. A., also spoke on related matters.

A committee was appointed to further the project of a commemorative dollar for the centennial of Iowa's statehood in 1946.

The exhibits were almost up to the usual standard in spite of reduced attendance due to transportation difficulties: C. David Pierce, silver and gold U. S. proof sets; D. N. Green, large and small U. S. cents; Chas. O. Davis, currency, pattern pieces and medals; H. C. Bilger, the Wellington medal; H. F. Cassel, U. S. currency; Loyd Gettys, U. S. currency, silver and gold; M. A. Radke, commemorative half dollars; Dr. J. Hewitt Judd, foreign and U. S. gold and pattern pieces; A. W. Wilson, U. S. quarters; Lester S. Wright, 1 case medals; M. Vernon Sheldon, 1 case ancient Greek silver; Ted R. Hammer, U. S. gold, U. S. currency, both fractional and standard; F. K. Saab, U. S. and foreign gold; Burton H. Saxton, two cases medals.

An auction of 114 lots conducted by James Kelly of Dayton, Ohio, closed the convention.

D. N. Green, Keith A. Prizer and H. F. Cassel were the local committee on arrangements; their work was most efficiently done, both in preparation and throughout the convention. The present membership of the I. N. A. is approximately 200.

"THE HERALDRY OF HEROISM"

In the October issue of The National Geographic Magazine appears an extensive article under the above heading, dealing with military and naval decorations, by Arthur E. Du Bois, Chief, Heraldic Section, War Department. For those interested in this (to many) fascinating branch of collecting, the article will appeal strongly. Not only is the text of great value, but there are sixteen superb color plates illustrating an amazingly complete series.

PAST PRESIDENT HOFFECKER COMMENTS ON GOLD

"On a recent trip to Mexico City I had an opportunity to look into the gold situation and thought that my observations might be of interest to our readers.

"It is a well known fact that the war has caused a scarcity of foreign gold coins and Mexico has been practically our only source of supply for the past two years.

"Ever since the Mexican Government called in their Reserve from New York last May the daily quotations on gold have been steadily rising, amounting today to a 10% increase over the quotations last May.

"On asking the reason for the steady increase I was informed that many people residing in Mexico were buying gold coin in large quantities as an investment, some were putting it in their safety deposit boxes and others were taking it out of the banks altogether.

"In former days you could go into most any bank and buy several thousand dollars worth of gold coins; now I found it necessary to comb the city to get what I needed. Quotations were good only for immediate acceptance, and the rate increased while you were walking from one bank to another.

"The bankers inform me that as long as the demand keeps up and the coins become more scarce the price will continue to rise."

THE CONVENTION PICTURE

General satisfaction is expressed over the official convention photograph (reproduced herein on a smaller scale), as it is unusually well taken for so large a group. The size is 9½ x 17 inches. Additional copies are available at $1.50, postpaid, from the photographers, Kaufmann & Fabry Co., 425 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

A Hopeful Senator

Those new pennies—the "coppers" which look like a dime—may be on their way out.

Sen. Douglass C. Buck (R-Del.), introduced a bill recently to require the withdrawal of all pennies minted since last December 23 and to prohibit further coinage of pieces "not rapidly distinguishable from coins of other denominations." —Exchange.

To Our Advertisers

The Executive Committee of the Association has approved an increase in the advertising rates of THE NUMISMATIST to become effective with the issue of January, 1944. The new rates will be found in the table below.

With two slight and unimportant exceptions, the present rates were adopted with the issue of May, 1936. What may be considered our paid circulation (to members and non-member subscribers) is now somewhat in excess of 4,000 monthly, easily double that of 1936. In the light of this fact, our announced increase in advertising rates is moderate indeed, and the resulting figure itself is extremely low.

While the rates have been increased, there has been a readjustment in the discount system for consecutive advertising over periods of three, six and twelve months; constant factors have been used, resulting in consistent totals for the periods named, and applying to all three groups. A comparative test with present rates will easily demonstrate this.

| Space                | SingleInsertion | 3 Mos.  | 6 Mos.   | 12 Mos.  |
|----------------------|---------------------|---------|----------|----------|
| 1/8 page             | $ 3.00             | $ 8.75 | $ 17.10 | $ 32.40 |
| 1/4 page             | 5.50                | 16.00   | 31.35    | 59.40    |
| 1/2 page             | 10.00               | 29.10   | 57.00    | 108.00   |
| 1 page               | 20.00               | 58.20   | 114.00   | 216.00   |
| 1 page inside cover  | 25.00               | 72.75   | 142.50   | 270.00   |
| 1 page outside cover | 27.50               | 80.00   | 156.75   | 297.00   |

It will be noticed that the one-inch space heretofore available has been cancelled. In its place will be substituted a Classified Section, based upon the rate of three cents per word each insertion, remittance to accompany copy. This, we believe, will serve the purpose of the small advertisement as well or better than the one-inch display space, and no fixed measure will need to be observed.

Such Advertising Contracts as are now in force, will, of course be fully complied with until expiration, but it is obvious that none can be renewed on the present basis, and that hereafter new contracts must conform to the revised schedule. These will be available by December 1st, and will relate to advertising in the January (1944) and subsequent issues.

Further particulars will appear in the issue for December.

AN ITEM FROM THE DENVER MINT

Member Philip W. Whiteley, of Denver, now Lt. Col. MC, sends us the following information concerning coinage at the Denver Mint:

"Nickels and steel cents will be coined during the balance of the year. The estimated coinage for the year will be as follows: 1 Cent, 250,000,000; 5 Cent, 8,000,000; 10 Cent, 10,000,000; 25 Cent, 5,000,000; and 50 Cent, 5,000,000.

"At the present time and for the balance of the year, large orders are being and will be coined for the Australian and Dutch West Indies Governments. This may limit the number of five cent pieces to 6,000,000."

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

ATLANTA COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the Club was held on October 6, at the Henry Grady Hotel, with President Todd presiding. Twelve members and two guests were present.

Mr. Johns reported for the Library Committee that the Confederate States Notes donated to the Club by Mr. Geo. Walton had been framed and given to Carnegie Library as a part of their permanent display, and the display could be easily seen by anyone entering the Reference Room at the Library.

The Program Committee announces that at the November meeting a "Merit Badge Test" would be conducted and it is hoped that this would be the means of getting several Boy Scouts interested in coin collecting.

There were no prepared frames of coins exhibited, yet every member had some coins or notes and there was a great deal of trading after adjournment.

—FRANK G. O'REAR, Secretary.

THE BRONX COIN CLUB—The 121st regular meeting of the Club was held at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on Tuesday, September 28. President Kortjohn presided, with 17 members present.

Messrs. Douglas and Kortjohn reported on the activities of the A. N. A. Convention held in Chicago on September 11, 12 and 13. Further details were also given concerning the forthcoming exhibit, to be made jointly by the members of the various coin clubs in the metropolitan area. This exhibit will be held at the American Numismatic Society, 155th Street and Broadway from October 16 to 30, 1943. Mr. Sghia reported that final arrangements had been completed for the Tenth Anniversary Meeting, which will be celebrated at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on October 26, 1943.

It was decided that at the October meeting each member would exhibit three coins of greatest interest, with a history of each.

Topics selected for the November meeting were: U. S. Gold Dollars, California Gold  $\frac{1}{4}$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$  and 1 Dollars, English coins starting with James I through William III, French medals, Coins of the French Colonies.

Exhibits were made as shown below: Mr. Blake: A group photograph of the 1943 A. N. A. convention at Chicago; five old Italian Portrait Medals issued in commemoration of illustrious men.

Mr. Clark: 23 type coins of England for Anne, George I and George II, 25 miscellaneous Italian crowns, and 38 coins of San Marino, Parma, Monaco and Pius IX.

Mr. Douglas: 1943 A. N. A. Convention Bar, Tetradrachm of Myrrhina, and shillings of Anne, George I and George II.

Mrs. Douglas: Medals of Columbus struck in Italy.

Mr. Downing: Several U. S. large cents.

Mr. Engel: 40 U. S. silver dollars from 1878 to 1935.

Mr. Gallo: 17th and 18th Century coins of Italy, also several U. S. silver dollars in proof.

Mr. Kennedy: Crowns of Great Britain, Italy, Venice, Sardinia, and Papal.

Mr. Knoth: A series of nine medals of Christopher Columbus.

Mr. Korenyi: Silver and copper coins of Brazil, Bolivia, China, Columbia, Guatemala, Mexico, Peru and Salvador.

Mr. Kortjohn: 42 distinct types of 18th century coins of England, 1942-50 pfennig aluminum coin of Germany, 1942-10 centavo zinc coin of Bolivia, 1943 10 and 25 cent pieces of the Netherlands.

Mrs. Morgenthau: George Washington medal.

Mr. Pearl: A set of German porcelain coins.

Mr. Sghia: Types of the coins of Italy.

Mr. Stein: Dekadrachm of Arsinoe II, sestertius of Vespasian, Victoria Augusti, sestertius of Titus.

Mr. Wagner: 12 different Italian Decorations.

—HARRY J. STEIN, Secretary.

BROOKLYN COIN CLUB—The 124th regular meeting was held on October 6, at 174 Montague St., Brooklyn, with President Max M. Schwartz presiding. Sixteen members and four guests were present.

The topics were: United States Coins Dated 1798 and 1799; Encased Postage Stamps; Medals and Tokens of Rutherford B. Hayes and Chester A. Arthur; Modern Coins of Italy. Mr. Morgenthau read an excellent paper on Transportation Tokens. Mr. Harry J. Stein delivered an address on a certain series of ancient Hebrew coins, and illustrated his remarks by the coins themselves. Mr. Martin F. Kortjohn, President of the A. N. A., reported on the activities of the Association at the convention recently held in Chicago. Supplementary reports were made by Mr. Damon G. Douglas and the Secretary.

The following exhibits were made:

Mrs. Douglas: Medals of Hayes and Arthur; Washington medal, Harzfeld series, with coat of arms and replica of signature of Washington.

Mr. Douglas: As of Roman Republic; Willow Tree shilling of Mass.

Mr. Eill: Proof sets, 1936-1942.

Mr. Hegarty: Collection of coins of modern Italy, Naples, Sicily and Sardinia.

Mr. Knoth: Denarius of Diocletian, tetradrachm of Athens, early stater of Aegina.

Mr. Kortjohn: U. S. cents of 1798 and 1799; British penny of 1799, uncirculated; ten centavos of Portugal dated 1942; farthing of South Africa dated 1942 in brass; 50 centavos in bronze of Bolivia dated 1942.

Mr. Kraus: Stainless steel coins of Italy; 5 and 10 cent. 1941-42 in brass; minor coins of Italy in nickel and silver.

Mr. Leder: Silver dollars of 1798 and 1799. Denver mint 1943 five-cent piece; Bank Tokens of Canada.

Mr. Maley: St. Louis Exposition so-called dollar; Victoria 1858 shilling (old head) and Victoria 20 cents for Canada (young head); George III shilling 1797; Hawaii quarter dollar of 1883; China 20 cents 1911; Spain Charles IV 2 reales 1790.

Mr. Morgenthau: A picture of the 6-month old lad who grew up to be "The Man Behind The Story Behind The Token."

Mr. Reagan: Cents of 1943, P. D. S. in copper (plated), A. N. A. convention medal with Chicago 1943 bar; new Missouri sales tax token in red plastic.

Mr. Schwartz: Nine political tokens of Hayes, two of Arthur, one having a reverse of Washington.

Mr. Sghia: 1798 cent, dime and dollar; 1799 cent and dollar. Type collection of modern Italy, 43 pieces.

Mr. Shapiro: English penny of 1797; cents of 1848, 1891, 1890; nickels of 1895, 1901, several coins of modern Italy, all uncirculated.

Mr. Stein: A group of overstruck shekels and quarter shekels of Second Revolt. Sestertius of Hadrian with inscription "ADVENTVI AUG IUDAEAE."

—LEWIS M. REAGAN, Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—The 187th meeting of the Club held October 1 was attended by twenty-one members and guests, including several members who had not been able to attend for some time. In addition to the usual routine matters of business, Mr. Jorgensen presented a letter received from Mrs. Edward D. Krachey in regard to the mysterious disappearance of the club library, indicating that the books in question had been inadvertently sold to the Goodwill Industries.

Dr. H. A. Rosenkranz then addressed the club on the subject "Gold," giving particular attention to gold diggers and using that term in both its literal and figurative sense. The history of the world has been written by the activities of the rapacious gold diggers. Dr. Rosenkranz's talk was accompanied by an interesting exhibit of ancient Greek and Roman coins, and modern medals bearing on his subject. Of particular interest were several barbaric copies of Greek coins, struck by the Gauls who had migrated from France into Germany, Turkey, Asia Minor and elsewhere. The speaker also mentioned an ambitious gold digger in California who had sold stock in a company organized for the purpose of manufacturing gold from arroyo sand.

Mr. New called attention to the fact that if all the gold mined in the world since 1492 were melted up it would only make a cube about thirty feet square. Among other items sold at the auction were two 14 kt. gold medals struck by the club in honor of Howard R. Newcomb and Augustus Goodyear Heaton.

—EARLE K. STANTON, Secretary.

CHARLOTTE COIN CLUB—An interesting display of gold was made by Mr. George Walton at the Club's monthly meeting held October 4, 1943.

The display was arranged in a frame and consisted of 44 different gold pieces, representing 26 nations. They ranged in size from United States double eagle to one smaller than the Louisiana  $\frac{1}{4}$  dollar gold, and Tunisian 10 Piastres. Dates ranged from 1683 to 1920.

This frame included four Charlotte dollars, one Bechtler dollar, Alaska  $\frac{1}{4}$  and  $\frac{1}{2}$  dollars, several Central and South American pieces and many European and African pieces.

Mr. Walton plans to display his extensive collection of Bechtler gold in the near future.

At this meeting it was resolved to encourage junior memberships and assist them in obtaining desirable pieces for their collections.

—KAY J. JENNELL, Secretary.

CHICAGO COIN CLUB—The 296th regular monthly meeting of the Club was held October 6th at La Salle Hotel. Fifty-nine members and guests were present, with President Pennington presiding. A spirited auction preceded the meeting, with Mr. Rayson as auctioneer.

Mrs. Boyer announced that the October meeting will be the Annual Ladies' Night, and promises some fun; all wives and sweethearts invited. On a hand showing, an auction was voted for the December meeting.

Dr. Reich then presented the exhibits and an excellent paper on Medieval Italian history, culture, politics and art.

Exhibits:

Dr. Reich: Italian coins, medals and pictures, which were referred to in his paper.

Mr. Powells: One cent proof of Sierra Leone and two $10 Gold Pesos of Mexico.

Mr. Beckman: Brazilian 80 Reis with Star Counterstamp and XL (80) Reis of Maria I and Petris III with same Counterstamp; 4 patterns of the Brazilian Empire in bronze, two with boy's head, one with dies made in Paris and other with Brazilian dies. Pattern piece struck at Phila. Exposition in 1877. Pattern of Dobra of Joseph I, struck in bronze at Rio Mint 1777. Two bronze Proof Patterns of 40 Reis of the Republic, both 1889 struck on different dies.

Mr. Cederlund: Crown of Charles XIII of Sweden, muled with the reversed die of a crown of Charles XIV, dated 1820, three years after the death of Charles XIII, an error at the mint. Haakon the Red, King of Sweden; penny (English Sterling type) A. D. 1070, both rare.

Mr. Lu Riggs: 1799 choice $10 gold piece.

Mr. Pennington: Roman antoniniani or double denarii; silver plated bronze Postumus Emperor in Gaul, 259-269 A. D.

Mr. Keefe: A specialized collection of 63 minted pieces of Corea only, including many rare patterns and complete sets like the 1886 set of eleven gilt proof specimens. This collection of Corean currency issued under Chinese as well as Japanese rule is practically complete.

Mr. Rayson: Irish Gun Money of James II, crown, half-crown, shilling and sixpence, 1689-1690, and Coronation medal of James II, 1685.

—CLIFFORD LINDALL, Secretary.

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

—The Society held its 142nd regular meeting October 11, in the Seneca Hotel with an attendance of twelve members and seven guests. Vice President Rodecker presided and will continue to serve in that office until the close of the current year since President Gill-hooley has made a change in positions which will prevent his attendance at the meetings for the duration.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Randolph having moved to Pennsylvania, the resignation of Mrs. Randolph as Secretary was received with regret. Mrs. J. M. Henderson will serve in her place until the end of the year.

Special item of business was the completion of arrangements for the Coin exhibit at the Fashion Department Store on High Street during the week of October 25th.

Five applications for membership in the Society were received.

Exhibits were made by the following members, each giving a short talk on his display:

James D. White: 1943 type set of D nickels, and Morgan dimes.

F. W. Burton: Uncirculated and proof crowns and proof U. S. dollars.

C. E. Higgy: U. S. cents.

Harry Rodecker: Columbian half dollars, and an 1808 Spanish dollar.

—MRS. J. M. HENDERSON,
Secretary.

JERSEY CITY COIN CLUB—A regular meeting of the Club was held at the Hotel Plaza on September 23. Seven members and guests were present, Mr. Carpenter presiding.

A paper was read by Mr. Carpenter concerning the assassins of Julius Caesar, with an appropriate display relating to this.

Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Carpenter: 3 denarii of Cassai; 1 denarius of Cassius; 2 denarii of M. Brutus; 3 denarii of D. Brutus; 1 denarius of Lepidus; 2 coins of Octavian; 4 coins of Antony.

Mr. Wade: 50-100 lira U. S. Invasion Currency for Italy; $20.00 Hawaiian Note.

Mrs. Douglas: Washington tokens and Store cards.

Mr. Douglas: Tetradrachms of Macedonia; Philip II, Alexander III, and Aesillas.

Mr. Cornet: Civil War Tokens.

Mr. Mathews: Large cents 1822 to 1839, very fine to uncirculated.

—HARRY C. MATHEWS, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society held its 108th regular monthly meeting at the Plankinton House, Milwaukee, on September 24, with an attendance of 33 members and three guests. President Culver presided.

After several routine business matters were disposed, a discussion pertaining to our library developed. It was voted to buy a copy of Early American Coins by Crosby since quite a number of our members are interested in the coins listed and described in this book, and because few collectors find it possible to own a copy for themselves.

October is our anniversary month—our Society will be nine years old—and the members felt that the event should again be appropriately observed with an anniversary banquet. It was decided that it should be held on our regular meeting night in connection with the meeting.

A number of our members attended the Chicago A. N. A. Convention and briefly reported on their observations there, and on the proceedings of the business meeting.

An auction followed adjournment, with high prices realized for some items.

Displays:

Mr. Paulson: About 20 proof Indian Head cents and about 30 in uncirculated condition. Ten U. S. five-dollar gold pieces, and five U. S. ten-dollar gold pieces in fine to uncirculated condition.

Mr. Simpson: One $50 Peso gold; one $50 Pan Pacific gold; 33 pieces of U. S. $20 gold, extremely fine to proof; one piece 100 shilling Austrian in proof.

—N. J. HOFFMAN, Secretary.

MISSOURI NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held on the evening of Oct. 11th, at Hotel Melbourne, St. Louis; President Lounsberry presided, with 20 members present.

The following exhibits were made:

Mr. Moore: Complete set of proof or uncirculated cents, 1856 to 1943.

Mr. Saab: Complete uncirculated set Commemorative Halves, proof sets and 4 double Eagles.

Mr. Wick: A collection of types, U. S.

Mr. A. E. Johnson: Complete sets of proof Indian cents 1856, 1909; Lincoln cents 1909, 1942; and unc. or proof cents, 1856-1943.

Mr. Frick: A very comprehensive collection of U. S. Coins, of 1094 pieces, in 84 holders, practically all in proof or unc. condition, with very few spaces yet to fill. The collection includes half cents, large cents, Indian and Lincoln cents, 3 cent silver, 3 cent nickel, half dimes, nickels, dimes, quarters, halves, commemorative halves, and silver dollars, topped off with complete Philippine proof sets 1903-1908, and a collection of gold types, 50 pieces from 50 cents to double eagles.

Mr. Frick, who displayed this fine collection, was the speaker of the evening, and his subject was "Collecting U. S. Coins."

Mr. Frick's talk was enjoyed by all, and his collection greatly admired.

—AL. WICK, Secretary.

NEW JERSEY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The Society celebrated its tenth anniversary at a dinner held at the Newark Athletic Club on October 14th, with a gathering of thirty-seven members and guests.

President Brookes announced the business meeting would be omitted. He welcomed everyone present, and introduced Mr. F. C. C. Boyd as master of ceremonies, whereupon Mr. Boyd took charge in his usual genial, gracious and able fashion.

A testimonial of the New Jersey Numismatic Society's regard for Charles F. Nettleship, Jr. was presented by Mr. Boyd to Mr. George H. Blake, who, with appropriate remarks, accepted it for Mr. Nettleship, who unfortunately was too ill to attend the celebration.

Mr. Boyd gave a brief account of the organizing of the Society, and called on three charter members, Mr. James

M. Wade, Mrs. Frank Nixdorff and Mr. Charles F. O'Malley to speak; as well as Mr. George H. Blake as the only Honorary member of the Society, and Mr. Henry C. Hines as the numismatist present with the greatest number of years spent in studying numismatics to his credit. Mrs. Nixdorff spoke of the beginning of the New Jersey Numismatic Society and of how the Society grew from a membership of seven to one of fifty.

Mr. Joseph C. Rovensky, the speaker of the evening, was introduced. Mr. Rovensky's subject was "Romance in Coins," and showed many beautiful gold pieces to illustrate the evolution of coinage. His interesting talk showed some of the influence of economics on coins, and was delivered with great charm to everyone's enjoyment.

The exhibits were extensive and of unusual interest and value.

Mr. Sidney Noe, American Numismatic Secretary, spoke briefly, extending his congratulations to the Society.

Letters were signed by all present to be sent to our six members in the armed forces. After the names of our members in the U. S. service were read, everyone stood for a minute in tribute to those members.

President Brookes thanked Mr. Boyd for presiding and the Committee in charge of arrangements. He especially commended the work of Mr. James M. Wade who was largely responsible for the success of the evening. President Brookes, also, spoke of the kindness of Mr. B. Goldsmith in mimeographing the invitations.

Everyone spent a pleasant evening and wished the NJNS another ten years as successful as the past decade has been.

—EMILY LARSON BROOKES,
Secretary.

NEW YORK NUMISMATIC CLUB—

The 418th regular meeting of the Club was held on Friday evening, October 8, Mr. LeRoy E. Cox, Vice President, presiding. Seventeen members and one guest were present.

Mr. W. Ray Carpenter, Chairman of the Special Committee on the Exposition to be held jointly by the Clubs and Societies in the metropolitan area, spoke on the activities of the Committee, advising that the Exposition will be ready for the public on Saturday, October 16th. He stated the Clubs and Societies in New York and New Jersey would all participate.

The topics for the evening: Roman Coins of Antoninus Pius; United States Dollars, 1840 to Date; Coins of the Balkan States; Political Medals and Tokens of Henry Clay.

Exhibits were made by the following: Mr. A. W. Deas: Smallest coin from 40 countries.

Mr. L. E. Cox: United States silver dollars—1842, 1882, 1921, 1900 Washington-Lafayette; 1879 Trade dollar.

Mr. M. F. Kortjohn: Metallic war casualties of Bolivia 10 and 50 centavos; Chile peso; Germany 1 and 5 pfennig.

Mr. G. H. Blake: Seven Ancient Roman silver coins.

Mr. J. Barnett: Sheet of Morris County Bank, Morristown, N. J., 1-1-2-3 dollars. Souvenir silk badge of the landing of Columbus, World's Fair, 1492-1892. Five Grant medals.

Mr. G. S. Ragee: 1850 Mormon  $\frac{1}{2}$  eagle.

Mr. J. H. Spray: Six silver dollars. An 1859 O, 1859 S and 1870 C C. The 1859 O representing the only type of Liberty seated dollar coined in New Orleans during the years 1846, 1850, 1859 and 1860. The 1859 S representing the only year this type dollar was coined. The 1870 C C being one of the C C Mint Liberty seated dollars which were struck from 1870 to 1873 inclusive. The 1881 S, 1878-8 feather and 1921 Peace dollar being unusually fine specimens of this kind.

Mrs. D. G. Douglas: Political tokens of Henry Clay.

Mr. D. G. Douglas: Coins of Antoninus Pius and Faustina I.

Mr. O. T. Sghia: Coins of Albania, Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro, Ragusa, Roumania, Serbia, Yugoslavia.

Mr. W. R. Carpenter: Various emergency and other currency.

Mr. W. H. Arthur: A beautiful copy of the Brasher Doubloon 1787, with E. B. punch on eagle's wing.

Mr. O. G. Schilke: Two Pearl Harbor medals in bronze and silver.

Mr. L. Kusterer: Various medals of Henry Clay.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd: Collection of 108 Henry Clay badges and medals.

—F. C. C. BOYD, Secretary.

OMAHA COIN CLUB—101st regular meeting. President Blaufuss presiding, with twelve members and three guests in attendance.

Mr. Blaufuss called upon some of our Past Presidents for short talks. Mr. Thorson, being our first President, told of the formation and history of our club. He gives much of the credit to other members but we all realize that Mr. Thorson went to a great deal of work and expense in our behalf and we are grateful. Past President Pilmaier made a few timely and well chosen remarks. He has been a very hard worker for our club and has missed very few of our meetings.

Dr. Judd, also a Past President, first told how he began collecting, like many of us he started with the small cents, and today his collection of patterns is one of the finest in the country. Dr. Judd, being the principal speaker for the evening, gave a very interesting talk on "U. S. Pattern Quarters." He had about 35 of these, all in Proof, on exhibit which he used in connection with his talk.

—RAYMOND MOULTON, Secretary.

ORANGE COUNTY COIN CLUB—The Club held its 53rd monthly meeting at the Church of the Messiah in Santa Ana on the third Tuesday evening in September, President Hanson presiding.

The meeting was turned over to Program chairman, Herb Bergen, who gave a talk on old gold which was both interesting and instructive. This talk was formerly planned to be given by Mr. Ed. Lee, but much to the regret of the Club it was learned that he had passed away.

A very successful auction followed.

—C. GLENN CURTIS, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The 77th meeting of the Society was held on Monday evening, October 11, at the Benson Hotel in Portland. There were 21 members and 3 guests in attendance, with President Bibler in the chair.

Howard Hughes moved that our Society extend a vote of thanks to President Bibler for his diligent effort in preparing and presenting many fine papers on little known facts about interesting coins and those that collect them. His latest being the story "The Abernethy Rock, A Medium of Exchange," presented at our September meeting. Motion carried.

Our guests for the evening were Chief Petty Officers Johns and Borchert and Miss Cunningham, who were presented by Mrs. Essie Cohen. Officer Johns displayed an interesting collection of coins and bills he has obtained from the countries in which he has been stationed, many of these countries being in the present battle zones. Of particular interest was a split 5.00 U. S. bill with the Hawaii overprint, and Axis substitute money for some of the countries they have occupied. Officer Johns says coins are very scarce in the cities that have been retaken from the Axis and there seems to be no gold at all.

Quite an interesting discussion of the various dealers and their methods of doing business took up the rest of the meeting before the auction. A list of those discussed appears as a separate part of these minutes and is available for reference.

Displays for the evening were made by Mr. Perry who came forth with a new series of U. S. Proofs including that of the year 1936, as well as a global display of coins from many countries. Howard Hughes brought a British pound of 1642 and an early date British crown as well as the Catalogue and Price List of the Michael F. Higgy Collection. Stan Sebolt brought proof sets.

Leonard Trythall conducted his usual rapid fire auction, ably assisted by Felix Baronovich. Auction material was scarce and prices good.

—JOHN R. SLUSHER, Secretary.

PACIFIC COAST NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—333rd meeting was held at the Hotel Whitcomb, September 29th, with 22 members and seven guests present. In the absence of President Morris, Jr., Ensign John Lenker presided.

The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and submitted a healthy financial report and it was moved that the Society should go on record to purchase our second $100.00 U. S. War Bond. Through a donation from Mr. Ellwood Ellinger, followed by different members, a new fund was started for the purchase of a third bond.

The Secretary reported the sudden death of Mr. Ed. M. Lee, a fellow member of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society and well known authority on California Gold Coinage and many other numismatic subjects. The chair requested a silent tribute to his memory. Ensign Lenker and the Secretary spoke briefly of the many pleasant characteristics of Mr. Lee, and it was moved that the meeting be adjourned "In respect to the Memory of Mr. Ed. M. Lee."

The Secretary called on Mr. Mitchell and conveyed the best wishes of all the members upon his election as 2nd Vice President of the American Numismatic Ass'n. Mr. Mitchell promised that he will endeavor to represent the Pacific Coast to his best ability.

Mr. Mitchell as chairman of the program committee called on Roy Hill who talked on Invasion Paper Money, and tokens of Mexico. Ensign Lenker spoke on the coinage of Monaco, Mongolia, Montenegro and the Malay possessions. Mr. Wilson followed with a talk on the inscriptions of Mohamadan coins. Mr. Harry Cutler talked on the Private Gold issues and displayed the original dies of the 1855 $20.00 Kellogg Gold pieces and announced that he will lend the dies to the California Pioneer Society for display to the general public. A real treat was the fine lecture by Mr. Mitchell on our early Colonial issues in connection with an elaborate display of rare and interesting pieces. Ed. Fogler displayed a large collection of coins of countries starting with M and N and gave a short talk. All talks were enthusiastically received by those present.

—EDWARD FOGLER, Secretary.

CANTON (OHIO) COIN CLUB—The 89th meeting of the Club was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 12, at the Belden Hotel, with Warren Smith presiding. Eleven members and one guest were present.

President Smith led a discussion of plans for a dinner to celebrate our 100th meeting in December. Definite action will be taken at the November session after a report on available restaurant accommodations is submitted.

Mr. Frank A. Hoffman, president of the McKinley Stamp Club of Canton, gave an interesting talk on stamp collecting with particular reference to First Day Covers. He displayed his colorful collection of these covers explaining how and where they may be obtained.

Displays:

Mr. Welch: Broken Bank bills from over thirty states; cancelled checks from the 1880's.

Mr. Smith: Morgan and Mercury dimes and coins of China.

Mr. Ortl: Mercury dimes.

Mr. Miller: Morgan and Mercury dimes and four coins of China which he obtained while soldering in California from the wreck of the steamer Rlo de Janiero sunk off San Francisco Feb. 22, 1900.

Mr. Bolus: Mercury dimes and miscellaneous unc. and proof types from half cent to dollar.

Meeting adjourned for an auction of 35 lots.

—CHARLES T. BOLUS, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—Our 100th Club meeting began at 6 p. m. on Thursday evening, October 14th, in the Garden Terrace of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. This was our annual banquet and we were entertained by The Ice Parade of 1944. There were 49 members and guests present.

The Philadelphia Coin Club was founded in July, 1935, with ten men present at the first meeting. The membership has steadily grown and at present stands at 97.

The regular meeting followed the dinner and was called to order by President Havens, at which time the following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President, Richard T. Hooper; Vice President, Gorgas Bechtel; Treasurer, Willard P. Snyder; Curator, Ira S. Reed; Secretary, Arthur Sipe.

The Club's public exhibit for the month of October at 37 S. 18th St., Philadelphia is a fine collection of half cents from 1793 to 1857, with varieties displayed by Mr. Richard T. Hooper.

Each person present was presented with an uncirculated 1935 Lincoln cent in commemoration of the year our Club was founded, and also an uncirculated 1943-S steel cent.

Mr. Havens, our retiring President, announced that our average attendance during the past year was 32.

Mr. Ballard proposed that a medal of the Philadelphia Coin Club be presented to our past Presidents, men in the armed services of our country, and those who have extended unusual service in the Club's interest.

The exhibits of the evening were as follows:

Mr. John M. Enburg: 100 Dollar size silver coins of the world, some proofs, four of U. S. dollars.

Mr. C. E. Young: $100.00 in coins including sets in folders of Indian Head cents, Lincoln Head cents, Liberty Head and Buffalo nickels, Liberty Head and Mercury dimes, 1892 to 1943 quarters, and half dollars from 1903 to 1943.

P. K. Yeagley: A complete set of Flying Eagle and Indian Head cents from 1857 to 1909, most of which were collected prior to 1912.

Dr. Sloane: A German medal issued at the time of the sinking of the Lusitania, dated May 5, 1915.

Mr. R. T. Hooper: Two finely bound volumes on Colonial and Continental paper money by Henry Phillips; Massachusetts Bay demand note engraved by Paul Revere.

The 100th meeting ended with an auction conducted by Mr. Schick and consisted of well over 200 items.

—ARTHUR SIPE, Secretary.

RACINE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The sixty-seventh monthly meeting of the Society was held Friday evening, Oct. 8, at the Y. M. C. A. Twelve members were present.

Reports were given by various members who attended the A. N. A. convention in Chicago.

A talk was given by R. S. Yeoman, "Benjamin Franklin and His Influence on United States Coinage." The Franklin medal and Fugio Cent were displayed.

Displays:

Louis Wilczynski: 50c Montana Gold 1914, unc. Souvenir Hendrik Hudson 1909 gold sandblast prf. 25c Idaho gold 1914, unc. 1910 Lincoln gold token unc. 1927 Lincoln gold token unc.

J. V. McDermott: 1836 first gold pattern, brilliant prf., 15 coined. Swedish Tercentennial two kroner, settling of Swedes in Delaware.

—R. S. YEOMAN, Secretary.

SEATTLE COIN CLUB—The 85th meeting of the Club was held Sept. 30 at the YMCA Club Rooms, Pres. Worth presiding. There were 16 members and 14 visitors present. This fine attendance was due, in a large measure, to the prospect of having Mr. Paul Fouts give his famous lecture on the "History of Money." Paul was in his very best form, and his audience truly appreciated his fine effort. The lecture took in the period from about 600 B. C., beginning with Babylonian Empire, when the first known coins were struck, and dealt mostly with the prophecy of Daniel when he interpreted King Nebucadnezar's dream, wherein the King saw a great image whose head was of gold, breast and his arms of silver, body and thighs of brass, legs of iron and feet of iron and clay. (Read Daniel, chapters 1-5) Mr. Fouts brought out in an interesting manner how this interpretation was actually fulfilled by succeeding events in history, and he had a replica of the image, in the form of a painted wood statue, to help illustrate his lecture.

An auction was held which proved to be most interesting one to date, with much spirited bidding.

Our experience with auctions is growing more popular each meeting and our membership is increasing proportionately.

Fine displays of ancient coins were made by Mr. Fouts and Mr. Saeman.

—HARRY C. ZECKSER, Secretary.

SPRINGFIELD COIN CLUB—316th meeting, October 13th, held at the Museum of Fine Arts; President Wheeler presiding, with nine members and two guests present.

Howard E. MacIntosh furnished the entertainment for the evening consisting of a series of slides showing unusual coins, including the Commemorative half dollars. He explained differences in various issues and told interesting things about the Commemoratives. It was a very interesting and educational program.

—W. W. WILLARD, Secretary.

WASHINGTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—Sixteen members attended the monthly meeting of the Society, held at the Women's City Club, 736 Jackson Place N. W., Washington, D. C., on the evening of October 4.

President C. Shirley Leachman reported that he had written to Congressman Randolph, Chairman of the House District Committee, regarding the question of taxation of coin collections. He had not heard from the Congressman.

The principal exhibit was by Mr. Adam Permoda, consisting of 19 Russian roubles beginning with Peter the Great, down to the Soviet Union. In his usual thorough manner, Mr. Permoda gave the historical highlights in the life of each ruler in chronological order.

Mr. Zug exhibited 17 roubles of various rulers, a gold 2-rouble piece of Elizabeth, a gold 5-rouble piece of Catherine II, and a gold 5-rouble piece of Nicolas II; also a set of the Panama Pacific commemorative pieces, 4 gold and 1 silver.

The undersigned displayed a set of Russian silver coins including 1½ roubles, 1 rouble, ¾ rouble, ½ rouble, 25 kopecks, 20 kopecks, 15 kopecks, 10 kopecks and 5 kopecks. This set included Nicolas I, 1837 to Nicolas II, 1916. Also included was a set of the copper kopecks of Catherine II, minted for use in Siberia.

Mr. Conger exhibited several pieces of jewelry using gold or silver coins.

Mr. Atwood showed the Mexican gold 50-pesos piece, and seven U. S. gold pieces.

Mr. Charles E. McCormick, of Baltimore showed a rare $5 gold note of the First National Bank of San Francisco; also 10 and 20-shilling notes from the West African Currency Board.

Mr. Leachman showed a complete set of coins used in the Philippines, giving the history of each piece; also the recent issue of the $5 and $10 gold pieces of Canada.

Mr. Suhrie exhibited two pieces of the curious copper ring money from Liberia.

—FREDERIC E. HODGE,
Acting Secretary.

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB

—The regular monthly meeting of the Club was held Wednesday, Sept. 15, in the Williams Room of the Central YMCA, President Charles E. Morris presiding.

President Morris directed the club to stand for a minute of silence in honor of member Louis Snyder, who died on August 20, 1943.

The election of officers followed, resulting in Arthur G. Fuller being chosen as President, Hugh Funkhouser as Vice President, and F. Bruce Fable as Secretary-Treasurer.

President Morris directed that the next meeting be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Due to the relaxation of the pleasure driving ban, a dinner meeting will be held at that place, and the ladies will be invited. The new officers will be inducted and the usual entertainment offered. The Baltimore Coin Club is to be invited to attend this meeting.

Member Cessna showed a fine display of nine gold coins, all in either very fine or uncirculated condition; also a U. S. bill with the Hawaiian stamp in crisp condition.

The meeting closed at 9:00 and was followed by an auction.

—F. BRUCE FABLE, Secretary.

Salvador Wants 2,000,000 Dimes

San Salvador, Salvador, Sept. 28—The Central Reserve Bank has requested the United States to send 2,000,000 dimes to Salvador to alleviate a shortage of fractional currency.

The Government last week authorized circulation of United States 10-cent pieces in Salvador, stipulating that they would be accepted as the equivalent of 25-centavo coins. —Baltimore Sun.

There is a strong demand for commemorative half dollars once again. These coins have been overlooked by many collectors during the past few years and the popularity in this series is growing daily with the demand greater than ever before. Many new auction records have been set in the commemorative series and prices are rising rapidly. This is not an inflationary appreciation as the coins have been underpriced for the past few years.

In view of the small number of coins issued and the large following, many new price advances will be noted in the months to come. These coins are better than money in the bank. Buy now and avoid higher prices later. One year from today these prices may look like real bargains.

"BID" prices are what we will pay for nice uncirculated coins. We can use circulated coins at discounts from these prices. Write us what you may have.

"ASK" prices are our selling prices for uncirculated specimens. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. Postage extra on orders under $5.

All Prices are subject to change without notice

DELUXE COIN CABINETS FOR CHRISTMAS

Nearly all coin cabinets are now off the market for the duration, as government priorities prohibit the manufacture, due to the hardware, and other materials needed for defense. Fortunately, we have been able to obtain a contract to purchase a LIMITED NUMBER of cabinets, as specifications below, just what every collector is looking for, and unable to locate. Most cabinets that hold 1,000 coins or more usually sell for $20 or upward, and these are priced at practically pre-war prices. If you are in need of a nice cabinet, you will not delay your order, for these will sell very quickly.

A. M. Kagin and Paul Kagin of the Hollinbeck Stamp & Coin Company of Des Moines, Iowa are doing their bit in the army for Uncle Sam. I have undertaken to continue serving their many friends and customers until they return. For the past eight years I have managed the Omaha branch of the Hollinbeck Stamp & Coin Company, and for the duration will handle the business of both companies from the Omaha store.

MY CORDIAL THANKS

ARE HEREBY EXTENDED TO MY FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE A. N. A. AND TO THE VARIOUS CLUBS WHO SUPPORTED MY NOMINATION AND MADE POSSIBLE MY RECENT RE-ELECTION TO THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

FOR TWENTY YEARS I HAVE BEEN OFFICIALLY CONNECTED WITH THE ASSOCIATION, AND HAVE BEEN SINCERELY INTERESTED IN ITS WELFARE. ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT CONSISTENT WITH HEALTHY GROWTH, AND AN EFFICIENT ADMINISTRATION OF ITS VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS, ARE PRINCIPLES I HAVE ALWAYS ADVOCATED. LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER TO MAKE THE COMING YEAR EVEN BETTER THAN ANY WE HAVE YET SEEN.

CHOICE POSTAGE & FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

One lot 31 Notes with a face value of $5.89, consisting of 5c, 3c, 10c, 25c and 50c notes. There are one or two notes in fine condition. The rest run from very fine to almost Unc. This is not a "bunch of junk", but is really choice material for some serious collector. Price for the lot ..$30.00

Another choice lot. All Uncirculated, consisting of 5c, 10c, and 50c with only a very few duplicates. This lot will make some collector happy. 20 notes. Price for the lot .....$28.00

Another choice lot consisting of two Albums. This lot will run from Very Fine to Unc., mostly Extra Fine and Unc. with one or two pieces that are not quite so nice. Now, this lot contains some rare pieces. The two Albums consist of 59 notes. Price for the lot $159.00. Quite a bit of money, alright, but if you want something nice, here it is.

We only have the three lots, as above; Cashiers Check or Money Order. We guarantee the above lots to please. They are well worth the money and hard to obtain. Any serious collector of this material will be well pleased.

HARRY W. BASON

Numismatist
24 Maple Drive, New Hyde Park, N. Y.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP.

MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC..

REQUIRED BY THE ACTS OF CONGRESS

OF AUGUST 24, 1912, and March 3, 1933

Of The Numismatist published monthly at Federalsburg, Md., for October 1, 1943.

State of Iowa
County of Linn ss.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Burton H. Saxton, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Editor and Business Manager of The Numismatist and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: Publisher American Numismatic Association, Washington, D. C. Editor Burton H. Saxton, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Managing Editor none. Business Manager Burton H. Saxton, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding one per cent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given.) American Numismatic Assn., Washington, D. C.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

Burton H. Saxton, Business Manager

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 28th day of September, 1943.

"I LIED"

One of our recent coins was minted in two varieties. One is rare—But I don't know which. So I had better forget it—because the one I'm selling may be the good one.

I have the 1943 "D" UNC. NICKELS.
(Roll 2.75) (2 rolls $5) (10 rolls $22.50)
($50.00 bags at 10% over face F.O.B.)

Uncirculated Cents:

1943 "D" (2 rolls 1.50) (10 rolls $7.00)

Bag of 2,000 Prepaid $25.00

1943 "P" or "S" (2 rolls 1.75) (10 rolls $8.00)

Bag of 2,000 Prepaid $28.50

1942 "P" or "D" (2 rolls 1.75) (10 rolls $8.00)

Bag of 2,000 Prepaid $28.50

Circulated Nickels:

1939 "P" roll $2.50; 1939 "S" roll $5.00;

1939 "D" roll $6.00; 10 singles $2.00.

Old type: 1942 "P" roll $2.75;

TYPES OF U. S. DIMES, AND THEIR DESIGNERS

By TED R. HAMMER, Burlington, Iowa
Librarian and Curator, A. N. A.

Although one of the most interesting in the entire series of United States coins, and always popular with collectors, the dimes have been neglected by numismatic writers.

One possible reason for the lack of interest on the part of writers is that from the beginning of the Mint through the 1892 series of silver coins, all were of similar design. However, there is reference material on varieties of the other silver coins, half dimes through dollars.

There are eight principal types of dimes and the die varieties are quite extensive. There probably are many "sleepers" among dime varieties, because a comparison of prices of today with those of 25 to 30 years ago indicates little change.

Often considered a pattern, and struck in copper as well as silver, the disme was one of the first coins struck at the Philadelphia Mint. The disme is far more scarce than the half disme which reportedly was coined from silver provided by George and Martha Washington from their own home. The dismes often show signs of circulation, as do the half dismes. Both were struck only in 1792. The 1944 Standard Catalogue by Wayte Raymond, Inc., lists the 1792 disme (silver) at $750 in good condition only, and the one in copper at $75 good and $150 fine. It is believed the word disme was adopted from the French dixeme, meaning tenth. Governmental reports used the spelling "dime" for the half dime beginning regularly in 1794, and for the dime starting in 1796. Values did not appear on coins however until 1809, when "10c" appeared on the reverse, and the word DIME was first used in 1837.

Now the smallest of our subsidiary silver coins, the dime has been minted every year from 1796 except in 1799, 1806, 1808, 1810, 1812, 1813, 1815 to 1819 inclusive, 1826, 1922, 1932 and 1933. Mint records list none for 1824, yet the 1824 over 22 is well known—so well known it is not even considered among the scarce coins of the series.

The Origin of the Dime

The dime probably had its origin in the 1784 Congressional report of Thomas Jefferson, who favored the decimal system over the proposal of Robert Morris, who advocated a system which would have made our coins bear a close resemblance to those of foreign countries—coins with which the colonists were familiar. Congress adopted the Jefferson recommendations unanimously in 1785, and we have had the decimal coinage system ever since. The dollar, of course, was patterned after the Spanish milled dollar which circulated widely throughout the colonies.

(The dollar was composed of 1,000 mills, and other coins ranged from the half cent to the half dollar, in addition to the gold eagle and half eagle, under the first plan adopted. The amount of silver in the dollar was fixed at the time at 375.64 grains, although changed later to 416 grains, 892.4 fine. The dime, authorized under the Act of April 2, 1792, was to weigh 41.6 grains and to be of the same fineness as the dollar and other silver coins. This Act authorized the half dime, quarter, half and dollar—also the half cent; the cent was authorized April 22.)

The new steel cents with zinc coating are causing considerable confusion because of their resemblance to the 10-cent pieces in the hurry and bustle of box offices, tellers' cages, cafes, and so on. During the recent A. N. A. convention in Chicago we asked at least twenty cashiers what they thought of the steel cents—none liked them. Several used special receptacles in which to place the incoming steel cents, apparently not putting them in cash registers at all. So disliked are they, some of the answers could not be printed in a family journal.

Despite the adoption of the decimal system, Americans half a century later still reckoned largely in "bits" and other foreign fractions.

From the beginning until 1853, all silver was coined free, the half dime, dime, quarter and half being in exact proportion to the dollar. Under the Act of 1853, only the dollar was subsequently coined free.

Weight of the silver coins was changed in 1837 under the Act of January 18, the dime being reduced to 41 $\frac{1}{4}$  grains. It was reduced again February 21, 1853, to 38.4 grains because previously it was worth more than 10 cents in bullion, and other silver coins likewise contained more than face in silver. The weight was increased slightly under the Act of January 12, 1873, to 38.58 grains.

Coins minted in 1853 and 1873 after the weights were changed, have arrows beside the dates. The arrows were retained on the dimes of 1854 and 1855 and later, were carried over from 1873 to 1874. The 1837 regulation provided the dimes should be nine-tenths fine. It also provided for elimination of the eagle. No reason is known for this change, but it has been presumed it was because the dime and half dime were too small for the design. Obverses of the silver coins were left similar with each succeeding issue until 1916.

Types and Rarity

In the eight types, principal differences are found in the reverses only in Types 2, 5 and 6. Although on the side of those type collectors who believe both the obverse and reverse should be shown, we want to avoid any argument with those who would list nine or more types instead of eight.

For those collectors going in for rarities, the dime offers a field, day which might well intrigue anyone for a lifetime. Of all the rarities, the 1894-S is the best known. Mr. Farran Zerbe, one of America's foremost numismatists and authorities on coins, and former curator of the famed Chase National Bank collection, is quoted in THE NUMISMATIST of April, 1926, giving the only authority we could find for the explanation of the 1894 San Francisco dime. Mr. Zerbe obtained his information at that Mint in 1915. He was informed that at the end of the fiscal year mint authorities found it necessary to show 40 odd cents in the year's account. While no dimes had been struck up to June of that year there was no reason to believe there would not be some issued later in the calendar year; so, 24 dimes were struck. As it developed, no dimes were required of that mint during 1894. Meantime, most of the dimes had gone into circulation in bags of coins. About three were taken by employees "just to have a new dime." These subsequently were sold for $25 or more by the owners.

All the dimes of 1796 to 1804 are scarce, the last being the rarest; those of 1809 to 1822 are scarce, particularly in fine or better condition. Others include 1841 without drapery from elbow; 1856-S, 1858-S, 1859-S, 1860-O, 1870-S, 1871-CC, 1872-CC, 1873-CC, with or without arrows, 1874-CC, 1885-S, 1905-O with the very small O, and the 1916-D new type so-called Mercury dime. There are several others. Mr. Newcomb stated several of the dimes were more scarce than the frequently mentioned 1860-S. Extreme rarity of the 1871-CC dime is odd, since Mint records list 10,817 as struck.

Reason for the scarcity of the 1844 dime is unknown, according to Brimelow, although numerous theories have been advanced. He pointed out that while some of the theories could be true, not all of them could be. Mint records give the total coinage of the 1844 dimes as 72,500. At that time, the 10 cent piece contained more than face value in silver, and many coins disappeared into bullion pots. However, these cheaters who melted coins would certainly have had no reason to single out the 1844 dimes. Mr. Brimelow wrote the coins disappeared soon after the year of issue, although the fact did not become known until 80 years later.

It is difficult to learn a great deal about coin designers at the early Mints. Many assistants came and went without leaving any important evidence of their work.

The silver coins continued with common designs until the eagle was omitted from the reverse of the half dime and dime in 1837; the types of the cents and half cents resembled each other and the gold coinage had its own designs common to all its denominations. Even when the government endeavored to improve its coinage in 1892 the results did not meet with favor.

Early Mint Engravers had a difficult time, and their jobs certainly could not have been enviable. What ever else may be said of their work, they surely provided future collectors with numerous varieties and many things to argue about. In early die making, it required four separate punchmarks for the date, so it is no wonder we have "wide dates," large and small mintmarks, and so on, with different varieties even in a single year.

The Mint Engravers

Our first Engraver was Robert Scott, appointed November 23, 1793. A Joseph Wright had been "appointed first a draughtsman and die sinker to the United States Mint," and is known to have made the dies for the "Houdon" medal, considered the best one with Washington's profile. Wright died in 1793.

The second Engraver, William Kneass, was a native American, born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, in September, 1781. At the time of his appointment, January 29, 1824, he had an engraving establishment near the Mint. Several important changes in coinage, notable those of 1834, 1838 (gold), and 1836, 1837, 1838 and 1840 (silver) and 1839 cent "heads" occurred during his employment. He died in office on August 27, 1840.

On December 21, 1840, Christian Gobrecht was appointed Mint Engraver, having served as Mr. Kneass' assistant since 1836. Mr. Gobrecht was born in Hanover, Pennsylvania, December 23, 1785, and became an engraver of banknotes, seals, etc. He did some important work at the Mint as assistant and later as chief Engraver, but was not destined to hold the position long, as he died July 23, 1844.

Fourth Engraver was James B. Longacre, who is noted especially for the Indian head cent coined from 1859 to 1909. He also was a native Pennsylvanian, having been born in Delaware County August 11, 1794. Mr. Longacre's work became recognized while he still was serving his apprenticeship. Among his assistants at the mint were P. F. Cross, William Barber, Anthony C. Paquet, and William H. Key. Numerous coinage changes occurred during Mr. Longacre's term—the pattern pieces appeared, and there were important changes in alloys and denominations; the half cent and the large copper cents were replaced with the small cents (first the flying eagle, then the Indian head). Mr. Longacre, like his predecessors, died in office, passing away on January 1, 1869, and was succeeded by William Barber.

It is interesting to note that the fifth Mint Engraver, born in London May 2, 1807, learned his trade from his father, John Barber, because his own son, Charles E. (born in London in 1840) later became his successor and was one of the best known of all our Engravers. William Barber came to America, engaging in engraving in Boston where his work came to the attention of Mr. Longacre. Succeeding his chief in January, 1869, he likewise held office until his death, which occurred August 31, 1879. Although noted for his original work on coins, Mr. Barber designed more than 40 medals during his career, before and after entering the Mint. Among his assistants were William G. Key, George T. Morgan, and his own son, Charles, all three of whom are known to collectors. Nickel coins were first minted during his incumbency.

Appointed his father's assistant in 1869, Charles Barber became the sixth Engraver several months after the elder Barber's death. The promotion was warranted, according to contemporary authorities. He had as assistants, Messrs. Key and Morgan with whom he had worked under his father. In addition to the nickel coinage and the changes of 1892, these men designed many medals required by the War Department. Key was born in Brooklyn and was appointed an assistant Engraver in 1864. Morgan was a native of England, having been born in Birmingham, in 1845. He studied at an English art school, winning a scholarship. He is credited with the design and execution of the Bland dollar.

Because Mr. Morgan designed the 1878 dollar, many also credited the half, quarter and dime to him also, although they were the work of Mr. Barber. His signature, a B, appears on the truncation of the bust of Liberty on all three coins, while an M appears on both the obverse and reverse of the dollar.

Recognizing that our coinage designs could be improved, the Treasury Department, in considering a change in 1892, invited artists to submit sketches. The government was disappointed with the results, although "200 or 300 artists received honorable mention for their efforts," according to one writer of the period. Artists complained that since only one could receive the commission, they would be doing a lot of work for nothing. Augustus Saint-Gaudens, one of the judges, reported there were but four artists competent to do this class of designing—three Frenchmen and himself. Mr. Barber said it was then impossible to follow Saint-Gaudens' suggestions as to the Greek type of designs because no machinery was available to produce such coins as inexpensively as that in use; because coins of high relief would not stack; because this high relief would cause early wear; and that their irregularity would make counterfeiting easy. So we have the Barber dime.

The Mint adopted a new process for making dies in producing the 1892 series. The artist first executed his design in larger dimensions in clay or wax, a duplicate being cast in metal, and, after retouching, a reducing machine was used in transferring it to steel, which was subsequently hardened. This process has been improved since then.

New Designs in 1916

When a change in our coins was decided upon for 1916, the Mint had better success in obtaining acceptable designs—gaining the approval of government authorities and of most coin collectors. While the standing Liberty type was chosen for the quarter and half dollar, a radical departure was made in the dime, which for the first time was given an obverse different from the higher denomination silver coins.

Several sculptors were commissioned to submit designs, and those of Adolph A. Weinman were chosen for the halves and dimes. This last, appearing late in October of 1916, met with immediate approval, despite its lack of similarity to any previous coinage of the United States. One numismatic writer compared the "winged head" to one on Roman consular denarii of the pre-Christian era. The name "Mercury dime," given the coin early, persisted, although erroneous.

The Artist's Interpretation

Mr. Weinman wrote Frank G. Duffield, Editor of THE NUMISMATIST, who had asked why the fasces was chosen for the reverse, that "the law on United States coinage stipulates that on all subsidiary coinage there shall appear upon the obverse a figure or representation of Liberty (and the dime is obviously too small for a full length Liberty). The wings crowning her cap are intended to symbolize liberty of thought. (Although the eagle is mandatory on the 25 and 50 cent pieces, the law does not stipulate a reverse figure for the dime.) I have selected the motive of the fasces and olive branch to symbolize the strength which lies in unity, while the battle ax stands for preparedness to defend the Union. The branch of olive is symbolical of our love of freedom." Weinman's signature, a W, appears on the obverse between the Y of LIBERTY and the date.

Types of U. S. Dimes

No. 1. 1796-1797. Obv. Liberty bust right, LIBERTY around top, hair bound with ribbon, the 1796 has 15 stars (8L, 7R) and on the 1797 there are dimes with 13 and 16 stars. Rev. Small eagle within wreath, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Reeded edge.

No. 2. 1798-1807. Obv. same as No. 1 with 13 stars. Rev. Heraldic eagle with raised wings, shield on breast, beak carrying scroll E PLURIBUS UNUM, bundle of 13 arrows in right talon, olive branch in left, 13 stars in clouds above eagle; UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Reeded edge. Main variety is 1798 over 7. (None issued in 1799, 1806, 1808.)

No. 3. 1809-1837. Obv. Liberty facing left wearing coronet with LIBERTY on band, flowing hair, 13 stars. Rev. Heraldic eagle with breast shield, scroll over eagle with E PLURIBUS UNUM; 10c below

(first time denomination appears on the dime). All 1811's are over '09; the 1814, 1820 and 1821 are of two varieties, both large and small dates; all 1823's are over '22, and there are two rev. varieties, both large and small E in legend; all 1824's are over '22 (mint reports list no 1824 but they are common). There also are two varieties of the 1828, with large and small date; 1829 and 1830 each has two varieties—large and small 10c. (None coined in 1810, 1812, 1813, 1815 to 1819 inclusive; 1826.) Reeded edge.

No. 4. 1837 and 1838-O. Obv. Liberty seated with head turned left, right hand holding shield with word LIBERTY; left holding upright staff with Liberty cap at top; plain field. Rev. ONE DIME inside laurel wreath. 1837 appears with both large and small dates. 1838-O, the first branch Mint dime. Mintmark bottom inside wreath. Reeded edge.

No. 5. 1838-1860. Obv. same as No. 4 except has 13 stars; Rev. same. 1838, 1839, 1839-O, 1840, 1840-O, 1841, appear without drapery from elbow; there are numerous varieties, such as close or wide dates, small O in mintmark; the 1856-S is the first San Francisco dime. First of the 1853's appeared without arrows beside date, but later ones of that year, the 1854, 1854-O and 1855 had arrows denoting change in weight, all silver coins being smaller starting in 1853. There is an 1859 with reverse of 1860—it is rare. Reeded edge.

No. 6. 1860-1891. Obv. same except stars replaced with UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Rev. ONE DIME within wreath of corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco; no other lettering on reverse. 1872-CC is first Carson City dime; 1872-S, 1875-S, 1875-CC are found with mintmark within wreath and below it (two varieties). In 1873, the weight was increased from 38.4 grains to 38.58 grains. Coins of 1873 with arrows beside date are those struck after weight was increased; the arrows appear beside date in 1874's of the Philadelphia, Carson City and San Francisco mints (the only three in operation then); arrows omitted starting 1875. Reeded edge.

No. 7. 1892-1916 (Barber type). Obv. Liberty head right, wearing Phrygian cap; UNITED STATES OF AMERICA around outer edge of field. Rev. ONE DIME within corn, oak, wheat wreath, mintmarks at bottom of reverse. The 1905-O is found with both large and small mintmark O. D mintmark first appeared in 1906. Reeded edge. Dies for these coins were made by a new process.

No. 8. 1916—. Obv. Liberty head facing left, wearing winged cap; LIBERTY around outer edge of field; IN GOD WE TRUST in small type left of neck, W, signature of artist, between Y and date. Rev. fasces, and olive branch; UNITED STATES OF AMERICA around outer edge, top, and ONE DIME below design; E PLURIBUS UNUM in small letters lower right field; mintmark bottom at left. The fasces, long accepted as the symbol of unity and power, subsequently was adopted by Mussolini's Fascist party in Italy. This is another instance in which a coin outlived a political party or "ism."

COMPARISON CHART

LARGE CENTS OF 1793-1814 INCLUSIVE

Through the courtesy of Edward B. Haden of Haddonfield, N. J., valuable comparison tables of the standard authorities on large cent varieties have been furnished, and will appear in an early issue. They will be of especial interest to collectors of this series of United States coins.

THE MARIA THERESA (OR LEVANTINE) THALER

By J. HUNT DEACON, Adelaide, South Australia

(The author is District Secretary of the A. N. A. for Australia; Government Numismatist in the Department of Coins and Medals, National Gallery, Adelaide; Founder and Past President of the Association of Australian Numismatists; Founder, Past President and Honorary Life Member of the Numismatic Society of South Australia, etc.)

The county of Tyrol became an appendage of the Habsburg house until 1685, when it was joined to the main possessions. After the Battle of Ulm, Napoleon took Vienna, while Messena drove the Archduke Charles out of Italy and occupied the Tyrol, 1805. By the Treaty of Schonbrunn (October 14th, 1809) the southern portion went to Italy, and the rest to Bavaria; but it was joined up again, less the Bavarian Tyrol, by the Congress of Vienna and given back to Austria in 1780. This date would naturally be regarded as an indication of the year of minting, but is, as we know, nothing of the sort. It coincides with that of the death of Maria Theresa, and years after her son's accession to the Imperial throne. If the coin is to be regarded as an Imperial issue (which I question) it would have to be catalogued under Joseph II (1765-1790). The coin was, apparently, not issued until Dec. 1st, 1783, which is that given by Wieser (Num. Cir. 1937, Col. 260-1) as that of the Hofkammer Decree. This rather supports the theory that the piece was of memorial class. What the reference (Num. Cir. 1937/261) to "Instruction of Jan 1st, 1754," means, is more than I can say. What bearing has it on the History of the coin[6]? There seems to have been nothing outstanding in that year to have suggested the issue, as far as I can discover.

X. The cross at the end of the reverse legend is not a mint-mark, as suggested by Comencini. I found the explanation in an old German catalog. It appears to denote that the coins so marked with the Cross of Burgundy (Andreaskreuz) belonged to the Zwanziggulden-fusse. Just what is this standard? We must go back a little into the monetary history of Germany to get sufficient ground to understand its importance.

In 1665 complaints were being made of the debased state of the coinage, a result, no doubt, of the Thirty Years War. The Warden of the mints of Franconia, Bavaria, and Swabia stated that good gold ducats had been displaced by depreciated coinages of Italy, France, England and Holland. The circles of Franconia, Bavaria, and Swabia met in conference, and it was suggested that the thaler be raised from 90 to 96 kreuzer; this was accepted in 1667. From this scheme Brandenburg and Saxony held off, and a mint treaty was signed, whereby the Zinnaische standard was adopted for the two states, the thaler being worth 105 kreuzer (or 1 florin 45 kreuzer). This action stripped the three circles of their silver coin and they met again to discuss the situation. After strenuous efforts they carried through the Reichstag of 1680 a resolution to reduce the Reichsthaler to 90 kreuzer, but from this the Empire itself, with Bavaria and Salzburg, stood out and maintained their own Reichsthaler at 96 kreuzer. The disorder which followed led to the promotion by John George III, Duke of Saxony, of the Leipzig standard of 1690, which was established by treaty between Saxony, Brandenburg, and Brunswick-Luneberg. According to it, the Reichsthaler was raised to 120 kreuzer (2 florins). Sweden accepted it in the same year, and three years later the three circles also joined. In 1738 the Reichstag determined on the adoption of the Leipzig standard for the whole empire, but it was doomed to the same fate as all its predecessors. The subsequent history of Teutonic standards does not concern us here.

DESIGN. At the outset the type-design on the reverse is very different from that on the Imperial issues. Let us analyze it. Of the crowns, the topmost one is the Imperial crown; the other two apparently those of Hungary and Bohemia, but poor representations. That of Hungary is closest to the original, except that the cross at the top of the crown of St. Stephen is upright, instead of oblique. Why is this[7], since the Magyars were very proud of their crown and its history? It will be remembered that the crown was lost by Otto of Bavaria when he sought the hand of one of the princesses of Transylvania. It was subsequently found, and injuries were discovered which are visible to this day. I do not think that it was carelessness or ignorance on the part of the engraver, but suggest that for some unknown reason, such peculiarities were intentional. Why is it that the crown over the Bohemian arms is nothing like that of Bohemia[8]?

The eagle, too, differs from the Imperial eagle; the heads are not crowned and they have a kind of halo around (or in) their beaks. It does not hold the drawn sword of state (i.e. the Sword of St. Maurice); the sceptre in one talon, and the Imperial orb in the other. Regarding the "haloes," are these additions, which appear also on coins of Nuremberg, Bohemia, Transylvania, Goritz, Burgau, but not on those of Lubeck, the Empire, etc., intended as haloes[9], and if so, for what reason do they appear[10]? Have they any reference to the term "Holy" in the title of Holy Roman Empire? In passing it will be of interest to note that according to Wieser, these "haloes" re-appeared on the double-headed eagle adopted as the arms of the Republic of Austria on April 30th, 1934.

Upon the arms little need be said. That of Hungary is interesting on account of the four silver bars representing the four principal rivers (the Danube, Theiss, Drave and Save); while the three mounds upon which the crown supporting the cross rests (not discernible on the coin owing to the inescutcheon) is thought to represent the three mountains (the Tatra, Fatra and Matra), the cross (patriarchal) no doubt refers to the Apostolic Kingdom—the title of Apostolic Majesty being conferred on St. Stephen by Pope Sylvester II in 997.

Regarding the arms of Burgau, I was unable to find this blazoned in any book here, and that used was supplied by Mr. Guy Williams of Adelaide. Burgau was a town and margraviate on the upper Danube, between Ulm and Augsburg, and formed a part of Vorder Oesterreich. Ferdinand, Count of Tyrol (1564-95), whose coins are often confused with those of his father, Emperor Ferdinand I, married the beautiful and accomplished Philippine Welser, of a noble Augsburg family. Their sons were considered beneath the Imperial family in rank; the elder, Charles, was made Margrave of Burgau, and married Sibylle of Cleves and Berg, becoming a possible claimant to those duchies. He died in 1618, and the margraviate and out-lying districts were reabsorbed by the Emperor. Maria Theresa issued separate coins for Vorder Oesterreich, and these were struck at Günzburg, near Burgau. The arms in pretence are those of Austria (no doubt the coronet is an archducal one, if there is any such head-gear) and not, as has been stated, those of the House of Hapsburg, which were: Or, a lion rampant gules, crowned azure.

The edge of the coin has the following raised ornamentation and lettering: IUSTITIA; leaf-like ornament; rosette; leaf-like ornament; ET; rosette; ornament[11] (unidentified); dot; dot; ornament (unidentified); leaf-like ornament; rosette; leaf-like ornament; CLEMENTIA; leaf-like ornament; rosette; leaf-like ornament; dot; ornament (unidentified); rosette. Justice and Mercy appears to have been the motto of Maria Theresa.

The coin weight, according to the Roy. Mint Rep., 1937, 28.0668 grammes (or 433.5 grains). Its size is 1 inch and 19/32nds, or approximately 41.5 millimeters in diameter.

This ends the recording of what the coin shows us.

PART II

WHAT WE KNOW, BUT NOT INDICATED ON THE COIN

Because we know its weight, and its fineness (833.333 millesimal fineness), together with the fact that it was of the Leipzig standard, we know it to be a Thaler. We also know that its pure silver content is 360.763 grains. Of the artist who engraved the dies we do know a little. Johann Baptist Wurschbauer (the elder) joined the Mint (presumably at Vienna) in 1758, and was transferred to Gratz in 1761. Four years later he became Assistant Mint Engraver there, and in two years Mint Engraver in succession to his cousin Franz Ignace Wurschbauer. In 1774 he was transferred to Günzburg where he remained until 1800, during which time he engraved the original dies for the Thalers. He then removed to Vienna and died in the same year. Forrer notes two of his sons, Johann Baptist the younger and Franz, but we need not follow their careers; nor that of Joseph, son of the cousin abovementioned, who was also an engraver.

We know also that dies were made by Karl Wurschbauer. I would not be surprised to learn that this engraver was another son of the elder Johann Baptist. He was born in 1774, and became an engraver-apprentice at Vienna in 1793. In 1794 he was named Assistant Engraver at Karlsburg, and two years later was provisionally employed at Vienna. In 1800 he was moved to Schmollnitz and five years later was back at Karlsburg as Engraver. In 1814 the Chief Engraver (presumably Johann Baptist Harnisch) complained that he was careless in his work, that the dies of the Karlsburg Mint were the worst of all the Mints, and that he had neglected the execution of the dies for the Maria Theresa Thalers. Three years later he was reprimanded for unseemly conduct towards the Mint Master, and apparently pensioned off in 1823; he died in 1841. Quoting from Forrer, "Subsequent issues, although dated 1780, were engraved by Karl Wurschbauer, whose work in connection with these dies did not give satisfaction to the Mint authorities." The question is, were the coins produced from these dies those which make the second variety of the Thaler[12]?

We know that these Thalers were issued from the Vienna Mint, the London Mint, the Rome Mint and the Brussels Mint. Among the names.

under which the Thaler is known are Bes, Enest, Günzbergerthaler, Levant Thaler, Levantine Thaler, Maria Theresa Dollar, Maria Theresa Thaler; Talaro (pl. Talari), Tallaro (pl. Talari), and Talero del Levante.

They are known to have circulated in the following countries or districts: Abyssinia (in 1886 supplies for the British Expeditionary Force; and in 1886 and 1896 for Italian Troops); Aden; Arabia; Ashantee; Bahrein; Borneo; Eritrea; Levant; Muscat; Somaliland; Sudan; Tripoli; Tunis; and Yeman.

There have been several attempts to displace the Maria Theresa with other issues. In Abyssinia, Memelik II issued his tallaro of the same size, weight, and standard, but the older coin appears to have survived the competition. Like the Maria Theresa Thaler, there were two varieties of these Bes: one acceptable by the natives, with the lion's tail straight; and one with the curved tail, which was only circulated with difficulty and then at a small discount. In 1890, after the occupation of Massaouah and the foundation of the colony of Eritrea, the Italians issued a Tallero with the head of Humbert on the obverse, and the Arms of Savoy on the reverse.

We also know that the appearance of the 20 piastre pieces of Turkey and Egypt was a result of an idea to oust the Trade Dollars from lands under the Ottoman government.

We understand that in 1881 the Italian Government issued a Tallero, with the idea of displacing the Trade Dollars there, of .800 fineness. Of these we are told that by 1891, one million had been sent to the colony, but with unsatisfactory results. The Finance Minister stated that (1) they were not favorably received; (2) they were refused by the public, being rated at 5 lire and worth actually only 4 lire; and (3) that only 400,000 had been placed in circulation.

In 1918 the Italian Government issued a coin for Eritrea, which copied in style the Maria Theresa Thaler. There was on the obverse a female bust about the same size as that of Maria Theresa, wearing ermine cloak, fillet and brooch; and inscribed REGNUM ITALICUM 1918. The reverse bore a single-headed eagle with shield of Savoy on its breast, and displayed like that on the Thaler. The legend here was COMMOD. ARG. SIGN AD/NEGOT ERYTHR.

PART III

WHAT WE DO NOT KNOW

Among the things we do not know for certain are: When were they first issued at the Vienna Mint[13]? When were they last issued there[14]? (Presumably up to the "temporary end" of the Republic of Austria when it was annexed to Germany.) When was it first issued at Karlsburg[15]? When last issued there[16]? When was it last issued at Günzburg? At what other mints in Austrian territories was it issued[17]? Why it was issued from the Brussels Mint[18]? In what years was it issued from French Mints[19] and the Roman Mint[20]?

We do not know the number issued[21] nor when the re-issuing commenced[22]. Just how many of these pieces have been issued up to, say, 1937, it would be difficult to compute. Let us see what figures we have. The following are taken from the Royal Mint reports (and other sources) from 1881 to 1937.

| Austrian minting |              |      |                          |
|------------------|--------------|------|--------------------------|
| 1881             | 160,461      | 1912 | 4,082,200                |
| 1882             | 81,998       | 1913 | 4,298,500                |
| 1883             | 308,334      | 1914 | (no returns)             |
| 1884             | 1,477,862    | 1915 | (no returns)             |
| 1885             | 1,386,891    | 1916 | (no returns)             |
| 1886             | 301,619      | 1917 | (no returns)             |
| 1887             | 1,508,876    | 1918 | (no returns)             |
| 1888             | 1,111,800    | 1919 | (no returns)             |
| 1889             | 723,100      | 1920 | 10,900                   |
| 1890             | 468,050      | 1921 | 929,000                  |
| 1891             | 166,200      | 1922 | 27,000                   |
| 1892             | 3,056,400    | 1923 | 495,900                  |
| 1893             | 3,470,100    | 1924 | 4,065,100                |
| 1894             | 2,697,600    | 1925 | 14,968,200               |
| 1895             | 2,301,100    | 1926 | 9,382,000                |
| 1896             | 6,455,600    | 1927 | 15,561,000               |
| 1897             | 5,440,700    | 1928 | 5,390,000                |
| 1898             | 188,300      | 1929 | 2,846,000                |
| 1899             | 348,600      | 1930 | 2,313,700                |
| 1900             | (no returns) | 1931 | 1,266,600                |
| 1901             | 1,542,900    | 1932 | (no returns)             |
| 1902             | 7,172,000    | 1933 | 201,000                  |
| 1903             | 4,410,900    | 1934 | (no returns)             |
| 1904             | 449,900      | 1935 | 300                      |
| 1905             | 285,000      | 1936 | 2,765                    |
| 1906             | 924,900      |      |                          |
| 1907             | 2,470,500    | 1936 | Minted in London 150,125 |
| 1908             | 3,228,100    | 1937 | 3,719,415                |
| 1909             | 6,054,100    |      |                          |
| 1910             | 6,514,100    |      | Minted in Brussels       |
| 1911             | 8,377,200    | 1937 | 2,800,000                |

Now, according to one authority, there were 208,500,000 issued in Austria up to 1925; to these we add 36,963,365 issued there between 1926 and 1936, giving us a total of 245,463,365 issued in Austria, not counting any that may have been struck in the years 1900; 1914-19; 1932 and 1934, when no returns have been noted. During 1936 and 1937 3,869,540 were issued at the Royal Mint, London; and in 1937 there were 2,800,000 struck at the Brussels Mint. This makes the grand total of known issues 252,132,905. However, even this figure does not take into account any issued at the Mint in Rome (as stated in the Roy. Mint Rep., 1937) for recent years; and those issued for Yemen at French mints (see Roy. Mint Report 1938, p. 15). It would be interesting to know the number issued at these and other mints, and whether any were issued during the years noted with "no returns."

It would be very difficult even to suggest what has become of all these pieces; but it is most likely that millions were melted down for the manufacture of other coins. We do know that in 1922 silver piastre pieces were struck at Paris from metal secured by melting down Maria Theresa Thalers and a small portion of Menelik II talleri.

CONCLUSION

This article must be regarded as one seeking information rather than giving it. The writer realizes that many of the theories here set forth may not be acceptable in the light of further information; and to the end of trying to settle some of the vexatious questions he would be pleased to receive, direct, any comments or further data bearing on these interesting coins. In any subsequent article, such assistance will be acknowledged. In the preparation of the paper I have to express my thanks for the assistance rendered by Cyril J. V. Weaver (Hon. Secretary of the Australian Numismatic Society) and D. Elliott Smith (Past President of the Association of Australian Numismatists).

COIN EDGES

By D. ELLIOTT SMITH (A. N. A. No. 8050)

Infrequently trod by-paths are likely to lead in surprising directions. It is proposed to explore a little way in the numismatic field along the by-path of Coin Edges, in the hope that others may extend the exploration and ultimately reach a worth while end.

If observed at all, coin edges are normally the last phase of a coin to obtrude on one's attention, and then usually on coins struck by more modern methods of minting.

Some uniformity of description and classification appears desirable, and it is hoped that if the study is followed up it may throw light on various mintings.

Prior to the dawn of the Machine Age, coins were either struck by hammer or, more rarely, cast; in either case irregularity is usual and only rarely is any individuality apparent. Only with improved machinery did it become possible to turn out coins, first with neat, plain edges, then with ornamented edges; it is with this last phase this article will be concerned. As an introduction the following historical notes are necessary.

Pre-Machine Age Edges

The writer knows of only two varieties of ancient coins with edges of individuality: first, the bevelled edges found on Ptolemaic bronze and on Alexandrian copper struck under the earlier Roman emperors; whilst the writer has no records, it appears to him that blanks were cast in moulds so shaped that the blank could easily be knocked out, ready for the next. This would have had the further advantage that the better metal would be at the bottom where the diameter is least. This side was used for the obverse. In view of the large size of some of this series, the blanks must have been highly heated before being struck.

The second individuality is that of the serrated denarii of the Roman Consular, or Family, issues; these are irregular notches cut obviously by hand in the edge of the blank, probably before striking. The object is uncertain: some writers suggest these were for a particular local use; others that it was only a passing fashion; others again that it was to indicate that the metal was genuine; but as plated serrati are known, this last is not convincing.

After the fall of the Roman Empire the coinage of the Middle Ages is conspicuous by its thinness, probably due to deterioration of metallurgical craftsmanship. This thinness early invited the crime of "clipping," the extent of which becomes apparent when the penalties found necessary to cope with it are examined.

Quoting from Stephen Martin Leake's book, "An Historical Account of English Money," dated 1793: "This invention of the mill, Le Blanc calls Ballancier, or Fly, from the manner of working it, and says it was first set up at Paris in 1553, but it seems not to have been perfected till long afterwards." In 1561 a mill was introduced in the English mint by one Eloye Mastrel, of whom Leake states, "but this Frenchman being detected of counterfeiting and making milled money out of the mint, he was hanged and quartered."

Improved methods of minting commenced about 1560, and by about 1660 had reached such a stage that ornamented edges appear. The writer can do no better than again to quote Leake as follows: "Another sort of Money called Milled Money was first fabricated to be current in England, with graining or letters upon the rim; which milled money is made after this manner: first, the gold or silver is cast out of the melting-pot into long flat bars, which bars are drawn through a mill (wrought by a horse) to produce the just thickness of the several species to be coined; then with forcible engines, called Cutters, which answer exactly to the respective sizes of the money, the round pieces are cut out from the flat bar, shaped as aforesaid (the residue whereof, called Sisel, is melted again) and then every piece is weighed, and made to agree exactly with the intended weight, and afterwards carried to other engines (wrought secretly) which put the letters upon the edges of the larger silver pieces, and the graining upon the smaller."

Two short quotations from John Evelyn (the diarist) in his book "A Discourse on Medals," dated 1697, will complete the historical references: "That now our current MILL'D MONEYS have all this while been less obnoxious to this injurious Practice of CLIPPERS is certainly due to either a less degenerate age, or the contrivance of the CIRCUMSCRIPTION about the TRANCHEE or Edge of the thicker pieces, and CRENELLING of the smaller and thinner, which for aught I know is modern . . . As to the ENGINE, MILL BALANCE and PRESS now in use (by which not our TONSORS only, Clippers and False Moneyers, but sometimes Great Persons among them were much defeated of their Practice in France) whether arrogated or justly challenged by Monsieur Le Blanc, to have been the Invention of his Country Men, I undertake not positively to determine."

The earliest ornamented edge the writer is acquainted with is the Rose Crown of 1662 issued by Charles II; this bears an inscription in raised letters and is mentioned by Evelyn as follows: "Graver of the Royal Mint—Mr. Slingsby, to whom I suggested the Decus & Tutamen out of a vinet in Cardinal de Richelieu's Testament." An ornament and a safeguard is both the meaning and the object of this inscription suggested by the farsighted Mr. Evelyn.

Ornaments consisting of inscriptions are also used incuse; these should wear much better than the raised letters. Lettered or inscribed edges are a fit subject for an article in themselves and require extensive knowledge to explain such inscriptions, as the motto of the House of Savoy, or the origin of the varying mottoes used by the later Holy Roman Emperors: these, by the way, are reminiscent of the Period names or Nien-Hao, on Chinese coins.

Ornamented Edges Without Inscriptions

For comparative purposes it appears necessary to define the point of view; the following is suggested: place the coin on a book, obverse uppermost; raise the book to eye-level, and then record the device. This procedure is followed throughout this article.

Ornamented edges will be described in groups. Milled edges will be called Group M; chain milling, Group C; geometric devices, Group G; wreaths or floral devices, Group W; "Security edge," Group S; inscribed, Group I. Hybrid types will be given the letters of each group involved.

Group M. The terminology of this group is somewhat indefinite. The writer is prejudiced in favour of milled; though the process is different, the result is similar to the milling on parts of tools machined to increase the grip of the hand; also the coin milling makes the coin easier to handle. Reeded is a good term, as will be seen if a bed of reeds is visualized, either in calm weather when vertical, or in wind when all blown in the same direction. The term graining, although of very early use (see previous quotations), does not seem suitable, as the reference apparently is to grain in wood, which does not arouse an adequate mental picture; but if the origin was a reference to grain (wheat, etc.) growing, it would then be as suitable as reeded.

This is the simplest and commonest of edge ornaments, and came into use shortly after the inscribed edges. It consists of small parallel ridges at various spacings, vertical or inclined at various angles and in different directions. Fig. 1 shows vertical milling; 2, inclined or oblique falling from left to right, or as blown by a medium wind from the right hand direction; 3 is similar, except that it is more inclined or the wind is stronger. Fig. 5 shows oblique milling in both directions forming a lattice pattern; Fig. 6 has the appearance as though the coin had been rolled along a narrow rope.

Fig. 1 is taken from a Peace dollar of 1922; 2 and 3 from Rix-dalers of Guelderland, dated 1698 and 1774; 4 is from a Russian ruble dated 1767; 5 from a Russian 5 kopek of 1792; and 6 from an English 1 d. of 1807.

Group C. The edge ornamentation in this group has the appearance of a chain around the edge. Fig. 9 is taken from a 48 schilling piece of Lubeck dated 1752 and consists of plain links. Fig. 10, taken from a 30 Tari piece of Malta dated 1757, is like a double spiral; fig. 11 is from a Spanish-Mexican peso dated 1802 and consists of links with intermediate small rings; fig. 12 is from a Russian rouble dated 1733 and has the appearance of a series of hooks and eyes as used on female garments only. Fig. 13, from a peso of Mexico dated 1892, is a close link chain, almost a curb type. Fig. 14 is from a similar coin but dated 1829 and has the appearance of overlapping scales.

Group G. Geometrical devices, for want of a more suitable name: Fig. 15 is from an Austrian six kreuzer dated 1800. Here three horizontal lines are crossed by widely spaced verticals, giving rectangles; fig. 16 from a French half Franc of An. 12, consists of squares enclosing small circles. Fig. 17, from a Frankfurt gulden dated 1847, has the appearance of the cogs in the fly wheels of old fashioned single cylinder engines. Fig. 19, from a half rial of Morocco dated AH 1299, consists of five pointed stars.

Group W. Wreath ornaments: Fig. 21 is from a Spanish-Mexican piece of eight dated 1747, and consists of a succession of three laurel leaves. Fig. 22, from a Frankfurt thaler, dated 1776, has a wreath of a more ornate type of leaf. Fig. 23, from a French franc of An. 13, might be described as a series of single leaves with berries. Fig. 24, from a Spanish 5 peseta of 1841, consists of fleur-de-lis; curiously these are upside down when viewed in the specified position.

Group S. In Oriental countries where the purchasing power of small silver coins is great relative to individual wants, forgery becomes attractive. In order to cope with this the London Mint has devised a new type of edge ornament called the "Security edge." Quoting from the Royal Mint Report of 1932, page 51: "In the edge of a coinage blank a deep groove was formed in which round beads were pressed up in relief. The blank was then struck in a coining press in the ordinary way, using a milling collar. The effect of coining is to close up the groove slightly so that the beads are protected, while the closing in of the groove makes it impossible by the usual methods to take a satisfactory mould of the edge of the piece for the purpose of making a cast replica."

The Security edge was first used on coins for Mauritius in 1933. Fig. 26 is from an Egyptian 5 piastre piece of 1937. In the groove are alternate beads and vertical lines. At two places along the groove the beads and lines are omitted. Fig. 27 is from an Indian rupee dated 1940. Here the beads are separated by oblique lines sloping in alternate directions.

Hybrids, etc. Fig. 7 from a French quarter ecu dated 1720 could be classed as group MG. Fig. 8, from a Spanish two real of 1788, also group MG. Fig. 18, from a Peruvian peso of 1833 having five point stars alternating with links would belong to group CG. Fig. 20, from a Peruvian peso of 1848, consists of stars alternating with a floral ornament, would go into group WG. Fig. 25, from a Turkish 50 kurus piece dated 1935, seems to be derived from the Security type. It requires three group letters, namely MIG—an interesting coin, as giving a portrait of Kemal Ataturk and also the first use of European script on a Turkish coin.

Edge ornamentation is not entirely confined to Occidental issues. For instance, the large oval Japanese coin called Tempo Sen is, in the case of regal issues, stamped on each longer edge with a star or cherry blossom. The rectangular Ichi Bu of the same country also has similar edge markings. There is a bar-like coin of Annam of tael denomination issued between 1801 and 1820: this has characters on each of its four edges.

In more recent years the increasing use of non-precious metals, such as nickel (in normal times) and various alloys has created a demand for facilities to distinguish them from precious metals by touch. This is achieved in various ways, chiefly by departures from the circular shape. Edge peculiarities result from these practices, but as they are not intended as ornaments they will not be further dealt with.

A glance through Smith's "Encyclopaedia of Gold and Silver Coins of the World," one of the few books that illustrate a number of coin edges, shows a few varieties not mentioned here, but as the coins are not available to verify them, they will not be further mentioned.

In conclusion the writer wishes to express his indebtedness to the District Secretary of the A. N. A. for Australia for valuable information and criticism.

DEFECTIVE DIE?

Member Archer M. Graham of Draper, Virginia, reports receiving in change a 1942 U. S. half dollar, with the left vertical section of the H in HALF shortened at the top by about one-fourth. Has this defect been noticed elsewhere?

TOKEN COPPER COINS OF ENGLAND, 1613-1672

By L. A. C. ERIC HORWOOD, R. N. Z. A. F.

(A paper read at the 83rd meeting—May 29th, 1943—of the New Zealand Numismatic Society.)

The need of coins for small change struck in a less precious metal than silver became increasingly acute during the latter half of the 16th century. The silver pennies which previously had been broken into halves and quarters for smaller change proved inadequate in numbers and unsuitable in size, were awkward to handle and easily lost, for they had been reduced from 12 grains in the reign of Henry VIII to 8 grains by Elizabeth as she replaced Henry's debased coins with her own of greater purity and value. Also, due to the expansion of overseas trade and privateering by Elizabethan traders and seamen, and the influx into England of new commodities, and foreign coins which passed as current with coins of the realm, the demand for small change of a more suitable size became more urgent.

The expedient of striking silver halfpenny and threefarthing pieces did not alleviate the situation, as these pieces were also too small for convenience. The authorities, taking no other action in a matter that was apparently beneath their dignity, private enterprise, in the form of merchants and traders throughout the country, stepped in to remedy the matter and numerous halfpenny and farthing pledges, or trade tokens, were issued, mostly in lead, and these proved a profitable venture for their issuers. These tokens were looked upon with disfavour by the authorities as infringing the royal prerogative to coin money, and they were made illegal by act of Parliament, but this does not appear to have stopped their circulation.

Toward the end of Elizabeth's reign copper farthings were officially issued for Ireland, and, some thought having been given to the matter, patterns were prepared for copper 1d., ½d. and ¼d. pledges for use in England and Wales, and a proclamation was drawn up to introduce the new coins to the public; but the Queen's death in 1601 prevented a final decision being reached and none of the coins were put into current circulation.

Although James I had had experience in the use of copper coins in Scotland he was chary of adopting them for England, and finally approved of the idea of allowing the issue of copper farthing tokens under Royal patent, which he hoped would return him a handsome profit in royalties with no trouble to himself.

In 1613 the first patent was granted to Lord Harrington of Exton in Rutlandshire. These first farthing tokens were approximately the size of the current half groat, were very thin, and weighed six grains. They did not bear the sovereign's portrait as it was considered undignified for the King's likeness to appear on a coin of base metal. Instead, on the obverse was shown a crown through which protrudes crossed sceptres, with the King's name and titles around. The reverse shows a crowned harp and the continuation of the inscription from the obverse. The great discrepancy between the intrinsic and nominal value led to much abuse and dissatisfaction, and was the cause of all the subsequent trouble over them, added to which they were extensively forged and were foisted on to the public in large numbers. After James' death the practice of coining these tokens under royal patent was continued by Charles I. Shortly after the granting of the first patent, Lord Harrington died, and the patent then changed hands several times until in 1634 when it was acquired by Lord Maltravers and Sir Francis Crane, who were given the right by proclamation to coin farthing tokens for 21 years. This privilege cost them the modest annual sum of 100 marks. The only difference in design between the Maltravers farthings and those of earlier date, was the substituting of Charles' name for James', and an inner layer of dots inside the inscription.

At this time, in an attempt to prevent the practice of forcing large numbers of these coins on to the public, the court of Star Chamber declared that the passing of more than 2d, in farthings at any one time was illegal.

Large profits were made by the patentees, 1 oz. of copper cost them 1d., and this was coined into 20d. in farthings which were then vended at 21/- worth for £1 to retail agents throughout the kingdom.

Although the tokens were widely distributed for circulation, the patentees maintained only one office in London for their redemption, and many holders of the tokens living at a distance found it a very difficult or even impossible task to undertake the journey to London to exchange a quantity of tokens for regal coins.

The public dissatisfaction over the token coins was increased when the Maltravers' double ring token was struck and the patentees refused to recognize the previous tokens. The reason given for the change was that the alteration in design was an attempt to defeat the forgers, and the refusal to redeem the earlier tokens was made on the grounds that there were so many forgeries in circulation that to redeem all the single ring tokens would prove a financial disaster to the patentees. No thought was given, however, to the general public and especially to the poorer section of the community who had to suffer the loss, and who in many cases found that their entire savings were valueless.

The next—and final—change that the patentees introduced, in order, as they said, further to thwart the counterfeiters, was the issuing of the rose farthings in 1636. These were of copper with a brass center, and they were smaller and thicker than the previous types of tokens. On the reverse they showed a crowned rose, which was single in some cases and double in others, while the obverse remained as before. These different changes caused great losses to everyone except the patentees, and general indignation arose at the continuation of such a public scandal. On April 12, 1643, Parliament ordered the patentees to cease striking, and appointed Mr. Peter Hasard and Mr. Harrington, trader, as overseers of the accounts. These gentlemen were to report weekly on the profits which the patentees accrued.

During the Commonwealth period patterns for farthings were prepared for an official issue, but the scheme did not progress beyond this stage.

Between 1648 and 1672 the traders' tokens again resumed their place in currency as a medium of small change and held that position until suppressed by the issue of the imperial copper halfpennies and farthings of Charles II on August 16, 1672, accompanied by strong enactments—which were effectively enforced—making the tokens illegal currency. And thus the obvious solution to the problem of small change was, for the time being at any rate, satisfactorily settled by means that had been advocated by Queen Elizabeth's Master of the Royal Mint nearly a century before.

COINAGE OF THE COPPER CENT TO BE RESUMED

The Bureau of the Mint has announced plans for early resumption of coinage of one-cent pieces made of a copper alloy to supersede production of the present zinc-coated steel cent.

Metallurgists of the Bureau, with the cooperation of the War Production Board, have perfected methods of combining materials salvaged from expended shell cases and a relatively small proportion of virgin copper so as to permit return to a close approximation of the pre-war bronze cent.

Production of the zinc-coated steel piece will be suspended at the year end, and Mr. Lincoln will look out on the American scene from his familiar copperish backdrop in new coinage of cents starting January 1.

The new alloy will contain slightly less copper and slightly more zinc than the peacetime formula, but the coin will be quite similar in appearance to the traditional cent. It will work satisfactorily in vending machines, being just lighter in weight than the standard bronze, and a trifle heavier than the steel substitute.

Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Director of the Mint, said that experiments recently conducted with the recovered shell cases and added virgin copper proved the alloy satisfactory for coinage. Treasury officials and officials of the War Production Board have been collaborating for several weeks in working out details of the allotment of sufficient copper, including the scrap shells, to permit return to the copper-alloy coin.

Because of the enlarged demand for one-cent pieces, due to accelerated business, a demand which has strained the facilities of the Mint, the zinc-steel coins already produced will remain in circulation. However, the natural darkening to which the coins are subject soon will remove the chief source of complaint from the public—the similarity of the piece to the dime.

Pointing out that the approaching Christmas buying season will intensify coin requirements at a time when the Mint is already drawing on inventories, Mrs. Ross urged the public to accept as a wartime service project the necessity for keeping coins in circulation.

"Every one-cent piece resting in a coin bank, bureau drawer or other hiding place, whether copper or steel, calls for a replacement at the expense of war-necessary metals and manpower," Mrs. Ross said. "Let us keep small coins working, through our regular spending."

The Mint will use as a base for the new cents small arms cartridge cases recovered by military authorities from proving grounds, firing ranges and other training areas for troops. These cases consist of 70 percent copper and 30 percent zinc, and if melted down with enough virgin copper to bring the copper content up to 85 or 90 percent, the alloy is adaptable to coinage.

The former bronze coin consisted of 95 percent copper and 5 percent zinc and tin. The amount of copper needed will be about half that required for the all-virgin copper alloy. The Mint project will have an important place in the salvage of war-wasted materials.

When zinc coated steel was adopted for the one-cent piece it was the only metal obtainable for the purpose. Arms plants were facing shut-downs because of the metal scarcity. The War Production Board had withdrawn allotment of copper to the Mint. Coins of zinc, coins of plastics and coins of all sorts of alloys and materials were considered, and ruled out in turn as consuming critical items in the military economy. Meantime, demand for coins continued at an unprecedented rate. The cent of low carbon steel, coated with zinc to prevent rust was specified with the approval of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Donald M. Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board, after the Congress had passed permissive legislation at the end of 1942.

The first of the new coins were struck in February 1943, and production through September has totalled 584,000,000 pieces.

The public as a whole did not take kindly to the wartime cent, the chief complaint being that when new, the silvery appearance made for confusion with the 10-cent coin. However, it was pointed out at the Mint that its adoption resulted in a substantial saving of copper, at a critical period of the supply situation.

Record production of the bronze cent in the fiscal year 1942 of nearly a billion and a half pieces consumed 4,600 tons of virgin copper, sufficient to meet the requirements of the metal in manufacturing one and a quarter million shells for field guns.

Return to the copper alloy coin will not require legislation, since the measure passed last December authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury, with approval of the War Production Board, to specify materials to be used in the cent.

"REEDED" OR "MILLED"?

The American Journal of Numismatics for July, 1891, quotes a statement of one of the coiners of the San Francisco Mint to the effect that the edge of our silver coins is properly designated as REEDED, adding that the raised rim on the two sides is the "milling."

In order to settle the question as to present day correct usage, we recently wrote the Superintendent of the Mint at Philadelphia, and submit his reply herewith.

"With reference to your inquiry of August 12th, the correct term for the edge placed on all silver coins of the United States is the 'reeded or knurled edge.' The term 'milled' is a misnomer in either case; the raised border is called upsetting the edge, and the machine used for such purpose is called an upsetting machine."

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Edwin H. Dressel, Superintendent.

How does it happen that so many collectors and dealers of long experience have been making this very obvious error?

NEWS AND COMMENTS FROM THE LIBRARY

By TED R. HAMMER, Librarian-Curator

We have the copy ready for a new Library list. Present indications point to about January for publication. As nearly 200 books including three complete sets of notable publications, have been added since the last catalogue was issued three years ago, the list will be larger than ever before. It will follow the same make-up plan as originated by William Dewey, former Librarian, with three or four new sections added. Catalogues used as standard works are listed separately from price lists and carried under headings of countries rather than all under one "pricelist" heading. Mr. Dewey was kind enough to make several suggestions based upon his experience in revising the book list.

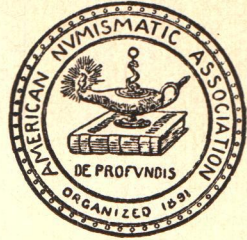

The Library is to be congratulated for an excellent gift just received from "Uncle" Jim Kelly of Dayton. The gift is the three-volume "The Coinage of Scotland," by Edward Burns. Printed in Edinburgh, 1887, it is in new condition, and still standard. It is exceptionally well illustrated. Although based upon the collection of Thomas Coats of Ferguslie primarily, the author also had the aid of numerous other collectors of Scottish coins. Unlike so many costly works of this type, these books are bound to stand up under shipping, and not in half-leather. They will weigh about 20 pounds, packed for shipping—costing about 65c postage to any part of the United States. If there is not too great a demand, we suggest all three be borrowed at a time and be kept for three to four weeks instead of the customary two. The three volumes comprise about 1,500 pages, but Vol. III is comprised entirely of plates. Every phase of Scottish coinage is discussed by the author in an interesting manner, and he uses historical and biographical data as well as descriptions of coins from beginning to end. Ask for B-67.

We are happy to announce the purchase of "A Dictionary of Roman Coins," a book of nearly 1,000 pages and some 700 cuts, including excellent descriptions and historical material. (Our number is S-17.) Published in England in 1889, this has been a standard work ever since and much sought after by collectors in both Europe and the new world. Seth William Stevenson spent 10 years merely preparing to turn out this work, then died before its completion, leaving unfinished those sections falling under the letters U to Z. It was finally completed by Frederic W. Madden with the help of Mr. Stevenson's son, Henry Stevenson.

William Dewey has contributed a copy of "Foreign Exchange Explained," a practical treatment of the subject for the banker, business man, and student (in the words of the author), by Franklin Escher, former special lecturer on foreign exchange at New York University. The work was published in Norwood, Mass., in 1920. Mr. Dewey also has donated the well known biography of Thomas Benton by Theodore Roosevelt who, as President, played an important part, along with numismatists in bringing about a change in the designs of our coinage nearly 40 years ago. Of special interest to collectors will be the chapter on "Jackson and Benton Make War on the Bank." The Escher work is E-17 in the Library, and the Benton biography is R-50.

THE ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

By FRANK E. EICHORN, Secretary R. N. A., Rochester, N. Y.

As the Rochester Numismatic Association begins its 32nd year, it can look back with pride at the many things it has accomplished. The R. N. A. climaxed 31 years of activity in June by paying tribute to two of its oldest and most active members in the form of Honorary Life Active Memberships. George J. Bauer and Almond H. Plumb, both active in the association since its formation, were presented with plaques and life memberships by Dr. Arthur C. Parker, Director of the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences. Bauer, President of the American Numismatic Association in 1932 and former President of the R. N. A., has received recognition as one of the world's leading authorities on Roman and Greek coins. He owns one of the finest collections in the country. Plumb is a recognized authority on the origin and variety of American coins, is also a former President of the R. N. A. He has a record of missing only two meetings of the Association in 31 years.

On the evening of January 4, 1912, the following fifteen men met at the Hotel Rochester to organize the Rochester Numismatic Association: Dr. G. P. French, H. H. Rowley, W. H. Amberg, F. E. Merritt, W. J. Ballard, F. B. King, L. J. Woolsey, A. H. Plumb, M. S. Gillette, I. B. Bernstein, G. J. Bauer, H. H. Yawger, J. T. Alling, J. Hooper and W. J. Reynolds. Since that date the Association has met 710 times, and today three of the men who attended that first meeting are still active. They are G. J. Bauer, A. H. Plumb, and I. B. Bernstein.

The R. N. A. was founded for the purpose of increasing and diffusing a knowledge of numismatics, and to promote interest and encourage cooperation. It serves to coordinate the efforts of those interested in collecting, those interested in history, and those interested in art and manufacture. It is non-political and non-sectarian, and includes in its membership people from all walks of life. The only requirements for membership are an honest desire to promote good fellowship in the Association, and a genuine interest in one of the many branches of numismatics. The meetings are held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month (except during the summer months) and visitors are always welcome.

This organization was not a year old when it brought to Rochester the annual convention of the American Numismatic Association. In its first year it also began a numismatic library which today is one of the finest. Mr. H. H. Yawger was the first librarian. The first meetings were held in the Hotel Rochester, but since 1919 they have been held in the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

The R. N. A. is one of the oldest numismatic societies in the United States and holds membership No. 2 in the A. N. A. It is also a member of the American Numismatic Society and the Rochester Museum Association. It is represented on the Rochester Museum Hobby Council and is the Numismatic Section of the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Each year since its organization the R. N. A. has struck an anniversary medal bearing the portrait of the retiring President. The dies are made by one of its members, medallist Alphonse Kolb, artist and sculptor. The medal is two inches in diameter and is struck in bronze. Owing to the shortage of bronze at this time the last two medals have been struck on plastic, but will be replaced with the bronze medal when the present war is over and this medal is again available.

Medals have been struck bearing the likenesses of the following: 1, Dr. G. P. French; 2, L. J. Woolsey; 3, G. J. Bauer; 4, L. G. Amberg; 5, F. B. King; 6, F. E. Merritt; 7, H. H. Yawger; 8, Dr. S. Handler; 9, J. C. Woodbury; 10, W. H. Amberg; 11, G. A. Gillette; 12, C. T. Borradaile; 13, W. F. Sunday; 14, J. W. Horner; 15, P. M. Langie; 16, A. H. Plumb; 17, A. C. Parker; 18, C. A. Peake; 19, A. J. Kaufman; 20, A. A. Kolb; 21, G. J. Lindboe; 22, J. W. Sloane; 23, C. W. Foster; 24, E. H. Potter; 25, J. B. Harzinski; 26, J. E. Powers; 27, F. E. Peake; 28, W. A. Elston; 29, L. C. Swartz; 30, F. B. Newell; 31, E. Meinhart.

Complete sets are owned by many of the members and there is a set on display with the American Numismatic Society in New York City.

The Association's collection includes coins of all ages, from about 600 B. C. to the present day. They are made from a variety of materials, such as porcelain, glass, wood and the metals. They range in size from less than one-half inch in diameter to the large rectangular plate money of Sweden. The Association also has a very rare collection of Chinese coins which are now being identified and classified.

The meetings of the R. N. A. are always interesting. Besides the regular business there are brief talks by members and others on some phase of numismatics. Several of the members have traveled abroad and are well versed in the coinage of Europe and Asia. Recently most of these lectures have been illustrated with slides made from the coins in the collections of members. These slides are made by a new process which brings out the design much better than does photography, the fine detail of the coin, even to scratches, engraver's initials, etc., which are of particular interest to numismatists. This process was originated by Floyd B. Newell, a former President of the R. N. A., and incidentally the only person ever to be re-elected to the office of President in the history of the Association.

The R. N. A. welcomes the opportunity to give illustrated talks to interested groups in Rochester and neighboring towns, and has frequently used the radio as a means of spreading the knowledge of numismatics to a greater number of people.

The R. N. A. is looking forward to greater accomplishments this year under the leadership of its new President, William M. Hutchinson. Other officers are: Vallance W. Judson, Vice President; Frank E. Eichorn, Secretary; Barney Bloom, Treasurer; Charles W. Foster, Curator; Dr. Francis Cady, Librarian, and Alphonse Kolb, Medalist.

THE NEVADA STATE MUSEUM

It may not be generally known that the old Carson City Branch Mint building now belongs to the State of Nevada, having been purchased from the Government in 1939, and is now the Nevada State Museum. Further information on this interesting development will appear in the January issue.

NEW AND RECENT ISSUES

Bernard McL. O'Hea of San Antonio has sent in the new Mexican 20 centavos, bronze, 1943, showing on the obverse the Temple of the Sun at Teotihuacin, and in the background the mountain peaks of Popocatepetl and Ixtaxihuatl. The reverse has the well known national arms. Plain edge, 154 grains. This was issued to alleviate the shortage of change caused by hoarding the silver 20 and 50 centavos and the peso.

Mr. O'Hea also sends for inspection a bronze 1942 cent of Curaçao, with the Philadelphia mintmark to right of date; and a Chile 20 centavos, bronze, portrait of O'Higgins. Also three specimens of paper money: 2½ guildens, blue, new design; 10 and 100 franc notes of the Morocco State Bank, issued since the invasion, dated January 5, 1943; both of these were printed in Philadelphia, and in a combination of colors.

President Kortjohn also forwarded a specimen of the above mentioned 20 centavo coin of Mexico, and in addition the new 1 and 2 cruzeiros of Brazil, 1943. The reverse design of these is especially interesting. Reeded edge.

EXHIBITION AT THE MUSEUM OF THE AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

Report of this important exhibition was received too late to include in this issue, but will appear in the January number. It was a notable event, in which the metropolitan numismatic clubs were jointly interested, continuing from October 16th to 31st inclusive.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Editor.

Classified Ads: To meet the desires of those who may require less space than the minimum display of one-eighth page, a classified section has been established.* The cost is computed at three cents per word each insertion; initials (two), numbers and abbreviations to count as words. Remittance must accompany copy. These will be set in 6 point Roman; no display type.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be re-typed for the printer; this should not be required.

Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error—something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 15th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or of some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Editor. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

* (Any exceptions now being run will terminate when existing Advertising Contracts expire.)

EDITORIAL COMMENT

1943—AND THE NEW YEAR

This issue of THE NUMISMATIST marks the end of the first year under the present editorship. The responsibility has not rested lightly by any means, and for two reasons: it was clearly hazardous to take over without preparation other than the intangible one of a deep and sustained interest in the A. N. A. and its official journal throughout a period of thirty-five years; a second reason lay in the belief that certain standards are demanded in even a modest publication, such as ours, and that to reach and maintain these would by no means be an easy matter.

The twelve issues must speak for themselves. It is only natural that we hope for a verdict reasonably favorable, not merely for the gratification it would bring, but, what is of far greater importance, for the assurance that the magazine is, in the main, giving promise of a sound and constructive policy.

Our most cordial thanks have already been expressed to those who have contributed acceptable manuscripts and other material for publication; but it is fitting that this additional acknowledgment be made, for they very definitely share in whatever measure of success the present volume may have attained.

Some good things are in hand for 1944. The principle of "a balanced diet" adopted at the start will continue.

Joseph H. Barnet's series, "A Supplement to Hetrich and Guttag's List of Civil War Tokens and Merchants' Cards," will appear regularly for several months to come. J. Hunt Deacon, District Secretary of the A. N. A. for Australia, has sent in two manuscripts: "Organized Numismatics in Australia," and "Australian Mints and Mintmarks." G. L. Schanzlin, an occasional contributor, has furnished an article on "The Numismatic Chronology of Ancient Rome." Some interesting historical items concerning the rulings of the U. S. Treasury Department on the redemption of United States notes and fractional currency have been compiled by Loyd B. Gettys. "The Coinage of New Guinea" is a comprehensive article by Sydney V. Hagley, President of the Association of Australian Numismatists, and may be looked for early in the year.

An extensive review of the history of the Fractional Currency Shield, with notes on the varieties, is in preparation and will be ready for publication in the near future. The place of medals in numismatics is to receive further attention during 1944, and additional articles on U. S. coinage of different periods are definitely planned.

The always interesting notes on the Library by Ted Hammer will continue to be a regular feature. In this connection may we suggest that those who have read the Librarian's annual report in the November issue, as presented at the Chicago convention, must have been impressed with two things in particular: the importance which the Library has achieved, both as to size and quality, and the devoted service which is being given to his office by the Librarian.

The histories of certain of our older numismatic societies have been promised, and they should add much to the value of the series already begun in the present volume. Their careers deserve a permanent record, and, moreover, should lend encouragement to similar organizations more recently formed.

The foregoing are only a partial indication of the plans for the coming year. Other material is already in hand, and much will no doubt be submitted for publication of which we have had, so far, no notice whatever.

DEATH OF THOMAS KILBY, EX-GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA

Thomas E. Kilby, 78, a former Governor of Alabama, died Friday, October 22, 1943, at his home at Anniston, Ala., after suffering a heart attack a few days before. A political career that was to lead to the Governorship started in 1898 when he was elected to the Anniston City Council. After serving as a member of the Calhoun County Board of Education, he became Mayor of Anniston in 1905, a post which he held for four years.

Elected Governor in 1919, he served one four-year term which was marked with much industrial development. He served as State Senator and Lieutenant Governor before being elevated to the Governorship.

At the time of his death he was President of the Kilby Steel Co., Anniston, a concern which has won two Army and Navy E awards during the past year for excellence in production. The state's $25,000,000 highway bond issue was voted in 1922 during his term as Governor, the same year a constitutional amendment was ratified for development of the state docks at Mobile. Kilby Prison, still ranked as among the modern penitentiaries of the nation, was built during his administration and named for him.

Governor Kilby was identified among directorates of several other large corporations. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Shrine and of the Knights of Pythias, and a vestryman in Grace Episcopal Church at Anniston.

He was married June 4, 1894, to Miss Mary Elizabeth Clark, of Clay-ton. Burial was in the Highland Cemetery at Anniston.

It was during his term of Office that the Alabama Commemorative Half Dollar was issued in 1921, same bearing his likeness and that of Governor Bibb, the first Governor of Alabama. This now leaves only one American coin bearing the likeness of a living person, the Lynchburg half dollar (1936) with the portrait of Senator Carter Glass.

THE NEW CLASSIFIED SECTION

As explained in the November issue, page 921, our one-inch display advertisements are being discontinued, and we are substituting therefor a Classified Section, the rate for this being three cents per word each insertion, remittance to accompany copy.

"UNCIRCULATED, WITH PRACTICALLY NO SIGNS OF CIRCULATION —"

By Michael J. A. Molony, A.N.A. 7434

The present boom market in numismatic buying and selling has served to accentuate the long standing need for more nearly exact standards in the classification of coin condition.

The complaint of this article is not aimed toward the dealer occasionally encountered who blatantly and intentionally misrepresents his wares to an absurd and fraudulent degree. Such dealers are usually quickly killed off by customers who defeat their racket by the simple device of not patronizing dealers of this sort more than once.

What this article is concerned with is the slow but steady relaxation in the rules of general classification which has been evident, even among the most reputable of dealers, for the past several years.

This slowly progressing relaxation of the condition rules doesn't make for a healthy state of numismatics. It is setting up a false system of values which will someday work to the disadvantage of both collectors and dealers.

The relaxation in observance of time honored coin classification principles can probably be most readily noted in the case of early American specimens currently being offered by catalogue. In most instances one of these coins now has to be listed as "strictly very fine" before a bidder or buyer can assume that it is at all very fine. The "extremely fine" coins today aren't often as fine as the "very fine" ones of fifteen years ago. The classifications of "fair," "good," and "very good" have lost most of the meaning which they used to have. Coins in very superior, but nevertheless circulated, condition are frequently offered as uncirculated.

These assertions are not inspired by any persecution complex suffered by the writer as an aftermath of his negotiations with coin dealers. I have no such complex. I have always managed to take care of myself when purchasing coins.

I merely wish to point out that dealers who sell by catalogue would be doing themselves a favor if they at this time would subscribe to a strict code of condition classification, and would then stick to it. If the rules of such classification keep on relaxing as they have been in the past, the coin market will finally become so confused that many collectors will finally retire in disgust, just as so many did when the issues of commemorative half dollars began to give off a Capone-like odor.

The definitions of coin conditions in the 1944 Wayne Raymond catalogue are good, but they could stand at least a slight degree of elaboration. Even these Raymond definitions would serve, however, if they were actually observed by most cataloguers—but they are not. Raymond's "very fine" is "extremely fine" as far as most dealers are concerned; the Raymond "fine" fits what most sellers claim is "very fine," and so on.

It would inure to the advantage of both buyers and sellers of coins if the A. N. A. would sponsor an official, highly detailed and exact code of definition of coin conditions, formulated by responsible authorities of the Association. Catalogueing dealers would be under no obligation to accept such a code, but they would attract more customers and higher prices if they did. Dealers who appreciated the advantages of following such a code could either print it in its entirety as a foreword to their catalogues, or could advise of their acceptance of it by simply running such a line as "Classification of coins listed in this catalogue made according to the A. N. A. specifications of condition."

Such a code of classification might well go on beyond the mere description of wear or non-wear evident on a coin. Some dealers classify the evidence of wear precisely enough, but fail to present information on pertinent details of patina, stains, edge dents, or boldness of strike. This I have found to be particularly true in the case of early American silver coins. It would not be at all impossible to set up a series of abbreviations to convey data on such facts to a prospective buyer, just as the degree of wear of a coin is more or less conveyed by such abbreviations today.

Regardless of whether the A. N. A. sees fit to sponsor the adoption of such a code of condition classification, dealers who sell by catalogue should at least outline their own definitions of classification in their listings. Common courtesy demands that a prospective customer should be advised of the classification rules by which the seller is working. Practically no sale catalogues issued today offer such a statement of classification policy.

My motives in writing this article are altogether altruistic. I am not furthering my own economic interests by writing it. As a matter of fact, the contrary is true. During the past twenty years I have acquired a good many of the coins in which I am particularly interested, the U. S. silver dollars from 1794 to 1803. Many of those which I purchased as "fine" could be sold as "very fine" or "extremely fine" today. If I didn't have the interests of the coin collecting fraternity at heart I would sit tight, keep my mouth shut about standards of classification, and patiently wait for the day when my fine duplicate dollars miraculously became "uncirculated"—which is exactly what they would do, if today's trend in classification continued unchecked.

PAGING SECRETARY MORGENTHAU

In the minutes of the May 29th meeting of the New Zealand Numismatic Society, the Hon. Secretary, Allan Sutherland, in referring to the death of the Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, called attention to his close association with New Zealand coinage designs, stating that Mr. Coates and his Treasury officers had at all times consulted the Society on coinage matters; and that the personal interest of Mr. Coates was responsible for the present distinctive designs of New Zealand coinage.

LOST MAIL MATTER

Mr. Edward Gans, of Numismatic Fine Arts, New York, has reported the failure of certain orders containing remittances to reach him during recent weeks, following the publication of his catalogue early in October. He has no means of knowing how many others may have been lost in the mails, and is deeply concerned that such customers understand the situation, and asks that they communicate with him again. He naturally regrets the circumstances, even though he is by no means at fault.

MILFORD (CONN.) COIN CLUB'S FIRST ANNIVERSARY

The above pictured happy group is celebrating the recent completion of its first year as a numismatic organization. A report of this occasion, which lack of space forbids printing in full, was sent in by the Club's President, Edward J. Obert. Morton M. Stack of New York was the guest speaker, and a number of very fine exhibits were on display.

THE NUMISMATIST extends hearty congratulations and good wishes for continuing enthusiasm and healthy growth.

HAVE YOU LOOKED OVER YOUR BILLS THIS MORNING?

Five $1 bills that may become famous turned up in a shipment of currency received yesterday by the First National Bank of McKees Rocks from the Federal Reserve.

Somebody slipped in the Federal bureau of engraving and the topsy turvy ones are the result.

Both serial numbers on the face of the bills are printed upside down. So are the signatures of M. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States and Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury.

Not only that, but the two signatures are printed at the tops of the bills instead of at the bottoms.

One of the bills which the bank had passed out before the error was discovered on the other four had already brought a profit of $10 to the customer who got it yesterday afternoon. —Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED

Numismatic Review (Stack's) for September. Quarterly. An issue of 82 pages with a wide variety of subjects, some treated more or less briefly, one of the more extensive being a paper on counterfeiting by Joseph B. Stack. The leading article, supplemented by detailed descriptions and including two pages of illustrations in color, is by Capt. Ross F. Collins, U. S. N. R., under title of "United States Naval Decorations and Medals." The color plates and official data, which last is extensive, were secured through the cooperation of the Navy Department. A number of other excellent full-page illustrations accompany certain articles.

Numismatic Scrapbook (Hewitt Bros.) for October. Short articles on the commemorative coins of Bremen, on the history of Sicily chronicled on its coinage, on a medal of Cardinal Richelieu, on the story behind the token, and on plated ancient coinage, plus a brief review of the A. N. A. convention at Chicago in September constitute a good part of the reading section.

The Coin Collector's Journal (Raymond) for September-October. Saul S. Szego contributes the second part of his series on Syracusan coinage, to be concluded in the next issue. This one deals with the period of finest art, illustrated with a full page of half-tone cuts, two of the coins being superb copies of the famous Syracusan decadrachm.

"Coins of Ethiopia" and "British Colonies in Europe," both fully illustrated, are other articles of interest.

Numisma, an occasional privately printed numismatic pamphlet, by Sidney K. Eastwood of Pittsburgh. This appeared in November, and is No. 4 of Vol. I. We have not seen the first three issues. This number deals with "Colonial Coins of English Types," and "Satirical Tokens of Napoleon III."

The Coin Recorder, a fourth revision of this publication by Robert Benroth of Bluffton, Ohio, an 88-page booklet for listing all coins in one's collection, under different classifications, and with columns for specific data under thirteen headings. At its modest price of one dollar it would seem an excellent investment.

CLUB MEETINGS

SECRETARIES PLEASE NOTE: Reports should be made promptly. Copy must be received by the 15th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. As a usual thing a copy of the minutes is sent in, and almost invariably a number of items of local concern only must be cancelled. The justification for publishing these accounts lies in the numismatic information—and encouragement—to be derived by collectors generally, regardless of location. On this basis we feel it advisable to revise and condense, and, incidentally, the by-product of this course is conservation of valuable space.

ATLANTA COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the Club was held November 3, at the Henry Grady Hotel, with President Todd presiding. Fourteen members and six guests were present.

After the routine business was disposed of Mr. Worthington read a paper concerning the rise in the value of coins.

Mr. Gonzales appealed to all the members of the Club to join the A. N. A. for 1944, and as an inducement, he stated that he would give the November and December issues of The Numismatist to anyone joining now.

Exhibits were as follows:

Mr. Johns: Two specially prepared boards of coins of the British Commonwealth, which we will display in several stores in the city.

Mr. Rosene, Jr., of Gadsden, Ala., one of our guests, $2½ gold pieces of every date from 1834 to 1929, in v. fine or unc. condition.

Mr. D. N. Bose: A few unc. large cents and proof Indian Head cents.

Mr. O'Rear: Large cents, 1817-1856, good to unc.

Mr. Garrison: 1797 Quarter, unc.

Mr. Gonzales: Old articles and pictures concerning coin collecting by members of the Atlanta Coin Club.

—FRANK G. O'REAR, Secretary.

ALBANY NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—President Reynolds called the 132nd meeting to order at 8:28 P. M., Oct. 28th. Twenty-one members were present, together with thirteen guests, to help celebrate "Ladies' Night."

Mr. Kurth offered a paper on the Albany Church Penny for the next meeting. Dr. Sartoris announced that the auction would be held on the first Thursday in December and urged members to bring in their consignments soon.

Motion to adjourn the business session was made by Mr. VanKleeck seconded by Dr. Robertson and carried at 9:00 P. M.

For entertainment, the Secretary showed some 8 mm movies, including "The Chimp's Adventure," "Victory in Sicily," and shots taken at Club picnics in 1941. Messrs. Reynolds, French and Dr. Sartoris then provided free refreshments to all. The table was attractively decorated in Halloween style. A large Jack O' Lantern carved from a pumpkin from the French farm was in the center of the table.

Mr. Van Kleeck donated an uncirculated 1863 cent for raffle, the pumpkin was auctioned, and the fund for the printing of the club Handbook was thereby increased to the extent of $2.90.

As a numismatic display of the evening Dr. Sartoris exhibited a tray of odd money and media of exchange from various parts of the world, ancient and modern.

—WILLIS J. MCKINNEY, Secretary.

BALTIMORE COIN CLUB—The regular meeting of the club was held November 4th, with twenty-six members and two guests present.

After holding the business meeting of the club the members went to the office of Mr. Eliasberg to see an exhibit of part of his collection. This exhibit was really a great treat to everyone as there were coins included which are seldom seen, rare U. S. and foreign gold and silver among the rest. A short talk was given by Mr. Nusbaum, Curator of the collection. After this Mr. Eliasberg had a fine spread of both liquid and solid refreshments for all who desired to partake.

Every one of those present expressed their enjoyment and thanks to their host for such a most entertaining evening.

—ARNOLD M. LOHRFINCK,
Secretary.

BRONX COIN CLUB—The Tenth Anniversary of The Bronx Coin Club was celebrated at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on Tuesday, October 26, 1943. This was the 122nd meeting of the club and was attended by 49 members and guests in spite of inclement weather. The dinner was climaxed by the cutting of a huge birthday cake by the able hand of our first President, Mr. Otto T. Sghia.

President Kortjohn acted as chairman and reviewed the formation and early history of the club. The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Arthur Deas who acted as toastmaster. After welcoming guests, members and officers of neighboring clubs and numismatic organizations, Mr. Deas requested that the club stand and honor the several members now serving our country in the armed forces. A display was then made by each person of the coins having the greatest interest to him. After a short description of each exhibit, the meeting was recessed for the inspection of exhibits and the exchange of personal greetings.

[Lack of space prohibits the detailed listing of 35 exhibits, which, from the recorded minutes, must have been of exceptional interest.—Ed.]

H. K. DOWNING,
Acting Secretary.

BOSTON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held on Monday evening at Hotel Avery, with President Pond in the chair and twelve members present.

The Secretary spoke of the courtesy of the Numismatic Gallery of New York, in sending the Society their recent catalog and prices realized at the Higgy auction recently held in New York. He spoke of the valuable addition this made to the Society's library and said that he had written the Numismatic Gallery thanking them for their contribution.

The President at this time called attention to the cabinet which has been exhibited at the Boston City Club for some time, advising the members that as the Club was practically taken over by the Army, he thought it a good idea if the cabinet were removed until after the war, and the Society knew just where they were to be located. After remarks by several members both pro and con, it was decided that the cabinet be taken out and placed in a more suitable location, being selected. Mr. Chell-Frost's store at 11 Cornhill, Boston.

Mr. Katzen, on behalf of Mr. Sonnabend, who was absent, spoke of the War Loan Medals of World War No. 1 made from captured German cannon, saying that Mr. Sonnabend had discovered he had only nine left and that he wished one each to go to the following members, Pond, Chell-Frost and Klein, two to the Society's cabinet, and Mr. Pond presented one to the Massachusetts Historical Society. It was thought that as long as the supply was so limited, it would be a good idea to auction off the balance and that no bids under $1 be accepted, Messrs: Knudson, Grant, Gullicken and Hanley were the successful bidders and the able location, being selected. Mr. Pond turned over to the Treasurer.

The date of the next regular meeting is scheduled for Monday evening, November 29th.

Exhibits:

Mr. Lowenstam: Exhibit of early U. S. bonds of 1775 and later, some made out to John Quincy Adams, and signed by the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Also bills of indebtedness of Massachusetts, and a sheet of Colonial Notes of the United Colonies.

Mr. Schuhmacher: The famous Huey Long medal (large size) and two of the smaller replicas in bronze. At this time Mr. Schuhmacher suggested that these medals neatly framed with the proper inscriptions, be auctioned off. He was chosen as auctioneer and after considerable spirited bidding, Mr. Klein succeeded in obtaining the medals at a price of $8.00.

Mr. Klein: A set of 14 different Mints, tetradrachms of Alexander the Great; a $10 U. S. banknote yellow seal, used by the American forces in North Africa.

—ERNEST R. SHACKFORD,
Secretary.

CANTON (OHIO) COIN CLUB—The 99th meeting of the club was held Tuesday, November 9, at the Hotel Belden, Warren Smith presiding. Fourteen members and one guest were present.

Plans for special observance of our 100th meeting—next month were completed, and a substantial number of reservations obtained.

Mrs. J. L. Carmany of Canton displayed over 2,000 military and period buttons from her collection and gave us an enlightening talk about her hobby. She pointed out that buttons were first used during the twelfth century in Europe, chiefly made from bone or bronze. She also observed that the button market has risen similar to the coin market in recent years.

Other Displays:

Mr. Ortl: Half-dimes, Morgan, standing Liberty and Washington quarters.

Mr. W. Miller: Washington quarters and 11 quarter types.

Mr. Welch: Eight types of quarters.

Mr. Smith: Types of quarters.

Mr. Stover: 140 different Civil War tokens.

Mr. Bruce: McKinley Campaign buttons, coins and medals; types of quarters; Ayers Sarsaparilla encased postage stamp, and 71 Civil War tokens.

Mr. Bolus: Morgan, standing Liberty and Washington quarters, and Civil War tokens.

Meeting adjourned for an auction of 81 lots handled by Mr. Bruce.

—CHARLES T. BOLUS, Secretary.

CALIFORNIA COIN CLUB—Twenty three members and guests were in attendance at the 188th meeting, held Tuesday evening, November 2, at the Hayward Hotel. After listening to the minutes of the October meeting and to the treasurer's report, an important item of business was negotiated, namely, a decision to hold an inaugural banquet in January, with Dr. Rosenkranz, Mr. Jorgensen, Rev. Golding and Mr. Block appointed as a committee to report on the necessary arrangements.

Mr. Jack New, scheduled to speak on radar, was unable to be present on account of illness, and in place of the programmed address the club listened to several short talks by Mr. Jorgensen, Rev. Golding, Mr. Harris and others, dealing particularly with the modern trend in coin prices and an unexplained increase in the price of certain items. It was suggested that, as had happened in past years, an artificial interest in particular numismatic items may have been created by certain persons for their own benefit. Treasurer Hawley exhibited a framed collection of Presidential medals.

—EARLE K. STANTON, Secretary.

CHICAGO COIN CLUB—The 297th regular monthly meeting of the Club was held on Nov. 3rd at the La Salle Hotel. President Pennington presided, with 73 members and guests in attendance.

Interesting letters from Lee Hewitt and Art Rutz were read. Resolutions to change several of the By-Laws, as suggested by the Committee on By-Laws, was unanimously adopted. Mr. Beebe sent complimentary tickets for the Hobby Show, and Mr. Ferguson sent one of the African Invasion two-dollar notes of the U. S., proceeds from auction to go in the Club's Auction fund.

As this was Annual Ladies' Night, President Pennington turned the meeting over to Second Vice President, Mrs. Boyer. Mrs. Ripstra was then called upon to preside and Mrs. Boyer was ordered to read her "minutes" of the previous meeting of the Club. Mrs. McBrien and Mrs. Lamb then put on a comic auction, and Mrs. Boyer announced that Mr. Snyder had been selected as their pin-up boy. Mrs. Davis then presented the exhibitors, who gave interesting talks on their displays:

EXHIBITS

Mr. Snyder: Netherlands one centime, 1942, ten centimes, 1943, which were coined in the U. S., and a British West Africa penny of King Geo. VI.

Following adjournment, the ladies served coffee and cake.

—CLIFFORD LINDELL, Secretary.

CHAUTAUQUA COIN, STAMP AND CURIO CLUB

—of Jamestown, N. Y., held its 299th meeting on the evening of October 27, in the Hotel Jamestown, with a banquet honoring three well-known guests, viz: Mr. Sydney P. Noe, Secretary of the American Numismatic Society, of New York; Mr. George J. Bauer, ex-President of the A. N. A., of Rochester; and the local speaker, Mr. Albert S. Price.

Mr. T. James Clarke, also a past President of the A. N. A. and of the local Club, brought a special exhibit of his famed New England and Pine-tree silver coins, besides eleven specimens of California's gold slugs, many patterns and proofs, a lot of watches, medals, and early lace fans—sidelines of his collecting energy. After the dinner, he gave a splendid description of many displays.

Mr. Noe spoke of the work being done by his organization in exhibits and numismatic reference work, and extended an invitation to visit and examine their vast collections and library.

Mr. Bauer recalled his many visits to Jamestown at Tri-state conventions, and told of his trips along the Mediterranean where our soldiers are now fighting. He also spoke of his calls on many clubs in all parts of this country, while President of the A. N. A.

Mr. Price, the speaker of the evening, gave a wonderful review of an early book entitled "The Nemesis of Chautauqua Lake," written by the Hon. A. B. Richmond of Meadville, Pa. It is the story of a pioneer who lived with his family in northern Chautauqua County during the Revolutionary period, and whose wife and children were massacred by the Indians during his absence from home, and the home burned. This man followed and killed every Indian who took part in the massacre. Three of the murderers were buried in the ravine where now stands the amphitheater of famed Chautauqua Institution, and their skeletons were unearthed in digging the foundations for that building. The story originated and was based on the finding of those remains.

Mr. Ernest J. Muzzy, President of the Club, presided during the meeting.

—J. HENRY PAYNE, Secretary.

COLUMBUS NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

—The 143rd regular monthly meeting was called to order by the Vice President, Harry Rodecker.

Twelve members and five guests were present. A brief business session was held.

Due to the present War, it has been impossible for the President and Secretary of this year to serve their full term of office.

Five applications were approved and elected to membership in the Society.

The displays were most interesting. The Club cases were used and each exhibitor filled one or more cases.

F. W. Burton: Fractional currency, Colonial currency and bullet money of Siam.

Mrs. J. H. Henderson: Complete sets of Chinese coins, also a miscellaneous collection of other foreign silver coins.

Berwyn Legg: Complete set of Morgan dimes.

C. E. Higgy: Collection of Queen Victoria coins, from one-third farthing to one-half crown, all bearing the portrait of Queen Victoria, also U. S. silver dollars.

W. F. Walters: U. S. dimes.

B. L. Thuma: Silver dollars.

—CORA DELL HENDERSON,

Secretary.

DETROIT COIN CLUB—The 448th meeting of the Club was held in the Green Room of the Detroit Leland Hotel on Thursday evening November 4th. The meeting was called to order by President Rowe, with 27 members and three guests present.

A motion by Stehfest and supported by Church that the Detroit Coin Club donate $10.00 to the Philatelic Society's auction for the benefit of the Armed Services. Motion carried.

Mr. D. G. Douglas: Roman Republic as and denarii.

Mr. W. Ray Carpenter: A split $1.00 silver certificate. 3 Denarii of Marcus Aurelius. A bronze medal by Pistrucchi of Field Marshal Wellington, issued in 1841. A silver medal issued by the International Numismatic Congress in June, 1900. Some snapshots of various groups at our Exhibition at the American Numismatic Society. One of the new 5 franc notes issued in Algeria.

Mr. L. Kusteria: U. S. Commemorative gold dollar and $2.50, gold.

Mr. O. T. Sghia: Ten Swedish and Danish crowns.

Mr. W. H. Arthur: Four denarii of Marcus Aurelius, 140-180 A. D.; Faustina Junior, 175 A. D.; Septimius Severus, 193-211 A. D.; and Geta, 193-212. Pattern Trade dollar of 1873-A. W. 1313, and Trade dollar, proof, 1879.

Mr. R. W. Johnson: Five late ancient Roman bronzes.

Mr. A. W. Deas: 3 silver crown pieces of Denmark; 1935 set of six small coins. 6 silver crown pieces of Sweden; 1935 set of seven small coins. 1 medal of Absalom, founder of Copenhagen.

Mr. O. G. Schilke: Mass. cent and half cent of 1787; Same, 1788.

Mr. S. Mosher: 5 gold and 4 silver coins of Sweden. A selection of 26 ancient coins in fine style and superb condition.

Mr. F. Zerbe: Commemorative gold dollars.

Mr. F. C. C. Boyd: 24 Martin Van Buren Political medals in silver, copper and white metal. Carolina half-penny uncirculated-red, both varieties; "Proprietor"- "Proprietor."

Mr. Farran Zerbe of the Publication Committee expressed his pleasure at being back at the Club meeting again after his Summer vacation, and stated that Mr. Arthur Deas had acted as a worthy alternate during his absence. Mr. Deas read notices from the various newspapers regarding the discontinuance of the Lincoln cents in steel, which will become effective after the 31st of December, 1943.

The Executive Committee suggested as the topic for the December meeting—Roman Coins of Lucius Verus, Lucilla, Commodus, Crispina; Coins of Spain and Portugal; Political Medals and Tokens of Andrew Jackson; Joan of Arc Medals; Gold Dollars.

—F. C. C. BOYD, Secretary.

OREGON NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—

The 78th meeting of the Society was held on Monday evening, November 8, at the Benson Hotel in Portland. There were in attendance 27 members and 4 guests, with President Bibler in the chair.

Mr. Rutz of Indiana brought greetings from both the Chicago and the Calumet Coin Clubs. His display of items of numismatic interest included: a plastic holder for the display of proof coins; a dollar bill which got in the washing and came out with the reverse looking like a gold certificate in color; a specimen of the First Issue of U. S. currency; coins of Edward the Eighth, all holed; Chicago Clearing House Certificates, and Columbian Exposition tickets of 1892.

Hugh Davenport, who has looked over many a nickel, reports the finding of a 1918 over '17 D, a scarce article.

David Beetem told us he began collecting Lincoln cents back in Niagara Falls, N. Y. He started to collect 100 sets and then decided 50 would be plenty, and finally ended by having most of them stolen; fortunately the thief missed a roll of 1909 S VDB cents. He told us also that his gold collection got its start because he either had to accept gold or lose a debt. Dave suggested we sponsor a Junior coin club, and contributed a roll of Indian Head cents to start the ball rolling.

Dr. Firth, in commenting on David Beetem's suggestion of starting a Junior coin club, said that the two local newspapers, which sponsor other hobby organizations, would welcome any collector who would work with the youngsters and teach them the fundamentals of our hobby.

Charley Lamb brought up another one of his interesting token displays. This one, about which an article appeared in The Oregonian of recent issue, consists of 98 tokens, all different, which, arranged in a patriotic display, spell out the following: "America, To Win We Must Work So That Freedom May Not Perish From The Earth." Charley started collecting Indian Head cents and ended up with one of the best transportation token collections in the U. S.

Other displays not previously mentioned were made by:

Mr. Percy Smith, who displayed four types of U. S. double eagles, an 1836 dollar, Gobrecht on the base, 1878 dollars with 7 and 8 tail feathers.

Henry Perry an 1805 quarter and half dollar, also proof sets.

Harold Seffert, a very thin 1943 Nickel.

Conrad Lean, a U. S. dime which appears to have been gold plated.

Steve Bibler, an undersized 1908 cent. The meeting was brought to a close with an auction conducted by Howard Hughes and assisted by John Wetzler.

—JOHN R. SLUSHER, Secretary.

ORANGE COUNTY (CAL.) COIN

CLUB—The 53rd monthly meeting of the Club was held the evening of October 19 at the Church of the Messiah in Santa Ana.

The meeting was opened by President Harry Hanson.

Program chairman, Herb Bergen held a drawing. Thomas Nielsen held the lucky number and won the prize which consisted of a rare coin to add to his collection.

The meeting was then turned over to Adolph Larson who gave the members a quiz to find out how well they knew their coins. It was very entertaining to all present.

After refreshments which were served by the ladies, the regular monthly auction was held, with Adolph Larson in charge.

—C. GLENN CURTIS, Secretary.

OMAHA COIN CLUB—102nd regular meeting. 13 members and 3 guests present, with President Blaufuss in the chair.

Our program committee had arranged to have a representative of the F. B. I. on hand to show a motion picture with sound, of the film "Know Your Money." This proved to be very interesting as well as educational, and after the pictures were finished we asked many questions in regard to counterfeiting currency and coins. The most violations of today are the forging of Government checks, and most of these could be prevented if everyone would follow the advice of the F. B. I. to "Know Your Endorser."

Dr. Judd had a complete set of quarter-eagle types on exhibit, all in the very best condition possible to obtain.

Mr. Pilmaier conducted the Auction.

—RAYMOND MOULTON, Secretary.

PHILADELPHIA COIN CLUB—Our 101st meeting was called to order by President Hooper on Thursday evening, November 11th, in The Benjamin Franklin Hotel, with 35 members present.

Mr. Farley announced that books on the subject of Numismatics were being purchased by The Free Library of Philadelphia from a list of suggestions by the club.

Several letters were read by Mr. Ballard, the editor of our News Letter, including one from George Magee from somewhere in North Africa telling about his visit to Carthage and of his purchases of coins and stamps. He included a copy of a German hush campaign poster, and also a stone from the amphitheater in Carthage.

It was decided on motion that we continue our exhibits for another year at 37 S. 18th St. The public exhibit for November is a complete set of proof nickels, and a complete set of cents from 1856 to-date, displayed by Dr. Chester Talens.

Mr. Davidson, a past President, agreed to make a drawing of our annual award certificate for the year's outstanding exhibit, the same to be reproduced in a cut.

It was formally decided that Mr. John M. Enburg receive the certificate of award for last year's best exhibit, which consisted of 100 dollar size silver coins of the world, some proofs, including four U. S. dollars.

The exhibits of the evening were as follows:

S. A. Tatnall: A fine collection of fractional currency.

Dr. Chester Talens: A type set of Commemorative half dollars in an album, all uncirculated.

W. P. Snyder: A $5.00 gold note with coins depicted on the reverse.

Arthur Sipe: A complete set of Zodiac coins.

Mr. Tatnall's exhibit won the vote of the evening as the most outstanding.

Howard A. Davidson read a very interesting paper on Roman coins and their relation to the history of the early Roman rulers. He also displayed at the close of his remarks the following coins:

Several sestertii of the Roman period among which were the rare first bronze of Britannicus, and a silver sestertius. The outstanding item among many silver denarii of the Republic and Empire was that of Cleopatra and Antony.

A beautiful Maccaboeus shekel of the second year, the tribute penny in gold and silver, together with other specimens of Biblical interest completed the exhibition.

The meeting ended with an auction of over 200 lots conducted by Mr. Schick.

—ARTHUR SIPE, Secretary.

PITTSBURGH COIN CLUB—The fall meeting of the Club was held on Thursday, November 4th, in the home of our President, Howard D. Gibbs. We had as our guest Mr. Hans Schulman, of New York City, who had on display some very interesting gold and platinum coins, of which he gave their history; we also had as our guest Mr. W. A. Gaede, of Pittsburgh, who spoke briefly. Refreshments were served by our host after the meeting. For this past year our Club, on account of gasoline rationing and war work by some of our members, has held but four meetings this year, Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter. So far it has worked out fairly well; we are going to hold our next or Winter meeting on the third Wednesday of January, in the game room of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., 409 Wood Street, downtown Pittsburgh.

All of our members, and any visiting coin collectors or dealers who happen to be in our vicinity, are invited to attend this meeting. Bring your hard-to-distinguish coins with you, and one of our experts will no doubt give you the information you seek.

—J. EDGAR CUNNINGHAM,
Secretary.

RICHMOND COIN CLUB—The 31st regular meeting, commemorating the third anniversary of the Club, was celebrated on November 10, 1943, at the Byrd Park Club House with a fried oyster supper. Mr. Howe, the President, was in the chair, and there were eleven members and four visitors present.

The Resolution for an Amendment to the By Laws providing ways and means for casting the Club's vote in the A. N. A. elections was adopted by a unanimous vote.

A vote of thanks was given the Committee, Miss Campbell, Mr. Mansfield and Mrs. Lewis, Chairman, who prepared and served the supper.

There was a sale of a consignment of coins from Mr. O. Neilsen, our Washington member, conducted by Messrs. Levi and Lewis.

—MRS. HELEN G. LEWIS, Secretary.

SYRACUSE NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—Regular monthly meeting and dinner held at McCarthy's Restaurant Friday, November 5, at 6:30 P. M. Five members and one visitor attending. President Paul S. Burns presiding.

After dinner our secretary displayed a bag of coins sent over by his brother, Sgt. Claude E. Webster, who is an infantryman now in Sicily. These coins included various English, Irish, French and French Colonial pieces. They had been taken from circulation from time to time, but our members found them quite interesting. We also had for display a Purple Heart which was awarded Sgt. Webster for shrapnel wounds in Tunisia. This was the first Purple Heart medal our members had seen.

A general discussion was held regarding our place of meeting each month. A decision was reached to meet at various members' homes. President Paul Burns invited us to hold our next meeting, the first Friday in December, at his home on W. Beard Ave., at 8:00 P. M.

—FRANK O. WEBSTER, Secretary.

SEATTLE COIN CLUB—The 87th meeting of the Club was held October 28th at the Y. M. C. A., Pres. Worth presiding. There were 11 members and four visitors present. We were fortunate in having Mr. Rutz of Gary, Ind., visit us. Mr. Rutz is Past State Secretary of Indiana, and a member of the Chicago Coin Club.

The main feature of the evening was paper money. As no feature speaker was on the program, each member having a display gave a short story on his particular exhibit. This plan proved very interesting as some really fine collections were shown. These included every type of paper money from Colonial notes to current issues. Those having displays and making short talks were Mr. Rutz, Mr. Glickert, Mr. Main, Mr. Saeman, Mr. Talmadge, Mr. Dermond and Pres. Worth. This was followed by an informal discussion of many things of Numismatic interest.

It was decided to hold the next two meetings earlier in the month to avoid the holidays. Dates for these meetings are Nov. 18 and Dec. 16.

Our able Auctioneer, Mr. Glickert, took over at this point and the meeting was concluded with a lively auction.

—HENRY H. ZECKSER, Secretary.

SPRINGFIELD COIN CLUB—317th meeting, November 10th, 1943, held at the Museum of Fine Arts, President Wheeler presiding, with seven members and one guest present, Chief Petty Officer T. A. Cotter, U. S. N., an ardent collector, having visited and collected coins of every country of the world. He has been in the U. S. Navy the past 37 years and is now in the seventh U. S. conflict. We expect him to exhibit and talk to us at the next meeting.

Our Dean collector and Founder, Mr. Oliver, is reported critically ill. Discussion concerning the omission of the next meeting in the event of Mr. Oliver's death resulted in an informal expression of opinion to "carry on."

Mr. Wurtz, in the unexpected absence of Mr. Morris, exhibited Commemorative halves and standing Liberty quarters. Mr. MacIntosh showed some old large size bills, including a $100 Federal Reserve note. The usual auction was omitted due to lack of material.

—W. W. WILLARD, Secretary.

TOLEDO COIN CLUB—The Club held its 141st meeting, with an open house, for collectors in Toledo and vicinity.

President B. H. Kranz in opening the meeting extended a welcome to the 50 guests present, and after a short business session, turned the meeting over to Mr. Sherwood Henderson, chairman in charge.

Mr. Henderson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. C. C. Shroyer, whose topic was the "History of Bechtler Gold," coined during the pioneer days.

Following Mr. Shroyer's speech, the guests were entertained by Mr. Nathan Levey, with a few of his tricks in magic.

Coins exhibited by the following members:

C. C. Shroyer: Bechtler Gold, and $2.50 gold pieces, proof, from 1880 to 1907.

B. H. Kranz: Fractional currency.

Earl Frank: U. S. Commemorative half dollars.

Fred Kehr: Presidential medals & large copper cents.

Sherwood Henderson: History of the eagle on U. S. coins, three cent, silver and nickel, proof and uncirculated, and two cent pieces, proof. Indian and Lincoln cents.

S. L. Szyperski: Civil War cents, Store Cards and Hard Times tokens.

Each guest was presented with a Toledo Coin Club medal of Toledo's Centennial.

At the conclusion an auction sale was held.

—S. L. SZYPERSKI, Secretary.

WASHINGTON (D. C.) NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society returned to its former meeting place at the Washington Hotel for its monthly meeting on Monday evening November 1. Twenty-five members and 10 guests were present.

President C. Shirley Leachman presented a file of new correspondence with Chairman Jennings Randolph of the House District Committee on the matter of taxation of coin and stamp collections. The file included copies of letters received by Chairman Randolph from the tax departments of various States. Some of these stated that collections were not taxed as personal property; others pointed out that while collections were not exempted in their states, no effort was being made to include them in personal property returns.

Mr. Myron B. Schumacher, Assistant Curator of the Chase National Bank's coin collection (New York), was the guest speaker. He presented an interesting display of numismatic items from the Chase collection. These included a clay due bill of ancient Egypt, of about 2100 B. C.; curious Chinese money; an Alexander the Great tetradrachm, the first coin to carry a human portrait; coins of the Bible, including the Widow's mite and "tribute penny"; Aztec money; stone money from the Island of Yap; tea money; and many others. He also showed pictures of an ancient coin press and the first crude steam press. He invited all who are interested in numismatics to visit the Chase exhibit when in New York.

Mr. Earl H. Brown exhibited coins of Tranquebar, Danish East Indies. Mr. Charles E. McCormick showed the first coin he collected as a boy, a German 2-pfennig piece. Mr. John Zug, showed a number of the earliest privately struck gold coins in this country, and a gold nugget from Alaska, where he spent 15 years, from 1905 to 1920. Mr. L. F. Dyson exhibited a tetradrachm of Alexander the Great. Mr. Edward L. Weikert offered a Widow's mite with appropriate Biblical quotations. President Leachman showed a restrike of the famous Confederate half dollar.

The President announced that Col. M. S. Newton, of Baltimore, will be the guest speaker at the December meeting. He will talk on his numismatic experiences in China.

—N. KEY HART, Secretary.

WESTERN MARYLAND COIN CLUB

—The dinner meeting of the Club was held Tuesday evening, Oct. 19, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Sixteen members and seventeen guests were present. The ladies had been invited and after the group had been seated in the beautifully decorated dining room, President Charles E. Morris stated that the evening would be one of little business and much pleasure.

A delightful repast was enjoyed, followed by installation of officers, with Arthur G. Fuller as President.

A number of members spoke informally, and the remainder of the evening was devoted to cards and other games. Vice President Funkhauser was in charge of the arrangements.

—F. BRUCE FABLE, Secretary.

WESTERN PENN. NUMISMATIC SOCIETY—The Society met on Tuesday evening, November 2nd, in the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh, with ten members present.

There was a short business session. Meeting was then turned over to Mr. Hall, Program chairman, who called on Mr. Eastwood to speak on "Numismatic Libraries," the subject scheduled for discussion.

Mr. Eastwood talked of libraries and books in general and narrowed down to Numismatic books and libraries. The address covered the subject thoroughly, and was illustrated with numismatic books of different types from his own collection. A round table discussion on the subject followed.

Mr. Woodside gave to each member present a mimeographed paper entitled "A Bibliography of Numismatics of the British Empire," compiled by himself.

Exhibits for the evening included:

Mr. Hall: Lincoln tokens in gold issued by the U. S. Mint.

Mr. Marlier: Early coins of Spanish America.

Mr. Coatsworth: Type set of U. S. half dollars; several pieces of early Spanish silver.

Mr. Laughlin: 17 pieces, 1 to 8 reales, silver: Guatemala, Peru, Mexico, Brazil (Portuguese) 1732 to 1845.

Mr. Woodside: England: Gigo crown of Anne; Lima crown of George II; Countermarked pesos (2) and ½ peso, issued by Bank of England under George III. Kentucky cent; Fugio cent; Chalmers shilling; Pine Tree shilling; and Virginia ½ penny.

Dr. Gillis: Copy of Continental dollar in white metal.

—RALPH J. BUTERBAUGH,
Secretary.

HEART OF AMERICA (K. C.) NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION—The 117th regular meeting of the association was opened by Vice-President Fred Wirthman, with ten members and four guests present.

Copies of two issues of the Wall Street Journal were read by Mr. Wirthman and Mr. Harper, one commenting on the increase in coin and stamp collecting, the other on international bimetalism.

Mr. Carlson commented on an article in Barrons Weekly with reference to coin collecting as an inflation hedge.

A report of the Program Committee, Mr. H. E. Rowald, Chairman, was accepted. It was suggested in the report and later discussed that each month hereafter one member would prepare a paper from the list of subjects submitted, and another member prepare a paper of his own choosing.

Mr. Rowald gave an interesting paper on the history of Fractional currency, and displayed a very complete album of these pieces.

Mr. Harper showed a group of Colonial coins.

Mr. Janda exhibited a complete board (28 pieces) of 1909S Indian Head cents, uncirculated.

Mr. St. Clair reported that on a recent trip to San Francisco, he had an interesting chat with Mr. Fogler, Secretary of the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society, and was fortunate enough to see the original dies of the Kellogg 50 dollar gold piece, recently purchased by Mr. Harry Cutler.

—C. ALLEN HARPER, Secretary.

Descriptive Price List of National Coin Album Pages

Published by WAYTE RAYMOND, Inc.

For Sale by SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO., Inc.

The National Coin Album offers the ideal method of housing your coin collection. Keeping your coins in this book form will give your hobby an added sense of order and compactness. When you display your coins you are assured of complete protection from handling, with the resulting finger marks and tarnish. Both obverse and reverse of each piece may be seen. Window sections of transparent celluloid cover each row of openings. These sections slide out from the edge of the page by the friction of your fingers, the coin is inserted and the slide returned. Each page is sturdily made of heavy chip-board faced with a tough brown cover stock and are made to withstand years of wear. Two advantageous sizes are offered to suit the varied needs of the collectors. All large pages measure  $7\frac{1}{2}$  x 14 inches. . . . The small pages measure  $5\frac{1}{2}$  x 8 inches. Both sizes are punched to fit their respective binders. There are two types of pages, those with printed dates and captions and plain pages for the collectors of varieties. All prices are net. Forwarding Extra.

---

Please note Binders are not now available. Our binders have steel rings and backs and since steel has mostly been allocated to war industries we will not be able to make any more binders until after the war. Meanwhile we will furnish without charge a plain cardboard box, with every five pages purchased, which will hold the pages conveniently for the time being.

COLLECT TYPES

Coin Collector and Handbook of UNITED STATES TYPE COINS

This new Whitman Coin Folder simplifies type collecting to the nth degree. The three-paneled folding coin card is arranged in an attractive, orderly fashion. The Handbook goes hand in hand with the coin holder because it illustrates and tells a story about each type of U. S. copper, nickel and silver coin of regular issue since 1793.

Know your U. S. coin types and derive the utmost enjoyment from your hobby.

A MAXIMUM OF USEFULNESS IN A SMALL SPACE

The combination folds into a convenient, compact unit, size 6 x 9½". There is a special pocket to hold the 32-page Handbook inside the collector. Everything is at your fingertips—photographic illustrations for identification, historical data, interesting sidelights on the various issues—everything to bring you a new kind of type collecting enjoyment.

MAIL BID AUCTION SALE

CLOSING DATE DEC. 19, 1943

I have been requested to sell the following United States Dollars and Half Dollars by Auction.

The owner (whose name is withheld by request) instructed me to be very careful in grading these coins, saying "I had much rather they were under rated than over rated." I have tried to be fair with both the Seller and the Buyer.

Bidders unknown to me must submit deposit of 25 per cent and furnish bank and dealers reference.

No commission will be charged for executing your bids, Registration and Express charges as well as insurance will be paid by the purchaser.

Bids accompanied by Checks or Money Orders for the full amount will get preference. All goods to be paid for in five days after receipt of same.

RARE ALLISON & NEW FRACTIONAL CURRENCY NOTE

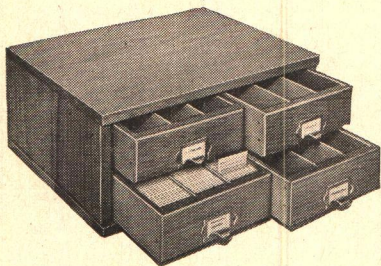

The Standard Catalogue Number 56, 50c bust of Spinner with autographed signatures of Allison and New is considered an excessively rare numismatic item. Only 12 of these are known to exist, and seldom are they offered for sale, either privately, or at auction. The 1943 paper money supplement prices this rarity at $600.00. We offer a choice crisp uncirculated note for only $395.00, which is a real bargain and a nice investment hedge against inflation.

DELUXE COIN CABINETS FOR CHRISTMAS

Nearly all coin cabinets are now off the market for the duration, as government priorities prohibit the manufacture, due to the hardware, and other materials needed for defense. Fortunately, we have been able to obtain a contract to purchase a LIMITED NUMBER of cabinets, as specifications below, just what every collector is looking for, and unable to locate. Most cabinets that hold 1,000 coins or more usually sell for $20 or upward, and these are priced at practically pre-war prices. If you are in need of a nice cabinet, you will not delay your order, for these will sell very quickly.

RARE 1827 QUARTER Catalog $1000.00: We offer a beautiful proof for $825.00
COMPLETE SETS

SMALL CENTS 1856-1943: The 1856 is a beautiful proof, the balance of the coins are choice uncirculated—all sharp, and quite evenly matched for color. The entire small cents of the U. S. complete in holder for only $390.00. This is less than catalog price, and you have all the trouble of locating these over at one time.

TWO CENT PIECES 1864-1873. The 64, 6, 9 & 70 are Brilliant unc. and the 65, 7, 8, 71, 72 & rare 73 are GEM PROOFS. In holder. Price $67.50.

PROOF THREE CENT NICKEL SET: 1865-1889. All GEM PROOFS except 1865 which is brilliant unc. Includes rare 1887 over-date in proof. Price in holder $135.00.

PROOF SHIELD NICKEL SET 1866-1883. COMPLETE SET IN GEM PROOFS, and all very brilliant. The 1867 with rays variety is included uncirculated. It would take months and months to build a set like it. Price only $187.50.

PROOF LIBERTY NICKEL SET 1883-1912. ALL brilliant GEM PROOFS including the rare 1885. The 12 s and d do not come in proofs, but these are included in the set in brilliant sharp uncirculated. In holder. Price only $145.00.

COMPLETE MERCURY DIME SET—BRILLIANT UNCIRCULATED. 1916-1943. All coins are sharp uncirculated including the rare 1916 D and 1921 P. Many of the other dates are real stickers. It would take the average collector five years writing around the country trying to complete this set. Price $190.00.

HERE IS THE PRIZE!!! A COMPLETE SET OF LIBERTY STANDING HALF DOLLARS. This set is really uncirculated and we do not believe there are many more than a 1/2 dozen complete sets in existence. We never saw one advertised—did you?? It took the owner over ten years to build it. A bargain at $400.00.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED, or full cash refund. No credit slips or "wait-a-whiles." We want to make friends as well as sell coins.
